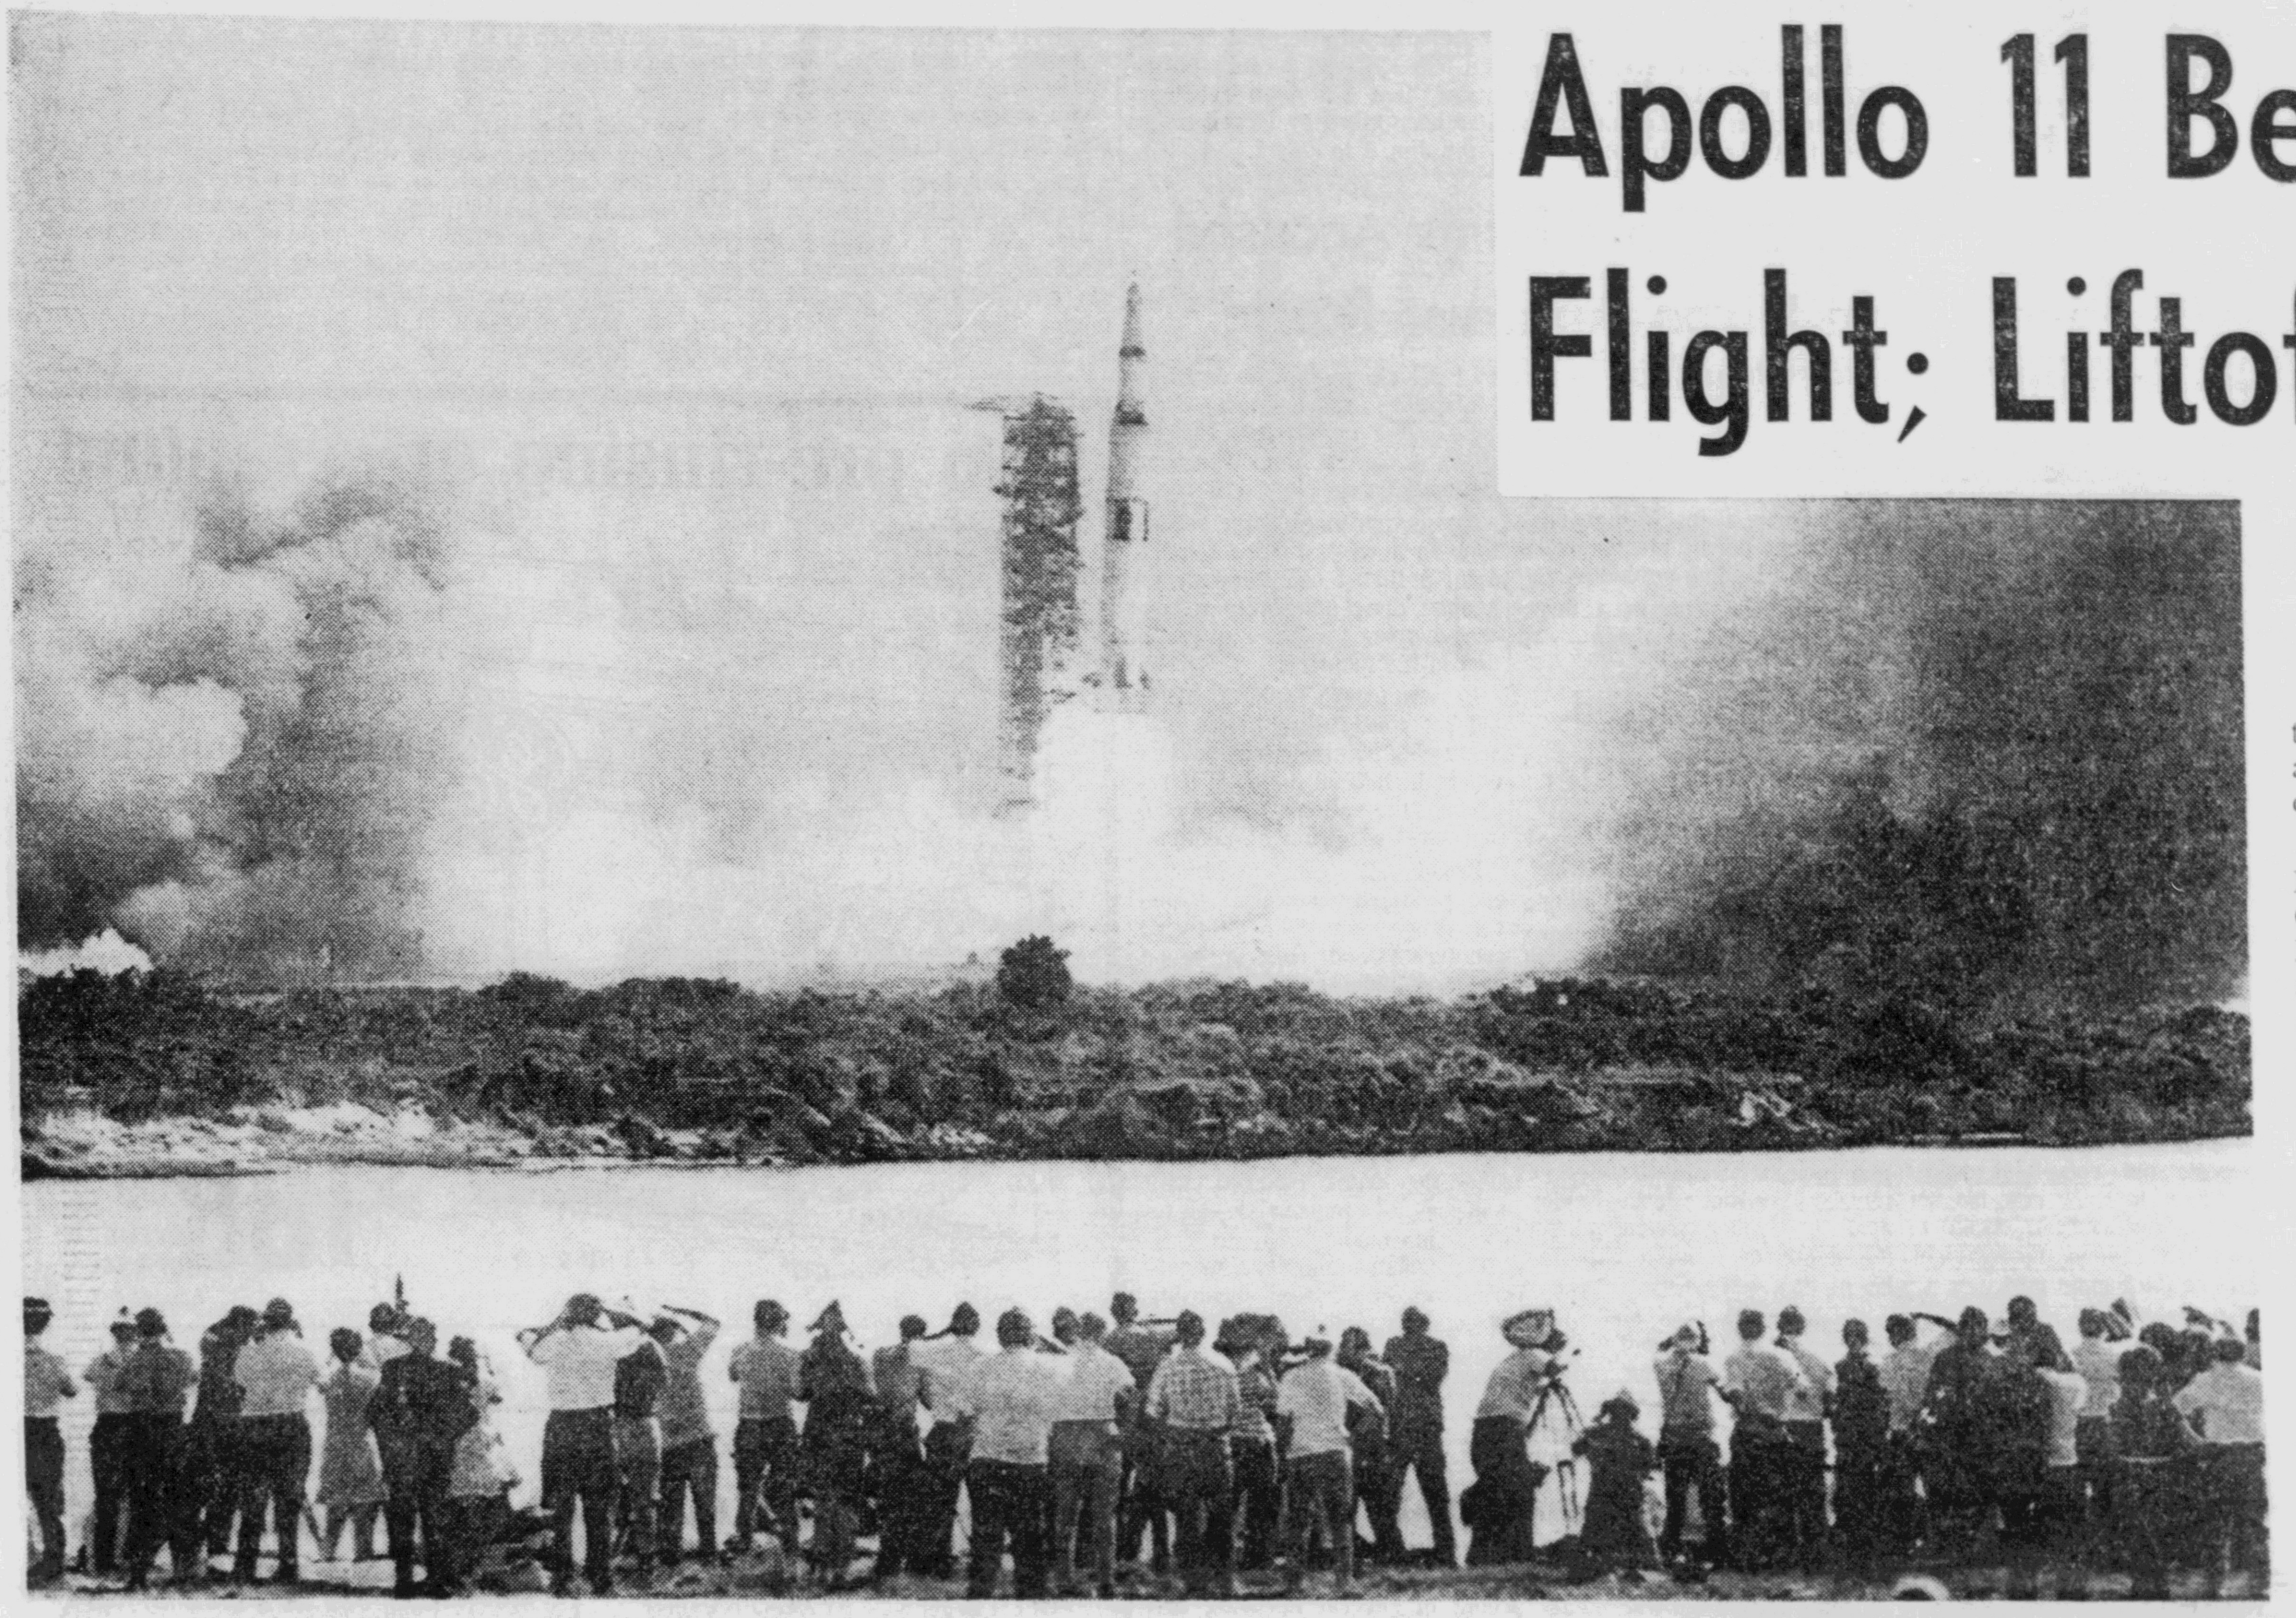
Apollo 11 Begins Moon Flight; Liftoff Is Perfect



The mighty power of Saturn 5 lifted Apollo 11 astronauts moonward from Cape Kennedy this morning as thousands lined up to watch.

Mighty Saturn Puts Capsule On Target

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—With the men and their ship working perfectly, America's Apollo 11 astronauts hurtled through space today on a voyage of the ages, the first attempt to land men on the moon.

Civilian commander Neil A. Armstrong, 38; Air Force Col. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., 39, and Air Force Lt. Col. Michael Collins, 38, continued a performance that had been flawless since launch. They delicately separated their command module from a spent booster and then linked with the moon lander, still housed in the booster. (See other stories, pictures pages 10 and 34.)

The trio started its historic journey on a Saturn 5 rocket that thundered from Cape Kennedy right on schedule at 9:32 a.m. (EDT) and shot them into an orbit 118 miles high.

Two and one-half hours later, the still attached Saturn third stage fired again to hurl Apollo 11 out of earth's orbit and start it fleeting toward the moon.

Half an hour after this maneuver, the astronauts separated their command ship, pivoted around 180 degrees and gingerly poked its harpoon-like docking mechanism into a connecting device in the nose of the moon landing ship, or lunar module, cradled atop the third stage.

The two ships, locked nose to nose, streaked outward on the voyage of the ages toward their distant target.

After nearly an hour, the astronauts were to pull the lunar module (LM) out of its garage in the third stage and the spent rocket was to go into an orbit of the sun.

Springs ejected the linked command ship and moon lander from the rocket stage which had housed the lunar module.

The astronauts moved their craft clear and a later signal from the ground was to cause fuel and propellant to vent from

Next U.S. Goal Mars —Agnew

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew proposed a new American space goal of a manned flight to Mars today even as the Apollo 11 astronauts were just beginning man's first attempt to land on the moon.

"Someone is going to do it," he said.

Agnew said he chose Mars over Venus as the next celestial body to visit because "it seems a more compatible planet."

The vice president, one of some 500 special guests at the Apollo 11 launching, admitted he was in the minority of a four-man presidential committee now devising America's future space plans. The committee is to report to President Nixon this fall.

The vice president first mentioned putting men on Mars in this century in an earlier televised interview.

"I think, we shouldn't be too timid to say by the end of this century we're going to put a

Astronaut Borman Joins President To Watch Launch

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon and astronaut Frank Borman watched on television today the Apollo 11 launch Nixon predicted would "lift the spirits of the American people and the whole world."

Nixon and Borman went into a small office beside the oval presidential office to witness the vent on a color TV set brought in for the occasion. Nixon has no TV set in his working quarters.

Borman, commander of the Apollo 8 mission last Christmas, has been given a temporary desk at the White House where he is serving as Nixon's briefing officer on the Apollo 11 flight.

In a telephone call last night to the three Apollo 11 astronauts, Nixon said the launch would lift spirits around the globe because the flight is the "greatest adventure man has ever undertaken."

Sausalito Council Appoints Hicks

College teacher Wyman Hicks was named to the Sausalito City Council last night as Mayor Earl F. Dunphy rejected a vehement appeal by Sausalitan Warren Glass to appoint Marsha Owen (Sally Stanford) to the post.

(Another Sausalito City Council story, page 12.)

Dunphy refused to read Glass' letter backing Mrs. Owen, and said "the council obviously has made up its mind."

Mrs. Owen ran fourth in the 1968 council election approximately 25 votes behind George C. Hoffman, who resigned his council seat July 1.

Glass said Mrs. Owen was "a runner-up who none of you like . . . can tolerate . . . or even stomach," but said she should be the council choice.

When Glass had finished his brief speech and a verbal tangle with Dunphy, the council went ahead and appointed Hicks by a 4-0 vote.

Hicks, a native Californian who has lived 20 years in Sausalito, is an associate professor of management at Sonoma State College, and is on the educational policies council of the Academic Senate there.

He formerly was an economist with Crown Zellerbach Corp. He was a founder and former executive secretary of the Marin County Human Rights Commission, a former member of the Marin County Democratic Central Committee and former president and trustee of Marin Country Day School.

He was an Army captain in the Pacific Theater during World War II. Hicks is married and has two sons.

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales said today his office will look into possible violation of the Ralph M. Brown Act by the Sau-

U.S. Industrial Production Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Industrial production rose seven-tenths of 1 per cent in June to a seasonally adjusted figure of 173.9 per cent of the 1957-59 average, an increase of 5 percent above that of a year ago.

The Federal Reserve Board, in its report on business conditions, said nonfarm employment also increased during June while the unemployment rate edged downward.

The over-all unemployment rate declined to 3.4 per cent from the 3.5 per cent figure of April and May.

Span Leaper Fourth To Survive Fall

A long-haired youth dressed in flowered bell bottoms plummeted almost 250 feet from the Golden Gate Bridge into San Francisco Bay yesterday, claiming he was obeying the will of his "leader."

Moments later he floated up singing and became the fourth person to survive the plunge. He suffered only bruises.

The youth who, doctors said, was "suffering an extreme psychotic reaction from a drug overdose," was identified as James C. Layton, 20, of San Francisco.

Layton was discovered sitting on the bayside railing in mid-span shortly before noon by a Tiburon girl and a Ukiah youth, and the California Highway Patrol's "suicide scanner" closed circuit television.

Peggy M. Cecil, 17, of 322 Karen Way, Tiburon, and John C. Pearson 18, of Ukiah, asked Layton what he was doing. He told them, "Goodby loves," as a roving patrol truck approached and stopped. Two men in the truck scrambled out and started to talk to the youth, "but he went right off the railing in a feet-first dive," they said.

Highway Patrolman Richard W. Ward, who witnessed the leap, reported, "He hit the water like a knife, as if slicing ice." A bridge engineer has estimated jumpers hit the water at

New Rules Stated In College Signups

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Junior college graduates have been given priority over incoming freshmen and graduate students in admission to the University of California and the State Colleges.

The coordinating Council for Higher Education yesterday adopted a new policy giving junior college transfers priority when U.C. or State College campuses are forced to limit enrollment.

Monagan Fearful Tax Reform Is Doomed Until Session Next Year

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan said today the Legislature may have to delay action on a property tax relief bill until next year.

"We may get ourselves in a position where we may have to postpone final action until next year," the Tracy Republican told a news conference. Senate President pro tem Howard Way R-Exeter, agreed legislative adjournment— scheduled for Aug. 6 or 8 — might prevent passage of a bill reducing property taxes.

"Time is running out," he said at the same news conference.

The two commented as Gov. Reagan's tax relief program was temporarily snagged, mired in opposition by Democrats, big business, the League of Women Voters and local government.

Monagan also said Assembly passage of a bill imposing a study-now, pay-later tuition plan on the University of California and the state colleges was a "futile exercise."

He said the measure can't take effect unless a constitutional amendment accompanying the plan is approved by two thirds vote of the legislators and the voters. He said he doubted whether it could get a two-thirds vote in the Assembly.

The Republican governor suffered a setback yesterday when the Assembly Elections and Constitutional Amendments Committee was forced to delay a vote on the plan because Democrats refused to support it.

Chairman Paul Priolo, R-Pacific Palisades, called for another vote today, hoping an absent Republican will return in time to push the measure out of the committee. From there it would go to the budget screening ways and means committee.

Reagan reacted angrily. In a statement issued through his press office, he said he was "shocked at the blatant partisanship of Democrats on the committee who showed a complete lack of concern for failing to help give California taxpayers meaningful tax reform.

"Their real concern was evidenced by the fact that only two Democratic committee members even bothered to stay for the vote on the measure," he said.

The rising opposition came as Reagan sought to gain the two-thirds majority required to push the plan through the legislature.

With Republicans in control of the Senate 21-19 and the Assembly 41-39, he'll need Democratic support.

In addition the plan — in the form of a bill and a constitutional amendment — would have to be approved by the voters in the June 1970 primary election.

The plan was heavily rewritten by committee members. As it now stands, the measure:

Raises the sales tax from four to five cents on the dollar — a 20 per cent hike.

Boosts the income tax by 25 per cent by imposing a new one per cent tax on gross income.

Imposes a statewide prop-

GOP Chiefs Prod Surtax Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Republican leaders prodded Senate Democratic leaders today to push for passage of the income surtax extension before Congress recesses Aug. 13.

"I think it would be very bad to have the surtax in doubt beyond the recess," Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy told a news conference.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen told the Senate he hopes the Democrats will not permit the extension bill to languish while inflation grows. He called that dangerous.

The Senate's Democratic policy committee has voted unanimously to delay the surtax extender until meaningful tax reforms are ready for Senate consideration.

NETWORKS SLATE APOLLO TELECAST

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Homphrey In Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who has been in the Soviet Union on a private visit since July 9, says he's sure he will see some Soviet leaders during his stay in Moscow.

Humphrey declined, however, to say yesterday whether they would include Communist party chief Leonid Brezhnev, President Nikolai Podgorny or Premier Alexei Kosygin.

"I think I will have a very useful visit," the former vice president said.

Virginia Run-Offs

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — William C. Battle, a former U.S. ambassador to Australia, and state Sen. Henry E. Howell Jr. ran one-two in Virginia's Democratic gubernatorial primary yesterday and will meet in a runoff election Aug. 19.

Battle, son of former Gov. John S. Battle Sr., pulled in 39 per cent of the votes cast, while Howell drew 38 per cent. The third man in the Democratic primary, Lt. Gov. Fred G. Pollard, got 23 per cent.

Stennis Elected

Weather Rockets

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has built what it calls the first permanent base for launching weather rockets inside the Antarctic Circle.

The official news agency Tass said the base is at the Soviet Molodezhnaya station in Antarctica. It said that with the rockets, which go up 60 miles, new information will be obtained about weather conditions.

Iwo Jima Victims

TOYKYO (AP) — The remains of 300 Japanese soldiers who died on Iwo Jima in World War II were brought back to Japan today by a group of government officials and bereaved family members.

The remains of 1,260 others will be brought to Japan in August for interment in the Chidorigafuchi Cemetery near the Imperial Palace.

AMA Backs Loans

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Medical Association, citing high interest rates and a tight money supply, has reversed its policy and approved federal loans to medical students.

The AMA's governing body, the House of Delegates, approved without dissent yesterday a resolution calling for an increase in federal financial support of medical schools.

The purpose: "To permit a major increase in the enrollment of medical students and the production of physicians."

Music Bequest

CLAREMONT (AP) — Scripps College reported yesterday that a $687,486 bequest from the estate of Cecil Frankel, Santa Monica insurance executive, will permit long-range development of the school's mucic program.

Government Sues Baker In Peddling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has sued Bobby Baker for part of the money the government claims he obtained peddling influence while secretary to Senate Democrats.

The civil damage claim was filed in U.S. District Court here yesterday, only two days before expiration of the six-year limitation on government action against one Baker contract.

The suit cited four fees as having been received by Baker, including one of $2,500 from Redwood National Bank, San Rafael.

The Justice Department also asked that Baker, now free while appealing a 1-3 year prison sentence, be forced to give a full accounting of his net worth.

Accusing the former South Carolina farm boy of conflict of interest, the complaint asked for Baker to show how his net worth increased from $11,000 to about $1.7 million during eight years in the Senate post.

Baker served as majority secretary while former President Lyndon B. Johnson was Senate Democratic leader. He resigned under fire in 1963 after being charged in a civil suit with influence peddling.

He was indicted on two counts of tax evasion, two counts of theft and one of fraud.

His latest appeal is now before the U.S. District Court here.

Israeli Killed During Gun Duel Over Canal

TEL AVIV (AP) — One Israeli soldier was killed as Egyptian and Israeli forces traded gunfire across the Suez Canal last night and early today, the Israeli army reported.

The firing centered in the Dwad Suwar region, midway along the 103-mile waterway, a spokesman said.

In Amman, the Jordanian capital, the Palestine Armed Struggle Command said four of its guerrillas and several Israeli soldiers were killed in a clash yesterday in the Jordan Valley, and that the Arab raiders destroyed three Israeli armored vehicles, two heavy machine guns and a radio post.

The Israeli army reported earlier that two Arab saboteurs were killed in the clash, but mentioned no Israeli casualties or damage.

The Israelis also reported two gun duels between Israeli and Jordanian forces in the Beisan Valley but said nothing about casualties.

Defense Minister Moshe Dayan told Knesset, Israel's parliament, that 119 Arab saboteurs had been killed by Israeli troops from Jan. 1 to July 7.

Seven Drug Firms Accused In Nixon Antitrust Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration, trying to lower spiraling drug prices through vigorous antitrust enforcement, has charged seven major drug firms with using a fraudulent patent to monopolize sales of a leading antibiotic.

The government, in a three-count civil suit, also demanded at least $25 million in damages —probably much more—from two of the companies, Charles Pfizer & Co. Inc. and American Cyanamid Co.

The action marked the second time in a week Justice Department antitrust enforcers moved against drug patents in a concerted drive for more competition in the industry.

In yesterday's suit, filed in federal court here, Pfizer was accused of obtaining a fraudulent patent in 1955 on the drug tetracycline, the nation's largest selling broad spectrum antibiotic.

Broad spectrum antibiotics are popularly known as "wonder drugs" for their ability to counteract and cure a broad range of illnesses and diseases.

In addition to Pfizer and Cyanamid, five other leading drug producers — Bristol-Myers Co., Olin-Mathieson Chemical Corp., Squibb Beech-Nut Inc., E. R. Squibb & Sons Inc. and the Upjohn Co.—were charged with conspiracy to monopolize the tetracycline trade.

That count stemmed, the government said, from licensing agreements under which Pfizer, Cyanamid and Bristol-Myers would manufacture the drug and all seven firms could sell it in dosage form.

Since taking office, the Nixon administration's antitrust chief, Asst. Atty. Gen. Richard W. McLaren, has taken the task force advice and directed probes of several licensing arrangements.

Man Convicted For Killing Rider

BAKERSFIELD (AP) — A Superior Court jury that convicted a San Antonio man of killing a hitchhiker will begin hearing the penalty phase of the trial today.

The penalty phase had been scheduled to start yesterday but it was delayed because several witnesses were unable to attend.

The jury of eight women and four men returned a first-degree murder verdict last Friday against Richard Welch, 24, in the death of Randall Jenkins, 17, of Salt Lake City.

Welch testified he shot Jenkins near Tehachapi and wounded Jenkins' companion, Diane Bradford, 19, of San Jose, because he was afraid the teenagers would harm him and his wife.

Track Medal Kills Worker, 19

CHICAGO (UPI)—A 19-year-old youth was electrocuted yesterday when the high school track medallion swinging from a chain around his neck touched a third rail at a Chicago Transit Authority elevated train station.

James Elias, who graduated from Carl Sandburg High School in Orland Park last month and was working as a summer employee for the Swanson Construction Co., was reaching across the tracks while applying bolts when his chain touched the third rail at 63rd Street and Loomis.

Elias, had been a leader on the high school's cross-country team. He was working for Swanson, a subcontractor for the CTA and was enrolled at Illinois University for the fall semester.

Lull Over Vietnam As Wheeler Arrives

Wheeler came to Saigon for four days of conferences at U.S. headquarters and field locations, a command spokesman said. Adm. John S. McCain Jr., U.S. commander in chief in the Pacific, arrived shortly before Wheeler.

The U.S. Command reported 26 enemy shellings during the night and an ambush of an American truck convoy north of Saigon. One American was killed and nine were wounded in the shellings, and one was killed and six were wounded in the ambush, a spokesman said.

The command also reported the loss of an OH6 observation helicopter, downed by enemy ground fire yesterday near Phuc Vinh, 37 miles north of Saigon. One American was reported killed in the crash, and two were injured. The report raised the announced total of helicopters lost in the war to 2,851.

DRIVING BEGINS BADLY FOR NOVATO BOY, 12

A 12-year-old Novato boy began his driving career with a flourish yesterday—running into a yard and backing into a police car.

Police reported they saw three small boys in a car about 8:30 a.m. yesterday on South Novato Boulevard. The boys apparently also saw the officer, turned off and ran into the yard of Lawrence G. Chapman, 1454 Cambridge Street.

The driver, Cameron F. Harr of 1639 Merritt Drive, then backed the car out of the yard and into the police car. He told officers he had practiced driving earlier and thought he was good enough to take the car out of the family driveway.

He was cited to juvenile authorities for auto theft, driving without a license and resisting arrest. The car belonged to Frank C. Woodward of 21 Alta Street, Petaluma.

Apollo 11 Moonward; Liftoff Is Perfect

the rocket stage. It was to go to an orbit of the sun.

Mission control told the astronauts earlier that "it looks like you're about 18, maybe 20 pounds, below normal" in the amount of control rocket fuel left.

"No problem at all," said a flight controller.

"I wanted it to be 18 to 20 poundf above nominal," said a disappointed Collins.

Collins said earlier he thought he used more fuel than planned during the docking maneuver.

The firing of the third stage increased their speed from about 17,400 to 24,200 miles per hour, enough to break the grip of earth's gravity.

It send them on the lunar trail blazed twice by man in the last seven months—by the Apollo 8 and 10 astronauts who came tantalizingly close as they orbited earth's only natural satellite.

"That Saturn gave us a magnificent ride," said Armstrong.

"It certainly looks like you're on your way," mission control replied.

"We have no complaints about any of the three stages on that ride," Armstrong reported.

The Apollo 11 crew planned to coast for three days, firing themselves into orbit 69 miles above the moon early Saturday afternoon to set the stage for the landing attempt.

During their first hours in space, the astronauts were very businesslike as they checked spaceship systems. There was very little conversation from the orbiting craft.

"Houston, be advised the visual is go today," one of the astronauts said shortly after the spacecraft left the ground. "They finally gave me a window to look out."

Armstrong's first words on achieving orbit were very businesslike.

"The booster has been confirmed for orbital flight. Both spacecraft are looking good," he said. He referred to the still attached third stage of the Saturn 5 which was to ignite later to boost Apollo 11 toward the moon.

Sunday afternoon, Armstrong and Aldrin are to detach a lunar module and fly it down to a landing at the Sea of Tranquillity. Early the next day they are to fullfull a centuries-old dream by walking on and exploring the lunar landscape.

Civil defense officials estimated more than a million persons, the largest crowd ever to witness a Cape Kennedy launching, cheered as the great rocket lifted away from earth.

Thousands had camped overnight on beaches and other vantage points. Roads were jammed early in the morning.

Among those who watched the start of the moon mission from Cape Kennedy were former President Lyndon B. Johnson, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and Armstrong's wife, Janet, and their two sons, Eric, 12, and Mark, 6.

Also watching the start of the moon mission were Armstrong's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Armstrong in Wapakoneta, Ohio.

Mrs. Armstrong told newsmen she talked to her son the morning before launch.

"He was happy," she said. "His usual self. Just like he always is."

As the astronaut's parents spoke, one of the spacemen in the capsule told mission control: "It sure is clear down there. It's like sitting in your living room."

The astronauts go to the moon as men of peace, bearing the flags and messages of many lands.

They may not make it. For Apollo 11 is not only man's most ambitious space adventure but also the most dangerous.

The astronauts and space officials warned in advance that the flight might have to be aborted at any time, even up to the moment of lunar touchdown.

And if the two astronauts do land, there is a remote chance they could be stranded on the moon, with only two days of oxygen and no chance of rescue.

The astronauts have chosen as their symbol the drawing of an eagle swooping to the cratered surface, its talons gripping an olive branch.

As is the manner of men, Armstrong and Aldrin will plant an American flag on the surface as a symbol of conquest. But they will not claim this territory for the United States. To make this clear they will leave behind a plaque bearing these words:

"Here men from the planet earth

"First set foot upon the moon

"July 1969 A.D.

"We came in peace for all mankind."

They are to gather precious rocks from this new world, deploy scientific instruments and determine how well man in a bulky space suit can operate in the unfamiliar one-sixth gravity field on the moon.

Armstrong and Aldrin are to spend about two and one-half hours outside. In all they are to be on the moon less than a day.

But in that time they will have opened the limitless frontier of space a bit farther. The rocks they bring home may provide clues to the origin of the moon, the earth and even the solar system— and set the course for future expeditions to probe the universe beyond present imagination.

If all goes well, much of the world will watch the entire lunar surface activity beamed live via television from a camera the astronauts are to mount 30 feet away from their landing craft.

Television provided millions with a ringside seat for the blazing start of the momentous mission. Much of the world stood still as the 363-foot Saturn 5 roared into the sky.

The most powerful machine ever built sprayed the launch area with a dazzling sheet of flame as its five first-stage engines flashed to life and sent an unearthly howl rolling across the scrub and swamplands of the moonport.

The monster screamed on its pedestal for 8.9 seconds as a computer system made certain all engines ignited properly and built up full total thrust of 7.7 million pounds—equal to the power of more than 500 jet planes. When the computer

When the computer sensed all was right, it commanded four 40,000-pound steel restraining arms to flip back to release the pulsating giant.

Gulping fuel at the rate of 15 tons a second, the rocket blazed into the heavens. Its millions of parts meshed, pulsed and interacted flawlessly and all three stages fired with precison to boost Apollo 11 to its first orbital plateau.

erty tax of $3.50 per each $100 of assessed valuation on nonresidential commercial business property and a $2 per $100 tax on farmland.

Ruth Funk, representing the League of Women Voters, objected to a provision putting the new tax rates in the constitution.

"You're singling out a particular segment of the economy," complained Thomas Knight of the California Manufacturers Association. He objected to the special business property tax.

The League of California Cities and the County Supervisors Association also spoke against the bill and the California Teachers Association had several criticisms.

man on Mars," he said. "That's my judgment."

"I'm sure the way science has developed in the last 50 years, we'll have the capability."

The vice president said he is "on the minority side in wanting to forthrightly say we are going to Mars," among the administration's science advisers.

"Many people say, 'Why can't we utilize to some extent the unmanned part of the program to explore our own geography and our own biology and our own weather," rather than venture to the planets, Agnew said.

"We're all advisers to the President," he said. "He will make the ultimate decision."

Former President Lyndon B. Johnson, who served on space committees for years as senator and vice president, likened the pre-launch wait to "standing around the hospital room before your baby is born—you must be prepared to accept the worst, but you hope for the best."

After the launch, he said: "You never get the same feeling sitting in a room watching it on camera that you get when you're right there. I had a feeling of great concern for the outcome of their flight. We haven't reached the end. It's just the beginning."

As the Saturn 5 ignited and rose from the pad, some in the VIP section yelled "Come on baby. . . go baby!"

Johnson said the moon flight came from decisions reached only 12 years ago.

"If we can do all that in such a short time," the former president said, "I wonder why we can't put the same effort into peace for all time."

After the launch there were massive traffic jams on the roads out of the launch area. Cars and buses backed up in a line 10 miles long.

a speed of 80 miles an hour.

The young postal clerk landed yards from a small fishing boat whose startled operators pulled him from the water. He was taken to Letterman General Hospital and then to San Francisco General Hospital where doctors said he was in satisfactory condition with no fractures.

He was the least seriously injured of the four survivors of the more than 350 persons who have made the jump since the bridge opened in 1937.

In 1941, Cornelia Van Ireland, then 22, suffered mulitple fractures; in 1965, Thomas Paul Tawzer, then 16, sustained broken ribs and a broken collarbone, and in 1967, Gene Robens, then 21, had internal injuries.

Layton told hospital officials he had taken LSD for 18 months and had taken mescaline Monday night.

His roommates reported the youth "has been on a spiritual trip lately," and yesterday gave them all his money, telling them to use what they needed.

He had been attending the Church of Cosmic Light in San Francisco and hoped to become a teacher in metaphysics, his roommates said.

He told the highway patrol he was following the teachings of his religion — "teachings I have learned through meditation." He added, "I guess maybe I might have tripped out by the guidance of my leader."

Three Hurt In Bridge Collision

Three persons were hospitalized, one in poor condition, following a head-on collision on Golden Gate Bridge at 10 p.m. yesterday, the California Highway Patrol reported.

James E. Gray Jr., 28, of 21 Chanticleer, Larkspur, was reported in poor condition in the intensive care unit at Marin General Hospital with severe skull cuts.

Brian W. Beggs, 21, and Paul R. Healey, 18, both of Peterborough, Ontario, were reported in fair condition at Marin General Hospital, each with a concussion.

The highway patrol said the accident occurred when Gray's car crossed the center line and hit Beggs' minibus.

Ex-Felon Admits Gun Possession

A misdemeanor charge of possessing someone else's credit card was dismissed.

He was arrested by the California Highway Patrol July 1 when officers stopped on Highway 101 to aid Smith who was getting out of his stalled car.

Kentfield Firehouse Dedication Saturday

Dedication ceremonies will be held at an open house from 2 to 5 p.m. Saturday at the Kentfield fire station at 1004 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

The $325,000 firehouse, completed last September, will be dedicated by E. C. Adams, chief engineer of the Pacific Fire Rating Bureau, San Francisco, while Peter A. Arrigoni, Marin County Supervisor, will be master of ceremonies.

salito City Council which held a secret meeting July 7 to screen candidates for the council vacancy.

Bales said, however, he is "not contemplating at present" filing misdemeanor charges against the council.

The Sausalito council, it was disclosed yesterday, held the unannounced meeting in violation of the Brown Act because, according to Mayor Earl N. Dunphy, "Nobody even thought of it, to tell the truth . . . we just picked up the phone . . . and then we met and that was it."

Under the Brown Act, official bodies must give 24 hours advance notice of closed meetings to the public and the news media which have asked for notice, as the Independent-Journal has.

Tax Rate Defeat Idles New School

MONTEREY (UPI)—The defeat of a proposed school tax increase in Monterey County yesterday has prevented the opening of a new elementary school in the area.

A 24-cent tax increase, proposed by the Northern Monterey County Elementary School District, was defeated by Monterey voters 298-500. It was the fourth such defeat in the last four years.

As a result, school officials say no teachers can be hired to staff a new school building in Castroville and no additional supplies can be purchased for the remainder of the school district.

Assessor To Talk On Property Evaluation

John Chambers, chief county assessor, will discuss recent property assessment reevaluations at a meeting of the Old Tiburon Neighborhood Association at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at Old St. Hilary's Church in Tiburon.

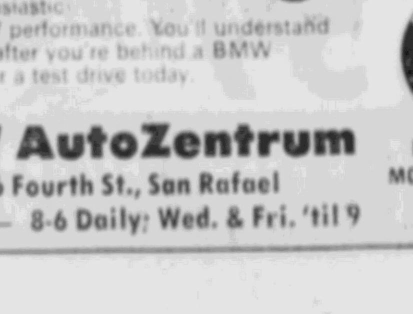
Also to be discussed are street improvements, animal control ordinance, a 15-mile-per-hour speed limit on Mar West Street and election of new officers.

Call For Holiday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today urged that all Americans be given a holiday Monday to celebrate the scheduled first footfall of man on the moon — "a moment of transcendent drama."

Road and Track Magazine (May 1968) says:

"The BMW 1600 and 2002 are the best sedan buys in the world."



Next to BMW owners themselves, professional critics are the most enthusiastic endorsers of BMW performance. You'll understand why five minutes after you're behind a BMW wheel. Come in for a test drive today.

Veteran San Rafael teacher

OBITUARIES

James Gulick, 58, Succumbs

James Gulick, English teacher at San Rafael High School for 24 years and a resident of San Anselmo, died yesterday of cancer at his home after a two-month illness.

Gulick, 58, was born in Long Branch, N.J., and went as a boy to Paradise, Butte County, where his family ran a general store.

He received his bachelor's degree and teacher's credential from Chico State College and then entered the Army in World War II, serving as a corporal.

He then attended Stanford University and got his master's degree in English and a second teacher's credential.

Gulick taught for a short time at Selma Junior High School, Selma, Fresno County, then came to San Rafael High School in 1945.

He taught English through June, up until his illness. He coached the C track team when he first came to San Rafael High and was chess club adviser for many years.

Gulick's avocation was fruit growing and he had 90 trees in his garden at 45 Sais Avenue, including cherries, peaches and apples. He was recently experimenting with the New Zealand kiwi berry.

He was a member of the California Council of English Teachers, California Teachers Association and sang tenor in the Winifred Baker Chorale at Dominican College.

Gulick is survived by his wife, Frances, who was librarian at San Rafael High School, where the Gulicks met, from 1942 to 1954. Also surviving him are three daughters, Gail Lucil, Dorothy Ann and Letha Lynn Gulick, of San Anselmo; a brother, Robert L. Gulick of Glendale, Ariz., and a sister, Caroline Ingram of Monrovia, Los Angeles County.

Funeral will be at 1:30 p.m. Friday at the Chapel of the Hills Mortuary, San Anselmo. Interment will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

JOHN PETERS

Graveside service for John Peters, 69, a Sausalito gardener, died Sunday in a local hospital will be tomorrow at Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

Peters, of 161 Filbert Street, after a long illness. A native of Lebanon, he had lived in Sausalito and in California 50 years.

He is survived by his wife, Virginia Peters of Sausalito, and a sister, Labebe Kamid of Batouta, Lebanon. The family prefers memorial contributions to the Marin County Heart Association.

LOUISE WILFERT

Louise A. Wilfert, 63, of 801 McClay Road Novato, a retired secretary, died yesterday in a local hospital after a long illness.

She was born in Palo Alto and worked as a secretary at Stanford University until she retired in 1963 and moved to Novato.

She was a member of the Novato Garden Club.

She is survived by her husband, Alvin J. Wilfert, a Novato contractor; two sisters, Elizabeth Kalmar of Riverside and Lillian Meyer, and a brother Carl Meyer, both of Palo Alto.

The funeral will be at 11 a.m. Friday at the Redwood Chapel Funeral Home in Novato. Private inurnment will be in the Chapel of the Chimes in Santa Rosa.

IDA LOCOCO

A Requiem Mass for Ida M. Lococo, of 18 Hillside Drive, Fairfax, will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow at St. Rita's Church, Fairfax. Mrs. Lococo died Monday night in a local hospital after a lengthy illness. She was 62.

A native of San Francisco, she had lived in Marin County for 20 years.

She is survived by her husband, Alberto; a daughter, Gloria Perez of San Diego; two brothers, John Marchetti of San Anselmo and Giulio Marchetti of San Francisco, and a sister, Tosca Chiti in Italy.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at Keaton's Chapel, San Rafael. Entombment will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

JAMES CRANDALL

James L. Crandall, 56, vice president of the Glass Bottle Blowers Association of the U.S. and Canada, died today at a local hospital following a long illness.

A native of Elmira, N. Y., Crandall had lived in Marin for three years, moving to San Rafael from Philadelphia. He lived at 8 Anna Court.

Funeral will be Sunday at the Melvin H. Keister Funeral Home in Elmira, followed by burial in Forest Lawn Cemetery in Elmira.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Cathryn Kuhlman Foundation, Pittsburgh, Pa.

The body will be at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael, until 9 p.m. today.

MARY B. BURRIS

Mary B. Burris of 1093 Lea Drive, San Rafael, died today in a local hospital after a lengthy illness. She was 49.

A native of Indiana, Mrs. Burris had lived in Marin County for five years.

She is survived by her husband, John Franklin Burris, a retired Air Force lieutenant colonel, and three sons, John F. Burris Jr., Raymond Thomas Burris and James Gerry Burris, all at home.

Graveside services will be held Friday at 11 a.m. at Willamette National Cemetery, Portland, Ore. Friends may call from 3:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. today at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael.

MRS. MARGARET A. HARTNESS

Margaret A. Hartness, 69, of 1420 Hill Street, Novato, died yesterday in an Oakland Hospital after a long illness.

A native of Nebraska, she had lived in Woodacre for 20 years prior to moving to Novato.

She is survived by her husband, Louis E. Hartness of Cotati, from whom she was separated; a daughter, Mrs. William A. Durham of Novato; a sister, Lillian Dias of Santa Rosa and three grandchildren.

The funeral will be at 10 a.m. Friday at Keaton's Chapel of Marin in Novato. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery in San Rafael.

LENA CIOCCA

Requiem Mass for Lena Ciocca, 92, a Marin County resident for 63 years, will be at 11:30 a.m. tomorrow at St. Raphael's Church. Rosary will be said at 8:15 p.m. today at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael. Entombment will be private.

Mrs. Ciocca, widow of Eduardo Ciocca, died at a local hospital Monday after a short illness.

A native of Italy, she lived at 11 G Street in San Rafael.

Mrs. Ciocca is survived by three grandchildren, five great-grandchildren and three great-great-grandchildren.

Memorial contributions to the Hanna Boys Center in Sonoma County or Sunny Hills in San Anselmo.

JUMP SURVIVOR

San Anselmo Park Land Funds Cut From Budget

The San Anselmo City Council last night eliminated $16,755 from the 1969-70 parks budget earmarked for purchase of the six-acre Jones property adjacent to Sorich Ranch.

The cut, made for economy reasons, brought the parks budget to $40,574. Included is $2,750 for two toilets at the Robson-Harrington Mansion and $2,000 for contingency funds for mansion roof repairs.

The council approved a 1969-70 recreation budget of $33,680 and a library budget of $61,234. The library budget was increased by $2,150 of which $1,650 is for 10 hours a week in added library salaries and $500 for a book drop.

The San Anselmo City Council Also:

FIRE HORN — Voted 3-1, Councilman James F. Reed voting "no" and Councilman Kenneth L. Anderson abstaining to continue to sound the fire horn from the city hall tower three times a day at 8 a.m., noon and 5 p.m.
mously reaffirmed its support mously reaffiremed its support of a Marin transit bus system and of a connecting route between San Anselmo and Terra Linda to be planned and built as soon as possible.

CIVIC PRIDE AND BEAUTIFICATION — Voted unanimously to recommend that San Anselmo not enter into the flood control district until esthetically acceptable plans have been accepted; that neighborhood groups be formed to study problems; that the council enforce existing laws to see that vacant property is adequately maintained and it continued action on a recommendation that parking lot A be developed into a twon plaza.

CITY DEVELOPMENT — Referred to the chamber of commerce recommendations that stores be encouraged to stay open one night a week and an investigation into craft type stores and said that the recommendation for an up-to-date general plan is now being pursued.

HUMAN RELATIONS — Referred to the San Anselmo Human Rights Board a recommendation that the board be given direct power by public referendum; heard from Councilman Reed that a proposed "Halfway House" for youth is beyond the city's fiscal ability and took no action on a recommendation for establishing a communications center.

Butchertown Gets New Name

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Butchertown, a 125-acre area south of Market Street, has a new name today.

The city's Redevelopment Agency voted last night to change the name of its Butchertown Redevelopment Project to Basin Industrial Park.

Butchertown got its name from the slaughterhouses it once supported but the agency decided the name wasn't appealing. Basin is a nearby part of San Francisco Bay.

The agency plans to raze buildings that house 109 buildings and industries in the area and 77 families.

Driver Fined $240

Richard Lewis Rock, 36, of 230 Del Casa Drive, Mill Valley, was placed on one year probation yesterday in Marin County Municipal Court and fined $240 for drunk driving. He was arrested April 24 in Sausalito.

Woman Struck By Gallon Bottle

A 26-year-old Corte Madera woman was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital after being struck over the head with a gallon bottle at about 10:30 p.m. yesterday by an unknown assailant, police reported.

Nancy Irwin Burgess of 403-A Chapman Drive is being treated for multiple head cuts.

Miss Burgess told police that she had taken a shower and stepped out, wrapped in her nightgown, when she was struck by a youth with long black hair, about 17 years of age, 5 foot, 10 inches, weighing about 155 pounds and wearing a brown wool shirt and blue jeans.

It was not disclosed how the youth entered the house.

Fall Victim Fair

William Purtell, 53, of 111 Buena Vista Avenue, Corte Madera, was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital as a result of a fall from a building at 1827 Second Street, San Rafael. According to police, Purtell suffered a cut scalp after a roof beam gave way with him.

Adebonojo Quits Hub's Rights Board

Dr. Festus Adebonojo last night resigned from the San Anselmo Human Rights Board saying the board now serves primarily to soothe the consciences of all the citizens. He said his written resignation-would be forthcoming.

Adebonojo, a pediatrician who has lived in San Anselmo five years, was asked by Councilman James F. Reed to reconsider but later, outside of the city hall, Adebonojo said his decision is "final."

Action came at a discussion of Town Meeting recommendations by the human relations panel, one recommendation being the call for a public referendum to give the human rights board direct power to deal with discriminatory practices in jobs, housing and education.

Adebonojo said the thing that made him resign from the board is that a local church "just about admitted that it practices discrimination in hiring of a minister by saying it didn't want to consider all applications that came before it . . . If a church did it and cannot be brought to account, I ask you, who cannot do it? A church of God."

Reed, who pleaded with the board member not to resign, said that the board's regulations come frrom the County of Marin but the board's power rests with the U.S. Attorney's Office.

"Any black man in Marin County has experienced discrimination," said Reed. "I think the only way to resolve it is to hear about it by getting it out in the open and work on it. We want your help."

Tri-Partite Session Canceled For Study

Today's morning meeting of the Tri-Partite Transportation Committee was canceled to give Marin and San Francisco officials time to review the ferry feasibility report issued last week by consultants Arthur D. Little Inc., secretary Seymour Kashin reported.

The committee, composed of officials from the two counties and the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District, has not met since March.

Money, Marijuana: Teen-Agers Win Help

The San Anselmo City Council in an emotion-packed discussion of money and marijuana, last night voted unanimously on three programs to provide activities for teen-agers.

The council allocated $1,000 in the city recreation budget for teens, the exact purpose to be designated later.

It voted requested the city attorney to look into the legality of giving $500 to the Third Rail Coffee House, the San Anselmo teen center in the basement of the First Presbyterian Church.

The council authorized the parks and recreation commission to proceed with construction of picnic tables and campsites at Sorich Ranch Park without further council action.

The council implied that young people in the city might work to put the park into service this summer.

All three actions followed recommendations which grew out of the May 17 Town Meeting.

An argument over marijuana developed when Councilman Robert M. Scott said he is not opposed to subsidizing any group if the city controls it and he said he would object strenuously to hiring any directors who advocate the use or legalization of marijuana.

"I am sorry this has got down to name calling," responded Norman Leach, Third Rail Coffee House director, who said he has not advocated the use of marijuana.

Leach said drugs are not used at the Third Rail and added that he would leave his job if he thought this would mean more support for the coffee house. "I think the real issue shouldn't be the manager's personality but whether this city is going to invest money," he said.

Two teen-agers spoke during the evening, Dennis Gallagher saying that if the city decides to clean up its vacant lots, he knows youths who would be interested in being hired to help.

Charles Stewart, who called himself a "short-haired representative of the young adult community," said he knows Leach as a responsible person and "the kids (at the coffee house) are responsible in every case."

Dr. Festus Abebonojo told the council he was amazed at the amount of discussion about giving teen-agers in a community of 13,000 a "paltry $1,000." "If you turn them down right now," he continued, "you have no right later on when they turn against you in whatever form they do."

"I think the decision should be based on whether we give $1,000 to teens or not — not legalizing marijuana," said Councilman James F. Reed. He was applauded.

Maintenance Man Disciplined

Sherman R. Smith, formerly manager of the Bolinas Community Public Utility District, was suspended without pay for 30 days by the district board last night after charges against him were heard in closed session.

Smith had repeatedly failed to follow board orders in district operations, director George F. West said today, and had been warned about some of his actions two or three times before. West said Smith had been reduced to maintenance man several months ago in another disciplinary action by the board.

In open meeting, the board directed engineers Whitlow, Hoffman and Albritton to prepare final plans for a new pipeline to the end of Wharf Road for the Aug. 13 meeting.

The board also directed Kennedy Engineers to prepare a contour map of the Bolinas area for study in the proposed joint sewer system with Stinson Beach.

Cotati Trustees Approve Budget For Publication

The budget represents a decrease of $40,000 from 1968-69 expenditures and a continuation of the present tax rate of $2.06 per $100 assessed valuation.

A meeting of the finance committee was set for Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. to review the budget and prepare it for final adoption at the Aug. 5 board meeting.

The Cotati School District board also:

LAND PURCHASE — Approved the purchase of 2,000 square feet of land adjacent to the driveway at the new Thomas Page School on Madrone Avenue. Supt. Duncan A. Coleman said the purchase of land from Henry Eickmeyer for $300 would prevent the need for a $12,000 retaining wall. He said the extra driveway area would cost an additional $1,000 in paving work.

ROHNERT PLANS — Heard a report that preliminary drawings for the six classroom addition to the Waldo Rohnert School are 50 per cent complete and ready for study by the building committee.

PORTABLES — Approved the placement of two portable classrooms for trainable mentally retarded students on the Waldo Rohnert grounds. The buildings and classes will be maintained by the Sonoma County Schools office.

Theft Hearing Set

A preliminary hearing for Steven J. O'Brien, 19, of Mill Valley, was set yesterday for tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court. O'Brien is charged with stealing an auto tape deck in Mill Valley June 10.

Bill Increasing Lawmakers' Pay To Floor Of Assembly

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill inflating lawmakers pay 20 per cent to $19,200 a year in 1971 hit the Assembly floor today with the unanimous blessings of its committee watchdogs of the state Treasury.

The Assembly Ways and Means Committee, lower house controllers of California's purse strings, cleared the Senate-passed bill to the floor at the tag end of a hearing last night without a dissenting vote.

Salaries of the 120 lawmakers would rise $3,200 from the present $16,000 to $19,200 on Jan. 4, 1971. The new schedule would apply to the 80 assemblymen and 20 of the 40 senators elected in the 1970 elections, and for the last two years of the four-year terms won by 20 senators reelected last November.

The bill, by Sen. James Wedworth, D-Hawthorne, requires a two-thirds vote for passage to Gov. Ronald Reagan. No one doubted the 54 votes could be rounded up.

A spokesman for Reagan said the governor was "neutral" on the bill but would just as soon wait until the 1970 session to see it on his desk.

A. Alan Post, the legislature's analyst, defended the increase. "None of the salary adjustments in the state are tied to cost-of-living as such," he said. "It's really not germane."

He noted the Legislature raised judges' salaries 21 per cent over a four-year period.

Lawmakers also receive $25 a day expenses when in session or on legislative business plus other benefits like a leased car and gasoline credit card. Average pay received in 1967 was a little more than $21,000.

The present annual sessions and $16,000 pay scale were approved by the voters by a 2-1 margin in 1966 as Proposition 1-A.

Demos Seek Help To Restore Budget Items

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Senate Democrats today appealed to Republicans to help them override $118.1 million worth of vetoes by Gov. Ronald Reagan in the new state budget.

Democrats met behind closed doors yesterday and decided to try to restore nine items Reagan vetoed from the $6.2 billion record spending package.

"We thought these were the most worthy expenditures," caucus Chairman James R. Mills of San Diego said. "In each case it was the overwhelming opinion that these items were desirable."

However , it takes a two-thirds vote by each house to overturn the governor's veto. Republicans control the Senate 21-19 and the Assembly 41-39. Prospects for GOP members joining Democrats are remote.

Mills said the caucus decided to try Monday to override the blue penciled items. Reagan vetoed 25 items in all.

He said that no Republicans had yet been asked to join in the override attempt and added that there was no assurance all 19 Democrats will go along.

Mills said "We have 10" Democrats, which leaves those seeking to overturn vetoes the task of rounding up 17 other colleagues.

In recent history no governor has had his veto overridden.

Since the budget bill which was approved originated in the Senate that is where attempts to override must begin. If Senate Democrats are unsuccessful, the effort fails automatically.

Mills said among those items selected was $100 million for additional school assistance that Reagan sliced from the budget.

Democrats will also seek to restore the $7.6 million that was appropriated to pay off a loan for the California Exposition. Mills said Democrats wanted to pay off the loan rather than pay $700,000 annual interest on it.

Democrats will also seek to override the governor's veto of $1 million for a special program to admit academically unqualified and disadvantaged students to the University of California. Reagan said the university could find the money from its own funds.

Other vetoed items on the Democratic list for override include:

$4.6 million for additional pay raises for state employees.

$60,000 to plan for construction of a medical correctional facility at Otay Mesa in San Diego County.

$70,000 for a water contamination study in Gardena and Delano.

$500,000 for the Head Start preschool program.

$2.4 million for capital construction at junior colleges.

Felony, Theft Reports At 76

A total of 76 felony and theft reports were received by the Petaluma Police Department during the month of July, according to Police Chief Larry D. Higgins.

Included in the felony offenses were 15 burglaries, a robbery, 17 thefts over $50 in value and 35 thefts under $50. Ten of the felonies were cleared through arrests.

Chief Higgins said 322 misdemeanor reports were received and 742 complaints processed. A total of 295 moving traffic citations were issued and 38 accidents investigated, 11 of which involved injuries.

Mild Earthquake Shakes Paso Robles

PASO ROBLES (UPI) — An earthquake shook the Central California coast late yesterday, but apparently cause no damage.

The University of California seismograph station in Berkeley recorded a "moderate" temblor in the area at 9:22 p.m. The quake was felt by residents of Paso Robles and Atascadero.

Publication Budget Approved

A $1,118,614 publication budget for fiscal 1969-70 was adopted last night by the Shoreline Unified School District board, according to Supt. Charles E. McCully.

This is $47,813 more than the $1,070,801 preliminary budget.

The board set 8 p.m., Aug. 6 at the district office for public hearing and adoption of the budget, McCully said.

The publication budget calls for $3.17 per $100 assessed valuation operating tax rate, he said. McCaully said he did not know what the total tax rate would be because such fixed charges as retirement have not yet been figured out for the new district, he said.

The board hired Joan Smith as English teacher at Tomales High School at $8,630 per year; Charles Billings as half-time psychologist at $6,800 per year; Doris Chadwick as secretary at $456 per month, and Richard Lyttle as bus driver at $2.85 per hour.

Dillon Beach Sewer Cost Discussion Set For Friday

A meeting to inform the residents of the Dillon Beach area about the cost of sewers in that community will be held at 8 p.m. Friday in the old Tomales High School, according to Eugene Churchill, manager of the North Marin County Water District.

The water district has been requested to furnish sewage service to the proposed Oceana Marin Units 3 and 4, adjacent to Dillon Beach. If the entire area went into this project, a large enough sewage treatment plant could be constructed, Churchill said.

A meeting was held May 5 at which there was considerable interest shown in a sewer system for the entire area, Churchill said.

Preliminary estimates of the cost put the treatment plant and the sewers at $392,000. This would serve 1,085 residential units, according to the water district's survey.

If there is sufficient interest, the area can annex to the North Marin County Water District by petition to the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission.

If the area annexes to the district, a detailed study of the sewer facilities would be made. This could then be financed through an improvement district. After that, there would be the annual operation and maintenance costs of the district, Churchill said.

Heyns, Senate Leader Clash Over Unrest

WASHINGTON (AP) — The University of California's Berkeley chancellor disagrees with the chairman of a Senate subcommittee concerning unrest at the California campus.

Chancellor Roger W. Heyns asserted yesterday that disturbances in Berkeley last October resulted from a board of regents decision concerning lectures by Eldridge Cleaver, author and Black Panther Party leader.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., had tried to show at a hearing by his Senate permanent investigations subcommittee that the unrest resulted from Cleaver's lectures themselves.

STUDENTS APPLAUD

Heyns testified there was increased violence on the Berkeley campus this past year and said the "situation is still serious and not satisfactory."

Cleaver, now a fugitive, was scheduled to give 10 lectures on "racism in America" but regents passed a regulation that academic credit would not be given for any course at which an off campus speaker appeared more than once.

In defending a faculty vote to award credit, Heyns said it concerned the regents taking from the faculty the authority it had delegated 35 years before.

CLEAVER QUESTION

When McClellan, using questions, brought out that Cleaver was under indictment at the time of the lectures in the slaying of two policemen Heyns declared he believed Cleaver "had a contribution to make" to the class.

Although he said Cleaver would perform "a useful service," Heyns said that did not mean that "we agree or subscribe to his views."

Another witness was William C. Hanely, Berkeley's city manager who described riots in the university city.

"Drugs are getting harder and harder and violence worse" among those living on the fringes of the campus, he declared.

He told the subcommittee "I support the use of force when someone is disrupting the fabric of the entire community."

Rebuilding Ordered For Burned-Out Hall

BERKELEY (UPI)—University of California Chancellor Roger Heyns has given the go-ahead for a $500,000 rebuilding job on Wheeler Hall, which was gutted by an unexplained fire last February.

Reconstruction, expected to begin in about six months, was recommended by the Berkeley campus building and development committee. Campus architects said there would be a 650-seat auditorium and 40 offices and seminar rooms.

Cause of the fire was never determined.

Reports On Spending By Lobbyists Denied

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, denied yesterday widely published reports that up to $2 million was being spent by lobbyists for and against his bill to legalize betting on greyhound racing.

McCarthy told the Independent-Journal he introduced a similar bill last year, "but no one said anything." It was defeated in committee.

Both last year and this year, McCarthy said, he introduced the measures at the request of a Novato greyhound breeder, Mrs. Patricia Zwillinger of 300 Olive Avenue.

His bill languished for months in the Senate Governmental Efficiency Committee, but then last week was quietly given a do-pass recommendation and moved to the finance committee. It is expected to be heard there before the end of the week.

The battle finds two of California's most powerful lobbyists opposing one another, with Daniel J. Creedon representing the greyhound industry and James D. Garibaldi representing state horse racing interests which fear they will lose revenue if they have to compete with dogs. Nevada gambling interests also reportedly are opposing the bill.

McCarthy's bill (SB 398) originally would have legalized greyhound racing and betting throughout the state, but was amended to limit to the California Exposition — for 200 days a year.

In 1873, New York made Memorial Day a state observance. Soon all states except a few in the South followed New York's example.

Campus Editor Blasts Radicals Over Park Issue

BERKELEY (UPI) — The University of California's student newspaper has condemned this week's "senseless and irresponsible attack" on People's Park.

The Daily Cal editorial, written by editor Steve Duscha, was the toughest antiradical statement in the paper's recent history.

"We believe the vast majority of the people on this campus and in Berkeley will reject this brand of politics by terror," the editorial said.

"This senseless and irresponsible attack—an attack so contrary to the creative spirit which built the park—served only those revolutionaries of the left and those reactionaries of the right who wish to destroy."

"The establishment grows to hate those 'dirty commy-hippie rioters' and 'The People' grow to hate 'The Fascist Establishment' and nothing possible is accomplished," Duscha warned in his editorial.

Span Traffic Up

A total of 496,056 vehicles crossed the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge during April, up 31,751 over the same month last year, the Division of Bay Toll Crossings reported today. Toll revenue was $379,479, up $12,113 over April 1968.

Hitching Posts Prank Is Fined

Dennis Lee Roberts, 26, of San Francisco, and George Burt Reed, 27, of Pacifica were sentenced in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to fines of $25 each ordered to make restitution and placed on probation for one year for damaging a collection of antique iron hitching posts in Tiburon.

The two men were nabbed by a sheriff's officer June 6 as they loaded an iron dwarf and an iron jockey into their car near the Tiburon Playhouse.

The pair, originally charged with grand theft, yesterday pleaded guilty to a lesser charge of damaging property.

Convict Indicted In Murder Case

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The San Francisco Grand Jury has returned a murder indictment against a San Quentin convict accused of the June 22 slaying of a San Francisco opera singer.

Earl L. Miller, 25, a Los Angeles robber who failed to return to the prison after a 72-hour leave in May to look for a post-parole job, was held in connection with the fatal shooting of William H. Miles Jr., an opera singer under the name of Wilhelm von Naumann.

He was arrested in Los Angeles June 29.

At the same time, the grand jury on Monday dismissed a charge of assault with attempt to commit rape against another San Quentin inmate who also had been on furlough to find a job.

Robert J. Meengs, 42, had been arrested for an alleged assault at gunpoint on a 23-year-old San Francisco model. Meengs was turned over to prison authorities.

Vandalism, Bike Theft Reported

A window valued at $25 at the residence of Rose Mary Guelfi, 4 Las Casas, was broken by a rock yesterday, according to police.

Police also said a $35 bicycle owned by Michael Lydon of 242 San Rafael Avenue was stolen sometime between Saturday and Sunday.

Policemen Carrying A New Weapon—Offender Tickets

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The city's 1,500 policemen today carried a new weapon in their crime-fighting arsenal—tickets.

The officers were armed with citations which they can issue to thieves, beggars, gamblers, litterbugs and other law violators rather than haul them to jail for booking after their arrest.

The tickets—similar to those issued traffic violators—are designed to free policemen from time-consuming custodial chores and allow them to spend more time patrolling the streets.

Under the citation plan which went into effect today, officers can issue the tickets at the scene of the crime to suspects who meet 13 criteria and sign an agreement to appear in court.

Backers of the new system hope it will help the poor and members of minority groups, who sometimes spend long periods in jail on minor charges because they can't post bail.

Chief Thomas Cahill and other police department officials expect ticketing to allow officers to spend more of their time protecting property and preventing crime—instead of hauling suspects to jail.

The city's policemen were issued general orders last week telling them when and to whom they could give the tickets. The final decision whether to tag or to jail was left to the arresting officer.

He may issue tickets to suspects in cases of petty theft, assault or battery, crimes against public peace or welfare, disorderly conduct, loitering, begging, trespassing, gambling, crimes against health and safety, abandonment or neglect.

The officer must jail suspects in all felony cases, sex crimes, narcotics violations, continuing crimes (such as drunkenness), violations requiring a physical examination (such as prostitution) or when the lawbreaker offered resistance or was armed.

He must issue a citation for all other misdemeanors—thousands of laws covering everything from littering to fortine telling—unless given permission by his commanding officer to jail the suspect.

However, all ticketed suspects must meet several qualifications—local inentification and residence, no outstanding warrants, no prior record of non-appearance in court or issuance of bench warrants, and a willingness to sign the ticket.

The officer will check a suspect's record with police headquarters by radio. If he qualifies for a ticket, the patrolman and suspect will reach a mutually agreeable date—at least five days away—for the suspect's court appearance.

Seven Fined For Drinking While Driving

Seven persons have been sentenced in Marin Municipal Court by Judge Peter Allen Smith for drunken driving.

Richard A. Henderson, 38, of 819 G Street, Petaluma was placed on one year probation and fined $273. He was arrested April 30 on Highway 101.

Albert Adolph Olsen, 51, of San Francisco, who was arrested July 7 on Highway 101, was placed on two years probation and fined $100.

Herman Berry, 59, of San Francisco, who was arrested last Tuesday on Highway 101, was placed on one year probation and fined $182.

Lois Elaine Cochran, 25, of 1825 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, was placed on one year probation and fined $225. She was arrested Friday on Highway 101.

Conrad Toral Kvam, 60, of 660 Las Colindas Road, San Rafael, who was arrested Thursday on Highway 101, was placed on one year probation and fined $273.

David John Peppard, 30, of Alameda, who was arrested July 5 in Sausalito, was placed on one year probation and fined $100.

Jeff Mack Hall, 71, of 516 Richardson Street, Sausalito, was placed on one year probation and fined $175.

The postage stamp, as it is known today, came into use in 1840 in Great Britian.

Undersea Tent City Stemming Oil Flow

SANTA BARBARA (AP) — An undersea tent city is reported largely stemming the flow at the still-leaking Union Oil Co. well in the Santa Barbara Channel.

The current flow, a feeble aftermath of the once-massive gusher that spewed an oil slick covering up to 800 square miles of ocean, is described as "not a significant amount" by the Coast Guard.

The "tent city," according to its inventor, deserves the credit.

Richard Headrick, an engineering consultant, said five huge tents were put in place on the floor of the channel 206 feet below the ocean surface. The first tent was lowered 2½ months ago and the last about three weeks ago.

The tents, shaped like pyramids and 100 feet square, are each attached to a huge steel frame to hold them in place. A flat in the top of the tent holds the pyramid up, and the end result is sort of an inverted funnel with the oil rising to the tent's pointed top. A pipeline to the tent top then carries the oil to the surface to a Union Oil platform where processing begins.

Headrick says the tents cover about 70 per cent of the leak area and "are 100 per cent effective for the area covered." The inventor says his idea was one of "over 10,000 suggestions offered to Union Oil" in the wake of the blowout last January.

Coast Guard Lt. George Brown, who conducts surveillance flights over the channel, said the flow of oil seems to be decreasing. A spokesman at 11th Coast Guard District in Long Beach said that oil is still present but "not a significant amount."

Bank Robbers Prefer Fridays

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Friday, it seems, is the favored day for bank robbers in California.

The state attorney general's office, reporting yesterday on a study of such occurrences in 1967, said 148 took place on Fridays. The next highest day was Monday with 95.

The most frequent times for the holdups was from 2 to 3 p.m.

How to sneak a snack and stay on your diet: open a can of Lindsay RIPE OLIVES

A medium size Lindsay Ripe Olive has less than 5 calories. A perfect snack to stop between-meal-hunger-pangs.

No Marriage Guides For Astrowives

Not Jan Armstrong, who understood that "Neil wanted to devote his life to what he's doing now."

Not Joan Aldrin, who learned on the amateur stage to lose her own identity.

Not Pat Collins, when she promised, like women the world over, "to have and to hold from this day forward . . ."

They have lived with it for years, this fantasy that one day man will go to the moon. This was the day. The men were their men.

50 WIVES

Astronaut homes cluster around the Lakeland area near the space center. In those homes, half a hundred wives know what Jan and Joan and Pat are going through.

But not quite like the wives of the Apollo 11 crew. Nothing ever prepared a wife for a time such as this.

"I feel fine about it," said Mrs. Collins on the day before. "Everything seems to be going just fine."

WATCH TV

They always say such things to newsmen on the day before. But the lights and the television sets go on early in the space-made communities of Nassau Bay and Seabrook and Clear Lake and El Lago.

And as an electronic clock 1,040 miles away at Cape Kennedy, Fla., strangely counts backward to zero, there suddenly are no kids on the street and no housewives going for the paper or a street chat, and newsmen wait outside three homes to hear what the wives have to say when the clock starts going forward and everything is well.

Jan and Joan and Pat all have gone through it before. But nothing ever prepared a wife for a time such as this.

'THE BEGINNING'

"Gemini was the end of something," said Joan Aldrin, whose "Buzz" was on the last flight of that series and left his spacecraft for 5½ hours, establishing a record. "This flight," she added, "is the beginning."

Joan Aldrin commented that their sons, 13-year-old Michael and 11-year-old Andrew, and daughter Janice, who will be 12 next month, are becoming aware of the meaning of this flight.

Their fathers are going to the moon.

Antipoverty Workers Applaud Astronauts

"I'm proud of those three men, the astronauts," the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, leader of the antipoverty group, told a church rally last night in nearby Cocoa. Then he led about 300 marchers to the city hall for a midnight demonstration.

"America has mixed up priorities," he said. "I'm happy because we're going to the moon, but I'd be just a little more happy if we had learned how to live down here on the Earth."

Abernathy, successor to the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., met the nation's top space official yesterday and was invited "to hitch your wagon to our rockets" in a fight to solve humanity's problems on earth even as three astronauts readied for man's greatest adventure beyond his world.

Abernathy and other members of the Poor People's Campaign were assured of VIP seats by Thomas O. Paine, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, during a meeting near Gate 3 of the Kennedy Space Center.

Paine said he would provide VIP passes to the launch viewing site for 10 families—at the request of Abernathy, who is president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC).

Paine told Abernathy and about 100 followers who marched a short distance: "We feel the space program is a program for all Americans. We don't regard it as a program against the antipoverty program."

"We'd like to see you hitch your wagons to our rockets and we hope the space program will encourage this country to tackle other problems."

Russians Quickly Hear Of Takeoff

MOSCOW (AP) — With unusual speed Soviets news media today reported the launching of Apollo 11 on a mission to land Americans on the moon. Tass hailed the astronauts as "courageous people."

After a brief, quick factual dispatch from New York on the blastoff the official Soviet news agency added a longer description of the planned flight.

Tass introduced a section of its report giving biographical sketches of the astronauts with these words: "Who are those courageous people who were entrusted with the most responsible flight of landing on the moon?"

Space Problems

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A committee formed by Mayor William Ensign to help solve parking and meeting space problems had to delay its first meeting.

It couldn't find a place to meet.

VIPS TO FLORIDA

It's Like Waiting For Your First Baby—LBJ

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — "It's kind of like standing around the hospital room before your first baby is born," former President Lyndon B. Johnson said as he and 500 other special guests marked time before the Apollo 11 launching.

"You must be prepared to accept the worst, but you hope for the best," Johnson explained.

Vice President Spiro Agnew, like Johnson, arrived in the jam-packed Cape Kennedy area on the eve of the flight to the moon and attended a private dinner party given by Dr. Thomas O. Paine, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Not all the VIP's had housing in the immediate vicinity of this cape midway down Florida's east coast. Dr. Lee A. Dubridge, President Richard M. Nixon's science adviser, stayed overnight in Orlando, 50 miles away.

Sixty-nine ambassadors of foreign governments fly in this morning, as do many other visitors.

Ten representatives of the "Poor People's Campaign" of the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy were added to the VIP list after a meeting with Paine.

They protested the nation's high spending on space exploration compared to antipoverty programs.

Nixon originally was to have dined with the Apollo 11 astronauts on the eve of their departure from Earth. But he canceled this plan when space agency doctors expressed concern that Armstrong, Aldrin and Collins might catch a cold or other germ from the President.

Pet Parade Is Slated Tomorrow

Costumed Mill Valley youngsters will parade their pets through Lytton Square tomorrow in a special march sponsored by the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Department.

The pet parade, open to all youngsters, will begin at 1:30 p.m. on Miller Avenue near the Vogue Cleaners and will wind through the downtown to city hall where participants and their pets will be judged.

Prizes will be given to outstanding pets in several categories and to the best costumes.

Children from summer recreation programs at Alto, Homestead and Old Mill schools, Boyle and Sycamore parks and the junior and senior day camps at Old Mill Park will participate.

Machine Aids India's Snake Bite Victims

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Medical research workers have developed an inexpensive machine which may help reduce India's death toll from snake bites.

Because of inadequate medical facilities in rural areas, an estimated 20,000 persons die of snake bites—usually cobra—in India each year.

A team of anesthetists headed by Lt. Col. G. C. Tandon has developed a portable, hand-operated respirator which the doctors believe will keep a snake bite victim alive up to four days while he is being moved to a hospital.

PARALYZE MUSCLES

"Most snake poisons paralyze certain muscles and cause respiratory failure," Dr. Tandon said. "Surprisingly, the other toxic factors in cobra venom are not of major clinical importance. Thus our most important job is to keep the vital oxygen line free, and this is where our tiny pocket respirator comes in extremely handy.

"The most critical period for the snake bite victim is the time between the actual bite and the administration of antivenin—an average five to six hours or even more." Several years ago, Tandon's only son, an army engineer, died in a drowning accident. "Since then I've always pondered over my plans to invent a small artificial respirator which could be attached to a swimmer's kit," he said.

The pocket respirator resembles a toy accordion. It can be manufactured for 20 rupees (less than $3) and can be operated without special training.

TWO YEARS' WORK

Tandon is the head of the department of anesthesiology in the All India Institute of Medical Sciences. He and his colleagues spent two years developing and testing their respirator. They picked up 30 stray dogs from the streets and injected cobra venom into their veins.

"These lethal doses normally would kill a dog within 45 minutes unless antivenin was administered," Dr. Tandon said. "But we kept the dogs breathing for as long as four or five days with the help of artificial respiration and then administered antivenin. The dogs lived."

India's major killer snakes are cobras, two varieties of vipers, and kraits. The cobra is the big killer. According to Tandon a six-foot cobra contains enough poison to kill 100 persons.

About 80 per cent of India's 531 million people live in villages, where most of the snake bites occur. Hospital facilities are scant in the rural areas, and the only known antidote for snake bites, antivenin serum, requires special storage conditions which are not available in rural villages.

Larkspur Stores Revision Sought

Robert L. Hamann will ask the Larkspur Planning Commission at its 8 p.m. meeting Tuesday for permission to convert four stores on the lower floor of his building at 503-505 Cane Street to four apartments.

The commission will hear an application from Alice E. Sohner to change the zoning of about three acres at the northwest corner of Magnolia Avenue and Bon Air Road from residential to administrative-professional.

Dr. Louis J. Geissberger will ask the commission to allow the addition of optical shop and pharmacy as permitted uses in an existing medical-dental building at 1331 South Eliseo Drive.

One reason so many people are named Smith dates back to early times when names were selected from occupations. Smith originated from tradesmen such as blacksmiths, locksmiths, etc.

Revolutionary Ideas, Tactics To Be Viewed

Revolution, a course which has the purpose of informing Marin County residents — especially high school youngsters — of revolutionary ideas and tactics of various organizations, will begin tomorrow at 7 p.m. at the College of Marin.

It is sponsored by the Students for a Democratic Society and taught by Dennis Marnell of San Rafael, an anarchist and SDS member.

The class is within the Experimental College and not related to the College of Marin's summer instructional program in which about 1,700 students are enrolled.

"The board of trustees would be very unhappy to sanction something like this," said Acting Supt.-President Louis H. Herkenhoff.

However, he added, having it under the Experimental College, it provides a healthy release for some of the college students' energy. And, said Herkenhoff, whereas it can be implemented over night by the Experimental College, if it had to go through the curriculum committee and get board approval, it would take months.

Marnell said that there will be two or three films shown tomorrow in the class at the teacher's lounge in the Student Center. Produced by San Francisco Newsreel, one is on the struggle and community control in the black and Puerto Rican ghettos of New York, the other on the cleaning up of garbage during the New York strike.

During the course there will be talks by members of the Red Guard, Women's Liberation Movement, Black Panther Party, Progressive Labor Party, the Resistance, the Black Students Union and the Brown Berets.

Marnell, who said he is working toward a national revolution, said that the SDS plans, at the end of the course, to get students to put theory into practice. For example, taking part in such activities as Black Panther breakfasts for children in San Francisco.

Under the Maoist definition, said Marnell, revolution is the seizure of state power and the installment of the dictatorship of the proletariat.

As an anarchist, the student said, "I don't believe in the dictatorship of the proletariat."

Darin Charges CBS Censorship

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bobby Darin has sued Jackie Gleason and the Columbia Broadcasting System for $238,756 damages, contending he wasn't allowed to sing his own composition on the comedian's April 19 television show taped on Jan. 13.

The song is "Long Line Rider" and concerns discovery of inmates' bodies on an Arkansas prison farm.

Darin said in the suit filed yesterday he was told that CBS, at Gleason's urging, turned down the song before the show was taped on the ground it was "objectionable."

Darin said he couldn't substitute another song and thus didn't appear on the show.

He asked $138,756 general damages and $100,000 punitive damages.

Pleads Innocent

Steven E. Bigelow, 19, of Larkspur, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of burglary Oct. 23 in Alto. Judge Peter Allen Smith set a preliminary hearing for July 21.

Marine World Visit Is Scheduled Tuesday

A special day-long visit to Marine World in Redwood City for Mill Valley children will be sponsored by the city's parks and recreation department from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday.

Signups are now being taken at the Mill Valley Golf Clubhouse on a first come, first served basis. Buses will leave from the Purity Market parking lot, East Blithedale Avenue at Camino Alto, at 9:30 a.m. promptly, according to John Garber, recreation supervisor.

Development Company Status To Be Studied

The status of the Marin Development Co., and a proposal by the company to proceed with development in Marin City, will be discussed when the Marin County Redevelopment Agency meets at 8:30 p.m. today in the Manzanita Center, Marin City.

Marin Development Co. has been under fire in the community for the slow pace of redevelopment, and there have been requests the company be declared in default of its contract and excluded from further Marin City development.

The Marin County Housing Authority, meeting at 7:30 p.m. today in the Manzanita Center, will discuss a planned modernization program for Marin City public housing, for which a $289,731 federal loan will be available, Donald O. Stutsman, executive director said.

Mississippi and Louisiana have the same state flower, the magnolia tree blossom.

Sausalito Gets Boat Use To Aid In Rescues In Bay

Sausalito firemen will have a boat part time for San Francisco Bay rescues, the Sausalito City Council voted last night after heated debate.

Councilman Robin Sweeny, who raised a series of objections to the proposal, was on the short end of a 4-1 vote authorizing the boat's use.

Clipper Yacht Co. offered free use of the 26-foot work boat if the city agreed to indemnify Clipper of any loss during city use.

Mrs. Sweeny questioned the condition of the boat, training to be given, rescue crews and planning of the project.

Fire Chief Charles E. Masten said the boat is in excellent condition, and he has four firemen with training in boat handling.

"There's nothing more disquieting," Masten said, "than to stand on the shore watching someone in trouble . . . and not be able to do anything about it. This is only a service . . . if you don't want us rushing around the bay saving lives, fine."

According to the agreement, Clipper will man the boat for rescues during business hours. At other times the boat will be available for firemen to use. The city would indemnify Clipper from any loss occurring during rescue operations.

Masten had less luck persuading the council to authorize two more fire captains in the department. Councilmen postponed action until a fire rating inspection which City Mgr. George M. Patterson said should come this year.

Masten said more captains are needed so each shift will have a captain in command. There are two captains now.

Insurance agent Frank Klienmann said the promotions might help the city get a better fire rating in the next inspection.

Mayor Earl N. Dunphy said the change would give the department eight officers and 10 firemen, making it too top-heavy.

The Sausalito City Council also:

SAFETY — Was given a pedestrian safety citation award by the California State Automobile Association, the 14th consecutive year the city has earned the citation.

PARKING — Approved a change in parking layout at the 7-11 store at Bridgeway and Easterby Street to improve access.

APARTMENT — Let stand a planning commission denial of an application by Loyal Davis to build a 19-unit apartment at an unfinished building on Lincoln Drive. The planning commission recommended a limit of 15 units.

BUS STOP — Rejected a recommendation by the community architectural advisory board that plans for a new bus stop at Bridgeway and Nevada Street be scrapped and an architect design new plans. The plans, drawn by public works, are already out to bid, Dunphy said.

CONSTRUCTION — Approved uniform construction standards prepared by the Marin County Public Works Association.

HEARING — Set a public hearing for 8 p.m. Aug. 5 at city hall on condemnation of sewer easements serving a proposed lot split on Sausalito Boulevard property owned by Bernice Andron.

LITIGATION — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at city hall for a closed session on pending litigation.

The Olympic Games date from about 800 B.C.

Shipyard Funding For Another Year

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — American taxpayers will continue for another year to subsidize American shipyards under a bill by Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, that has been signed by President Richard M. Nixon.

The bill subsidizes ship operators for up to 55 per cent of their additional cost of having a ship built in an American shipyard instead of in a foreign yard. The bill also extends the 60 per cent subsidy ceiling to reconstruct or recondition passenger vessels in American shipyards.

Soviet Warships In Mexican Gulf

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five Soviet war vessels were about 250 miles from Key West, Fla., in the Gulf of Mexico this morning, the Pentagon reported.

A spokesman said the squadron, including a cruiser, a frigate, a destroyer, and two submarines, were "maneuvering around. There was no indication where the Soviet squadron might head before its announced visit to Cuba starting July 20.

Three replenishment ships, two oilers and a submarine tender, were about 75 miles west of Key West, where they have been for more than two days.

The Pentagon spokesman avoided saying the United Sates would observe the ships when they arrived in Cuba, presumably Havana.

Marin's Assesssed Property Valuation—$548.8 Million

The value of assessed property in Marin County yesterday was placed at $548.8 million — an increase of 4 per cent over last year's figure of $527.6 million.

The increase was the smallest in more than 20 years, said Michael Mitchell, county auditor-controller.

And it means that the current estimated county tax rate for 1969-70 is now $2.395 per $100 assessed valuation, a 3-cent drop from the last estimate but 12.5 cents more than last year's rate of $2.27, Mitchell said.

A breakdown by city and school district of the county assessment rolls was delivered to the county board of supervisors by Assessor Bert W. Broemmel.

The $548.8 million figure does not include assessed value of public utilities, which is made by the state Board of Equalization. That figure is expected in late August, when the supervisors will determine the official tax rate.

The supervisors are faced with financing $13.5 million of the $34.3 million budget for 1969-70 from property taxes.

County officials have blamed the projected rise in the tax rate on the small increase in assessed valuation, inflation and increases in costs for welfare and mental health programs and in other areas.

Broemmel also said 13,105 acres were added this year to coverage under agricultural preserve agreements, lowering the tax base by about $6 million. Under the agreements, land owners maintain their acreage as open space for 10 years and in return the land is assessed not on its market value, but on the income it generates.

Homeowners will bear 52.1 per cent of the county's property tax levy in 1969-70, Broemmel said. The figure is down 3.7 per cent, a direct result of the new $750 exemption for qualified homeowners.

The state is to reimburse local governments for losses through the exemption from revenue acquired through sales and income taxes.

A 15 per cent business inventory exemption also goes into effect for the first time this year, with the state likewise to reimburse local governments, in this case from Bank and Corporation Tax revenues.

Mitchell estimated Marin County would receive $2.7 million in reimbursements from the state.

The breakdown of assessments shows five school districts with decreases in valuation and 17 with increases. Nine of 11 municipalities showed increases three at more than 10 per cent, while two were relatively unchanged.

New assessment figures for elementary school districts:

Bolinas-Stinson Union, $9.9 million, up 5.9 per cent; Dixie, $47.5 million, up 4.7 per cent; Fairfax, $17.2 million, up 5.4; Kentfield, $37.6 million, up 8.5; Laguna, $1.2 million, down 6.5; Lagunitas, $6.2 million, up .7; Larkspur, $34 million, up 5; Lincoln, $1.2 million, down 4.4.

Extra Hire Workers Authorized For Emergency Radio Network

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday authorized the county communications department to use extra hire personnel and to contract on a temporary basis with two private firms to continue maintenance of county's emergency radio network.

The action was taken to insure uninterrupted operation of the system, which serves about 500 mobile and 60 fixed police, fire, ambulance and other emergency units, while replacements are sought for three technicians. Two of the technicians quit last week and two others quit earlier. One will not be replaced.

The supervisors were told yesterday that County Administrator Alan Bruce is conducting an investigation of "a variety of charges made by departing employees and other persons."

Operation of the emergency communications network, meanwhile, is continuing at normal levels, communications director John H. Atkinson told the Independent-Journal.

Under the action yesterday, the county will use "extra hire" to maintain the system's equipment. In addition, senior administrative analyst Timothy M. Jackson told the board that Delta Industrial Communications and Engineering and Radio Communications Service both of San Rafael, have agreed to provide maintenance service to the county on request.

One new technician was to be officially hired today at $937 a month and county officials said the two other vacancies were expected to be filled soon. A fourth technician will not be hired although an assistant director is being sought.

One of the departing employees, Francis Strohmeyer, accused Atkinson of harassing the technicians into quitting. Atkinson flatly denied the charge.

Randall M. Prevo, head of the Marin County Employees Association, also said he had received "considerable reports of harassment" of the departed employees by Atkinson.

Some of the technicians who quit had been unhappy with changes instituted by Atkinson since he succeeded J. Mansfield Lewis as head of the communications department earlier this year.

The supervisors last month refused, at least for the next year, to grant Atkinson's request for the biggest change, which would put the system into private hands on a contract basis. Atkinson contended the move would save the county $17,500 a year

In a letter to the supervisors yesterday, Jackson said that the administrator is investigating charges against Atkinson "carefully and objectively, without pre-conceptions."

He said Bruce would take action or recommend board action if warranted "and in any case, will make a full report in order that public confidence may be restored."

10 Marinites Get CPA Certificates

Ten Marin County residents have been awarded certified public accountant certificates by the state Board of Accountancy.

They are: James D. Kirsner, John J. Walley of Sausalito, Fern I. Kruck, Peter Ansdell, Lawrence J. Chazen of Mill Valley, Dean J. Moser of Novato, J. Scott Maze of Tiburon, Robert A. Maloney, Thomas G. Moore and Dennis S. Parsons of San Rafael.

College Board Sets Hearing On Budget

The Marin Junior College District board will consider adoption of both the 1969-70 preliminary district budget and the Associated Students budget at its 8 p.m. meeting tomorrow in the Fine Arts Building.

Also on the agenda is discussion of flood control easements sought by the Army Corps of Engineers for Stage III of the Corte Madera Flood Control project for which the district is to be compensated.

Teen-Agers Face 12 Murder Counts

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (AP) — Two teen-agers have been indicted on 12 counts of murder each in connection with the June 8 house fire that killed their mother and father and their 10 brothers and sisters.

Susie Bailey, 15, and her brother, Roger, 13, originally were charged with murdering their father, but the Wood County grand jury yesterday returned indictments charging the pair with 12 counts of murder each. They will be arraigned Friday.

Police said Susie and Roger admitted pouring gasoline throughout the Baileys' six-room, frame and tarpaper home and throwing a burning piece of paper through an open window to touch it off.

Mental Care Plan Gains Board's Nod

A citizens' committee plan for mental health care in Marin was accepted by the board of supervisors yesterday, but its eventual use was qualified by modifications submitted by the Marin Mental Health Advisory Board.

The plan sets up priorities in mental health needs in 62 areas and is the product of two years work by a committee headed by federal Judge Richard M. Sims Jr. of Belvedere.

Sims appeared in the supervisors chambers to defend the report. He challenged a statement by Dr. Paul A. Steinman, chairman of the advisory board, that the citizens' report by and large ignored emphasis on preventive programs.

Stienman also said, in a letter to supervisors, the advisory board supports outpatient services on a wider scale than suggested by the citizens' group, sees limitations in group counseling, and backs comprehensive mental retardation programs.

The advisory board also wanted greater allowances for planning and research.

Stienman in addition said a suggestion that evaluation services be obtained from the Bay Area Social Planning Council did not acknowledge that responsibility for that function already in the hands of the advisory board and the county mental health services director.

However, Sims assured the supervisors the Bay Area group, which organized the citizens' committee, was not out to "intrude on government."

The supervisors took up the issue of evaluation by the council as a separate measure, and after terming it a "supplementary review," voted 4-1 to accept the offer with Chairman John F. McInnis voting against it.

Teens Get $500 For Center Aboard Ark

A group called Students of the Tiburon Peninsula (STP) was given $500 by the County of Marin yesterday to help finance a drop-in center in a remodeled ark in Tiburon.

The funds, voted conditionally by the board of supervisors, sweetened a pot that already included $1,075 — $575 in private donations and $250 each from the cities of Belvedere and Tiburon.

The youths said they wanted to charge admittance to young persons living outside the Tiburon Peninsula and limit membership to student residents of the peninsula, but the supervisors — said they would not spend money on an exclusive club.

The youths said they would drop the restrictions.

County Administrator Alan Bruce opposed the appropriation — drawn from contingency funds — unless it were reviewed by the county youth commission when it formed in the fall and unless guarantees of other financial aid were furnished.

Pierre W. Joske, county parks and recreation director, and the Tiburon City Council sent letters strongly endorsing the appropriation.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

SHORELINE HIGHWAY — Deferred indefinitely wording revisions to criteria for development of a new Shoreline Highway. The Marin County Real Estate Board asked reactivation of new route studies.

SURPLUS LAND — Upheld present methods of disposing of surplus property, voting to auction land on the Larkspur Boardwalk and accept bids for property on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Kentfield. Supervisor Louis H. Baar said county land sales should be handled by the Marin County Real Estate Board.

BEER — Granted permission for the sponsors of the Kiwanis Air Show at Gnoss Field Aug. 16 and 17 to sell beer, subject to obtaining necessary licenses.

PLAY YARD — Approved an agreement with the Marin City Community Services District to contribute $6.633 for operation of a recreation program for children between 3 and 8.

STOP SIGNS — Authorized installation of two stop signs at Crescent Drive and Oak Grove Avenue, Woodacre, to halt traffic entering Oak Grove.

FAIR DISPLAY — Approved the county's California State Fair display, featuring an animated Sir Francis Drake figure, accompanied by murals of Point Reyes, a stand of redwoods, a map of Marin and six screen panels which open out to reveal county scenes. The budget allots $7,000 to the exhibit.

STATE PARKS — Referred back to the county planning commission a letter prepared for the board at commission behest and addressed to Marin legislators deploring the closing of Pan Toll and Bootjack camps in Mount Tamalpais State Park. The supervisors wanted a more detailed look at the situation of which Supervisor Michael Wornum said, "To close the campsites down because the state can't police them is crazy logic to me."

LIBRARY — Appointed Supervisors Michael Wornum and Louis H. Baar to a screening committee headed by the town manager of Corte Madera to select an architect for the Corte Madera Branch Library.

YOUTH CORPS — Authorized the board chairman's signature on letters to Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz and several congressmen protesting the 33 per cent enrollment cuts in the Neighborhood Youth Corps and the limitations on the age of enrollees.

Nuclear Test Starts Tremors

YUCCA FLATS, Nev. (UPI) — An underground nuclear test was set off at 7:55 a.m. PDT and the resultant tremor registered on seismographs as far as 300 miles distant.

The Atomic Energy Commission said the test was of low intermediate yield, between 20 and 200 kilotons, and equivalent to a maximum of 200,000 tons of TNT.

Seismographs at Pasadena and Phoenix recorded the blast.

Remember Chinese For Summer Meals

There's hardly a cook in a carload who wouldn't swap her most closely guarded culinary secret for a recipe for keeping her cool in the kitchen on summer evenings. The best way is cooking Chinese: it's quick, it's easy, it's practically a chiller. And it will get you out of the kitchen and into the swim in record time.

One of the coolest ways we know to treat your family and friends is the Far Eastern Sea Fruit supper. It evokes picturesque images of Chinese shrimp boats against a fiery Oriental sunset and guarantees gastronomic satisfaction for the heartiest appetites.

SHRIMP AND CHINESE MUSHROOMS

10 dried black mushrooms
2½ pounds raw shrimp
2 or 3 slices fresh ginger root
¼ cup of oil
¼ cup soy sauce
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup chicken broth

Soak dried mushrooms. Shell and devein shrimp. Crush ginger root. Slice soaked mushrooms. Heat oil. Add ginger; stir-fry a few times. Add shrimp and stir-fry until pinkish (about 2 minutes) at 375 F. Add soy sauce and salt; stir-fry 2 minutes more. Remove shrimp from pan. Add mushrooms; stir-fry to coat with oil. Stir in stock and heat quickly. Then cook, covered, 2 or 3 minutes over medium heat. Serve at once.

Serves 6.

PIMENTO RICE

2 cups raw rice
2 tablespoons chopped pimento
1 scallion, minced
3 tablespoons soy sauce
2 tablespoons oil
½ teaspoon sugar

Boil or steam rice. Add pimento and scallion to cooked rice, along with soy sauce, oil and sugar. Mix well to blend; then serve.

Serves 6 to 8.

BEAN SPROUTS AND CELERY

2-4 celery stalks, sliced
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon soy sauce
¼ cup stock

Blanch bean sprouts and stir in celery. Add salt, soy sauce and stock. Cover and simmer until sprouts are tender. Serve at once.

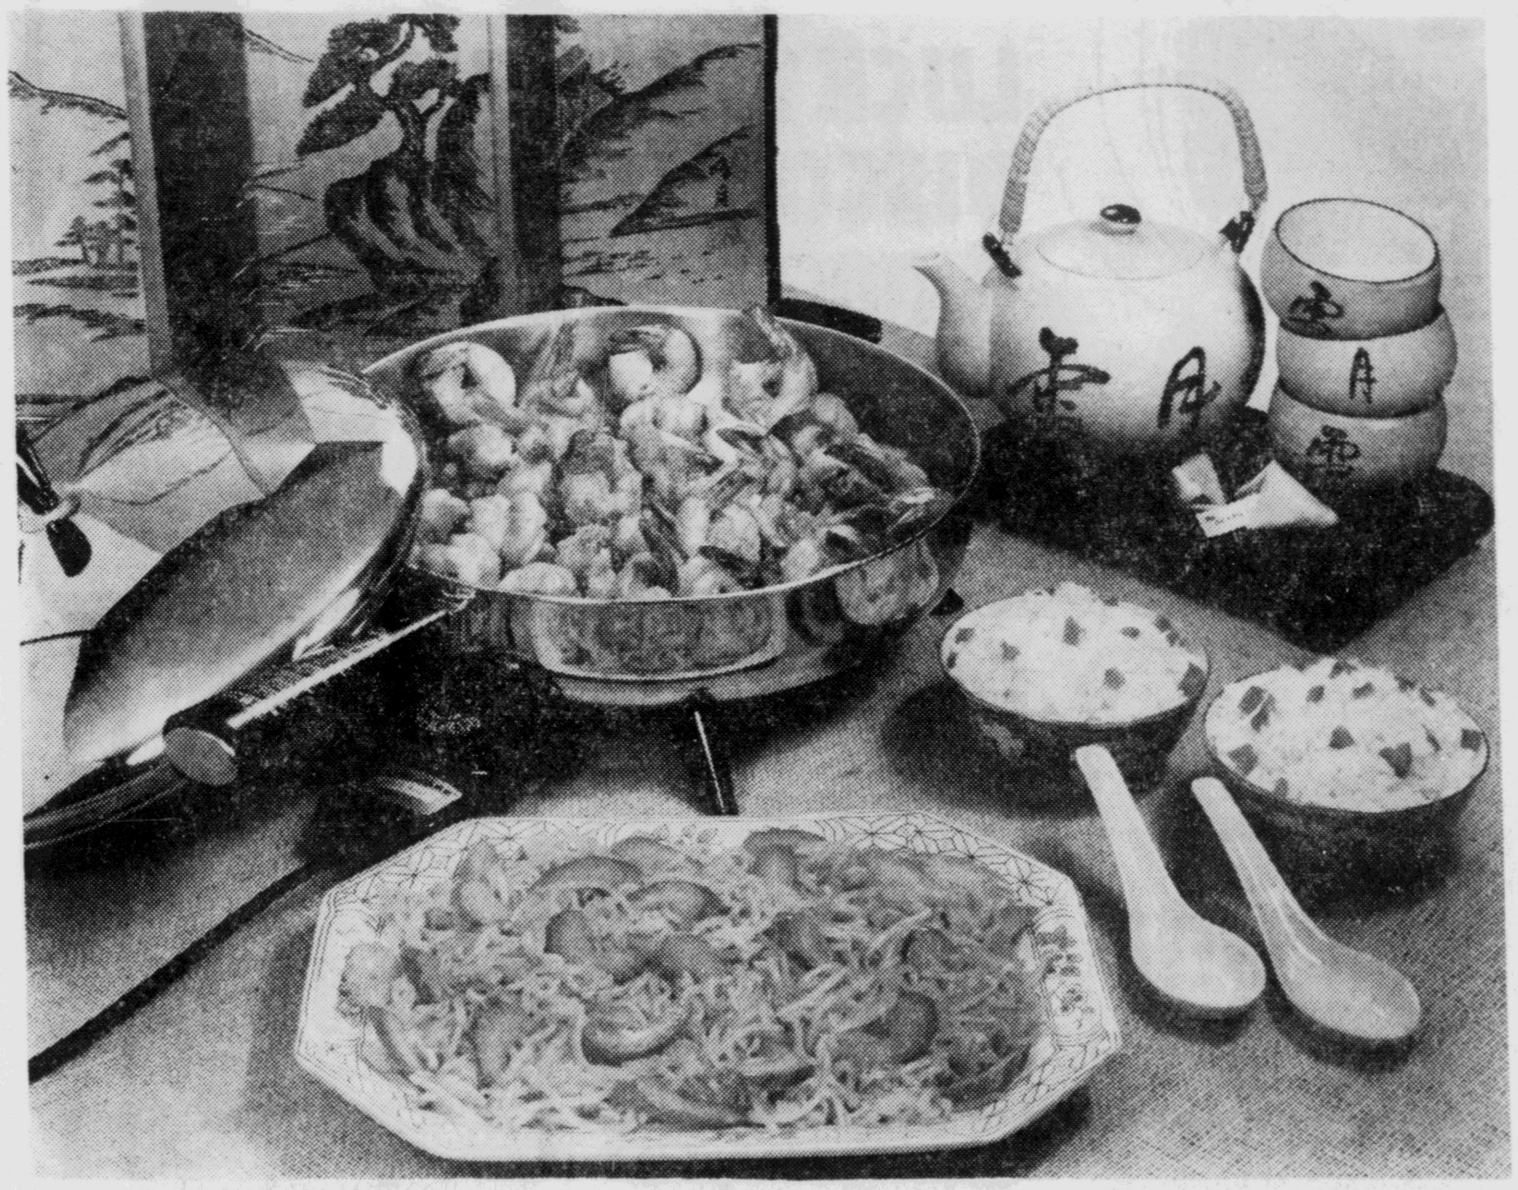
Serves 6 to 8.

ALMOND FLOAT

2 envelopes gelatin
½ cup water
1 cup evaporated milk
2½ cups water
¼ cup sugar
2 teaspoons almond extract

Add unflavored gelatin to cold water to soften. Put over low heat and stir until dissolved. Add evaporated milk and remaining water. Stir in sugar to dissolve. Stir in almond extract. Pour into a shallow pan and refrigerate. Cut into cubes and serve garnished with Mandarin oranges.

Serves 6 to 8.



To Cut Or Tear Lettuce?

Some salad lovers cringe at the thought of putting a knife to a head of iceberg lettuce. While the hand-tearing method is preferred for making a tossed salad or "cups" of lettuce, there are many many other interesting ways of serving lettuce which do require use of a knife. Wedges . . . rafts (cross cut slices) . . . shredded lettuce all need to be cut with a sharp knife.

It is important to remember, however, that cut edges of lettuce do tend to turn brown more rapidly than torn edges because of the oxidization of the milky substance which is released when juicy lettuce cells are broken by cutting. By tearing, the cells are left intact, so for lettuce that needs to be prepared well ahead, tearing is recommended.

Salmon With Remoulade Sauce Set For Feast To Good Will

Traditionally held the opening night of the Marin Shakespeare Festival, the Feast to Good Will is an event on its own this year, with proceeds to aid the festival scholarships.

As always, the food is the thing and Chef Kenneth Stone of the Elks Club in San Rafael, where the feast will be held, has come up with a menu that combines the Shakespearean feeling with appeal to modern appetites.

SAUCE REMOULADE

To one quart mayonnaise, add: 1½ tbsp. mustard; 4 oz. gherkins and 2 oz. capers, chopped and mashed; 1 tbsp. chopped parsley, chervil and tarragon, and ½ tbsp. anchovy essence.

POACHED SALMON

A poached salmon is cooked with very little liquid without boiling. Poaching is used chiefly for cooking sole or salmon. Butter the bottom of a frying or roasting pan, sprinkle it with sliced onions or shallots, place in the fish and season with salt and pepper. Fill the pan halfway only with white or red wine, covering the fish with buttered paper and place it in the oven, cooking without boiling (cooking time depends on weight, size and type), basting from time to time. Chill and bone. Cover with Sauce Remoulade and serve.

MEAT PATTIES

Take some ordinary brioche paste without sugar, cut the desired number of bottom crusts with plain, oval cooky cutter. Fill the center with marinated, grounded beef seasoned with pepper, salt and mix with hard-boiled egg. Lightly moisten the edges of ovals, bringing them together and pinching tightly so as to enclose the filling. Keep the patties half an hour in a rather warm place and then bake in hot oven for 20 minutes.

FRESH FRUIT BOWL

Slice assorted fruits (fresh), add honey and lemon juice according to taste, add Kirschwaaser or dark rum to it and for every six persons, one vanilla bean.

Slow Cooking

Long, slow cooking is the key to successful poultry barbecuing. Allow at least one to 1¾ hours for chicken halves. Whole birds and turkeys require 20 to 30 minutes per pound.

Fresh Peaches Are Just Waiting To Be Baked Into Delicious Pie

Sun-ripened peaches and plenty of them are just waiting to be picked from garden or grocery to convert into delicious summer desserts.

FRESH PEACH PIE PASTRY

1 cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
4 to 6 tablespoons lard
2 to 3 tablespoons ice water

Mix flour and salt. Cut lard into flour until crumbs are the size of small peas. Add ice water, a little at a time, mixing quickly and evenly through flour with a fork until dough just holds in a ball. Use as little water as possible. Roll to ⅛-inch thickness and line a 9-inch pie pan, allowing ½ inch pastry to extend over edge. Fold this over or under and crimp edge. Prepare Peach Filling.

PEACH FILLING

¾ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
¼ cup cornstarch
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
4 cups sliced fresh peaches

Combine sugar, salt, cornstarch and nutmeg. Add to peaches and mix lightly. Spoon into pastry-lined pan. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) 30 minutes.

CARAMEL PECAN TOPPING

2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
¼ cup brown sugar
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
¾ cup pecan halves.

Combine ingredients. Sprinkle topping over peach filling. Return to oven and continue baking 10 minutes more or until glaze is set.

Ideas For Gourmet Meals Aboard Boat

Hoist the sails, secure the lines, push off on starboard. Boating fans are on the water. For some this is the season of gastronomical roughing it afloat. But for others, especially around the Bay of Archchon near Bordeaux, France, dream-vacations under sail can also mean pretty dreamy meals as well. Arcachon is the great sailing center where many French wine makers vacation and sail.

Wine, needless to say, is a welcome passenger aboard. You don't need it, but you can't be a boating gourmet without it.

There's a trick to cooking a delicious meal in the mini-galley of the family ketch, and that's all called planning with a capital "P." The American galley-rat, as the cook is affectionately known, can offer a hearty gourmet meal to the captain and crew and still have plenty of time to enjoy the sun and the wind.

Obviously, the ship's cook has to plan meals around the available galley space, but with judicious use of cooking-ware miracles, refrigerator equipment that really works (don't be afraid to test coolers and return them if they don't perform) and generous supplies of quick gourmet foods available on every grocery shelf . . . the boating gourmet is born.

FOR WEEKENDS, minor, and major, gourmet miracles can actually be wrought at home and carried aboard to be heated. So, take a tip from your home freezer. Plan to make the first meal at sea a real humdinger by pre-cooking and freezing. The trick is to put each meal in its own container, freeze and label.

Another plan ahead trick is to do everything but the cooking in plastic containers. Arrange your beef or chicken or fish in a marinade of wine, white or red as you prefer, and add all cooking spices and oils. The plastic containers, with a little help from whatever ice you have will keep meat fresh for three or four days. The provision is that the air seal be tight. All you need to do is turn out into a deep pan, and saute.

Another good trick is to use wine to poach fish . . . which saves drinking water, and also makes things taste that much more delectable. Poach at home and serve cold. Poach over a beach fire in a pan and serve hot. Either way it is great.

Some sailors even make gourmet bread tricks work for them. For example, pizza dough, with a strong dash of tarragon, can be made up ahead of time into individual rounds, without any filling. Stack them like plates, wrap in plastic wrap or foil, and they'll keep for days, to serve as plates and as sandwich bread substitutes.

For a weekend, or even a week's trip, the home-kitchen equipment is best. A pressure cooker doesn't only do things faster. It keeps things better.

TRY A BEEF and wine, or beef and kidney, ragout with wine, or, a chicken in white wine . . . . any one of them pressure cooked just before you leave the house. Don't open the pot. Leave it. Stick it in a thermal bag if you can spare one, but don't worry if you can't.

The air seal will keep the pot's contents superb for as much as 24 hours, and warm for almost that long. When you are ready to serve, unseal, heat up as needed and eat like a king.

FOR LONGER TRIPS think in terms of canned, boxed and bottled foods . . . . and items which tack easily, don't break or roll. Try to buy containers which hold just enough for one meal, and above all, think in terms of wine. The endless tricks of the French Chasseurs and early woodsmen who could use spices, beans, and root vegetables to make mouth watering delicacies, all in one pot, are your guide. Roots, beans, rice, noodles are not ingredients of famous dishes for nothing . . . . they store well.

Often the trouble with food on board is that the hostess is intimidated by the missing gleaming kitchen, and starts thinking cold sandwiches. The right frame of mind is to determine how artful you can be with one pan, and imagination.

Plot your menus and your ship's course together and aim for fresh sea food.

Quick tricks that wine makes better include sauteeing shrimp (frozen or fresh, or even canned) in wine and herbs, and a dash of catsup or worcestershire. It is quick food frying, really, that can be done in galley or on the beach.

What you can do with shrimp you can do with chunks of other fresh fish, shell fish, or chicken or chunks of meat. What you need to do is be generous with wine and herbs, and saute easily.

A BOAT IS the place for inexpensive regional wines. The gentle rocking of a boat is soothing for the nerves, but not recommended for expensive premier cru chateau wines that should be carefully and quietly stored.

NOTE: Cooking times may vary depending upon your gas or alcohol stove.

New Spray'n Wash removes stains from permanent press without pre-soaking!

1 Both knees of these permanent press trousers were equally dirty, but one knee was sprayed . . . thoroughly . . . with Spray 'n Wash.

2 After one minute, the trousers were put in the washer, and washed with the rest of the laundry. As you can see . . .

3 . . . Only the knee where Spray 'n Wash was used is completely clean. On the other knee, some stains were left behind.

GYPSY WEDDING FLOURISH

Seductive sorcery comes across in this Gypsy variation on a wedding dress with matching cape, designed by Giorgio di Sant'Angelo. The polyester three tiered flowing skirt is topped with an elongated bodice that clings skin-tight. Rhinestone buttons allow the neckline to plunge below the waist, and long, skinny cut-out sleeves leave a slit of bareness. The dramatic draped, hooded cape completes the outfit.

What Is The Prince's Style?

By WALTER LOGAN

NEW YORK (UPI)—Britain's Prince of Wales has been limited in his wardrobe as a student although he does have a Windsor dinner jacket in navy blue barathea with a scarlet double breasted collar and cuffs. With more freedom and with a future income of $480,000 a year, things may change.

The 20-year-old Prince runs around in British woolens, as may be expected, and his favorite jacket is of a hacking style in a fawn houndstooth. For evenings he wears a black worsted with a velvet collar and side vents and sometimes for palace parties the Windsor jacket which was designed by his father, Prince Philip.

The facts and figures are from Wilfred Woolmer, founder-chairman of Men's Fashion Writers International and lately editor of the now defunct trade publication The Outfitter. They were published in Tailor and Cutter, the British men's wear magazine.

THE REPORT on the Prince's fashion preferences are of immense interest to the British men's wear manufacturers since they are holding their breath to see if Charles will follow in the footsteps of his great-uncle, the Duke of Windson, who was the last Prince of Wales.

The Duke of Windsor, when he was the Prince of Wales, cut a wide swath of sartorial splendor what with promoting such items as the then new tuxedos, Oxford bags, Windsor knots, plus fours and the like. Men all over the world followed his fashion lead and British exports boomed.

Woolmer, in a report written for the International Wool Secretariat, complained that the Prince, like his father, has a bad habit of putting his hands in his jacket pockets, which is not very good for the line of the suit.

"However, the Prince has an excellent tailoring figure," Woolmer said. "He is slim, 5 feet 11½ inches tall with dark hair and blue yes. He has the ideal build for projecting the new age of elegance which is looked on as being the future men's wear."

CHARLES, as his father, is apt to put comfort first. For example, he does not like narrow trousers but will wear 16-inch trouser bottoms.

Woolmer noted happily that Charles has a liking for clothes in natural fibers—British woolens and worsteds and that his color preferences are browns and mid-blues, right in line with the projected fashion trends.

Even the prince's crown that he wore for his investiture July 1 at Caernarvon Castle in Wales was cause for rejoicing among some style buffs—he helped design it to fit his Mod Generation. Taylor and Cutter called it somewhere between a kind of barbed wire crown of FASHION DESIGNERS in London have suddenly become more interested in the new Prince of Wales. Generally they express pleasure that Charles seems to be right in the swing of men's fashions, but one complains that Charles, like his father, Prince Philip, has a bad habit of putting his hands in his jacket pockets. This, as all fashionable men know, spoils the line of the suit. This 1966 photo underscores the like father - like son complaint.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Families Travel, Entertain

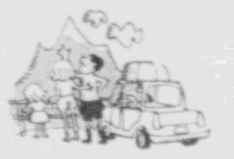
By MOLLY MARIN

Touring Canada are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Freitas of San Rafael, who attended the Calgary Stampede and will visit Lake Louise, Victoria and Vancouver Island.

While they are vacationing Lillian Freitas, sister and brother-in-law, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Charles Hoffman of Hamilton Air Force Base, are staying at the Freitas' home. On their return Walter and Lillian plan to open their Squaw Valley home for the month of August and possibly September.

THREE MARIN families have recently returned from a week's vacation at Camp Mather, a family recreation camp in the High Sierra. They are the Edward T. Stoners and their children, Cindy, Carol and David; the Bernard Chapmans and Chris and Mark; and the Lee R. Merrills, their son, Brian, and daughter, Laurie, all of San Anselmo.

The families also made trips to nearby Hetch Hetchy Reservoir and O'Shaughnessy Dam, and the Chapmans spent a day sightseeing in Yosemite Valley, also near the camp.



Days at the camp were spent swimming, hiking, horseback riding, fishing, playing tennis and relaxing.

MRS. CHARLES Meredith of Washington, D. C., is being entertained by a number of Marin Country Club Estates residents during her visit here with her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Flachs.

The Flachses have invited 80 guests to a poolside party on Saturday. Dr. and Mrs. Charles Galt entertained at a dinner party and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Amos at a cocktail party. Mrs. L. T. Kett held a bridge luncheon today for Mrs. Meredith.

THE GOLDEN WEDDING celebration for his parents will be given Saturday at their home in Kent Woodlands by Dr. and Mrs. L. Martin Griffin Jr. The honored couple, Mr. and Mrs. Loyal Martin Griffin of Oakland, will be feted by family members and friends at the reception and garden party.

The couple were married July 19, 1919, in Ogden, Utah. They are parents of another son, Robert S. Griffin of Medford, Ore., who is away and unable to attend the party. However, the Griffin grandchildren from Oregon will attend, as will Dr. and Mrs. Griffin's daughters, Anne and Carol. Their two sisters are away, however.

Another special guest will be Mrs. Griffin's sister, Mrs. Harold Franklin of Portland, Ore. Some 150 guests are expected and a choral group from Mr. Griffin's Shrine unit will sing for the celebration.

Marin Women

Wedding Set In Ross By Margot Mailliard

The Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross will be the setting for the small family wedding on Sept. 27 of Margot Mailliard of San Francisco and John B. Schoolland of Phoenix.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mrs. Leonard Hawxhurst of Carmel and John Ward Mailliard III of San Francisco. She is the sister of Mrs. George W. Whitaker of San Rafael and Mrs. Giandomenico Rende of Greenbrae.

Margot is a Katherine Delmar Burke School graduate and both she and John are graduates of the University of Colorado. Margot was a 1965 Cotillion debutante.

John's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John V. Schoolland of Phoenix, and he is the brother of Kenneth Schoolland. After the couple's marriage he will be employed with Proctor and Gamble in Kansas City, Mo.

HELEN HELP US!

Telephone Service For Youth Needs Dedicated Volunteers

DEAR HELEN:

I read your article about "Youth Life Line" in a weekly magazine and wonder if you could tell us how to start such a telephone service for young people in our town. Our club doesn't have much money, but we're very willing. We know that teens do need an anonymous someone to talk to, for so often they won't or can't confide in people who know them.

Good listeners who would advise on minor problems, direct deeply troubled people to the right agency, and let them know about the free help that is available (such as VD clinics) would be a great thing for this city. — WOMEN'S CLUBBERS.

DEAR CLUB MEMBERS:

A youth telephone line such as the one in Sacramento takes dedicated workers willing to canvass the community for volunteers who qualify as good listeners. These include not only laymen but also professional people, to be called in emergencies. No one should be expected to donate more than one or two hours a week.

Next, you need money: Enough for telephones, brochures, cards and advertising. You might find a rent-free office in a public building, if you interest the right officials. Sacramento's Town and Country Junior Women's Club started its Youth Life Line with not much more than $200; keeps it going for around $30 a month.

Third, a training program for volunteers is essential. No one should serve on the phones unless he or she has learned the fine art of not saying too much. Each person must be aware of all the local help agencies and which referral best suits the questioner's need. A psychiatric social worker could assist you here and perhaps a city or county agency will lend you one for a while.

In several large cities, such as Los Angeles, hospitals or other agencies have assumed financial responsibilities. Your club might sound out various directors of local institutions.

No one knows better than a family relations columnist how necessary it is for young people to have a listening ear. So often they write, "I just can't talk to anyone close — I'd be too embarrassed." When they can pour out their troubles without fear of condemnation — or recognition — many times they've taken the first step towards solving them.

Good luck with your new Youth Telephone Line. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I wouldn't dare write this to my hometown newspaper or I'd be run out of town on a rail by our uptight, upright citizens. So I'm hoping you'll print this without giving my name.

Our self-righteous little community has been shook to its roots by a migration of Hippies who like our wooded areas and are living back in the hills on river property owned by one of them.

They're peaceful, quite religious (though their faith differs from ours) and they cause no harm, but the townspeople are up in arms. They scream about filth, drugs, orgies, free sex, long-haired zombies, etc., and most of the merchants won't allow them to trade in their stores. Those few who do, are ostracized — and I'm one of them. I've gotten to know the Hippies and they are often more real than my hypocritical neighbors who cheat, lie and sleep around on week days and go to church on Sundays. Why can't people live and let live? — C. J.

DEAR C.:

Why indeed. Perhaps for the same reason chickens peck a different one to death. Pity. — H.

Prince And His British Woolens

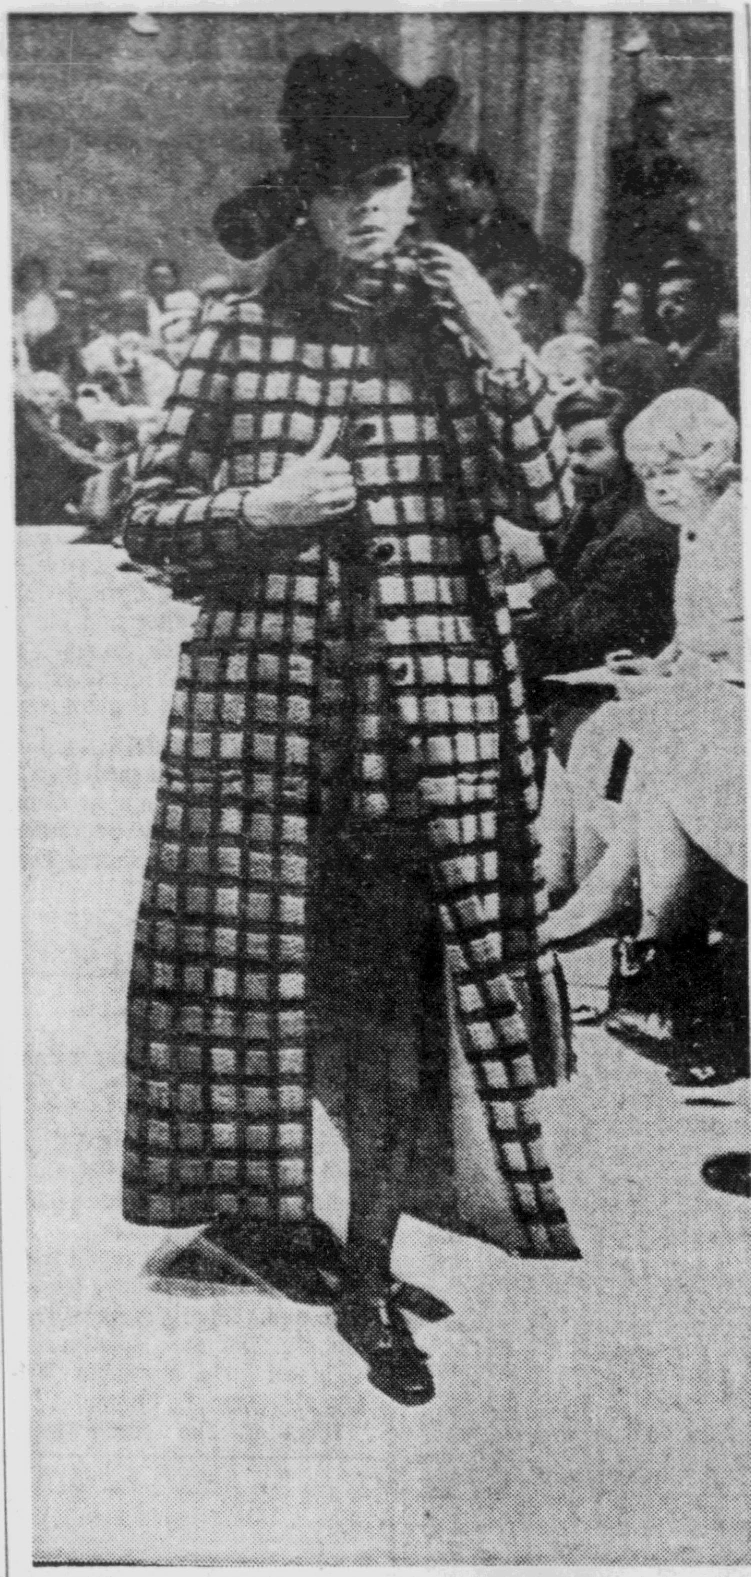
Tailor and Cutter lends another hopeful note to those hoping Charles will become the world's fashion leader: He belongs to the proper generation, following a strange development that has seen every other British generation of Royalty become fashion leaders.

GEORGE IV, WHO also had been a Prince of Wales and a Prince regent, was a flamboyant style leader who chummed with Beau Brummel and set styles that have been revived today — the Regency Jacket. The next generation brought up Victoria and Albert, who may have been good rulers but who were fashion duds.

Then came their son Edward VII, a very sharp dresser who has influenced the current Edwardian styles. The next generation brought in King George VI who had a marvelous beard but little else in the way of sartorial innovation; as a matter of fact, he refused to take up the new fangled custom of pressing trousers front and back instead of on the sides.

The next generation brought on Edward the Prince of Wales, and everybody knows how famous he was as a style setter. The next generation was Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip—and Prince Philip did little more than bring in that blue barathea jacket with the scarlet collar and cuffs, and then only in the confines of Windsor and Sandringham.

But Charles is the next generation. Who knows what will happen when the Queen takes off the wraps?



IT'S THE LOOK

Designer Oscar de la Renta likes the maxi-coat, mini-dress look. The floor-sweeping coat and short costume suit sums up the major daytime look for fall. He thinks the long, matching scarf and swagger hat are the "with it" costume.

More Americans Will Work In The Fields Of Health Care Services

By 1975 an estimated 5.3 million Americans — (one of every 16 workers)—will be earning their livings by providing health care for their fellow citizens.

That is a government prediction and if it comes true, in a scant half-dozen years more people will be associated with health care than any other field of endeavor, the Health Insurance Institute says.

One reason to believe that it will come true is the rapid growth of health care facilities all over the nation. At present, some 3.7 million people are employed in the medical field, which now constitutes the third largest industry in the land, after agriculture and construction.

In many instances new health facilities are being located near the people who need them most — the nation's urban poor.

Evidence of this was the report by the life insurance business, which has a special investment program to improve urban life. Under its billion-dollar investment program, more than $126 million has already gone for health care facilities.

Nearly $75 million for the expansion or modernization of hospitals.

More than $3.5 million for ghetto area medical clinics.

More than $3.5 million for the building of medical office buildings.

These facilities — which will deliver health care and services to thousands of inner city residents for years to come — are already providing more than 1,500 job opportunities. (The creation of new jobs is one of the main objectives of the special life insurance urban investment program.)

The growth of health care "industries" is based on three major trends:

1. More people. The U.S. population is now at 202 million mark and by 1975 it is expected to hit 215 million.

2. The almost-universal use of health insurance by U.S. families. At the beginning of this year nine out of every 10 Americans under age 65 had some form of private health insurance protection.

3. The introduction of such programs as Medicare and Medicaid which have facilitated medical care for people over 65 and very low income families.

Linda Ann Hansen Wed Saturday To Thomas Edward Solinsky

A six o'clock ceremony at the Community Congregational Church of Belvedere-Tiburon united in marriage Linda Ann Hansen of San Francisco and Thomas Edward Solinsky of Mill Valley.

Matron of honor for the Saturday nuptials was Mrs. Sim Hixson of San Marino, and Catherine Wright of Woodcliff Lake, N.J., was the bridesmaid.

The reception was held afterward at the St. Francis Yacht Club in San Francisco. The couple will live in Tiburon upon their return from a Carmel wedding trip.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Svend A. Hansen of Millburn, N.J., and Hollwood, Fla., Linda was graduated from Millburn High School and Tufts University Forsyth School for Dental Hygienists in Boston. She also attended college in Buena Vista, Va. She is employed in a dental office in Greenbrae.

ON THE AGENDA

Reed District Parents Begin New 'Hip Pocket' Communication

A new organization designed to supplement the "hip pocket" courier system in the Reed Union School District has been formed.

The Communications Council is the brain-child of Mrs. Diane G. Bramman, who heads the Reed Parent - Teacher Club committee which is working out details of the program.

"Its intent and purpose is to have the 'left hand and the right hand' share information, exchange ideas and let the community and the press know about our school district in an organized, business-like fashion," Mrs. Bramman says.

Representatives from each of the six P-TC units, serving the district's six schools on the Tiburon Peninsula, an administrative representative, the Reed Reviews chairman, a representative from the teachers' group and a liaison with the board of trustees will meet with Mrs. Bramman, who represents the Reed District's P-TC board.

"Notices carried home by school children in pockets or lunch boxes sometimes go astray. We hope to identify and improve the existing communication mediums within the district, with a view toward making information available, current, accurate and avoiding overlap or omission," the chairman explained. One possible project of the Communications Council would be the publication of a Parents' Manual.

The council's first formal meeting will be at 9:15 a.m Sept. 5, place to be announced later.

CATHOLIC DAUGHTERS of America, Court 1707, will hold a rummage sale from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. tomorrow, Friday and Saturday at Our Lady of Loretto Church parish hall in Novato.

The sale will benefit Our Lady of Loretto School which serves both Our Lady of Loretto Parish and St. Anthony of Padua in Novato.

Mrs. Delbert King is chairman, assisted by Mmes. A. R. Ferrera, co-chairman, and Robert Abeling, Ronald Snodgrass, Bernard Ahern, Richard Walsh, Paul Feairheller, Stanley Rousseau, Frank Baccaglio, Earl Karinen and Bert Beckman.

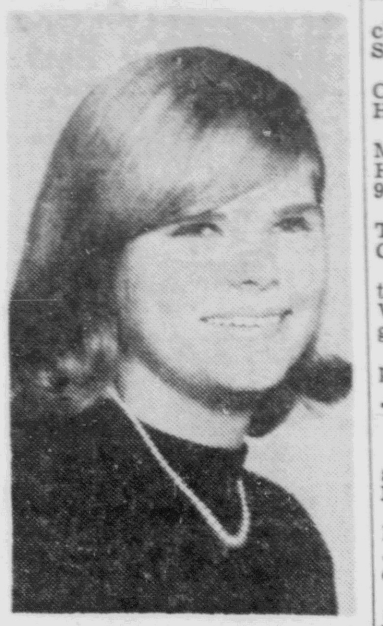
THE MOTHER-daughter brunch of the Christian Women's Club will be held poolside at the Flamingo in Santa Rosa tomorrow at 10 a.m., announced Mrs. Clifford Durham of Petaluma, president. A fashion show of beach and poolside apparel and accessories will be featured. Neal Doty of radio and television will speak.

TOMORROW NIGHT at 7 p.m., San Rafael Assembly 195 of the International Order of Rainbow for Girls will initiate Kathy Lee and Claudia Neuwald into the order.

Sixteen girls of the assembly have recently returned from a trip to Canada. They visited Victoria and Vancouver in British Columbia and also attended the 43rd session of the Oregon Grand Assembly of the International Order of the Rainbow for Girls, where they helped with a presentation to grand worthy advisor Wendy Panage.

The girls will share their experiences with the rest of the assembly at the meeting. Worthy advisor Jennifer Knapp of Terra Linda will preside.

Norgaard-Foster Rite To Be Held In Ross



DIANE FOSTER

An outdoor wedding Aug. 24 at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross is planned by Diane Lynn Foster of San Anselmo and Gregory Norgaard of San Rafael. The announcement is made by the future bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Foster of San Anselmo.

Lynn, a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School, is the sister of Donald Foster of San Rafael; Steven Foster, in Germany with the Army; and Robert Foster of San Anselmo.

Mr. and Mrs. Loring Norgaard of San Anselmo are the future bridegroom's parents. He is the brother of Peter Norgaard of Portland, Ore., and the grandson of Mrs. Doris Sidebottom of San Francisco. Gregory was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and attended Pasadena School of Theatrical Arts and College of Marin. He is employed by Junior Theater of Marin and the Marin Jewish Community Center.

Barbecue Sauce

Apple jump marinade makes an unusual and flavorful barbecue sauce, especially for pork, ham, duck or beef. Saute ½ cup of finely chopped onion in ½ cup of oil. Add 1 clove of garlic, 1 cup of canned apple sauce, ½ cup each of apple juice, tomato sauce and vinegar, ¼ cup of brown sugar, 2 tablespoons of tomato paste, 1 teaspoon of worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon each of salt and dry mustard and ½ teaspoon each of black pepper and bottled red pepper sauce. Simmer 20 minutes over medium heat, stirring occasionally. Use as marinade and to baste and glaze meats while cooking. Makes 1 2-3 cups.

FORGOTTEN PEOPLE

Here's A Diet For The Skinnies

By ROBERT MUSEL

LONDON (UPI)—So you need a diet? How about this one:

Breakfast — oatmeal with plenty of milk and sugar. Bacon and eggs (or sausages and kidneys). Toast with marmalade or honey.

Afternoon break—tea and sugar with cakes or biscuits.

DINNER — HORS d'oeuvres, fish and french fried potatoes, apple pie, cheese and biscuits and a glass of stout.

How much weight will you lose? Absolutely none. Dr. Robert Kep hopes, in fact, that it will add a few pounds for this is a diet for that forgotten group who are too thin. Yes, there are plenty of them around.

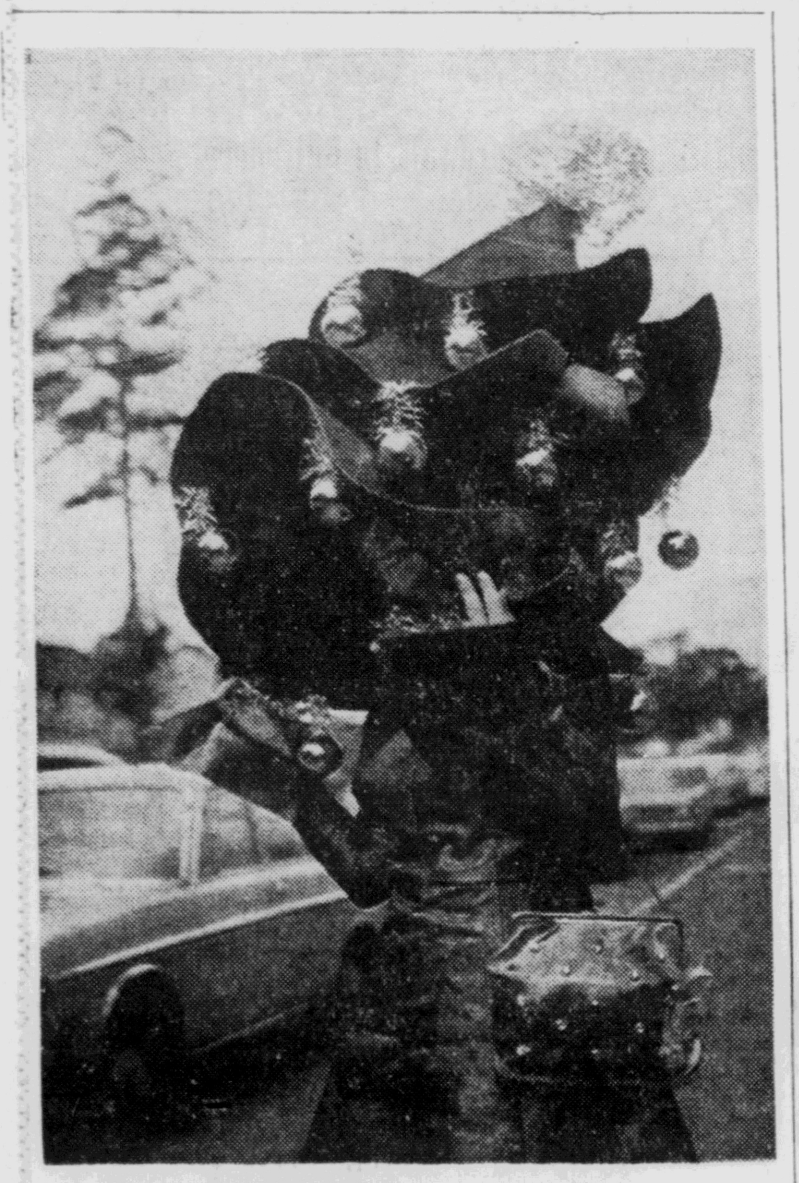
In a new booklet, "So You Need A Diet?" published by the British Medical Association, Dr. Kemp says it is just as hard, if not harder, to put on weight if you are constitutionally lean than it is to take it off if you are the well-covered type.

"MANY LEAN people already possess a good appetite so that steps to increase the appetite will be ineffective," Dr. Kemp said.

"However, there may be room for a definite snack in mid-'morning, mid-afternoon and at supper time. Additional milk in the shape of two or three pints a day is sometimes very effective. So, for that matter, is the same amount of beer or stout...an increase in bread and other starchy foods such as rice and cereals could be safely advised."

Dr. Kemp's booklet stresses the importance of choosing the right diet for specific aims (such as reducing, heart disease, arterial trouble etc.). He says that many of the changes thought to be due to old age are in reality due to a poor diet.

"It has long been said," he went on, "that a man is as old as his arteries and in the normal course of events as we grow older our arteries becomes less elastic and more rigid. Nevertheless with good management they can last up to 100 years."



ASCOT YULE

Mrs. Ronald Schilling of Australia wore this creation of her own design and caused a summer sensation at Royal Ascot in London. The Christmas tree getup began with a green lame cocktail dress with tinsel collar. She wore silver stockings and shoes and highlighted the costume with a three-foot-high canopy mode of three hats with two dozen silver balls dangling. She carried a see-through handbag. 'A HUMBLE BUILDING'

Oakland's New Museum Breaks With The Traditional Design

OAKLAND (AP) — A new kind of museum—in rectangular tiers among trees, shrubs, lawns and pools—is taking shape here in a deliberate break with mausoleum-like traditional style.

The low-slung three-level structure of pebbled masonry, set amid four square blocks of greenery, is all horizontal and vertical lines, without a curve inside or out.

"This is a building that does not rise up and dominate people—a humble building," said the Oakland Museum's proud director, Dr. J. S. Holliday.

Now engulfed in a fever of activity to prepare for the planned September opening, the new museum already has been acclaimed as a revolutionary departure in design.

"The most brilliant concept of an urban museum in America," says Arthur Drexler of the New York Museum of Modern Art.

The cultural oasis, next to Lake Merritt in the middle of downtown Oakland, seems to have dozens of entrances, unlike most museums, where there are only one of two doorways and straight halls to walk down on the inside.

Here, visitors can enter from virtually any direction, walking on soft carpets and not on echoing marble or hard linoleum.

The design is by Kevin Roche, John Dinkerloo & Associates of Hamden, Conn. What is to be contained in their creation seems just as unusual as the package it will all come in.

The museum will deal only with California in three sections—natural science, history and art.

The first will be a gallery of ecology, cross-section of animal life and terrain from the Pacific across the fertile valleys and over the Sierra into the Nevada desert.

The history section will depict California life from primitive Indians, to the confrontation between Indian and Spaniard, to the Gold Rush, development of industry and agriculture, the 19th Century Victorian era through to the present.

In the art division, the museum says it is preparing "the most meaningful collection of California art in existence" — paintings, scultpure, photography, print making, architecture and the crafts.

When the visitor has had his fill of exhibits, or wishes respite, he can stroll into the sun on broad greenswards, contemplate sculpture on 18 tree-lined courts, or look at sailboats on Lake Merritt a few hundred feet away.

An educational program will offer a "museum on wheels"—a big van to take exhibits into the neighborhoods.

The museum also contains a 300-seat theater, 180-car underground garage, a library and workrooms. A restaurant will be concession-run.

The $10 million project was financed by Oakland taxpayers and the Oakland Museum Association.

"This museum must be a place of change and vitality, an educational force, a source of new awareness, a place where the past will provide insight to the present," said Holliday.

Director Holliday, an authority on the history of the Far West, is a native of Indiana. He took a degree from Yale in 1948 and completed his doctorate in American History at Berkeley 10 years later.

His documentary study of the California gold rush is soon to be published.

Bruised Maid Padlocked In Shed Three Days

CANOGA PARK (UPI)—A 13-year-old Mexican girl who was brought to the United States to be a maid was padlocked in a shed by her employers and kept there for three days without food or water.

Carmen Rodriguez was found yesterday in the outbuilding by neighbors whose children heard whimpering and crying from within and then saw a hand waving in the window.

Carmen was reported in poor condition and suffering from malnutrition in Los Angeles County-University of Southern California Medical Center. Hospital officials said she had numerous bruises, possibly from a beating.

Her employers, Bernarde and Theresa Gonzales, were arrested on suspicion of endangering the life of the girl. Carmen told police she thought she was imprisoned because she was unable to care for the Gonzales' eight children while the parents were away.

Vandals Steal Stakes From Creek Project

Determined vandals have been removing iron center line stakes from the Corte Madera Creek flood control project, the county department of public works has reported.

Charles E. Murphy of the public works department said the pipes were driven three feet into the creek bed. At least six of the stakes are missing, he said.

Three Donate Awards For Art Show

The prizes are a $25 special award for the crafts division from Mr. and Mrs. James H. Swearingen of the Mill Valley Furniture Shop, a $25 merchandise special award from Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Crook of Crook's Mill Valley Bootery, and a $10 geode and stand from Mr. and Mrs. Jim Kerrigan of Tamalpais Hardware Store.

A fourth prize, one where the donor will purchase the winning work of art, will also be given.

The festival committee will meet at 8 p.m. Thursday in city hall to discuss plans for the show to be held Oct. 11 and 12 in Old Mill Park.

San Diego Cools Despite Fires

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—A firebomb was hurled at a police car last night and scattered grass fires were set by arsonists in the racially tense southeast district.

The Molotov cocktail went wide of its target, but two others were thrown at Knox Elementary School and another at a gas station. They caused no major damage.

Police reported only eight arrests in the troubled area last night and early today, in contrast to Sunday night's rampage of looting, sniping and arson when more than 70 persons were booked.

State Strike Leader Gets Stiff Penalties

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Former San Francisco State teaching assistant George Murray has been sentenced to six months in jail and ordered to resign from the Black Panther Party and the college's Black Students Union.

Municipal Judge Fitzgerald Ames sentenced Murray Monday to three months in jail for disturbing the peace and six months for failure to disperse. The judge suspended one month on the first count and two months on the second.

Murray had pleaded guilty June 30 to the charges stemming from a demonstration on campus Dec. 2, 1968. Though Murray asked for leniency because of "a spiritual reawakening," Judge Ames refused the request and said:

"You stirred up a lot of violence with your utterances and your actions. You also stirred up a lot of people."

Ames said that Murray could not receive future probation unless he resigned from both the Panthers and Black Students Union and refrained from appearing at any college or high school campus without permission from the probation department. The judge also prohibited him from enrolling in any college without similar permission.

Murray said he was no longer a member of the Panthers and would accede to the other conditions.

"I've made mistakes," he said, "lots of mistakes. All the mistakes I've made I sincerely regret. If I have done any damage or harm to citizens of San Francisco or elsewhere I regret that too."

NEW CITIZENS — Mr. and Mrs. George Weatherstone joke with a customer at the Novato pet store about the "funny picture" on Mrs. Weatherstone's naturalization papers. The Weatherstones were among 23 residents of Marin and Southern Sonoma who became American citizens last month. (Independent-Journal photo).

NEW CITIZENS

June Big Month For A Novato Pair

June was a big month for Edith and George Weatherstone of 3 Zanco Way, Novato.

First, on June 3, they became citizens of the United States after 24 years of living in this country. Then, on June 8, they celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary.

That same day, they left for a trip back to England — he is a Scot and she's Irish — for the first time since coming to the U.S.

On that trip, the Weatherstones, who run a pet store on Grant Avenue, were going to see one of their two daughters, Jean Wilson, for the first time in 24 years. Their other daughter, Mary Poliak, lives in Novato.

Everything worked out just as it was supposed to except for seeing their second daughter.

Just before they arrived, Mrs. Weatherstone said, their daughter's husband, a Royal Air Force officer, was transferred to Singapore and, naturally, his wife went with him.

"Maybe next year we'll go to Singapore," Mrs. Weatherstone said.

Speaking about the naturalization ceremony in U.S. District Court in San Francisco during which she, her husband and about 150 others became American citizens, she said, "It was a wonderful ceremony, very impressive."

Often, new citizens feel that the naturalization ceremony seems very routine for such an important event but this one was different, Mrs. Weatherstone said.

It happened to be Law Day, proclaimed by President Richard M. Nixon, and judges from throughout the Bay Area spoke at the ceremony.

"This one happened to be an historic event," Mrs. Weatherstone said. "It was very interesting, very wonderful."

Of the preparation for citizenship, she said that new citizens probably have to learn more about American history that native-born Americans know.

She didn't have much trouble with the history because American history was a required subject when she attended school in England.

"I learned the Star Spangled Banner when I was five years old," she said. "It lives with you over the years. You just don't forget it."

The Weatherstones were among 23 Marin and Southern Sonoma residents who were naturalized during June. Other new citizens were:

GREENBRAE — Andre Eugene Carbonnel, 124 Paseo Way.

SAUSALITO — Barbara Fallis Johnson, 109 Bulkley Avenue.

TIBURON — Margaret Duddy, 761 Hilary Drive; Patricia McKenna, 735 Hilary Drive; and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Heinz, 45 Barbaree Way.

MOON CONTEST DRAWS 90,162
ENTRIES FROM I-J READERS

Moon contest winners to be announced week of July 21

HUMOROUS NOTE: ALMOST HALF (OVER 40,000) ENTRIES WERE SENT IN BY JUST TWO SUBSCRIBERS!

More than 300,000 "guesses" from readers of the Independent-Journal and the Gannett Newspapers (TODAY, the newspaper of Cape Kennedy) have been fed into computers of Intertech Company at the Cape. When word is flashed from NASA on the exact landing time, the computers will select the winners.

Winners will be announced week of July 21 in the I-J. Decision of judges is final. Judging is under supervision of the Gannett newspaper, TODAY, of Cape Kennedy, which devised the contest idea.

NOTE: During the contest the dates were published which the Space Agency designated as the most likely times for the first landing attempt . . . days on which the spacecraft could reach pre-selected sites on the moon. These included July 15-22 among others. However, just to cover each second of the July period would require a total of 691,200 entries. To cover one day, 86,400 entries. Hence, "system" players who sent in thousands of entries based on NASA's optimum landing days are still up against astronomical totals. Just one lucky guess, judges point out, can make a winner. Look for the announcement!

☆ FIRST PRIZE: A 2-week trip for two anywhere on earth.
☆ 3RD PRIZE: $100 cash

Good luck to all entrants!

NEW LIGHTS AT GNOSS FIELD

Ribbons of light dart from the hills surrounding ing the star-like lights on the runway at Gnoss Field, north of Novato. The effect was produced by photograping a Civil Air Patrol T-34 by time exposure as it swooped low over the new runway lights which now will enable fliers to land an airplane at night. The lights on the 3,300 foot runway turn on automatically at dusk and can be adjusted to varying weather conditions.

Yet Another In Race For Supervisor

Another name has been added to the lengthy list of southern Sonomans seeking appointment as Sonoma County Supervisor.

George T. De Long, 731 Cindy Lane, today said he had contacted Ned Hutchinson, Gov. Ronald Reagan's appointments secretary, to say he would be interested in receiving the appointment.

The owner of George Buick-Pontiac Sales in Petaluma, De Long is a director of the chamber of commerce, a member of the water commission and chairman of the citizen's advisory committee to the board of education.

The appointment to replace Leigh S. Shoemaker, who resigned last month due to ill health, is expected to be announced on July 24 at "Governor's Day" at the Sonoma County Fair in Santa Rosa.

Others seeking the position are Mary Jean Burgess, administrative secrstary at Santa Rosa Memorial hospital; Norman Van Bebber, former Petaluma mayor; Lucien Libarle, businessman; Vice Mayor John W. Cavanagh Jr.; Frank Crocoran, sheriff's department employee; and George Crane, rancher

Wendell E. McReynolds, 19, of 59 Coie Drive, Marin City, was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with a broken left ankle and multiple scrapes suffered when his motorcycle and a car collided on Almonte Boulevard, Almonte, yesterday, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The accident occurred at 6:30 p.m. when a car driven by Mervin A. Giacomini, 58, of 251 Morning Sun Avenue, Tamalpais Valley, made a left turn in McReynolds' path, the highway patrol said.

Dixie Board Adopts $3.9 Million Budget

A publication budget of $3,925,000, up $328,000 from 1968-69, was adopted for the 1969-70 fiscal year last night by the Dixie School District board.

Supt. Clifford W. Campbell estimated the budget would bring the district tax rate to the maximum of $3.35 per $100 of assessed valuation approved three years ago by voters.

In other action, the board adopted salary schedules for non-teaching personnel and substitute teachers. A raise of $40 per month was granted to most classified personnel, with maintenance workers receiving a monthly raise of $60. Daily pay of $33, up $3, was approved for substitute teachers.

The dixie school district board also:

MULTI-ETHNIC — Took no action on a request by the Human Relations Council of the district to appropriate $2,500 to help pay for a consultant in multi-ethnic studies. The board said it would rather spend on the money on district programs.

CALENDAR — Adopted a 179-day calendar for the 1969-70 year, with school beginning on Sept. 4 and ending June 11.

FIELD — Approved a joint agreement with the city of San Rafael for turfing of the athletic field at Oak View School as soon as possible.

DUES — Decided not to join the California School Boards Association because of a "massive" increase in annual dues to $727.

TESTING — Learned that first and second grade students scored higher than the national average and third grade pupils equal with the national average in standardized reading tests.

Warrant Issued For Publicist

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A bench warrant was issued yesterday for Peter L. Goldstein, 34, when he failed to make an appearance in San Francisco Municipal Court.

Goldstein, brother of Marin Municipal Court Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr., is charged with striking a friend, Mrs. Patricia Rogers and her daughter, Jillian. The incident allegedly occurred at the Rogers' home last August.

The former San Anselmo publicist who now lives in San Francisco, was to have been tried last January but the case was postponed because the woman had died "of causes utterly unrelated to the incident," according to Goldstein's attorney, William O. Weissich of San Rafael.

Since then the case has been continued a half dozen times.

Felony Dope Charge To Superior Court

Edward T. Chorovsky, 23, of San Francisco yesterday was bound over to Marin Superior Court on felony charges of possessing marijuana and benzedrine June 15. He is to be arraigned in Superior Court on July 28.

Chorovsky was arrested by California Highway Patrol officers after they investigated his stopped auto on Highway 101 near Ignacio.

Hub School Board Adds To Budget

The San Anselmo School board last night added $15,000 to the 1969-70 budget to give added support to the seventh and eighth grade program, bringing the budget to $1,917,971, an increase of $91,621 above last year's $1,836,350.

Trustees set 6 p.m. Friday to meet at Red Hill School and review salaries, maintenance and capital outlay items in the preliminary budget.

The board heard a request from nonteaching employees asking that salary negotiations be kept open until September when all personnel are available but took no action saying the subject is closed, Supt. Stephen L. Parodi reported.

The board approved classified salary increases ranging from 6.65 to 8.33 per cent on June 26.

Trustees agreed to raise salaries for part-time personnel who work in community services related activities from $3 to $3.50 per hour.

The San Anselmo School board also:

READING TESTS — Heard these results from Stanford reading tests given in May: First graders at 1.8 years in school scored 2.0; second graders at 2.8 years scored 3.1 and third graders at 3.8 years scored 4.3.

EMPLOYED — Hired Doris Harnsberger to teach science and mathematics, at Red Hill School, $8,680; Terrie Monti, fourth, Brookside, $8,848; Barbara O'Brien, reading and language, Red Hill, $9,269; Patricia Powell, French, district $7,164; Carol Sawyer, first, Isabel Cook, $8,006 and William B. Emerson, district psychologist, $10,979.

Woodshed Robbed

School Land Sale Sought By Trustees

Initial steps to sell part of the Stinson Beach school site were taken Monday night by the Bolinas-Stinson School District board after it was told how to proceed in a letter from Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino.

District plans to sell the site were delayed by a title search required when the board learned part of the land had a reversion clause, in which the land would return to the previous owner if not used for school purposes.

The search showed, Supt. Clarence B. Larison said, that the reversion applies only to a narrow strip at the rear of the property, some five feet wide. The main part of the site is owned in clear title by the district, and a third part is leased at $10 a year.

Loss of the narrow strip would not affect sale of the main portion, Godino said yesterday.

The board told Larison to notify Godino of the district intent to sell the Stinson Beach property.

The board approved a publication budget of $213,325, up some 5 per cent from last year's $203,126. The total was adopted after three changes.

The board approved a levy of 10 cents per $100 assessed valuation under the new Field Act tax levy, which will produce $10,000 to improve earthquake resistance of district buildings.

A 2-cent increase in the 7-8 grade levy, to 13 cents, was approved to finance use of a portable classroom for the year.

Another $800 was added to the budget for outdoor education.

The board set a budget hearing for 8 p.m. Aug. 4 at Bolinas School.

The Bolinas-Stinson School District board also:

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignations of three teachers, Erika Zettl, Elizabeth Hufnagel and Ronald Weiss, all of Stinson Beach School. The three submitted resignations several weeks ago and the board hired three new teachers.

DESK — Rejected all five bids, the highest $103, for a desk made by cabinetmaker Arthur Carpenter of Bolinas, and instructed Larison to sell the desk privately. Items under $200 can be sold without bids.

DELEGATE — Names Trustee Jessie Reasoner delegate to the California School Boards Association.

CONTRACT — Approved the annual contract with the Marin County Schools Department for county services such as nursing and psychological aid.

CONFERENCE — Conferred with county school staff including Stanley Friese, assistant superintendent for the county, but took no action.

Youth Bound Over To Superior Court

Robert Edward Decker, 18, of Corte Madera yesterday was bound over to Marin Superior Court on a charge of burglarizing a Ross home May 8. He will appear in court Monday for arraignment.

Decker turned himself into police in connection with the burglary.

Rezoning Bids In Petaluma Approved

The Petaluma Planning Commission last night approved the rezoning of two East Side areas for future subdivision development.

The request of Wesley Bailey Land Co. was approved to change their property at the proposed Valley Green subdivision on South McDowell Boulevard to smaller lot sizes. The 10,000-square-foot lots will be reduced to 6,000 square feet.

Also approved was the request of Perma-Bilt Enterprises, Inc. to rezone land on Casa Grande Road, South McDowell Boulevard and Lakeville Highway from agricultural to single family residential. Unit one of Sonoma Vista Subdivision is planned for the area.

The Petaluma Planning Commission also:

GENERAL PLAN — Continued the public hearing on updating the Petaluma area general plan. Norman Van Bebber, representing the chamber of commerce, urged the city to encourage development on the West Side so that the population might be equally balanced with the East Side. Ronald Simpkins of McKay and Somps Engineers also spoke for increased development on the west side.

APARTMENT — Approved the site design for a four unit apartment building at 418 Kentucky Street being planned by Ronald Hardy. The commission granted a variance to reduce sideyard setback from eight to six feet.

HEARING — Set a public hearing for Aug. 19 at 7:30 p.m. to consider amending the service station ordinance to provide exceptions for the spacing of stations at freeway interchanges.

Reagan Hints New Stand On Bay Fill

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Gov. Ronald Reagan appeared yesterday to have reversed his stand on bay fill control by suggesting that local governments have a veto power over the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission when they want to fill the bay.

For the past six months, the governor had urged legislation to extend the life of the BCDC, due to go out of existence this year under current law. He never had indicated any opposition to the BCDC's present power to bar bay fill, which cannot be overriden by local governments.

But when he was asked at his weekly press conference for his view on local governments' opposition to bills that would expand BCDC's jurisdiction to shoreline development, Reagan clearly suggested that local governments should be able to override BCDC objection to bay fill as well as to shoreline development.

"I do not think that a bill should be so inflexible that it says there is no provision whatsoever that everything — blanket denial as of this moment, because there are communities — there are cities around the bay with airport needs and harbor needs and so forth, and who have claim and rights to the bay and the bay bottom," Reagan said.

"I just think that a strong bill should come down which would make provision for the review and the — so that whatever takes place or whatever has to take place there can be a proper reconciliation between necessary progress and the preservation — to the greatest extent possible to the bay.

"And I recognize the communities, the cities have some problems of their own and these problems should be recognized," he added.

Asked by a reporter if he was talking only about the shoreline, Reagan said, "I'm talking about the shore and the tidelands."

Pressed by another newsman to clarify whether he would allow local governments to fill the bay for airports and ports regardless of the BCDC's position, Reagan said, "I'm not going to get into this while we are still trying to work out these delicate problems out upstairs. I gave you my philosophy of what I think the bill should include. It should not be adamant one way or the other."

Legislative action on measures to extend the life and powers of the BCDC are stalled in the Senate Finance Committee while the authors of the four surviving rival bills try to work out a compromise on a single bill.

Blowout Accident

Guillermo E. Zavala, 44, of Daly City, was treated for an injured foot yesterday at Marin General Hospital after his car had a blowout and hit a guard rail on Highway 101 in corte Madera at 9:30 p.m., the California Highway Patrol said.

Board Heeds Sewage Plant Smell Issue

Faced with complaints about smelly sewage treatment, Richardson Bay Sanitary District directors last night promised to investigate enclosing the plant to prevent further annoyances to Little Reed Heights residents.

Director Douglas de la Fontaine said enclosing the plant had been suggested several years ago but rejected by the county planning commission following complaints from Tiburon Peninsula residents on design aesthetics.

However, he said, a group of 13 residents from Little Reed Heights, at last night's meeting, agreed to work with the district in developing an enclosure which would meet objections and still control odors.

Once enclosed, de la Fontaine said, the plant air would be funneled through a scrubber and de-odorized.

"We realize we have odors and we've been trying to correct them for years, but they are elusive to say the least," de la Fontaine said.

At the Tiburon City Council meeting Monday night, the group noted that tradesmen and guests "now ask how we can live there." They also threatened to remove the board from office in November unless steps were taken to remedy the situation.

The board set a special meeting to consider the district's budget for fiscal 1969-70 for 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Trestle Glen treatment plant.

Pacifists On Hanoi Trip To Get Prisoners

PARIS (AP) — Seven American pacifists, including two women, passed through Paris today on their way to Hanoi to receive three U.S. war prisoners, freed by the North Vietnamese.

The prisoners, still unnamed, are being released in Hanoi in what North Vietnam has called a "goodwill gesture" to mark U.S. Independence Day.

The pacifist group, led by Rennard C. Davis, 28, was invited to Hanoi to escort the three prisoners back to the United States.

Davis is under indictment with seven other persons in the United States on charges of inciting mob action during the 1968 Democratic National Convention. Federal Appellate Court Judge Otto Kerner in Chicago gave Davis special permission yesterday to leave the United States for three weeks in connection with the prisoner release.

The seven Americans arrived at Orly Airport from New York and left almost immediately on another plane for Phnom Penh, Cambodia, where they will take the weekly flight to Hanoi of the International Control Commission.

Davis told newsmen, "We plan to bring the three freed American airmen back to the United States as quickly as possible. We will take advantage of our trip to bring back to the United States photographs and documents on Vietnam at war and to reaffirm our solidarity with the Vietnamese people."

The North Vietnamese invited the group to escort the three prisoners home to avoid them being interrogated en route by military authorities.

Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. negotiator at the Paris peace talks, gave another American pacifist, David Dellinger, formal assurances last week that no attempt would be made to intercept the prisoners to "debrief" them.

'People's Pad' Plan Rejected

BERKELEY (AP) — The board of education voted last night not to lease an abandoned housing unit for use as a "People's Pad" youth hostel for an expected summer influx of the nation's youth.

Proponents calling themselves the "People's Pad Steering Committee" said they had interviewed 250 persons in the unit area and found that 43 per cent favored the project, 9 per cent opposed it and the rest were indifferent.

The South Berkeley Model Cities Neighborhood Council questioned the poll and opposed the project. The school board had said it would withdraw its lease offer if the council objected.

Ferry Strike End Is Sought

Tiburon Mayor L. D. Fanning asked congressional aid in settling the ferry strike which has disrupted commuter service for Tiburon residents.

In a letter to Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, Fanning said the strike is stranding approximately 350 commuters a day, forcing them to "already crowded highways."

Also, he noted, city businesses, particularly restaurants, are suffering a "grievious impact" with tourist trade curtailed by the strike.

He asked Mailliard to help in bringing the strike, by marine engineers which began June 4, to an end.

$10,285 Net For '68 By Marin Appraisers

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Marin's two inheritance tax appraisers earned a net total of $10,285 for their part-time work during 1968, reports on file yesterday in the controller's office showed.

Edmond C. Ward of Greenbrae, appointed in April by Controller Houston I. Flournoy, grossed $11,774 and netted $6,953. Earl D. Brown of Mill Valley, appointed in May last year, grossed $6,870 and netted $3,332.

Their fee is one tenth of 1 per cent of the appraised values of estates the court assigns to them for appraisal.

Their earnings last year compared with those reported for 1967 by former appraisers Lee V. Holman of San Rafael and Ralph T. McGrath of Novato, both of whom served throughout the entire year. Holman netted $12,007 in 1967 and McGrath netted $3,382.

The biggest earnings last year were reported by a San Jose inheritance tax appraiser, who grossed $74,827 and netted $44,963 after expenses.

For the third year in a row, a Senate committee has shelved Flournoy's proposed legislation to replace the 163 appraisers with civil servants. Flournoy was critical of his predecessor, now Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., alleging he used his power of appointing the appraisers to select political friends, who then donated some of their earnings to Cranston's campaigns.

Jaybirds have been known to steal partly finished nests from other birds and rebuild them for their own use.

Laird Aide Attempting To Untangle Boss's Statement

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top Pentagon spokesman tried today to disentangle Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird from an impression that he was being overly optimistic about prospects for peace in Vietnam.

The issue revolves around a remark by Laird before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that "I think we've certainly turned the corner."

The sentence was sandwiched in between Laird's expression of fervent hope yesterday for the day when peace can be restored, and another statement reporting forward progress in "Vietnamization" of the war.

Jerry Friedheim, deputy assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, told a briefing that Laird's "turned the corner" reference was to the progress toward turning the war over to the South Vietnamese rather than an expression of optimism about peace possibilities.

Friedheim said that "no new ground was broken" when Laird mentioned President Richard M. Nixon's orders to Gen Creighton Abrams, U.S. commander in Vietnam, to reduce American casualties.

"We're satisfied that Abrams is conducting his operations in a manner to minimize U.S. casualties," Friedheim said.

It was recalled that the White House several months ago spoke of such orders to Abrams and that Laird later amplified this to say that the U.S. commander was under orders "to keep the maximum pressure on the enemy consistent with the lowest possible casualties."

Before the use of water meters slaughter houses in New York and St. Louis were charged on the basis of five cents for each bullock slaughtered. Most other cities charged flat monthly rates ranging from $5.00 to $10.00, according to Rockwell Manufacturing Company.

Pair Arrested In Drug Case

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Customs inspectors and narcotics officers arrested two women yesterday on charges of possessing hashish smuggled from Moracco.

The women, arrested at 41 Ord Court, are Virginia Pavlick, 23, and Pamela Warren, 26. They were booked on charges of possession of dangerous drugs and possessing them for sale.

Inspectors, who said they found hashish with a blackmarket value of $10,000, asserted the raid was only the beginning of a large-scale investigation.

Guide Dog Diplomas To 10 On Saturday

Ten high school and college students will be graduated from the summer classes of Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc. during ceremonies at 2:30 p.m. Saturday at the school at 350 Los Ranchitos Road, San Rafael.

Hollis Moore, director of the Marin County Schools Office teacher aide training program, will speak at the ceremony which will be followed by a tour of the kennels and an obedience demonstration.

The graduates are: Ronald Carey of Pacific Grove; Manuel Gonsalves of Modesto; Samuel Jennings of Grand Junction, Colo.; Jan McEwen of Berkeley; Susanne Sumner of Spokane, Wash.; Rebecca Thompson of Poway, San Diego County; Kenneth Volonte of Redwood City; Carl Wake of Richmond; Connie Walker of Troutdale, Ore.; Talmadge Wells Jr. of Shreveport, La.

Seven of the guide dogs being presented to the blind trainees were raised by Bay Area 4-H members, including Dale Perry of Mill Valley.

Sausalito School Burglary Losses Report Tallied

Burglaries have cost the Sausalito School District $6,616 in the last four school years, the trustees learned Monday night.

A report itemizing burglary losses over that span showed the loss last year was highest, $2,663 in eight burglaries. Losses were $2,081 in 1965-66, but dropped to $1,356 in 1966-67 and $516 in 1967-68.

Burglaries were committed last school year on Sept. 30 at the district office, Oct. 1 at Bayside School, Oct. 1 at the district office, on an unspecified November date at Bayside, April 27 at Bayside and at Martin Luther King School, May 6 at King, and June 2 at King.

Items taken this year include six tape recorders, two electric typewriters, two phonographs, a dictator transcriber, a set of cymbals, a camera, three stopwatches and two track starter's guns.

The board did not discuss or act on the report.

Cotati Rezoning

The Cotati City Council will consider a rezoning request at its meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Cotati fire hall. The request by Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Thompson would change their property on El Rancho Drive from single family residential to allow apartments.

Jealous Uncle Guilty In Murder

POMONA (AP)—A jury rendered a second-degree murder verdict against a 33-year-old man the prosecution said fatally shot his niece, 22, because she planned to marry a Ft. Ord soldier instead of him.

The body of the girl, Anita Arteaga, was found by her father Feb. 15 in a shallow grave under the family home. The prosecution said she had been dead a month.

The prosecution contended that Arnulfo Maldonado killed the girl in Salinas and took her body to the family home for burial.

Maldonado's defense held that Miss Arteaga was accidentally shot three times during a struggle after an argument over a loan. He was convicted yesterday by a Superior Court jury after one and a half days of deliberation.

Warrant Issued For 19-Year-Old

A bench warrant with bail set at $2,500 has been issued by Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court for Eugene Richard Rudnick, 19, of San Rafael, who failed to appear for a preliminary hearing on forgery charge.

Rudnick is accused of forging a money order believed to have been stolen by a former postman.

IT'S 'GOLLYWOOD'

English Language Confuses Russians

MOSCOW (AP) — The Russians succeed in a lot of things, but attaining facility in the English language is not one of them.

This even goes for the names of American Communist leaders.

When Gus Hall was in Moscow recently he was introduced at a news conference as "Hell Guess."

This blooper illustrated the chronic Russian confusion over the letters G and H in translating foreign names. The Russians also seem to have a gift for mixing up foreigners' first and last names.

Hall's first name threw the translators for a loop anyway, because spelling it straight in Russian would have made him "Goose," the same word in Russian and English. The compromise makes him "Guess."

Under the Russian system of translating, Havana becomes Gavana, Hamburg is Gamburg, Hawaii is Gavaii and the American film capital is Gollywood. A Hollywood Western movie comes out in Russian: Gollyvoodski kovboyski film.

The trouble does not end with proper names.

American expressions are popular among the English-speaking Russians, but the results are sometimes disastrous.

A Pravda writer, Yuri Zhukov, demonstrated his knowledge of English recently by introducing an article on rumors of a change in Vietnam policy thus:

"It's cooking something in Washington."

Since this sentence appeared in Pravda in English, the author went on to explain that this is an old American expression that means "Something is being cooked in the Washington kitchen."

Occasionally a glaring error in some public sphere goes unnoticed for weeks. The first translation for the movie "Room at the Top" was "Mansarda" in Russian advertisements.

Mansarda is the Russian word for attic.

It was changed to a less literal translation after some complaints.

Russians learning English are badly handicapped by their lack of contact with native English speakers, causing them to fall into the trap of outdated slang.

One young diplomat, anxious to show how hard he had studied his English, was telling a group of Americans about his fellow-students who couldn't make the grade in the Institute of Foreign Languages.

"These you would call nincompoops, yes?" he asked.

Another recent graduate, confused by an American's rapid speech, interrupted and pleaded:

"Lower, please, I don't dig you."

The Russians also are great borrowers.

Blue jeans, a hot item on the black market here, are called jeansy. A sweater is a sveeter, phonograph records are diski, and the main street in any Russian city is nicknamed Broadvei.

There are hazards in many languages.

A couple of years ago a Czechoslovak official, speaking in public in Moscow, praised the "krasny zhivot" of a Spanish woman Communist.

In Czech that means "beautiful life."

In Russian it means "red belly."

Air Base Awards Contracts For 13 Projects To Firms

The awarding of 13 contracts totaling $421,726 was announced today by the base procurement office at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Reliance Enterprises of Santa Rosa received the most contracts, three. Included were a $69,996 contract to alter the data processing plant in Building 420; an $18,921 contract to alter Building 924 and a $799 contract to replace the time delay relays in the power transfer buildings in the emergency plants.

Pearson and Johnson of San Francisco were given a $137,450 contract to remodel the interior of the commissary; Market Engineering of San Rafael, a $3,955 contract to repair the cold storage plant; Custom Maintenance of Marin of San Anselmo, a $99,687 contract for janitor service; Brown-Ely Co. of San Rafael, a $12,307 contract to remove a landslide.

L. H. Leonardi Electric Construction Co. of San Rafael was given a $3,200 contract to repair the primary distribution line to the military affiliated radio system station; Allied Painting and Decorating Co. of Denver, Colo., a $56,670 contract to paint the exterior of family housing; Shields Construction Co. of Novato, a $2,779 contract to refinish the floors and ceiling in the gymnasium; Hawke Engineers of San Francisco, a $13,637 contract for soils testing, and Layton Manufacturing Co. of Salem, Ore., a $2,325 contract for a pull type asphalt paver.

"The Four Hundred," the term for the cream of New York society, was introduced by Samuel Ward McAllister, arbiter of New York and Newport society in the late 19th Century.

Parents Of Dead Firefighters Sue

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The parents of four youths killed fighting a forest fire in Angeles National Forest last Aug. 24 and the mother of another who was burned but survived have filed suit against Los Angeles County for $2.5 million. Each family seeks $500,000.

The joint suit contends the youths were taken "involuntarily" from Camp Kenyon J. Scudder to fight the fire.

It charges also that the youths were not qualified fire fighters.

The parents seeking indemnity for their deceased sons: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rodriquez of Los Angeles for William; Mr. and Mrs. Caesar Carlin of City of Commerce for Larry; and Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Rivera of Pico Rivera for Robert B., and Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Mendibles of Pacoima for Arthur.

Park's Water System May Drop In Cost

The installation of the water system to Pioneer Memorial Park in Novato may cost less than anticipated as a result of action taken last night by the North Marin County Water District board.

The board voted not to charge any reserve facility fees to hook up the meter to the park provided that the city does not irrigate during the daytime, or a water shortage, said Eugene Churchill, manager.

This will reduce the cost of the meter from $2,430 to $1,263, if the city agrees to the terms, Churchill said.

The board approved an agreement with the Novato Civic Foundation to complete the water mains in the park for both irrigation and domestic water at a cost not to exceed $500, Churchill added.

Nine men from the water district crews donated 72 hours of work last Saturday and laid most of the 1,800 feet of pipe in the park, Churchill reported. The system could not be completed because of lack of such materials as connections and valves, he said. The district will furnish these materials and complete the installation under the agreement with the civic foundation, he said.

The board heard that there was a 13.5 per cent drop in water usage or from 213 to 185 million gallons, in June of this year compared to June 1968, because of cool weather.

Reed Board Votes Drug Abuse Rules

A student drug abuse policy was added to the Reed School District's student behavior policy by district trustees last night, according to Supt. Robert B. Gaw.

Gaw said the additions were submitted by the Tiburon Peninsula Drug Abuse Committee following a study of district policies. The student behavior code was adopted in 1966 and contained no references to drug abuse, according to Gaw.

The new policy says a student may be suspended for no more than two weeks or 10 school days if he is found to possess, use or sell narcotics on school premises during the school day.

In addition, the policy requires a conference with the student, his parents and school personnel including teachers, a psychologist, counsellor and principal.

The conference is to "explore effective means of resolving the problem" the policy says, and may require counselling by school personnel or outside agencies as a condition of readmission or continued attendance.

The policy also stipulates that students violating conditions of the confernece are subject to expulsion, following a hearing before the board.

Trustees also voted to make the drug abuse committee a standing committee of the board.

Later in the evening the middle school pilot program and intermediate school program, both at Del Mar School, were continued for one more year on condition that an evaluation of the programs be made by an outside research firm.

Vote was 3-2 with Trustees Thomas S. Price and Leo Souza dissenting.

Price urged the board to eliminate the graded intermediate school program and establish the ungraded middle school as the only sixth-eighth grade program at Del Mar School, Gaw said.

The Reed School District Board also:

BUS ROUTES — Approved the bus route schedule for the 1969-70 school year.

CORPORATION YARD — Approved a joint powers agreement with the city of Tiburon for joint use of a new corporation yard behind Reed School.

CONTRACT — Awarded a contract for $55,137 to E. A. Forde of Greenbrae for improvements to Reed School.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of Naomi Mills, Bel Aire School second grade teacher, who is moving.

Wayward Car Hits Railing, Trailer

Everett Clippinger, 45, of 623 Bamboo Terrace, Terra Linda, was treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday for cuts and scrapes on the face and right knee after a collision on Puerto Suello Hill at 12:45 a.m., the California Highway Patrol said.

Witnesses told the highway patrol Clippinger's car hit a guard rail on Highway 101, then hit a trailer towed by a car driven by Donald E. Lewis, 47, of Dearborn Heights, Mich.

Fairfax Trustees Put Stamp On Budget

Fairfax School District trustees last night approved a publication budget of $868,091 for the 1969-70 fiscal year, down from the 1968-69 budget of $893,000, Supt. H. Reginald Hammond reported.

Hammond said the lower budget would make no changes in the district's tax rate $3.015 per $100 assessed valuation. The cut in the budget was necessary "because we just don't have the money," Hammond said.

As a result, he said, the district will cut transportation and will be short on maintenance items. "There are still some other needs that are just unmet," Hammond said. "Unless the state comes through with help in substantial amounts, we just can't make some programs.'

The Fairfax Board postponed its consideration of applications for the vacancy on the board until its Aug. 5 meeting. Hammond said any Fairfax citizen interested in applying for the vacancy should do so before Aug. 4. Only one person has applied so far.

The Fairfax School District

WORKSHOP — Approved a board also:

COUNTY — Agreed to a request from the county schools office to construct a portable classroom at the White Hill School site for a county program for the educationally handicapped on the junior high level.

RECREATION — Instructed Hammond to discuss with the Fairfax Parks and Recreation Commission the possibility of making the after-school recreation program an extension of the school program, with teachers providing supervision.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignations of Mrs. Elizabeth Hardin from White Hill School and Julia Wells whose husband has been called to active duty since she signed a contract with district last month.

SOCIAL SECURITY — Authorized Hammond to investigate extending social security coverage to staff members not covered now.

pre-school workshop, probably in late August, for the district's team teachers, most of whom will be new this year.

Reed's Final Budget Increased $29,426

Reed School District trustees last night approved a final publication budget of $1,960,797 for fiscal 1969-70, up $29,426 from the tentative budget approved June 17.

Supt. Robert B. Gaw said the increase was due to surplus carryover funds from the 1968-69 fiscal year.

Of the surplus, $21,300 was allocated to undistributed reserves, bringing that fund total to $140,776. The remainder was used to contract for a fourth school bus, additional teacher aides, books, in service training, and substitute teacher salaries, Gaw said.

Gaw estimated the new budget will require a tax rate of $3.53 per $100 assessed valuation the same as last year, including $1.28 in override taxes. The actual tax rate is set by the county superintendent of schools office in the fall.

Trustees also approved a $1,200 annual salary hike for Asst. supt. William G. Vanasen, increasing his salary to $17,700 a year.

Gaw said the 8 per cent hike was in line with raises granted earlier this year to teachers and principals.

A public hearing on the publication budget has been set for 8 p.m. Aug. 5.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Lawyers Use Case Method

In court you may have heard your lawyer say that such and such a decision — Jones vs. Smith — governed the case at hand. How did he find that "controlling precedent?"

Law school trains your lawyer to use the "case" method to find and analyze legal problems. The law student reads and analyzes thousands of selected cases to find out how to apply the law in particular cases like yours.

The case method allows him to sort out people's predicaments and to see again and again that the outcome of each case rests upon its own set of facts. This is why a lawyer has to study the facts and law in your case to give you an answer. He has to get the particular facts of your case and then find out exactly how the law — as reflected in the cases — applies to them.

When you seek advice, your lawyer begins at once to sort out facts and frame the legal problem. Sometimes he can answer at once; often he has to go to the books and check out your problem.

This process may take only a few minutes. But sometimes it takes hours, or days; and in big cases, sometimes months. Lawyers must also double check on whether some court of appeal has overruled a decision he might be using in your case.

After all this, your lawyer can stand before the court and say "Your Honor, we believe that our case is controlled by the case of Brown vs. Johnson." He then usually outlines the circumstances in the Brown case, and compares them with the facts in your case. If they fit, the judge usually makes a judgment in your favor.

In borderline cases, of course, adversary lawyers, too, may quote from other cases which they feel support their opposing contentions.

Finally, in such cases, the judge weighs the contentions of both sides and then "instructs" the jurors what law to apply in the case before them. So far as the jury is concerned, the judge's instructions are the last word. Their job is to measure the evidence given in court against the law that the judge gives them and return a verdict accordingly.

Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

Nicasio Board Publication Budget Lift

The Nicasio School District Board last night approved a publication budget for 1969-70 of $51,350, up from the estimated 1968-69 budget of $48,835, board secretary Beverly Alberigi reported.

Miss Alberigi said the board was not sure whether the slightly higher budget would cause a tax hike until it was determined what assessed valuations in the district would total. She added, however, that any tax increase would be no more than one or two cents above the current $2.225 per $100 assessed valuation.

In other action, the board voted to ask Tamalpais High School District trustees for a public hearing on bus transportation for high school students in the Nicasio area.

Miss Alberigi said the high school district trustees are considering cutting the service which would leave the approximately 15 high school students in the area without transportation to school.

The board made no decision on whether to have kindergarten at the Nicasio school or send kindergarners to Lagunitas. The Nicasio district is seeking a teacher's aide so it can keep kindergarten at the Nicasio school.

Pentagon Stops Poison Gas Class

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor announced today a suspension of the use of poisonous gases in defensive training at Fort McClellan, Ala.

He confirmed also that open air testing of lethal chemical agents has been suspended at Edgewood Arsenal, Md.

Resor's statement made no mention of the Dugway Proving Grounds, Utah, activities, where 5,000 sheep last year were accidentally killed by nerve gas.

Fine Not Enough To Cover Rampage

PORT ISABEL, TEX. (UPI) —A $25 fine levied against a Laguna Heights man, convicted on a drunk charge scarcely was enough to cover the cost of putting him in jail when he refused to pay it.

The prisoner, placed in the city's new $60,000 jail, tore built-in lavatory equipment from the wall of his cell and smashed it into quarter-sized pieces which he then used to carve designs on the walls. He also shoved a blanket through an air conditioning system, ruining the fan. Total damage came to $317.30.

Social Workers

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)— An estimated 1,500 state social workers have received pay raises of up to $800 a year to help Kentucky obtain college graduates in the field.

Prague Population

PRAGUE (AP) — Prague's population last year increased by 1,051 persons, the news agency CTK reported. Prague now has a population of 1,103,185 persons.

Murphy Asks More Fed Aid To Schools

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — Legislation to hike federal aid to education by $220 million was introduced yesterday by Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif.

Murphy said his bill would increase by 30 per cent federal funds for schools with large numbers or a high percentage of disadvantaged children, especially in big city and depressed rural areas, where there is a lack of local money.

"Almost daily from these troubled schools we pick up educational distress signals — bond issues defeated, cutbacks in educational programs, teacher shortages, classroom violence, dropouts and discipline and drug problems," Murphy said.

"Earlier in our history, the city's wealth was tapped to equalize educational opportunities in less affluent areas," he said. "Now that situation is reversed, and the cities are in desperate need of financial help — time is running out."

An advance press release from Murphy's office said the bill would provide $400 million, but his office sent telegrams to the press yesterday saying the amount was cut to $220 million "due to a change in statistics from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare."

Way Confident Of Bay Fill Bill

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Senate Leader Howard Way said today, a tough compromise bill to prevent uncontrolled filling of San Francisco Bay will be approved by the upper house.

Way noted four authors of separate bills are nearing agreement on a compromise that will give the Bay Conservation and Development Commission additional powers.

He said the compromise measure will extend the commission's jurisdiction to salt ponds and to a "reasonable band of shoreline" adjacent to the bay.

Asked at a news conference what a reasonable band was, Way replied between 100 and 200 feet landward from the shore.

"The Senate wants to support and will pass a strong bill," Way said.

Dog's Life Better

VIENNA (AP) — The "living standard" of Vienna's municipal watchdogs has been raised to the level of state-owned police dogs. The dogs after the "raise" will be able to eat 12 schillings (48 cents) worth of food daily. Before, the city-owned dogs earned five schillings (20 cents) a day.

I come from a family of near-sighted people and until my eyes were examined, I never saw the blackboard in school or the mountains from our front porch, Glasses opened up a new world for me. My daughter is almost 4 and I want to spare her my experience."

Visual acuity can be tested after 3½ years of age via the Snellen E chart. Before this age, vision can be determined roughly by testing the light reflex or evaluating the child's response to a rubber ring or marbles of various sizes and colors.

THE SNELLEN-type test consists of rows of the letter E in various sizes corresponding to the regular visual test chart. The points of the E's are up, down, right, and left. Many ophthalmologists have the youngster use his own fingers to indicate the direction in which the E is pointing. The chart then is moved 20 feet away, one eye is covered and the child again is asked to show which way the fingers of the E are pointing.

If the child knows his alphabet, an ordinary chart is used. Picture charts also are available but are of little value when the tyke does not know the names of the objects. Two English ophthalmologists recently introduced a new method for screening visual acuity in young children. It consists of three white cards of equal size bearing one, two, or three black rectangles or blocks. The blocks are so arranged that the child with normal vision can tell whether the card has one, two, or three blocks. The secret of the test involves the white spaces or gaps between the blocks on the second and third card.

AS WITH the E test, the youngster is allowed to see the cards close up before they are moved 20 feet away. The three cards are shown twice, once with the blocks placed horizontally and the other with the blocks placed vertically. The new method is rapid and accurate.

KNEE BENDS

A reader writes: I read that knee bends no longer are done in colleges or in the armed forces because they are a bad form of exercise. And, can even damage the knees. This is news to me. Please do a column on knee bends which I always thought were beneficial.

REPLY

There is no harm in this type of exercise provided the knees are normal. What you say is news to me, too.

SOUNDS

A reader writes: Will X-ray show a heart murmur?

REPLY

No. Murmurs are sounds given off by the heart and are detected with the stethoscope or electronic devices. The X-ray is analagous to a camera, which is able to take a picture of Tom Jones but not record his dulcet tones.

'SHOCKING' AWAY CHIPS

A reader writes: Would shock treatments help a middle-aged woman who has had a chip on her shoulder since childhood?

REPLY

No. Shock therapy is used in counteracting severe depressions and psychoses. It will not correct personality defects.

SYMPTOMS

A reader writes: Can a mild leukemia go on for years?

REPLY

There is no such thing as a mild lukemia but the manifestations of the chronic form of the disease may be mild. With modern therapy, many victims live for years.

OVERSENSITIVE

C. L. S. writes: Can a case of frostbite that occurred many years ago cause great sensitivity to the cold—even to a slight chill? I freeze at any temperature below 70 degrees.

REPLY

Yes, inasmuch as frostbitten tissues are more sensitive to the cold. Some with a low metabolsim feel the cold more acutely. Anemia may have the same effect. Perhaps you should have your thyroid gland investigated. However, if you are otherwise healthy, why not try wearing warmer clothing?

MALE BREAST

J. L. M. writes: If the breast of a male is enlarged at the age of 14, when will it go back to normal?

REPLY

Gynecomastia or unusual enlargement of the breast occurs occasionally in the male adolescent. It rarely persists for longer than two years and can affect one or both breasts. This type of enlargement is due to the secretion of estrogens.

Today's Health Hint — Children should spend part of the day out of doors.

Legal Notices

NOTICE INVITING SEALED PROPOSALS
ALMONTE SANITARY DISTRICT

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on or before Eight o'clock P.M. of the 30th day of July, 1969, sealed proposals for the laying, construction, and installation of approximately 400 feet of six inch "Dual Seal" Cast iron sewer pipe laid not less than a depth of 12" from ground level to top of pipe; joints of new sewer to be bedded in crushed rock at points of newly disturbed ground, new sewer to include one, "1" rod hole and seven "7" "Y" joints to which will be connected seven existing house laterals, last few feet of house laterals on down slope to be raised to meet higher level of new six inch line, to be installed as per this contract; along an existing easement parallel to Beryl Avenue within the District and terminating at a manhole on Rosemont Avenue, shall be delivered to the secretary of the Almonte Sanitary District at 226 Shoreline Highway, Mill Valley, California. Said proposals will be referred to and considered by the Governing Board of the Almonte Sanitary District at Eight o'clock P.M. on the 30th day of July, 1969, at 226 Shoreline Highway, said time being at least ten days from the time of publication of this notice.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that reference to further particulars and requirements of bidders regarding said proposals may be had by reference to plans and specifications in the proposed agreement, which documents are on file in the office of the secretary of the District at 226 Shoreline Highway, Mill Valley, California, Phone 388-7255. The aforesaid documents must be reviewed prior to submitting bids. Job site inspection can be arranged by contacting Director Dave Beasley, Phone 388-3491 week day evenings after 5:30 P.M.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that proposal forms of District must be utilized in bidding upon the project.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that on 2 June, 1969, the Board of Directors of the Almonte Sanitary District adopted a Resolution determining the general prevailing rate of per diem wages to be paid to the various groundsmen and laborers required to construct and work on said project, a copy of which wage scale is set forth below:

Prevailing union rates within Marin County Area. For positions not listed above, the minimum wage rate for skilled intermediate or unskilled labor shall be not less than the legal minimum wage per hour. It shall conform to the particular craft or classification of workmen employed on the project.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that contractor shall furnish to District a Faithful Performance Bond and Labor and Materials Bond amounting to 100% and 50% respectively of the amount bid, and all proposals and bids shall be accompanied by a Cashier's or Certified check payable to the order of the District, amounting to 10% of the bid or by a Bond of said amount payable to said District signed by the bidder and a corporate surety or by the bidder and two sureties. It shall justify before any officer competent to administer oath in double said amount and over and above all statutory exemptions. Said check shall be forfeited or said bond shall become payable to said District in case the bidder depositing the same does not within 15 days after written notice that the contract has been awarded to him, enter into a contract with the District.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that the contractor will be required to commence work under this contract within 10 days after the date of receipt by him from the district of clearance and notice to proceed and shall diligently prosecute said work to completion before the expiration of 30 calendar days of commencement of work.

The contractor is required to obtain all necessary permits, including encroachment permits and to comply with all ordinances of the County of Marin.

Any fence sections removed to facilitate work will be replaced by the contractor to the satisfaction of the property owner.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that no contractor or subcontractor upon the work herein specified shall knowingly fail to hire or allow to be dismissed from employment thereon any person or persons because of race, national origin or creed. The hiring of all labor for the work included in this contract shall be in accordance with the applicable directives of the Fair Employment Practices Commission of the State of California.

It will be the obligation of the contractor to take out a permit from the Building Inspection Department of the County of Marin — the inspection of the job will be done by that agency.

Alternate bids are requested as follows:

1. Alternate Bid for installation of six-inch no-hub cast iron pipe at depth of not less than 12 inches from ground to top of pipe, with necessary lateral hookups by Y's.
2. Alternate Bid for 6-inch clay pipe at depth of not less than 18 inches from ground to top of pipe. All lateral connections to be accomplished by use of Y joints, no tapping into pipes will be permitted.

DATED this 30th day of June, 1969.

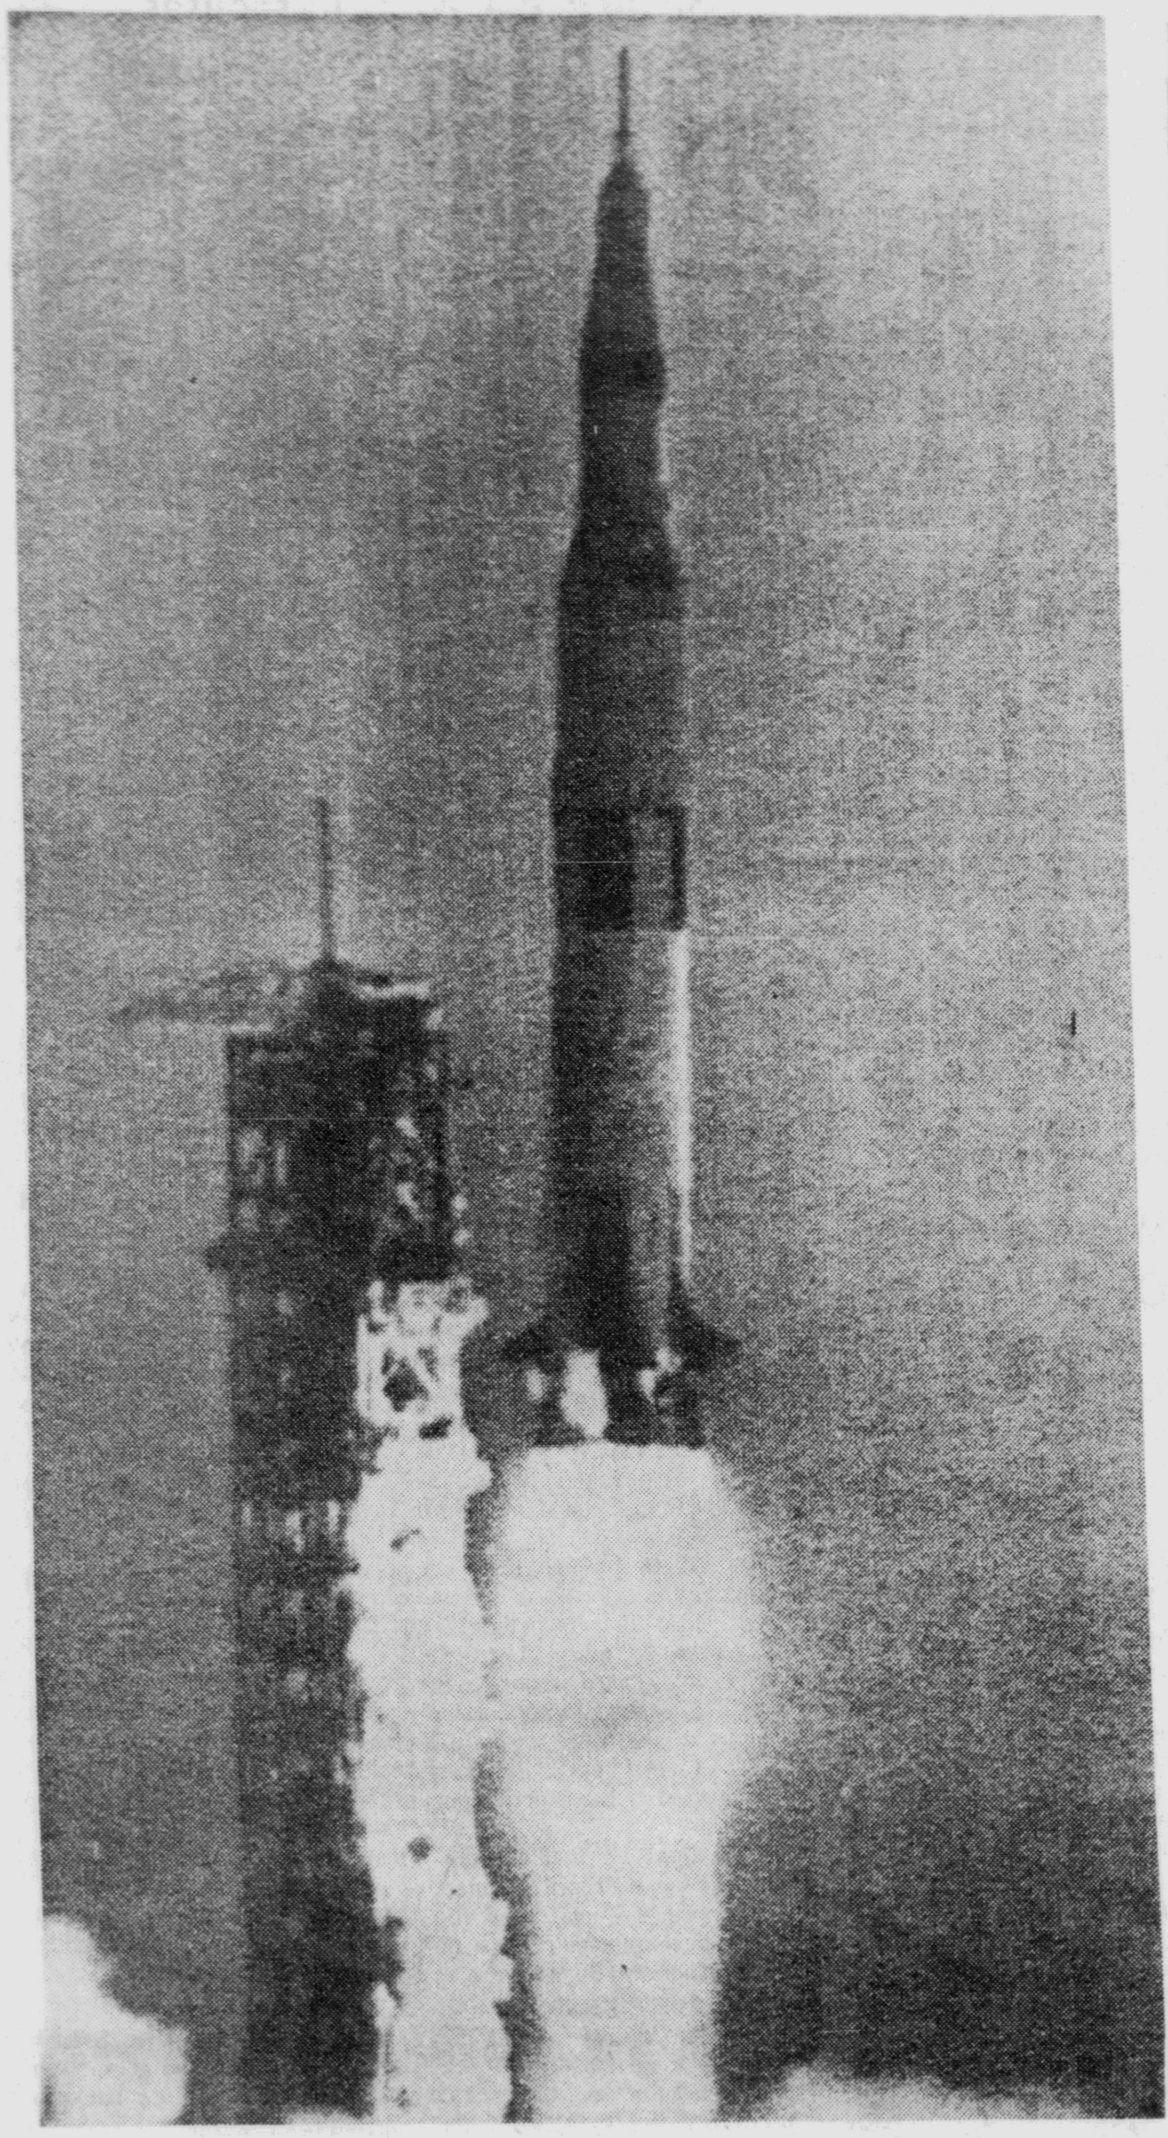
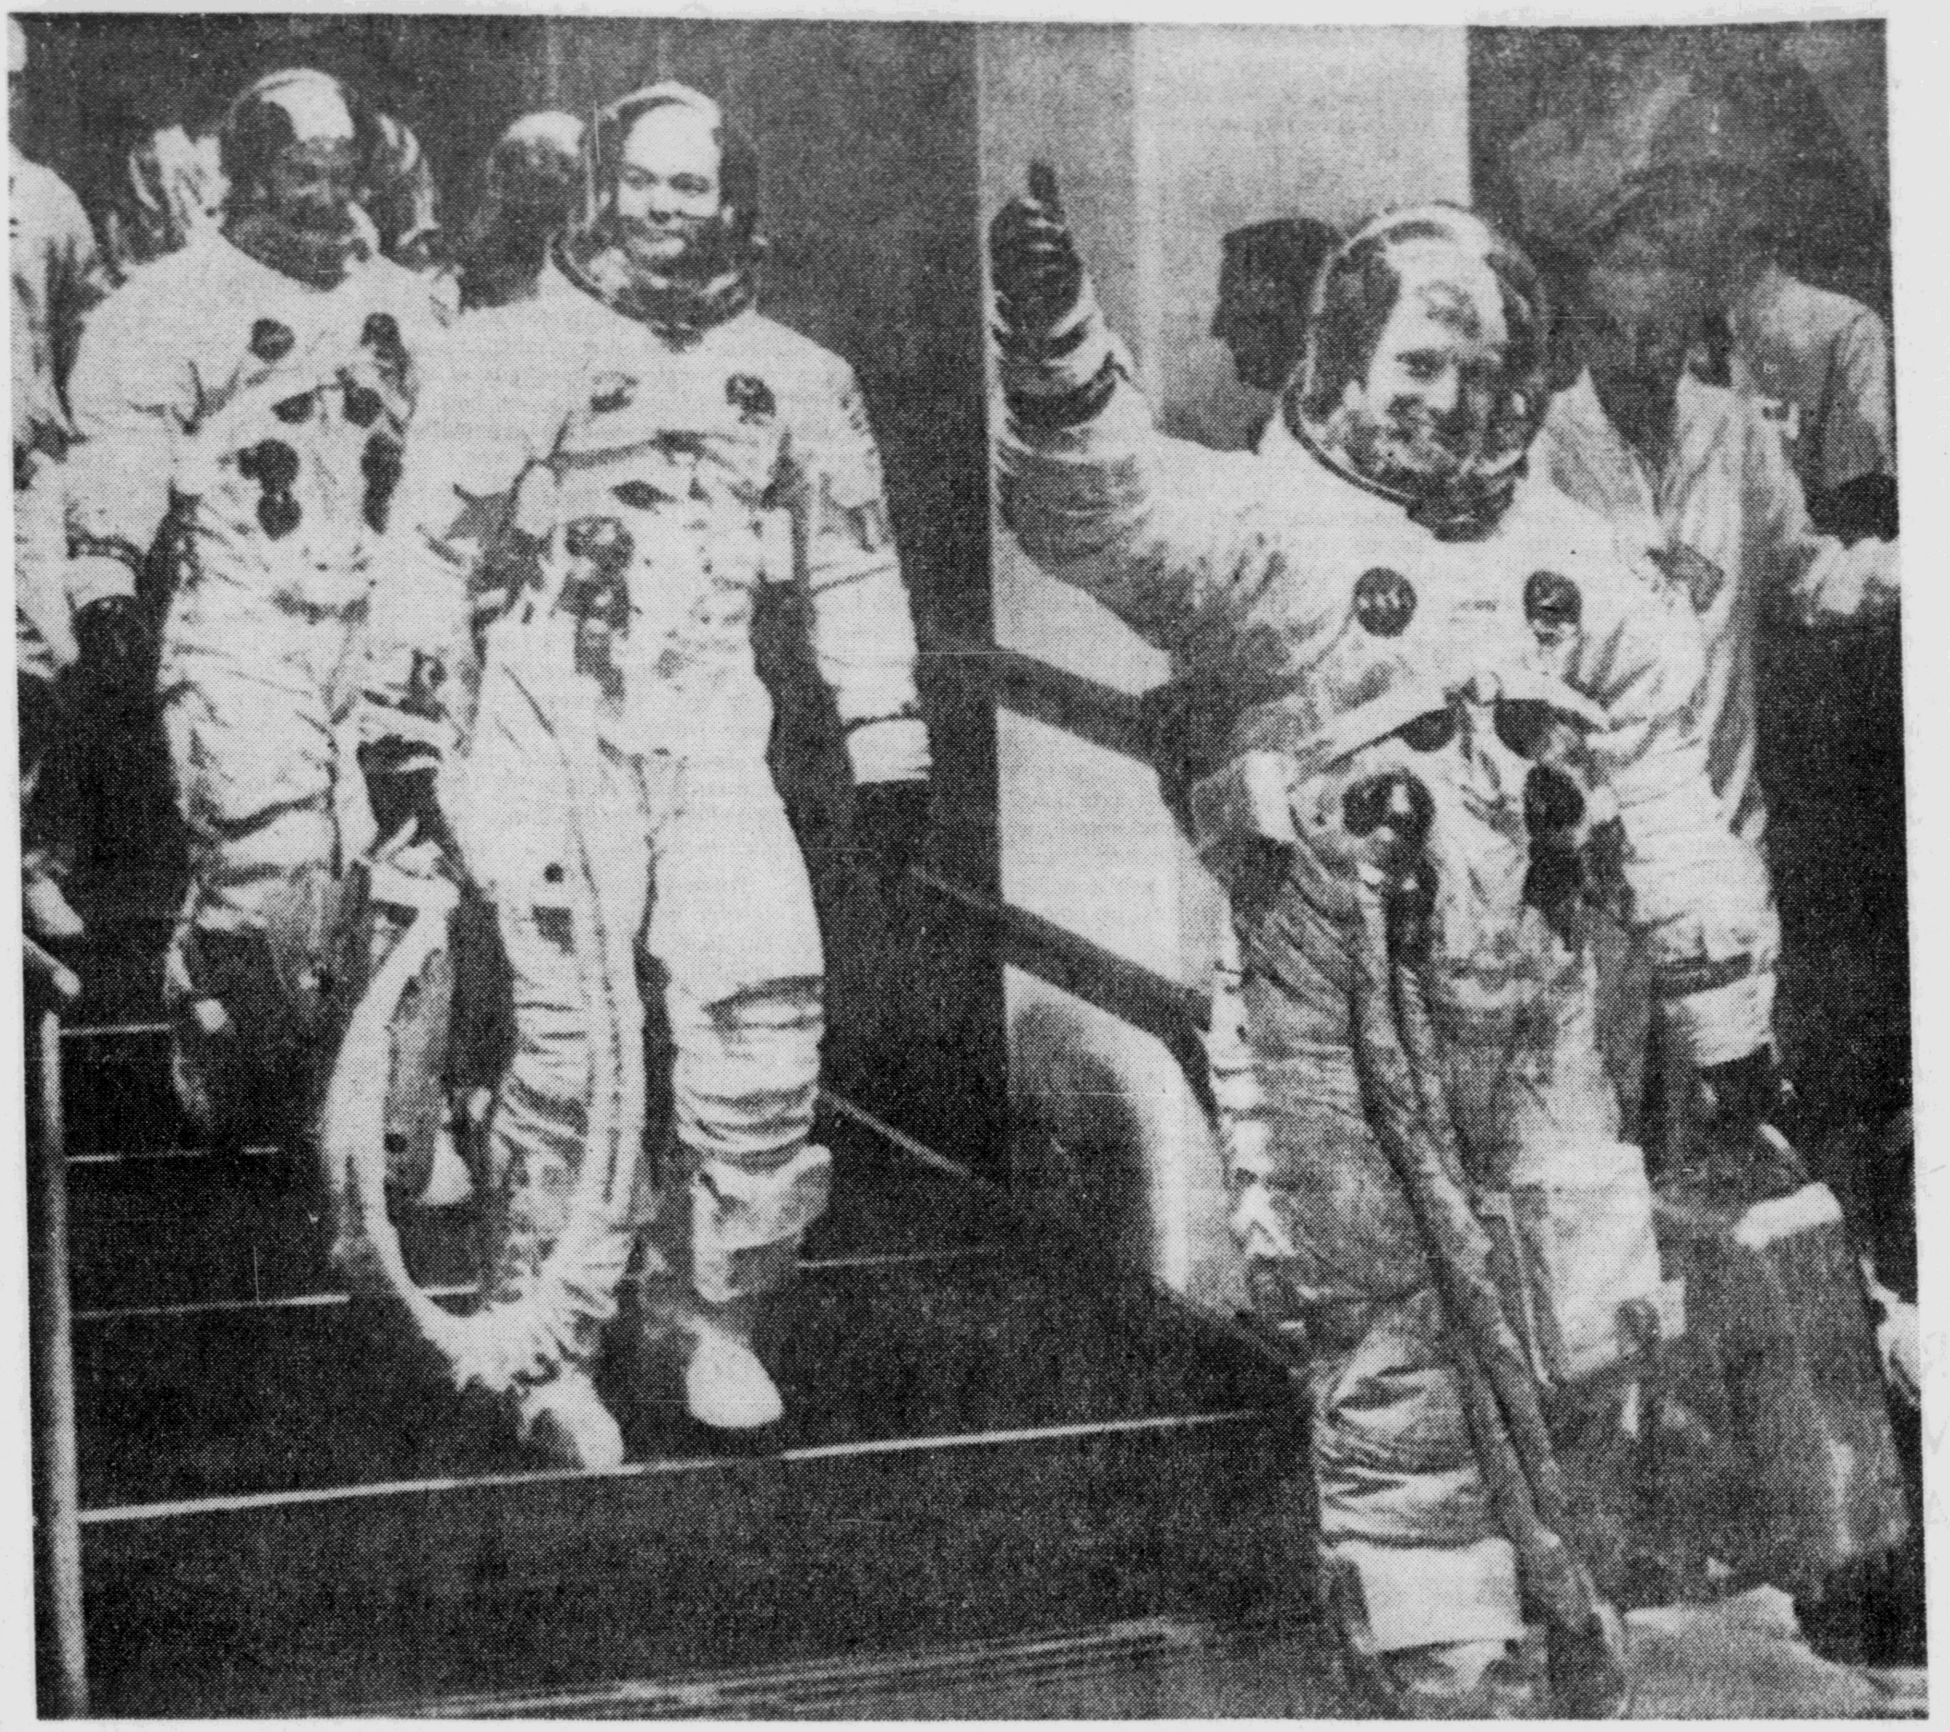
Apollo 11 Takes Off On Perilous Moon Mission



DESTINATION: MOON—Apollo 11, its huge rocket engines belching flame, lifts off the launching pad at Cape Kennedy this morning on a mission designed to put the first human on the moon. Its crewmen plan to leave a U. S. flag and a plaque on Luna, declaring that they have come for all mankind. If all goes well, they should reach their goal on Sunday. Today's perfect liftoff came at 6:32 a.m. PDT.



CHEERFUL MOON CREW—Apollo 11 astronauts Neil Armstrong, Michael Collins and Edwin Aldrin Jr. appear in a cheerful mood as they leave the Manned Spacecraft Operations Building at Cape Kennedy, to enter a van to travel to Pad 39, the launching site for their Saturn 5 rocket. The takeoff countdown went smoothly.

EDWIN ALDRIN

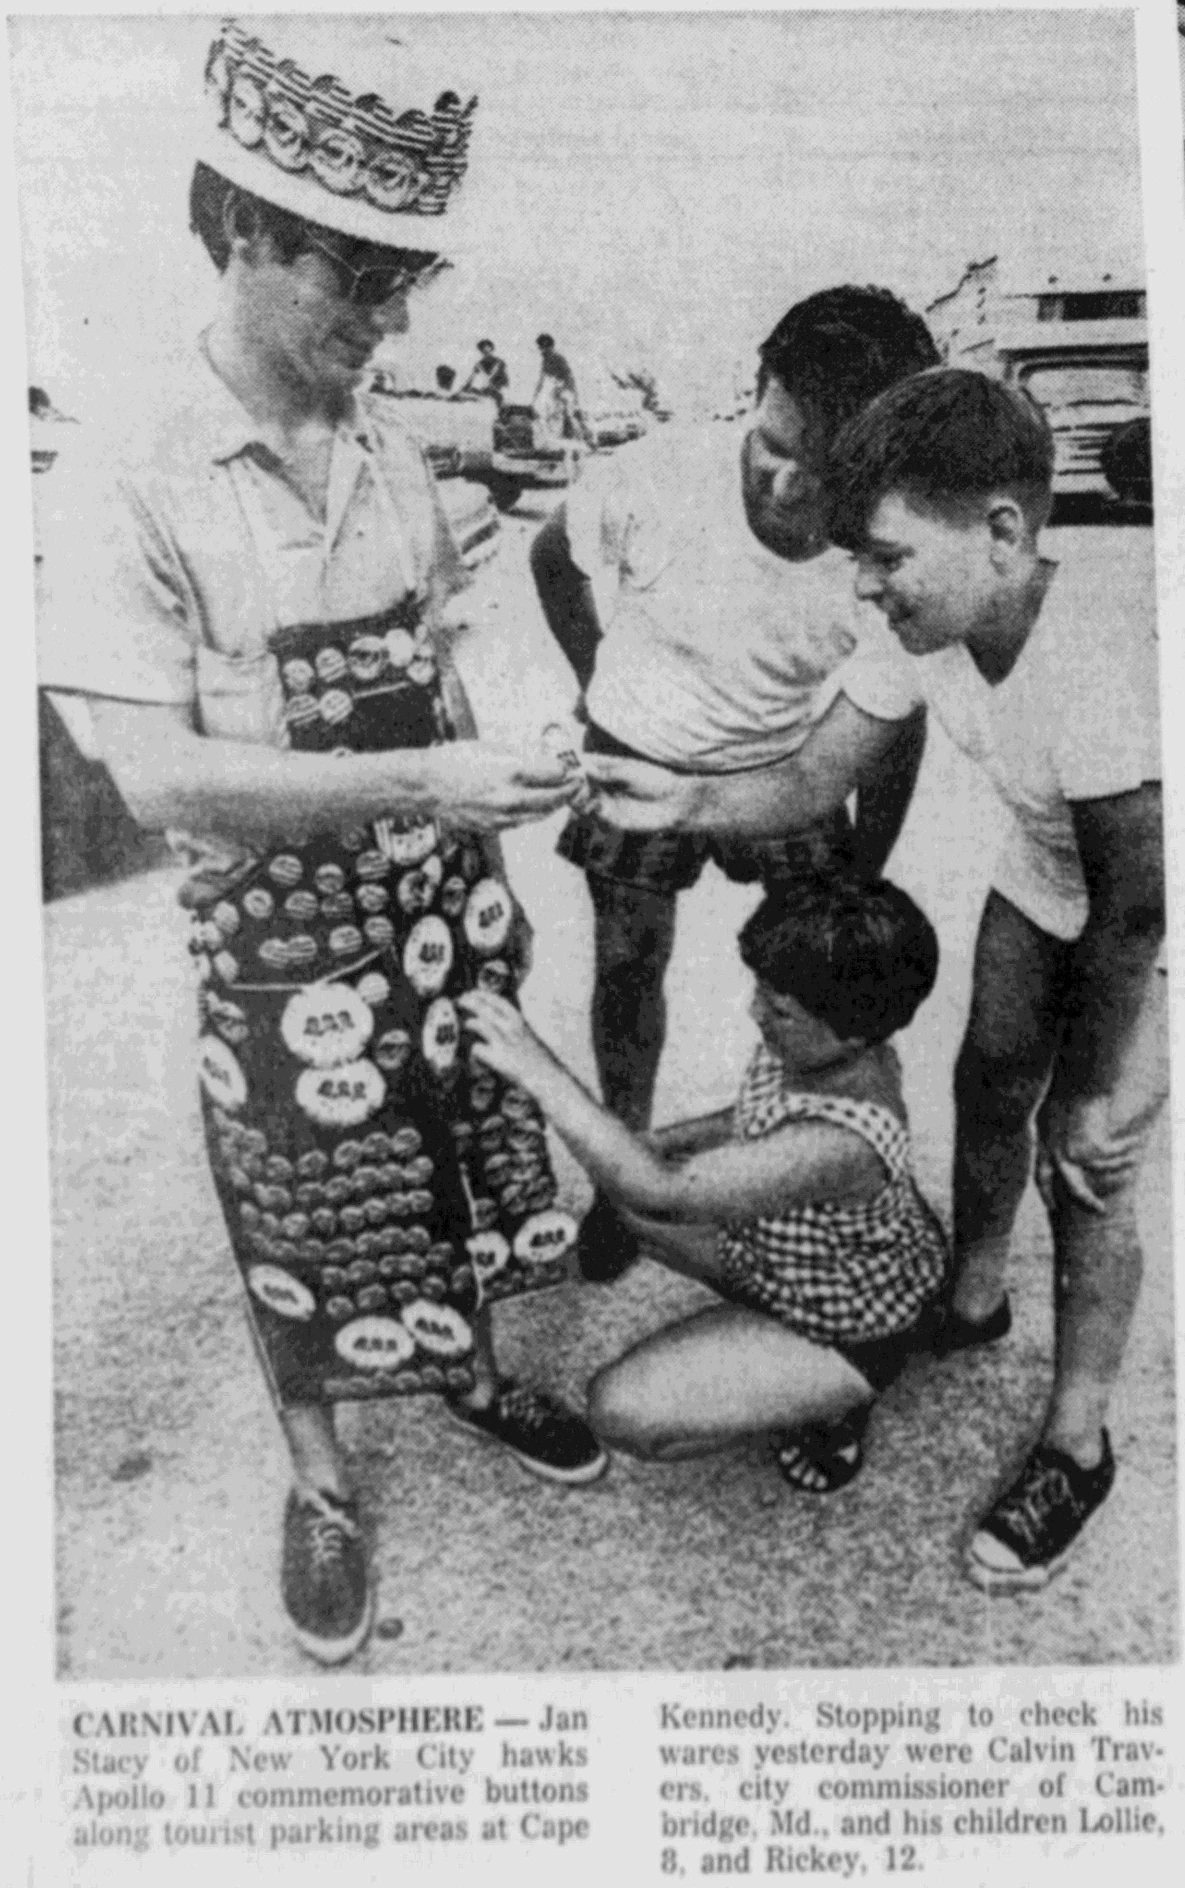
FORMER FIRST FAMILY—Former President Lyndon B. Johnson and Lady Bird arrive at Cape Kennedy to watch the beginning of the lunar mission. They came to Florida from their LBJ ranch in Texas yesterday.

AGNEWS AT LAUNCHING—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew looks skyward as he arrives at Cape Kennedy to watch the launch of Apollo 11. He was accompanied by Mrs. Agnew at yesterday's arrival to head the list of U.S. dignitaries watching the liftoff in person.



CARNIVAL ATMOSPHERE — Jan Stacy of New York City hawks Apollo 11 commemorative buttons along tourist parking areas at Cape Kennedy. Stopping to check his wares yesterday were Calvin Travers, city commissioner of Cambridge, Md., and his children Lollie, 8, and Rickey, 12.

NEIL ARMSTRONG
First man on moon?

UP, UP AND AWAY—Trailing a tail of fire more than three times its length, the Saturn 5 booster bearing Apollo 11 and its three crewmen roars skyward. In addition to the tourists who flocked to the Florida beaches to watch the launch, television and relay satellites carried coverage of the historic launching practically worldwide.

Son Arraigned In Reno Slaying

RENO, Nev. (UPI)—A former mental patient and drug user will appear in justice court July 28 on a charge he fatally stabbed his father in their plush Reno home.

Blake Speers Jr., 20, was arraigned yesterday on a charge of first-degree murder. Officers said he also is the chief suspect in stabbing of his mother, who also died Monday night in one of Reno's most chilling slayings in recent years.

The body of Blake Speers, Sr., 50, a tax consultant, was found in the hallway of his home. The mother's body was found in the kitchen. Both were lying in a pool of blood.

Work Will Slow Petaluma Traffic

Petaluma residents have been advised to avoid the intersection of East Washington Street and South McDowell Boulevard while heavy construction work is in progress.

City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer said that only one lane of traffic in each direction will be permitted at the intersection while the contractor excavates the easterly portion of South McDowell.

Meyer suggested that drivers use South McDowell, Casa Granda Road and Lakeville Highway to D Street as access to downtown Petaluma and Lakeville Highway as access to Highway 101. The traffic congestion is expected to continue for several weeks.

Debris Box No Longer Useable

The City of Tiburon's debris box is no longer available for public use, City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose has announced.

Rose said the debris box, formerly located at a temporary corporation yard at the Hilarita Housing site, has been moved because of construction of a new Reed school playground.

The debris box is now located within a fenced area of the public housing development and is inaccessible to Tiburon residents.

Rose said the city council is studying a report recommending the service be continued at other locations in the city.

El Salvador To Honduras: Surrender

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Ignoring a call from the Organization of American States for a cease-fire, El Salvador pressed its invasion of Honduras today and demanded that the Honduran army "surrender before being defeated on the battleground."

Diplomatic sources in San Salvador said Salvadorean forces appeared to have penetrated as much as 20 miles inside Honduras. The Honduran government claimed that its troops "are fighting valiantly . . . pushing back the enemy attack."

A seven-nation peace keeping committee dispatched by the OAS arrived in San Salvador last night to seek a cease-fire in the two-day-old war, but there was no immediate indication of success.

The Salvadorean army said its forces "are going forward, conquering inch-by-inch the Honduran territory." There were reports that the army had penetrated 20 miles into southwest Honduras, and that a second column to the north was nearly 10 miles inside the border.

Salvadorean government sources said the army was driving toward the Honduran capital of Tegucigalpa in two columns—one made up of tanks, artillery and motorized vehicles moving along the South Highway, part of the Pan American Highway, and the other an infantry force marching through the mountains.

Tegucigalpa is about 40 miles from the Honduras-El Salvador frontier, but nearly 75 miles by highway from El Amatillo, where the armored column reportedly crossed the border.

El Salvador claimed its forces had captured the towns of Nacaome and Nueva Ocotepeque in the border region, but Honduras denied the report and said battles were raging around both the towns.

Suyderhoud Best Skier

PINE MOUNTAIN, Ga. (AP) — Mike Suyderhoud of San Anselmo and Christy Lynn Weir of McQueeney, Tex., set the pace yesterday when four men and two women qualified to represent the United States in the World Water Ski Championships at Copenhagen Aug. 4-10.

Ricky McCormick of Independence, Mo., Wayne Grimditch of Pompano Beach, Fla., and Alan Kempton of Tampa, Fla., were the other mn who qualified at Callaway Gardens.

Liz Allen of Winter Park, Fla., also qualified, and Christie Freeman of Thayer, Mo., was named alternate for the team.

Suyderhoud, who set a worlld jumping record of 162 feet Monday, scored 3,976 points of a possible 4,000 in the qualifying tests of jumping, slalom nd tricks. McCormick had 3,941, Grimditch 3,765 and Kempton 3,751.

Miss Weir scored 3,968, with Miss Allen scoring 3,953. Miss Freeman finished third in women's competition with 3,839.

Biggest surprise was Grimditch, who jumped 147 feet in the final event to pass Kempton and veteran Frankie Dees of Cypress Gardens, Fla., who did not make the team.

Kubiak Playing More, Enjoying It Less

OAKLAND — Ted Kubiak has had the carrot dangled before him and, as was to be expected, is more frustrated than ever.

The handsome young A's utility infielder finally got the opportunity he'd been seeking for two years. On June 20 he became a regular, replacing injured second baseman Dick Green. And on July 3, the day Greenie recovered and returned to the lineup, shortstop Bert Campaneris split a finger. So Kubiak, after sitting on the bench for only two innings, was a regular again.

This marks the longest stretch Teddy has played regularly with the A's. In two previous utility-served seasons with the club he'd appeared in a total of 101 games. And before stepping into the starting lineup against Minnesota here on June 20, Ted had batted only 20 times in 1969.

He'll Be Back On The Bench

The story has been told previously of Kubiak's hope of playing every day here or being traded after this season. Now this month-long full-time employment doesn't seem to have changed his mind, for he knows he'll be back on the bench — no matter how well he might play — as soon as Campy's recovered in a few days.

With good reason, Oakland management believes Campaneris is the key to a pennant, as much for his speed at bat or glove. And that leaves Teddy rubbing his nose against the plate glass.

He's Realistic About Hitting

"I don't think anybody knows how well I can play short," says Ted. "I know I'm as good as those guys they talk about all the time, guys like Fregosi and Aparicio. The thing that bothers me now is that I'm not playing as well as I should, particularly after playing an unfamiliar position like second base for a couple of weeks and especially because I haven't played at short consistently for a couple of years.

"I don't try to kid myself about hitting. Over a full year I'm probably a .250 or .260 hitter (both Kubiak and Campaneris are near the .260 mark so far). But that's a respectable average these days."

In his first appearance as a regular, in a four-game pressure series here against Minny, Ted went 5 for 14. He will hit; he does have the advantage of switching, and power is not beyond him.

His Position Is Solidified

"But my position with this club is solidified," says Teddy. "I finally can see that now. At least I've proved to my own satisfaction that I can play up here, that I have the ability to be a major league regular. And I guess now that I've learned this, it's more frustrating than if I'd just stayed on the bench.

And Teddy, who's 27 and sufficiently mature to keep things in balance, smiles: "But you know, I did learn a lot on the bench about hitting just by listening to other guys talk about certain pitchers."

But for some athletes there are, as Kubiak painfully knows, no compensations in any role. He is too valuable to deal, not sufficiently prominent to start. In a 25-man game there are uncomfortable places for the Kubiaks.

49ers In A Mock Battle With San Diego Chargers

SANTA BARBARA (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers planned to take a long look at quarterback Steve Spurrier today in a scrimmage with the San Diego Chargers at Irvine.

The 49ers took 27 players to the scrimmage and the rest remained at the University of California campus here to work out.

Spurrier, the Heisman Trophy winner from Florida, has warmed the bench — except for punting during two years as backup for John Brodie and George Mira.

Mira was also scheduled for action in the scrimmage, along with rookie quarterbacks Paul Waite and Paul Champlin.

The 49ers will be on offense during the entire scrimmage and will be on defense Saturday in a repeat scrimmage at Santa Barbara.

The 49ers concentrated on passing yesterday, and Nolan said the quarterbacks were slow in releasing the ball. He complimented three rookies — wide receiver Tom Black from East Texas State, running back Gene Moore of Occidental and linebacker Skip Vanderbundt of Oregon State.

Star Preps Begin Action In I-J Tennis Tournament

At least a part of the 16th annual Marin Junior Tennis Tournament at Albert Park in San Rafael yesterday was like a summer rerun of high action as some of the top Marin County athletic League netters of the past spring began boys 18 competition.

Top-seeded Bob Klyce of San Rafael was to have played this morning, but netters like Brian Carlisle of Terra Linda, Tad Isaacs of Redwood and Kevin Madera of Marin Catholic all got into the thick of things. Isaacs, third-seeded, dropped Ed Gutteling, 6-2, 6-0. Madera took care of Jim Lowe, 0-6, 6-3, 6-4 and Carlisle bumped Jim Youtz, 6-0, 6-1.

It was business as usual for most of the seeds in singles action. Top-seeded Bill Kinser downed Lowe in boys 16, 6-3, 6-4 then went on to win a boys 18 match.

Heilman Whips Jimmy Lester

OAKLAND (UPI) — Andy Heilman repeated a previous win over Jimmy Lester when he outpointed the San Francisco middleweight last night at the Coliseum Arena.

Heilman, 161, San Pedro, overcame a quick start by Lester, 157, to win the votes of two officials while the referee saw it as a draw.

There were no knockdowns in the hard-fought 10-rounder. Heilman, in scoring his 41st victory, proved the stronger in the in-fighting and offset Lester's jabs throughout the fight.

The scorecards: Judges Rudy Ortega and Frank Carter each had it 5-3 for the winner while referee Elmer Costa voted 5-5.

Li'l League Hurler Has Perfect Game

It's Quite A Start In Tourney

Ed Andersen, the amazing Twin Cities pitcher-infielder who has yet to give up an earned run this season, did it again yesterday as the Marin County Little League Champions tourney got underway.

Andersen hurled a perfect game, struck out 14 batters and hit a solo homer as Twin Cities bombed San Geronimo, 15-0 in Larkspur.

OTHER SCORES

In other games, Strawberry nicked San Rafael American, 5-3, at Strawberry; San Rafael National edged Mill Valley American, 1-0 at Mill Valley; Gallinas Valley downed Mill Valley National, 8-3 at Mill Valley; Novato American topped Hamilton-Loma Verde, 4-3 at Novato; Kentfield downed Tiburon, 2-1 in Kentfield and Marinwood nicked Novato National, 3-2, at Marinwood.

8-0 RECORD

Andersen had an 8-0 record over 54 innings going into the game, along with 129 strikeouts while carrying a hefty .519 batting average. Marty Frey also hit a homer for Twin Cities.

Ethan Winterling of Mill Valley and David Steele of San Rafael National hooked up in a tight pitching duel but it was Steele who won on a one-hit, nine-strikeout job. Winterling gave up only two hits, but one of them was a homer by Matt Dockstader on the first pitch of the game, and that was it.

Shortstop Ron Wilson's grand slam homer in the fourth inning gave Strawberry it's win over San Rafael American. Steve Nichols hit a solo homer for San Rafael.

Sore Hands Can't Stop A's Odom

Not only did Oakland's mound ace hurl a complete game last night despite his pains, he hit a sixth-inning three-run homer than was truly the decisive blow in the 6-2 victory—No. 13 for the man who wears that same number on his jersey.

HAD TO

"Take him out?" snorted Oakland manager Hank Bauer when asked why he left Odom in the game. "The way my bullpen's been going I had to let him finish."

Odom really hadn't been too prosperous before he started picking up hurts.

Anxious to shake off a five-game losing streak, the Pilots took heart in the first inning when Tommy Davis walked and Don Mincher hit a homer into the right field seats. ("It was a good slider, but a little high," noted Odom).

In the third inning Odom tried a drag bunt and the ball skidded along the bat to clip his index finger, raising a blister.

NOT SORE

"I didn't think I'd be able to pitch," said Odom, but he was.

In the fifth inning he hit a ground ball to shortstop for an easy out—and the second hurt—the bat jamming his hand at the base of his thumb. The palm swelled. Again he thought he couldn't pitch; but he could.

The next time Odom went to bat the score was tied at 2-2 and two men were on base. Sal Bando, Dan Cater, Rick Monday and Phil Roof had singled for two runs, chasing Seattle starter John Glenar and bringing on Diego Segui to face Odom.

Sore hand and all, Blue Moon bombed a Segui pitch into the left field seats to make it 5-2—and then in his fourth appearance he singled off reliefer Dim Bouton to knock in his fourth run of the evening.

Ollie Brown: 'Anything Can Happen'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "They can't write that kind of stuff about a club," said San Diego Padre outfielder Ollie Brown. "Anything can happen in baseball—nothing is impossible."

The expansion Padres proved that point yesterday, overcoming a pre-game newspaper report questioning their ability and stunning ace right-hander Juan Marichal of the San Francisco Giants, 10-3.

BROWN HOMERS

Brown, a former Giant, was among the heroes. He walked and scored as the Padres erupted for six runs to chase Marichal in the sixth and added a three-run homer in the eighth.

San Francisco hoped the odds would run truer today when right-hander Gaylord Perry, 10-7, opposed rookie Dave Roberts 0-2, in the series finale.

The first Place Los Angeles Dodgers invade Candlestick Park tomorrow for the start of a four-game series. That game will start at 1 p.m.

The improbable happened often in the series opener. The Giants entered the game with a 9-1 record against San Diego and Marichal was 3-0 against the Padres, while completing his last eight starts.

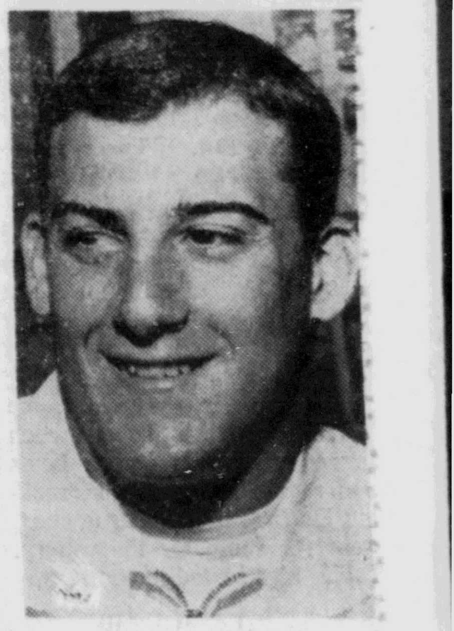
Lazz Gets Ready For Last Hurrah

By GARY TISCHLER



DEAN LAZZARINI
In final year

Dean Lazzarini, the flash who buzzed over Marin County tracks and football fields for three spectacular years while at Drake High School, is preparing himself for the autumn of his last collegiate football hurrah.

Lazzarini, Marin County Athletic League record holder in the 100-yard dash at 9.7, will be at his familiar and much-loved running back position when the University of Pacific goes into action this fall.

Healed and confident, "Lazz" figures this is the ripe and right time to put everything together again.

Lazzarini, hounded by injuries, has been here, there and everywhere for the past three years after being graduated from Drake High School as a highly-touted halfback with stunning speed.

He started out at UCLA, came to College of Marin for a year in time to help Dick Read's last Golden Valley Conference champions, then wound up at Pacific last year, where he started seven out of ten games at an unfamiliar flanker position.

Enroute, the injury bug has followed him like sonar, starting with the next-to-last game of his high school career, when a broken collarbone, his first prep injury, knocked him out. Calcium deposits in his ankle stopped him at UCLA, and torn hamstrings muscles plagued him at College of Marin.

To say the least, the past three years have not come up to expectations for Dean. But he thinks he's ready now.

"I'm prepared mentally, that's the important thing," he said. "I had a great spring practice, and that's pretty much when they decided to put me back at running back. That's where I can help them most."

His weight is a solid 180 pounds. He works out almost every night, after winding up his summer duties as gardener at Drake High School, a job which gives him plenty of opportunities to talk football with Drake grid coach Bob Franceschini.

"I want to have a satisfying year," he said. "First of all, a winning year for the team and then I want to able to say I've accomplished something."

It would be unfair to say that for Lazzarini, who plans a career in teaching history, football is his whole life. It is more like a first love that has never gone sour.

"That's something you never lose," he said. "You always remember playing in high school, no matter how old you get. It's a close game, because when you're out there hitting somebody, well, you get pretty close. In other ways, too. The college of Marin team of 1967 was the closest team I've ever been on. At UCLA, some of the joy was taken out of football for me. Nobody payed any attention to the frosh team. It was more like a job."

Dean hasn't ruled out the possibility of a pro career, if somebody wants him.

"I'd give my eye teeth to take a crack at it," he said. "If somebody asked me to return kicks, punts, things like that, I'd do it. I'd love to. But I think I'm probably too small."

NATIONAL LEAGUE

St. Louis Payday; Cincy May Day

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was payday in St. Louis and May-day in Cincinnati.

Warmed by the cushion of freshly drawn paychecks in their wallets, the Cardinals responded by battering Philadelphia pitchers for 17 hits and ripping the Phillies 8-2 last night. It marked the 23rd consecutive time that the Cards have won on a payday—a streak that extends back to August 1967.

Cincinnati's Lee May, who hits his homers in bunches, had a bunch against Atlanta in a twi-night doubleheader which the Reds split with the Braves. May connected twice in each game and drove in 10 runs in the twinbill as the Braves took the opener 9-8 before the Reds salvaged the nightcap 10-4.

OTHER SCORES

Elsewhere in the National League, New York nipped Chicago 5-4, San Diego rapped San Francisco 10-3, Pittsburgh walloped Montreal 9-3 and Houston outlasted Los Angeles 10-7.

If the Cards played as well the rest of the month as they do on the first and 15th—those are paydays for all major leaguers—manager Red Schoendienst would have no problems.

Julian Javier, Curt Flood, Joe Torre and Mike Shannon each tagged three hits for St. Louis and rookie Chuck Taylor, making his first major league start, went the route for the victory. Taylor also batted in two runs.

TWO EACH GAME

May, who socked six homers in three consecutive games back in in May, tying a major league record, had two in each game against the Braves including the first grand slam of his career.

He knocked in five runs in each game, raising his season totals to 27 homers and 73 RBI.

May's first game performance was overshadowed by Atlanta's Bob Aspromonte, who pinch hit a single in the eighth inning and then smacked a three-run homer in the ninth inning that gave the Braves their victory. Hank Aaron hit his 534th career homer for Atlanta, tying him with Jimmy Foxx for fourth place on the alltime list.

MET HOMER

Al Weis stroked a three-run homer—only the fifth of his eight-year major league career—helping the New York Mets take Chicago. Ken Boswell also homered for the Mets and Ron Taylor saved the victory for Gary Gentry after consecutive eighth inning homers by Billy Williams and Ron Santo knocked out the New York starters.

Carl Taylor drilled a homer and two-run double in an eight-run Pittsburgh first inning and the Pirates pounded Montreal. Richie Hebner also homered in the first for Pittsburgh and Luke Walker won his first major league game on a three-hitter. Rusty Staub and Bob Bailey homered to account for all the Expo runs.

Houston wiped out a five-run deficit, tying Los Angeles in the fourth inning and then pushed across three more runs in the sixth to beat the Dodgers. Norm Miller, who had driven in two runs in the Astros' big fourth, knocked in the tie-breaking run with a single in the sixth.

Philly Golf Classic Draws 'Big Names'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Most of the top names in golf are coming together again for the $150,000 Philadelphia Classic, but it's a good bet that one of the newly-dominant figures in the game will walk off with the top prize.

After a two-week hiatus from the American tour to compete in the British Open, such players as Orville Moody, Lee Trevino and Billy Casper are making an appearance. Arnold Palmer was due back from a two-week rest today. Julius Boros returned from a week's layoff.

FAVORITES

But the favorites for the $30,000 first place check probably would be found in the quartet of Frank Beard, Dave Hill, Charles Coody and New Zealand's Bob Charles.

Their credentials are among the best. They're the hottest players in the game, and, with the exception of Charles, all recent winners.

Hill, 32, has won two of his last three starts, has been sixth or better in five of his last seven tournaments and has earnings of more than $99,000, his best year ever.

The slim chain-smoker is back from a week off, is rested and said he's "playing the best of my life, putting just super."

BEARD TIRED

The laconic Beard, 30, winner of last week's Minnesota Classic has been fourth or better in three of his last four starts and has six finishes of fourth or higher. He has more than $93,000 in earnings but complained of being tired and said his start was "another day at the office."

He broke a two-year victory famine last week while Coody, 32 just a couple of days ago, ended a four-year drought in his last start three weeks ago, has finished in the top three in three of his last four tournaments and has over $67,000.

Charles, 33, a left-hander, hasn't won but has one of the best records on the tour. He was second in the British Open and has been in the top 10 in nine of his last 11 starts.

NO ROLL

He's a short hitter, and the 6,670-yard par 72 Whitemarsh Country Club course could favor him although Trevino says it's playing "at least 500 yards longer than last year. There's just no roll."

And, too, defending champion Bob Murphy could be a factor when the 72-hole test begins tomorrow.

Among the late withdrawals from the 146-man field were Masters champion George Archer and Mason Rudolph. Tony Jacklin, the new British Open champ, South African Gary Player and Jack Nicklaus were not entered.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

By The Associated Press

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—Al Jones, 230, Miami, outpointed Henry Clark, 217½, San Francisco, 10.

HOUSTON—Manny Gonzalez, 147, Houston, outpointed Dario Hidalgo, 149, Puerto Rico, 10.

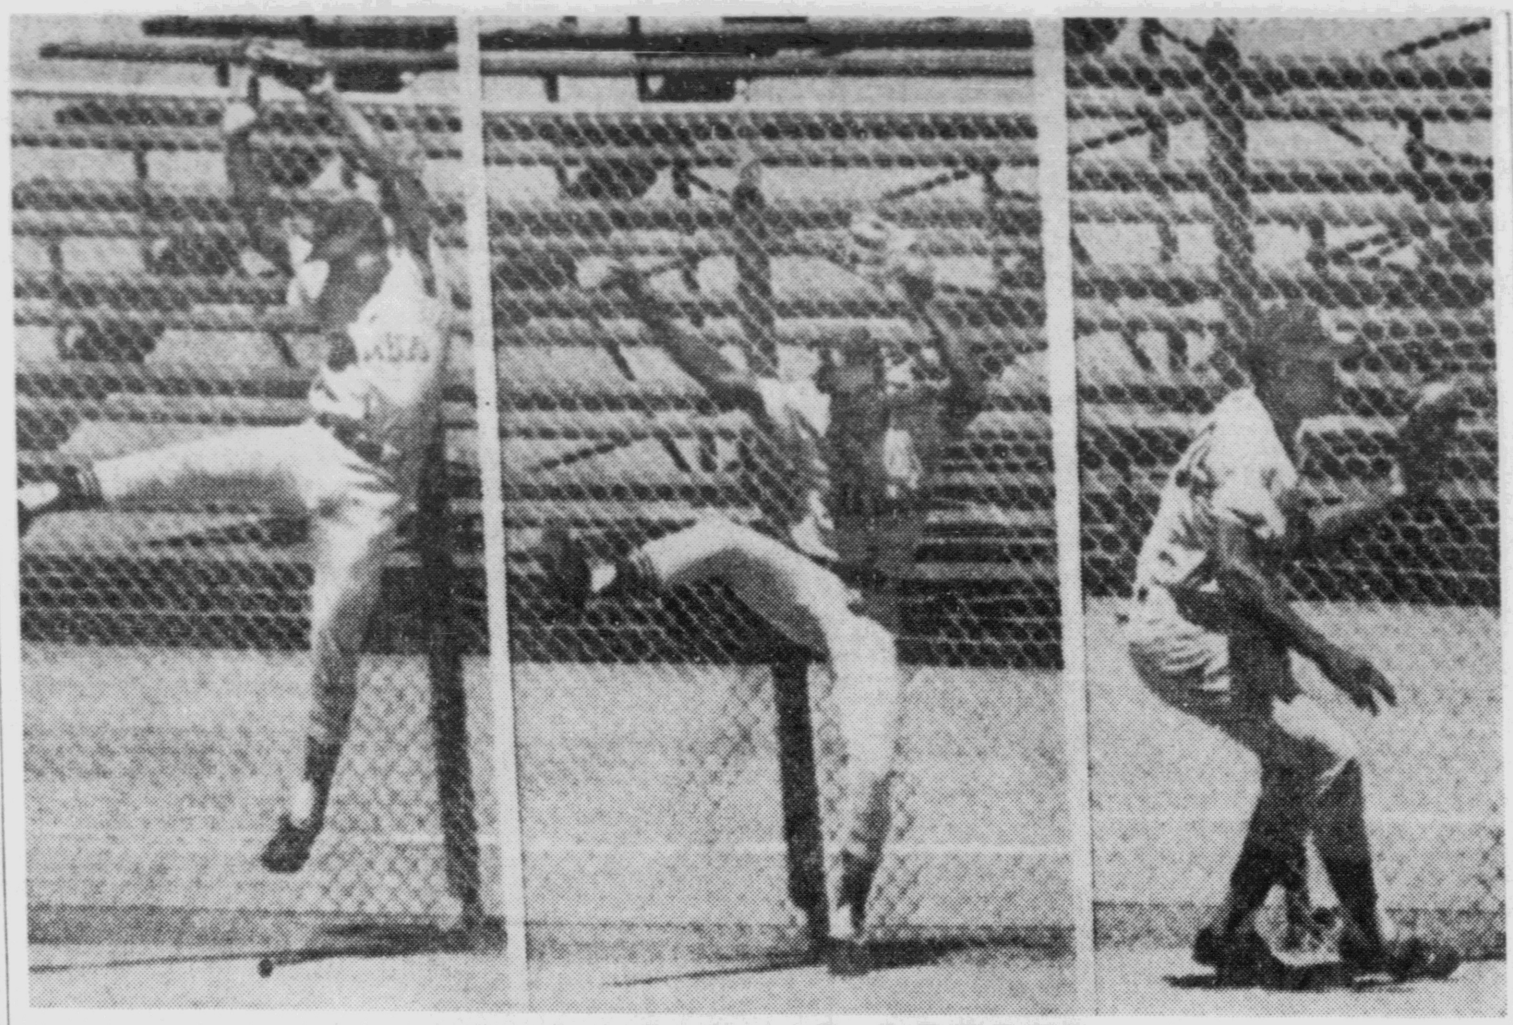
SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—Manuel Avitia, 148, Monterrey, Mex., outpointed Johnny Brooks, 147, New Orleans, 10.



THE LEAPING ROBBER

San Diego centerfielder Ivan Murrell robbed San Francisco's Willie McCovey of a home run in the fourth inning with a leaping catch above the fence. Murrell bounced off the fence but hung onto the ball. Even Murrell had to look in his glove to make sure. The Padres spanked the Giants, 10-3, in yesterday's game. (UPI Telephoto) hand, was 0-3 against the Giants and had not gone the distance in 18 previous major league starts.

"But I've gone nine and 10 innings before without a decision," Kirby emphasized. Marichal, 12-4, made his earliest exit of the season after an error that triggered the six-run fifth inning.

With two outs, shortstop Tito Fuentes booted John Sipin's grounder. Roberto Pena's single and Brown's walk loaded the bases. Marichal then hit Nate Colbert with a pitch, forcing in a run.

Van Kelly's two-run single and run-scoring singles by Larry Stahl, Ivan Murrell and Chris Cannizzaro knocked Marichal from the box.

NEAR MISS

Willie McCovey accounted for all the Giants' scoring with a grounder in the fifth and a two-run homer in the eighth. It was his 28th homer and kept him one up on Cincinnati's Lee May, who belted four in a Tuesday doubleheader.

McCovey lost a chance for another homer when he led off the fourth inning with a towering drive to right center. The fleet Murrell rushed over from his centerfield post and caught the ball at the top of the fence. "It would have been a homer," said Murrell.

Senator Orbits One For Nixon

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tim Cullen's lunar probe made a soft landing in the visitors' bullpen . . . and swept the President of the United States off his feet.

President Nixon, accompanied by astronaut Frank Borman, took in another Washington ball game last night . . . and watched Cullen's second-inning home run launch the surprising Senators to a 7-3 triumph over Detroit.

APPLAUDED

The Senators' No. 1 supporter leaped to his feet and applauded when Cullen, who drove in four runs with a single, double and his first 1969 homer, sent the home club ahead to stay with a drive into the left field bullpen.

"I knew he (Nixon) was there and someone said Boran was in the stands," said the Senators' second baseman, whose hitting spree overshadowed a rare ground-ball triple play turned over by the Tigers.

"As I rounded second after hitting the homer, I was thinking to myself, 'I guess I showed him how to put the ball in orbit.'"

The victory, second for the Senators in the five games attended by the President this year, moved them within one game of the third-place Tigers in the American League East.

LEAD BY 14

First place Baltimore trimmed Cleveland 5-1 behind right-hander Tom Phoebus and shot 14 games ahead of runner-up Boston, which split a doubleheader at New York, winning 7-6 before bowing to the Yankees 4-1. Oakland topped Seattle 6-2 and California beat Kansas City 5-2 in other A.L. games.

The Minnesota-Chicago game was postponed because of wet grounds.

WITH SHORT

They sat with Senators owner Bob Short in the Presidential box and were joined by Borman, who headed the Apollo 8 moon mission and had just returned from a good will visit to the Soviet Union.

It was Nixon's second visit to the ballpark in six days.

After Cullen's two-run wallop, the Senators added two runs in the third inning and struck for three more with none out in the fifth for a 7-1 lead.

Then, with runners on first and second, Ed Brinkman bounced to third baseman Don Wert. He stepped on third and fired to second baseman Ike Brown, whose relay to first baseman Bill Freehan finished off the A.L.'s first triple play of the year.

"Wasn't that something?" said Washington Manager Ted Williams, who couldn't recall seeing triple play off a ground ball during his long playing career. "And the ball wasn't hit that hard. It was so easy."

BREAK TIE

The Orioles snapped a 1-1 fifth inning tie on Andy Etchebarren's run-scoring single, then pulled out of reach on Boog Powell's two-run homer in the seventh, enabling Phoebus to coast to his ninth victory against two losses.

Reggie Smith drilled three singles and two doubles as the Red Sox took the opener from the Yanks despite homers by Joe Pepitone and Frank Fernandez. Smith singled his first time up in the nightcap for a string of six straight hits, but Stan Bahnsen stopped him thereafter on the way to a six-hitter.

Throwing errors by third baseman Paul Schaal and pitcher Bill Butler set up three eighth inning runs as the Angels subdued the Royals behind right-hander Tom Murphy's seven-hitter.

Giants Playing As A Team Now

Sometimes a shouting match gets the air cleared. This certainly seems to be the case insofar as Willie Mays and Clyde King are concerned. The captain of the Giants and the manager of the team may never be buddy-buddy in their relationship but there no longer is an invisible barrier between them.

Mays spoke his piece June 24 in the Astrodome and King refused to be intimidated. The rookie manager didn't back away from the showdown when it came. To his credit Mays apologized to King the following day. And to his credit King accepted the apology.

MAYS HAD come to expect certain prerogatives as the team's superstar. He was entitled to them. After all, Willie has packed the fans into ball parks around the country to the benefit not only of the Giants but all National League clubs.

It was only natural that other members of the team resented two sets of rules, one for Mays, the other for the rest of the Giants. Dating back to the managing regime of Leo Durocher, Mays received special privileges and until King came along Giant managers avoided direct confrontations with Mays.

HOWEVER, King is the kind of manager who will not tolerate anything which he feels might hurt the team effort. He sensed a silent brooding among members of the ball club and traced its source to the resentment of the special treatment accorded Mays.

So King brought it all out in the open at a team meeting, two weeks prior to the shouting match in the Astrodome, June 24. And what has been the result? The team is a team now.

SINCE JUNE 24 the Giants record is 14-8. They've improved their road record from 13-20 on June 24 to 21-25. And they trimmed three games from what had been a 4½ game deficit on June 24.

So the Astrodome incident has had its direct benefits for the team and the team, not individual ball players, is King's major concern. He correctly predicted at the time Mays apologized to him that "this incident could bring us all closer together for a drive to the top."

HORACE STONEHAM long has sought a manager who could handle delicate situations. The president of the ball club finally has found the right man in King. He will be managing the Giants for a long time to come.

SEABISCUIT, GREAT HANDICAP CHAMPION, CARRIED 133 POUNDS WHEN HE RALLIED TO WIN THE HOLLYWOOD PARK GOLD CUP BY A LENGTH AND A HALF. THE C.S. HOWARD COLT WAS IN THE MONEY IN ALL OF HIS ELEVEN RACES THAT YEAR.

Dolinsek Starts Out At .324

John Dolinsek of Novato, the most valuable player in last month's NCAA World Series, has jumped off to a good start playing for the Houston Astros' Covington, Va., Appalachian League club.

Dolinsek has a .324 batting average in 37 trips to the plate, with seven runs batted in, one homer and three doubles.

Two other Marinites aren't doing so well.

Ken Johnson, the former Redwood High School star, is still mired in a slump, hitting .150 for the New York Yankees' Ft. Lauderdale A team. Novatan Nick Willard is hitting .132 for the Los Angeles Dodgers' Medford, Ore., team.

Sauter-Stookey Golf Team Wins

Mrs. John Sauter and Mrs. Harold Stookey won the Peacock Gap Women's Golf Club's best ball twosome tournament yesterday with a net score of 60.

They were followed by Mesdames Harold Baer and Karl Wegcamp, 65; Earl O'Grady and Robert Crews, 66; John Cerrudo and James Westman, 67; Robert Bond and Charles Fleischman, 68; Martin Bramante and Kim Kaufman 68; George Pripps and John Cushman 68.

Two Young Raiders Get Chance

SANTA ROSA (AP) — Eldridge Dickey and Ken Stabler will get a chance to show their quarterbacking skills Monday when the Oakland Raider rookies play a pre season game against the Dallas Cowboys.

Both are second year men with the Oakland club and neither got a chance to quarterback during the 1968 American Football League season.

Dickey, from Tennessee A&I, is 6-foot-2, weighs 198 pounds and was used last season as a pass catcher. Stabler, who is 6-foot-1 and weighs 194, played college ball at Alabama.

With such veteran quarterbacks as Daryle Lamonica, George Blanda and Cotton Davidson on hand, the new comers will have a hard time breaking into the starting team.

Rookies Harold Rice and Drew Buie, who had left training camp, were reported back today and ready for practice. Just why they left was not made clear.

Marin Babe Ruth Team Vs. Antioch

Central Marin won its opener in the double-elimination tournament, 3-2, over Antioch Saturday, followed with a 9-3 loss to Vallejo Sunday and a 5-1 win over Travis Air Force Base Monday.

Laver Wins, Plans To Rest

BROOKLINE, Mass (AP) — Rod Laver, a transplanted Aussie who collects championships—and money—like some people collect stamps, started a well-earned vacation today before trying to complete his second tennis Grand Slam in the U.S. Open next month.

"I've got three weeks off to look forward too," the 30-year-old southpaw said last night as he packed away a fifth U.S. Pro Tennis Championship trophy before heading for his Southern California home in Corona del Mar.

"I'm mentally tired and can use a rest," he said. "I'll just play some golf and lie around at home. After three weeks, I'll be good and eager to play again at Forest Hills."

Laver, the undisputed king of world tennis who recently won a fourth Wimbledon title, needs the U.S. Open for a repeat of the Grand Slam he scored in winning the Australian, French, U.S. and Wimbledon championships before he turned pro in 1962.

The U.S. Pro Championships isn't part of the Grand Slam, but Laver has made the tournament a rich personal possession. He won the title in 1964, was runnerup to countryman Ken Rosewall the next year, and then assumed virtual ownership.

The freckled redhead earned $8,000 by winning the title for the fourth straight year with a 7-5, 6-2, 4-6, 6-1 victory over Australia's John Newcombe in the windup of the $33,000 tournament before a standing room only crowd of 5,500 at Longwood.

Laver, who has earned more than $26,000 since the New England Merchants National Bank assumed sponsorship of the tournament at Longwood, thought he was "very lucky" in duplicating his four-set Wimbledon triumph over the 25-year-old Newcombe.

Laver has lost only nine of 77 matches while winning nine tournaments and earning nearly $80,000 this year.

"Let's face it, he's just too good," Newcombe said as he picked up second prize money of $4,000 and headed for a $10,000 pro tournament in Milwaukee.

Laver and 41-year-old Pancho Gonzalez of Los Angeles won the doubles championship by defeating top-seeded Newcombe and Tony Roche of Australia, 6-4, 5-7, 6-4.

Softball Mismatch In Rec League

Something of a minor mismatch occurred in the San Rafael Recreation Department Adult Softball League yesterday when Gilmore Shell ripped the Patio Club, 30-1 in a C-II division game.

Ken Johnston had four hits and Dale Anderson had five for the winners while Anderson also pitched a one-hitter to add insult to serious injury.

In a C-I division game, Cain's Tires topped the Mill Valley Bulls 6-1.

MARIN-SONOMA GOLF NOTES

Didn't Take Orv Suttles Long To Prove Himself

By RALPH CHATOIAN

A native Missourian, Suttles hit Marin County soil only 15 months ago. He was golf course superintendent at Stockton Golf and Country Club and Woodbridge Country Club in Lodi before taking over as course superintendent at Marin Country Club in Novato.

With a job like that, the 54-year-old Suttles of course became a member of the club. He promptly won the club championship six months later.

And now, after last Sunday's sudden-death victory over Meadow Club's Don Lazzarini in the Marin County Golf Tournament of Champions, Suttles is the Marin kingpin of golf.

It didn't take Ol' Orve long to prove himself to Marin County golf filberts.

SPECIAL LOW rates for elementary, junior high or high school students have been started at Rohnert Park Municipal course. Rates for the youngsters will be $1.50 for 18 holes and $1 for nine on weekdays or after 3 p.m. on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

Late congratulations to Jules G. Prizant of Greenbrae for his hole-in-one last week on the 134-yard seventh hole at Mill Valley Municipal.

SECOND ANNUAL Louis George Men's Shop invitational golf tourney drew 54 players last Thursday at San Geronimo National. Dan Sweeney of Greenbrae fired a fine 76 to win low gross prize. Bill Pasquinelli of S.F., brother of KTIM's Aldo, won low net, 96-24 — 70.

ABOUT 40 young golfers from Marin Golf Club, Mill Valley Municipal, Olympic Club, Peninsula and San Francisco golf clubs will converge on the Meadow Club course Friday for the seventh annual Meadow Club Junior Invitational, the shotgun start scheduled for 8:30 a.m. In addition to golf for two divisions — 18 through 20 and those 17 or younger — there will be lunch and some swimming.

EIGHT MARIN-SONOMA area golf teams will be competing in the North Coast Zone Championship at Spyglass Hill course in Pebble Beach tomorrow and Friday. Top four teams will be invited back to Spyglass Hill Sept. 19-20 to compete against winners of other four Northern California Golf Association zones. A total of 24 four-man teams will be competing at full handicap, best ball, play.

Marin-Sonoma area players will be Mike Myskowski, Jim Dingman, Robert Dreyfus and Earl Hunter from Rohnert Park Golf Club; Jerome Hannigan, Harold Walton, Guy Robinson and H. J. Haralson Jr. of Indian Valley G.C.; Carl Bromhan, Al Ruggiero, Marshall West and Stew Moir of San Geronimo National; Dr. Tom Grayson, Jody Sturiale, Keeler Nash and Dil Hughes of Mill Valley G.C.; Paul O'Pizzi, Dante Pareglio, Mat Palacio Jr. and Elwood Frink of Marin G.C.; Al Garcia, Chet Patterson, Dr. Hal White and Ray Johnson of Meadow Club; Don Reeves, William Belknap, George Hinnard and Jes Thomsen of Sonoma G.C., and Bill Mathews, Clark Mattiessen, Dan Reid and Vern Jensen of Petaluma G.C.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, July 16, the 197th day of 1969 with 168 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus and Saturn. The evening stars are Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1790 Congress set up the District of Columbia as the permanent seat of the United States government.

In 1945 at 5:30 a.m. (EDT) the first experimental test of an atomic bomb was made in New Mexico.

In 1964 Barry Goldwater, accepting the Republican presidential nomination, said in part —"Extremism in the defense of liberty is no vice...moderation in the pursuit of justice is no virtue."

A thought for the day: Mary Baker Eddy said: "Divine love always has met and always will meet every human need."

Most Car Accidents In Dark, Report Says

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—An in-depth study of 40 Louisiana holiday accidents showed that the type driver most involved in such accidents was a person in a familiar car, in familiar territory, close to home and in no hurry.

The study, by the American Automobile Association, also showed that 60 per cent of the accidents occurred in darkness and that alcohol was a known factor in 40 per cent of the accidents.

The Old Habit Of Counting Worth More Than Finesses

"I should have peeked that time," South sighed after losing the game on the hand shown today. "As the old saying goes, one peek is worth two finesses." Actually, South didn't have to peek or finesse. It would have been enough if he had counted the hand.

DIAMOND SIGNAL

East signaled with the ten of diamonds at the first trick and completed the signal with the seven of diamonds at the second trick. West therefore led a third diamond, and East ruffed. South overruffed, of course, but the ruff robbed declarer of an easy trick.

Declarer drew three rounds of trumps and tried a spade finesse, losing to the king. Back came a club, after which declarer tried three rounds of clubs, ending in his hand.

When the clubs failed to break favorably, declarer held his breath and tried a second spade finesse. This lost to the queen, of course, and East cashed the high club to set the contract two tricks.

NINE BLACK CARDS

The first few tricks made it clear that East had begun the hand with only two diamonds and two trumps. With nine black cards, East almost surely had the only stoppers in both spades and clubs. Most important of all, East had been forced to discard twice on the second and third rounds of trumps.

It was correct to draw trumps and try one spade finesse, but declarer should win the club return in his own hand, take the ace of spades and ruff a spade.

VARIOUS WAYS

If East had saved all of his clubs, the last spade in dummy would now be good. If East had saved as many spades as the dummy, the clubs would break. One way or the other, the hand would be unbeatable.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1 no-trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ K Q 9 8 6
♦ 10 7
♣ J 10 9

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

Game is very unlikely, unless partner has spade, maximum point count and perhaps a doubleton in clubs. Still, it does no harm to bid the spades. If partner passes, as expected, you will be in a reasonable contract, probably safer than 1 no-trump. If partner raises the spades, you will take a shot at game.

NOT SO FAR AWAY

General Electric has just finished a six-month preliminary design study of a Tracked Air Cushion Research Vehicle (TACRV) for the U.S. Department of Transportation. The 300-m.p.h. vehicle may be in service as early as 1975 to meet greatly increased inter-city transportation needs. The TACRV will ride on a channel-shaped rail for faster and safer transportation.

Shopping Center Clearance Sale In Downtown Novato

Merchants in downtown Novato and in all of the shopping centers in the city will put on a city-wide clearance sale tomorrow through Saturday, according to Rodney L. Henderson, chairman of the retail trade committee of the Novato Chamber of Commerce.

There is a citywide effort to get Novato residents to shop the approximately 100 participating stores both along Grant Avenue and in the shopping centers, Henderson said.

To call attention to the sale, the chamber has been giving the merchants banners for the sale which they were to put in their windows today.

The chamber also has placed the "Novato Citywide sale" banner across Grant Avenue at the main fire station where it can be seen by people traveling on Highway 101.

"This is one of four major sales events in Novato each year," Hender said.

"These sales have been getting progressively more successful for the past two years because the merchants are offering good values," he said. The sale does not present any gimmick such as off-hours, but will be carried on during the regular hours of each store for the three days, he said.

Pipeline Contract

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — J. Ray McDermott and Co. has obtained a $4 million contract from Columbia Gulf Transmission Corp. to lay a pipeline in the Gulf of Mexico.

Stocks Mark First Gain This Week

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stock prices did not soar as high as the astronauts today but they closed higher for the first time this week in moderately active trading.

Analysts said it was conceivable the enthusiasm over the Apollo 11 launching might have spilled over to traders and investors, although most agreed that bullish sentiment generally stemmed from a favorable report on Vietnam peace prospects and word from Capitol Hill that wage and price controls are not part of the administration's current strategy in the war on inflation.

Electronics, under considerable pressure in the past two sessions, showed marked strength, with several issues picking up more than a point. IBM and Burroughs gained.

Also higher were American Research and Xerox, the former jumping several points.

Penn Central was on the upswing in the rails, while airlines and aircrafts also tended higher. McDonnell-Douglas, awarded multimillion dollar Navy contracts for the overhaul and repair of submarines, was on the plus side.

Conglomerates were narrowly mixed as were most automobile issues.

Several oils moved a point or better, but in both directions.

Plastics Firm

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (UPI) — Spacecraft, Inc., has agreed to buy Decatur Plastic, Inc., of Dacatur, Ala., which has annual sales of $1.7 million for about $1 million in securities.

Three-Dimension Photos May Be Boom Industry

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. You have mentioned three-dimensional photography as an emerging industry. Please give me the names of companies working in this field. — E. V.

A. The technique of producing three-dimensional images dates back many years. During the Victorian Era the streoscope provided 3-D pictures in every parlor. Then came the "magic lantern" or stereopticon. In 1947 Dr. Dennis Gabor discovered lensless photography — more properly, the wave-front reconstruction process. Until the advent of lasers, providing the necessary coherent light, holographic or 3-D images were too blurred to be useful. Even now the holograph is primarily an experimental laboratory tool.

The buil of the estimated $15 million being spent annually on holography goes for research and development, for which various government agencies furnish about 25 per cent. International Business Machines, cooperating with the Office of Naval Research, has worked on methods for using this device to aid pilots when landing aircraft under hazardous conditions. Bell Laboratories (American Telephone) has developed a flat holographic plate which allows the viewer, by moving his head from side to side, to see a 360-degree reproduction of an object. Previously, a 40-degree perspective was about the maximum possible with a flat plate. United Aircraft is studying the use of 3-D to detect assembly-line flaws in jet engine components. Itek is perfecting a technique to discover signs of stress in building materials.

Other R&D programs in progress or proposed for future applications of holography are: contour mapping, 3-D television and movies, telescopes, information storage, diagnosis of eye disorders, study of certain blood diseases, character recognition, human identification and radar signal processing.

Of the many laboratories thought to be working on this optical process, most are either privately owned or represent divisions of large corporations.

The following companies actively involved in laser holography are suitable only for risk accounts: Conductron, Electro-Optical Systems, Optics Technology, Spacerays and Technical Operations. For more conservative investors, Perkin-Elmer Corp. is suggested.

Golden West To Buy Tamalpais Savings

Tamalpais Savings and Loan Association will be acquired by Golden West Financial Corp. of Oakland.

The acquisition, according to a joint announcement by both companies, involves an undisclosed amount of Gold West Financial common stock. The trensaction is subject to the consent of Tamalpais stockholders and favorable action of state and federal regulatory authorities.

Upon completion of the transaction, Tamalpais will be merged into Golden West Savings and Loan Association, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Golden West Financial.

Tamalpais, which completed its seventh year of operation at the end of 1968 has assets reported at approximately $20 million. It has branch offices in Palo Alto and Albany. It is the third savings and loan association acquisition by Golden West Financial since February when Modesto Savings and Loan was acquired, followed by Redwood Savings and Loan of Sonoma County in April.

When all three are merged into Golden West Savings, the latter will have 14 offices in Northern California and assets in excess of $225 million.

Golden West Financial became publicly held in 1968. Its shares are traded in the over-the-counter market.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Electronics Manufacturer Moving To Industrial Park

A new manufacturing firm relocating in Marin County is Alfred Adams Associates, which fabricates electronic measuring devices and other equipment for the processing and metal industries.

The firm, about seven years old, had its plant in Salt Lake City, Utah and an office in San Francisco. Now both are being consolidated at 11 Mark Drive, Northgate Industrial Park, where 4,000 square feet has been leased through William W. Hoey and Co.

Initial staff will be about seven, headed by A. A. Blackerby of San Francisco, who expects to move to Marin later. By next spring it is anticipated the staff will be increased to 35 or 40.

MEANWHILE, Ronald Antonioli, who put up the building at 11 Mark Drive, is preparing to start another one at 77-83 Mark Drive. This one will have about 20,000 square feet and offstreet parking, with some offices outfitted with sliding glass doors and private patios. Space will be leased through Hoey.

Antonioli is constructing another building at 135 Carlos Drive for retired plumbing contractor C. P. Smith, who is leasing it to Kent Manufacturing Co., now at 129 Carlos Drive.

MOTORCRAFT: James W. Fitch of San Rafael has authored a new book, Motor Truck Engineering Handbook, which he plans to introduce during the Society of Automobile Engineers annual West Coast meeting at Seattle in August. Formerly West Coast district manager with White Motor Co. and automotive engineer with Western Highway Institute, he is also the author of Motor Vehicle Engineering Guide.

Scripture Oldsmobile, Inc., San Rafael has been granted a National Car Rental System franchise and will provide daily, weekly and monthly car rentals in this area. Cars picked up here may be dropped off at other locations throughout the United States.

INSURANCE: Paul L. Thurston of Mill Valley has been appointed district manager of Equitable Life Assurance Society at Northgate Industrial Park. He has been with the company four years and for the past year has been a district manager in San Francisco. . . . Jerrold Flood of Ross, personnel manager of Industrial Indemnity Co., has been elected a director of the Insurance Personnel Management Association of San Francisco. . . . Carroll Walker, San Rafael, special agent of Northwestern Mutual Life, will be a guest speaker at the annual meeting of agents next month in Milwaukee . . . Jack Nixon of Lucas Valley ranked fifth among 1,000 active agents of State Mutual Life in the sale of life insurance during May.

ALFRED J. GEHL, owner of Marin Piano and Organ Co., San Rafael and local representative for Baldwin pianos and organs, has been named a winner in a three-months Baldwin sales contest. He will be a guest of the company this month in Cincinnati. He has been a Baldwin dealer in Marin for the past eight years.

Reduce Duplication In Juvenile Commissions

The county is considering the possible merger of the Marin Juvenile Justice Commission and the Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission.

This has been turned over to the county administrator for study, along with a reorganization survey on other commissions and committees.

Merger of the two agencies, both concerned with juvenile justice and delinquency, is logical since many of their functions are duplicated or partially overlap.

Problems, however, do exist in the proposed consolidation. And the newly created Marin Youth Commission, which will focus on the same problems from another angle, brings a third agency into the picture.

WE THUS HAVE three commissions dealing with youth and delinquency. At one end is the Youth Commission, whose 11 members are yet to be selected. This will be clearly youth-oriented, with the young comprising seven members.

Then comes the Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission, established in 1967 by the county supervisors. While this group is adult-oriented, it is consciously trying for a rapprochement with the young. It expanded from 7 to 11 last January to include youth members.

And finally we have the Juvenile Justice Commission of seven adults, who are appointed by and responsible to the juvenile court judge. Ideally, this commission should also have constant communication with youth, but effective communication is almost non-existent. Serving as an arm of the juvenile court, it is tagged with "law enforcement" label and shunned by the youth, especially those who get into trouble.

GENERAL CONSENSUS is that the Justice Commission can be merged with the Delinquency Prevention Commission into a workable body. A decision must be made on who will be the appointing body for the merged group — the supervisors or the juvenile judge. Off hand, appointive power in the hands of the supervisors appears desirable, if only to soften the commission's image of being too closely allied to law enforcement and courts.

Another possibility is the consolidation of the Delinquency Prevention Commission, which already has some youth members, with the Marin Youth Commission. We disfavor this idea because the Youth Commission, still in its infancy, should remain undiluted. Teen-agers, who fought for the creation of the Youth Commission, are fired up for their one big chance for a voice in county government. To merge it with an existing adult group might "taint" it in the eyes of youth.

A REASONABLE reorganization appears to be to maintain a separate Youth Commission, voicing the hopes of youth, and a joint Justice and Delinquency Commission, representing an understanding adult point of view.

Until recently, the three separate groups have been operating in a near vacuum, with each unaware of what the others were doing.

A youth coordinator, still to be named, might provide that vital liaison.

Noisy: Plant More Grass

Grass and evergreen foliage have been found to be excellent sound absorbers. Sound waves, which bounce off concrete surfaces, are absorbed by plant life to a remarkable degree.

This is particularly valuable information for Marinites who are building patios and courtyards.

Besides, greenstuff is pretty.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Major Shakeup Continues On Senate Rules Committee

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The new state Senate Rules Committee, headed by President Pro-Tem Howard Way, R-Tulare, moved swiftly to effectuate re-organization on upper house operations.

In a meeting the day after the senate approved by resolution the appointment of Senators Clair Burgener, R-San Diego, and Robert Stevens, R-Los Angeles, the committee "accepted" the resignation of Clarence D. Alexander as fiscal officer and executive secretary of the committee and appointed James Jensen as consultant.

Alexander, however, retains his post as secretary of the Senate, a job over which the rules committee has no control, inasmuch as it is an elective office by the entire membership of the Senate. Alexander was elected to the post shortly after the death of Joseph Beek, the well-known secretary who served the Senate in one capacity or another, for approximately a half century.

THE NEW rules committee also granted a five per cent pay increase to all Senate employees, which, the committee pointed out, is the same amount granted to all state employees under the Governor's budget.

Another announcement said that Senator Stevens had been appointed as the rules committee member to work closely with the senate communications program on newsletters and questionnaires, which are issued by some of the senators to their constituents on a more or less regular basis.

The newsletter program has come under considerable criticism because of the high costs involved. The old rules committee had a contract with a former lobbyist in Sacramento for publication and mailing of these issues to constituents on an individual basis, rather than depending on the press and electronic media to carry the worthwhile news of activities in the Senate to the people of the state.

The committee under Senator Stevens' supervision is scheduled to take a long look at this method of distributing information, with the possibility of some reductions being recommended.

THE ALEXANDER resignation follows rumors that have been floating for some time that the veteran fiscal officer would be replaced when the Way forces took over the rules committee, which it did with the approval of the two new members, and the displacement of Senators John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, and Jack Schrade, R-San Diego.

Both McCarthy and Schrade, although Republicans, were on the team that supported Sen. Hugh M. Burns' continuance in the office of president pro-tem, and were on the rules committee when it handed down the list of committee appointments earlier this year, which saw Senator Way displaced as chairman of the Senate Agricultural Committee.

IN SUBMITTING a letter of resignation, Alexander said he had found his position as secretary of the Senate was more time-consuming than he had expected, and therefore he did not feel he could properly exercise the additional duties of fiscal officer.

Only recently, Governor Reagan signed a measure which provided for additional retirement benefits for four members of the senate staff, with Alexander among them.

What future changes are to be made in Senate organization have not as yet been announced.

Religious Cartoons Show Way To Life

We have enjoyed the Independent-Journal as an excellent family newspaper since we moved to Marin County some 16 years ago.

A feature we have especially appreciated is your Saturday evening editorial cartoon. No one who has seen these cartoons over any period of time can say they were never shown the Way to Life.

Most sincerely and appreciatively,

MR. and MRS. SAM H. MILLER

Dr. Upton Was People's Choice

The Independent-Journal on June 17 reported that Supervisor John F. McInnis explained the only reason he did not reappoint Dr. Upton was that "I wish to bring a younger person for a perhaps more vigorous approach and in my opinion representative of the newer element in Marin County." Now at a later date Mr. McInnis has found another reason and alleges that Dr. Upton was unresponsive to him and consequently had to be replaced.

Supervisors and planning commissioners are ultimately accountable to the people whom they represent and should not be subject to one individual's arbitrary action. Various organizations from Santa Venetia to Lucas Valley favored retention of Dr. Upton so he obviously was responsive to the people. It is Mr. McInnis who has completely disregarded the wishes of the people he is supposed to serve.

Let him put into practice what he says he believes and immediately remove himself from office because he has failed to respond to the will of the people on an issue of primary importance to Marin County residents.

East-West Route Should Skirt Hub

Your July 3, 1969, edition of the Independent-Journal carried an article covering a KTIM radio discussion concerning the redesign of San Anselmo's Hub intersection.

The article stated that Reed and Anderson agreed that San Anselmo should be a part of the West Marin corridor. I am sure it was intended that a "not" be included in that sentence as both of us have consistently made it clear that a through-traffic corridor to West Marin should not pass through San Anselmo.

I-J Accused Of Dreaming Up Facts

Congratulations on a superlative job of reporting the Tavern fire at Muir Beach the night of the Fourth. Articles of this nature, for which the I-J has a particular knack, help us all to strengthen the polarization between the young and the old. We need more of this kind of responsible journalism these days to hold the line.

The fact that none of what you reported occurred, of course, should not be allowed to cloud the issue.

Hub Councilmen Should Apologize

On June 10, San Anselmo councilmen Reed, Ragan and Anderson showed such abusive language towards Sarah Nome that many of us were shocked.

Mrs. Nome had written a letter pointing out that the San Anselmo Town meeting recommendations rested upon 100 votes or less and that Council should not take these recommendations as a mandate from the voters. Both Mrs. Nome's letter (which you printed) and her oral presentation were calm and lady-like.

The audience response was mixed as one would expect. The chamber of commerce could do well with a more sensible spokesman but the three councilmen named raise a serious issue regarding free speech in our council meetings.

Each of the three read from prepared statements which had to have been written before the meeting, hence they wrote before they heard what Mrs. Nome was going to say. I can understand people speaking as they did in the heat of anger, but not when they have time to think things out.

As things stand now if anyone disagrees with these councilmen, he will be treated to rudeness and insults in a manner that could easily intimidate them. One councilman suggested that these three should apologize to Mrs. Nome, and with this I agree.

The tapes of the meeting are available and those who were not there should listen to the voices of their councilmen. I believe they not Mrs. Nome were on trial.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

"My life has not been an easy one," a gentleman draped over a bar informed an acquaintance he just had picked up. "I've been widowed three times. The first two wives died of eating poisoned mushrooms. The third poor thing passed away as the result of a concussion."

"A concussion you say?" murmured the new acquaintance. "How did THAT happen?" "A very sad case," sighed the widower. "I couldn't get her to eat the mushrooms."

THE DRUMMONDS

We Must Be Totally Neutral In Red China-Soviet Conflict

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — There are unspoken words behind the friendly, constructive, let's-get-together speech by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

What Gromyko said deserves a cordial and prompt response from the United States because he welcomed American initative at major point — arms talks, Berlin and a future summit.

What Gromyko did not say should cause us to move with just enough care and caution so that we do not make the mistake of becoming ensnared in the Soviet Union's tempestuous relations with Red China.

Gromyko said that the Soviets wanted to achieve "friendly relations" with the United States and to bring them about not with words alone but with significant actions on nuclear arms control, on freeing West Berlin permanently from tension and harassment, on preparing the way for a Nixon trip to the Soviet Union in the not-too-distant future.

Fine. Welcome. The interests of the United States and the Soviet Union are parallel in all three of these areas, and the moment seems just right so that what has been unattainable so long can be started; that is, to begin to remove not just the tensions of the Cold War but its causes.

WHAT GROMYKO did not say is that Russia purposely is moving to improve its relations with the United States at the moment her relations with China are worsening to the point of open warfare.

It is a prudent assumption that the Kremlin wants to persuade Peking that the United States is about to become an ally of the Soviet Union in its controversies with China, or at the very least to make it appear so.

This is exactly what the United States must avoid. We needn't, we shouldn't, we mustn't allow ourselves to be used by the Soviets as a pawn — an instrument of blackmail — in their dangerous interplay with Peking.

THERE ARE GOOD reaons not to take sides between oscow and Peking in their strife.

It is not safe to try to tilt the scales either way.

It is not in our interest to do anything which would cause one side or the other to feel that it can make war on the other with our blessing. With each possessing nuclear weapons, such a conflict would imperil the whole world.

The balance of military power probably rests with Russia in any war with China. Much as we dislike Mao's communism, it would certainly not be in America's interests to see the Soviet Union overthrow the Chinese regime and replace it with obedient Chinese puppets doing the will of Moscow.

In acting to achieve a real detente with the Soviets — which is altogether to the good — we must demonstrate beyond any doubt that we intend to remain totally neutral in the Sino-Soviet conflict.

Any other course would be riskful in the extreme.

IT WOULD BE nice if the American soft-liners — from Fulbright to Gore to McGovern, from Case to Cooper to Aiken — would have the grace to admit how wrong Gromyko's speech shows them to be.

They were horrified that Richard Nixon proposed to link Cold War political issues to arms talks. Gromyko is not horrified at all. He approves.

The soft-liners quivered at the prospect of President Nixon going to Romania lest it infuriate the Soviets. Gromyko wasn't infuriated at all.

The soft-liners are still grimly arguing that limited deployment of the ABM would turn Moscow against arms negotiation. Gromyko showed that Moscow will not be so deterred.

The soft-liners are proved wrong on all points. That they are not a reliable guide on foreign policy has now been demonstrated.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Ten Per Cent Hike Sought In Social Security Benefits

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — There will definitely be a Senate vote on an immediate 10 per cent increase in Social Security benefits.

President Nixon favors a 7 per cent raise to become effective next year. The House Ways and Means Committee refused to consider the matter at all as part of the legislation continuing the 10 per cent surtax. Under the "closed rule" that operated when the House deliberated that measure, all amendments were barred.

But there are no such restrictions in the Senate. If the finance committee, now considering the House-passed surtax, balks at including a Social Security increase, it is certain to be offered as an amendment on the Senate floor.

Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., influential member of the finance committee, has served emphatic notice of that on both Democratic and Republican leaders. He has notified them he is determined to force a record vote, both in the finance committee and on the Senate floor, on an immediate hike in Social Security benefits.

If he is licked in the committee, Hartke will renew his fight on the floor.

IN LINE WITH this strategy, he is pressing a bill calling for a five-point "modernization" of the Social Security system, as follows:

Immediately increase benefits 10 per cent across-the-board.

Establish a permanent system of automatic raises based on increases in the cost of living of 2 per cent or more at the end of any 12-month period.

"Greatly liberalize" the earnings limitation which now penalizes Social Security beneficiaries if they earn more than $1,680 a year.

Permit widows to receive the full benefits earned by husbands.

Revise the Social Security funding formula so that the employer, employe and federal government each pay a one-third share. At present, the employer and employe each pay 50 per cent.

It is Hartke's contention that even under the existing fifty-fifty funding formula, Social Security reserves are ample to finance his proposed increases without additional taxes.

THE REASONS why — Sen. Hartke bases his demand for an immediate 10 per cent Social Security raise on two principal grounds:

(1) The persisting escalation in living costs; (2) every segment of the government — from the executive, judiciary, Congress, military, civil service to "blue collar" workers — has had one or more pay boosts since the last increase in Social Security benefits.

It is Hartke's belief that there is a better-than-even chance the Senate Finance Committee will approve an immediate 10 per cent increase in Social Security benefits.

He bases that view on the calculation that 8 of the 10 Democratic members will vote for it and at least 3 of the 7 Republicans — for an overall line-up of 11 to 6.

SPREADING CONFLICT — Likely next combat arena in the steadily intensifying Middle East fighting is the sea between Alexandria and Tel Aviv.

That's the opinion of U.S. Intelligence based on latest information about Egypt's constantly expanding Russian-supplied armaments. These now include a "sizable force" of Komar class PT-boats — some of which already have been reported maneuvering off the Israeli coast at night.

Israel has no PT-boats comparable to the Komar.

It is countering this menace chiefly with planes. It is authoritatively understood that an Egyptian attack with Komars would be met with air strikes — including Alexandria, their principal base, and Cairo.

This could mean a direct clash with Russia.

All that is human must retrograde if it does not advance. —Edward Gibbon.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By JOANNE GRANT

Fascinating Collection Of Elaborate Hookahs, Pipes

One of the most unusual collections in Marin adorns the wall of Fairfax Police Chief Jim Orr's otherwise nondescript office — fascinating hip and straight alike.

Orr has shelves filled with hookahs and pipes collected in drug busts over the past two years after he discovered the analyzing lab in San Francisco was throwing them away. (Now, he scrapes out the residue and keeps the pipe.)

Many of the pipes obviously are the result of hours of careful, creative work — like the plain old wine bottle, lovingly wrapped in soft suede.

There are plain pipes too, (for use without water or wine) like the hollowed out carved elephant head, complete with delicate ivory tusks which Orr said came from India.

ALL OF THEM have stories. The fragile-looking one — of white glass and apparently handpainted decorations — was a Christmas present. Orr recalls the owner didn't object to being busted for the second time in a month, but he almost cried when he had to give up that Christmas present.

One of the smallest ones is the size of a tiny matchbox with POT expertly carved on the bottom. "It came from our youngest narcotics pusher — a 12 year-old boy," Orr said.

There are also hashish pipes and a long, bamboo opium pipe and dozens of others.

Orr doesn't know what they're worth, if anything. He got them free and hasn't checked hookah prices in stores lately.

He was invited to donate the collection to the county for display at the new Hall of Justice, but he declined. "Every one of those is a case," he explained.

THE HALL of Justice, by the way, is causing problems for more than just the county. Some cities are having headaches over it.

San Rafael, for example, is getting tired of its citation problems. When the opening was first announced, the city laid in a supply with the Hall of Justice address and started using up the last of its supply with the courthouse address.

Each delay has necessitated another order with old address, gauged to last just until the newest scheduled opening.

Wearying of trying to coordinate the supplies, the chief orderer has figured out a new way to cope—a way that would be heartily welcomed by chronic overtime parkers.

"Maybe we'll just stop giving citations after Sept. 1," he mused.

MARIN'S POLICE community relations program is gaining fame — and keeping its chief promoter Bella Aaron on the go all over the Bay Area.

Mrs. Aaron founded the Marin program almost singlehandedly and has nurtured it faithfully the past few years — even though it is sometimes difficult to gauge the success of such a program.

Early this month she and Austin J. Thompson, executive director of the county's Human Rights Commission, went to San Mateo to explain the program, and after their description, one attorney suggested, "Let's plagiarize the whole thing!"

Last week she and Thompson and Novato Police Chief Robert J. DiGrazia described the program to an equally enthusiastic group in San Jose.

Visits are also planned to Vallejo and Richmond.

In addition, Mrs. Aaron, who heads the police-community relations subcommittee of the Association of Bay Area Governments and was recently cited by the governor for her work in its planning, will be the featured speaker at a two-night seminar on "Apathy and Human Rights" at Yuba College in Marysville July 25 and 26.

County Disease List Topped By Gohorrhea

Forty-eight cases of gonorrhea were reported in Marin County last week, Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, said yesterday.

The weekly report also showed 23 cases of streptococcal infections, four cases of syphilis, two of infectious hepatitis and one each of mumps and shigella.

BCDC Planner To Capital Job

Clifford W. Graves, associate planner for the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission, has been named director of innovative projects for the Department of Housing and Urban Development in Washington.

Graves, a resident of San Francisco, will be responsible for a $6 million program exploring new techniques to planning and public administration.

He is one of the six BCDC professional staff members and has worked on the final BCDC bay plan which is being considered by the Legislature.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

Higher Degrees Assure Status If Not High Pay

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Since time immemorial, a favorite argument for continuing education beyond high school has been that it adds to a person's earning power. Statistics have been worked up to prove that every year of college adds so many thousands dollars to the student's potential lifetime income.

Educators themselves, however, have cast some doubt on these statistics by their frequent complaints that teachers — who must have college degrees plus additional credits — are underpaid. Teachers asking salary increases often allege that carpenters, plumbers, or bricklayers make more money than they do. (Whether these tradesmen do so depends on whether they're employed the year around, since they get paid by the day and not by the year.)

Perhaps because of the teachers' own contradiction of the statistics, today's students don't seem greatly impressed by the economic argument.

THERE IS another advantage from higher education, however, that might be pushed harder: That of prestige.

Certainly, being able to put the initials of degrees after one's name adds to one's status. This is fully recognized by the educators, as witness the insistence of Ed. D. holders that they be addressed as "doctor."

Evidence of the prestige value of higher education degrees — as well as at least a hint of their economic value — is to be found in "Who's Who." A listing in "Who's Who in America" is certainly a notable status symbol, compensating in some measure for lack of our own "Burke's Peerage."

COUNTING ALL the names in "Who's Who" and checking the degrees listed for them would be a monumental task, but a fair sample (larger, certainly, than the samples in much educational research) may be provided by counting those whose names start with a single letter.

This writer checked all the "A" listings in the current "Who's Who in America" and came up with this result:

Of the 1,792 persons in the volume whose last names begin with "A," 672 listed one or more doctor's degrees. The master's degree apparently was not so statusful, as only 172 listees had stopped their degree-getting at that point. The bachelor's, the most common degree, had 613 listings. (Honorary degrees were not counted.)

SINCE A minute percentage of Americans ever attain a doctorate, the fact that well over one out of three in "Who's Who" (at least among the "A's) boasts such a degree speaks highly of its prestige value.

There was, however, a rather surprising discovery.

Of the 1,792 "A" persons in "Who's Who," 338 listed no degree at all (or, in a few cases, the Associate in Arts, an undergraduate degree).

Those holding doctorates were predominantly educators and physicians and surgeons, with a few scientists employed in industry, a few dentists, and a sprinkling of other occupations (including one newspaper publisher).

Those with the master's degree as tops were mostly scientists and engineers. Those with the bachelor's degree covered a wide range of occupations. And so did those with no degree at all.

AMONG THE un-degreed in "Who's Who" were such well-known figures as Louis Armstrong, Fred Astaire, and Boris Artzybasheff. The entertainment world — not unexpectedly — contributed heavily. There were quite a few degreeless artists. But the occupation that showed up most often among the unlettered was that of banker.

Bankers, of course, traditionally make a lot of money — though not when they start out as clerks or tellers. It is a long, rough road to the top in the banking business, and promotion does not come automatically through acquiring more graduate credits.

The occupations which teachers often complain return greater financial rewards — plumbers, bricklayers et al — do not show up at all in "Who's Who." Eric Hoffer made it, but he lists himself as author, not as longshoreman. (He is, of course, among the un-degreed.)

Anyhow, those 672 "A" listings with Ph.D., Ed.D., M.D., LL.D., etc. should not be overlooked. Postgraduate study is at least one route to "Who's Who" prestige.

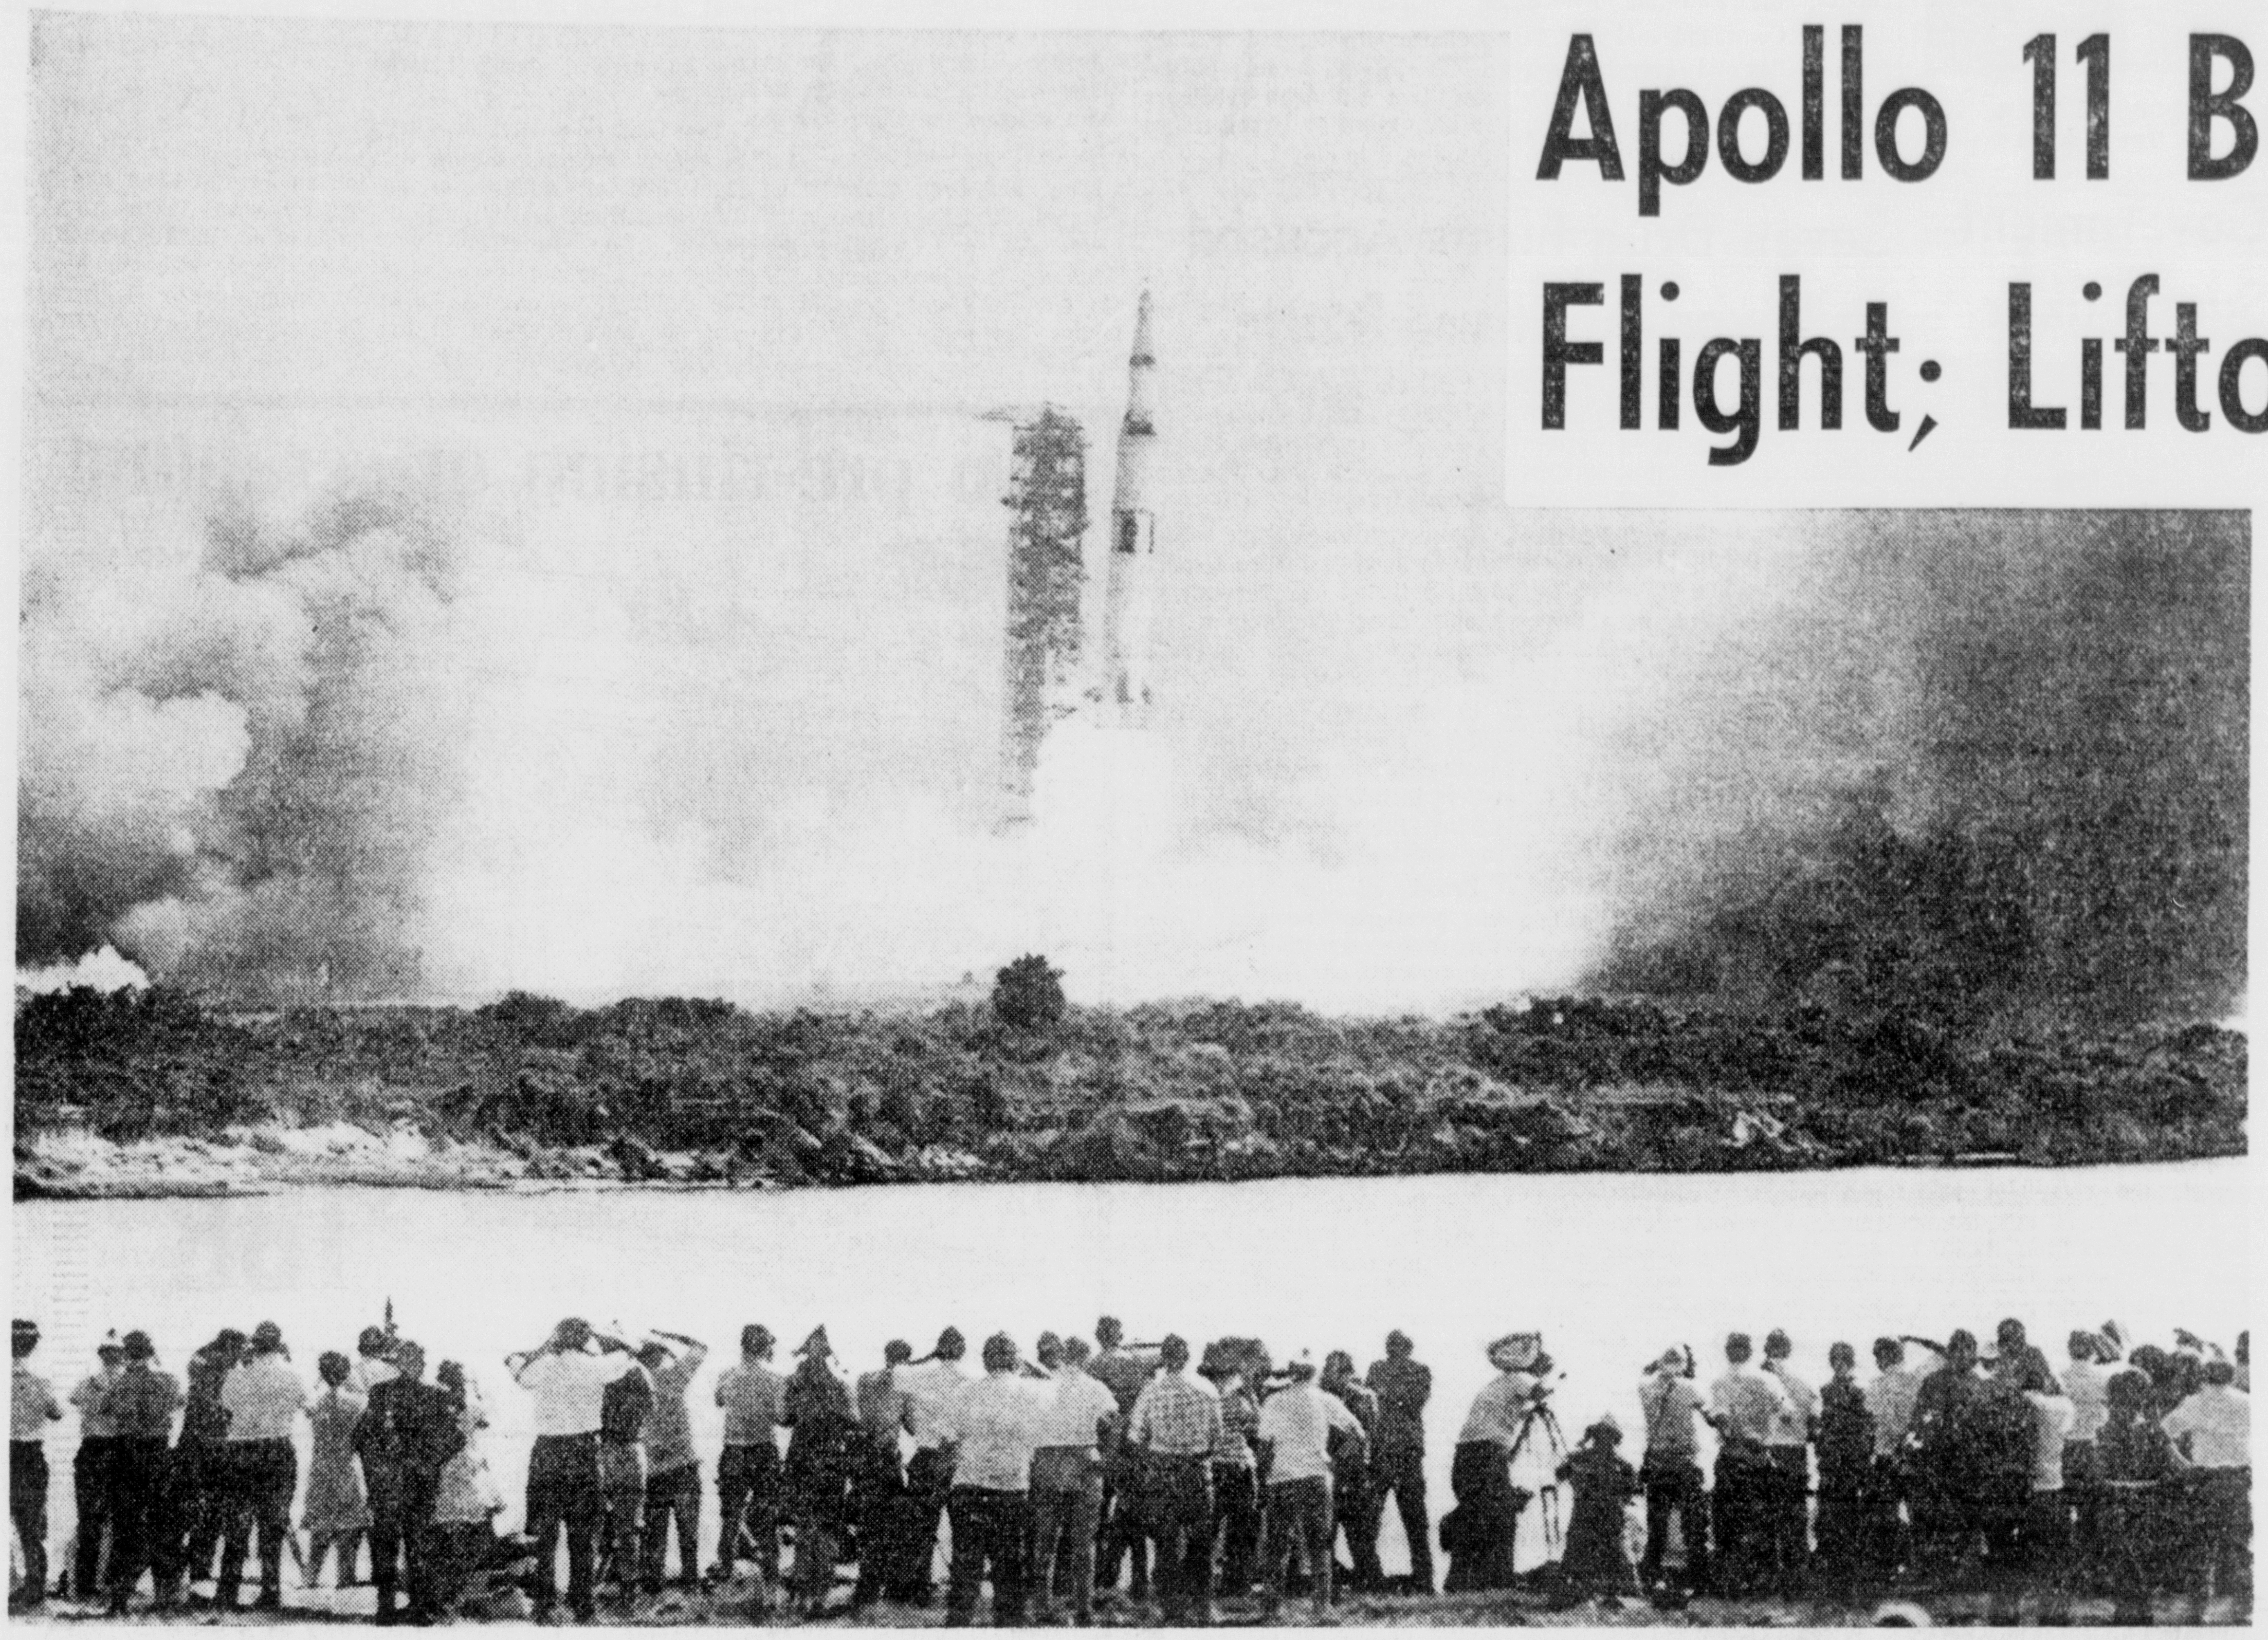
Apollo 11 Begins Moon Flight; Liftoff Is Perfect



The mighty power of Saturn 5 lifted Apollo 11 astronauts moonward from Cape Kennedy this morning as thousands lined up to watch.

(UPI Telephoto)

Mighty Saturn Puts Capsule On Target

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—With the men and their ship working perfectly, America's Apollo 11 astronauts hurtled through space today on a voyage of the ages, the first attempt to land men on the moon.

Civilian commander Neil A. Armstrong, 38; Air Force Col. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., 39, and Air Force Lt. Col. Michael Collins, 38, continued a performance that had been flawless since launch. They delicately separated their command module from a spent booster and then linked with the moon lander, still housed in the booster. (See other stories, pictures pages 10 and 34.)

The trio started its historic journey on a Saturn 5 rocket that thundered from Cape Kennedy right on schedule at 9:32 a.m. (EDT) and shot them into an orbit 118 miles high.

Two and one-half hours later, the still attached Saturn third stage fired again to hurl Apollo 11 out of earth's orbit and start it fleeting toward the moon.

Half an hour after this maneuver, the astronauts separated their command ship, pivoted around 180 degrees and gingerly poked its harpoon-like docking mechanism into a connecting device in the nose of the moon landing ship, or lunar module, cradled atop the third stage.

The two ships, locked nose to nose, streaked outward on the voyage of the ages toward their distant target.

After nearly an hour, the astronauts were to pull the lunar module (LM) out of its garage in the third stage and the spent rocket was to go into an orbit of the sun.

Springs ejected the linked command ship and moon lander from the rocket stage which had housed the lunar module.

The astronauts moved their craft clear and a later signal from the ground was to cause fuel and propellant to vent from

Next U.S. Goal Mars —Agnew

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew proposed a new American space goal of a manned flight to Mars today even as the Apollo 11 astronauts were just beginning man's first attempt to land on the moon.

"Someone is going to do it," he said.

Agnew said he chose Mars over Venus as the next celestial body to visit because "it seems a more compatible planet."

The vice president, one of some 500 special guests at the Apollo 11 launching, admitted he was in the minority of a four-man presidential committee now devising America's future space plans. The committee is to report to President Nixon on this fall.

The vice president first mentioned putting men on Mars in this century in an earlier televised interview.

"I think, we shouldn't be too timid to say by the end of this century we're going to put a

Sausalito Council Appoints Hicks

College teacher Wyman Hicks was named to the Sausalito City Council last night as Mayor Earl F. Dunphy rejected a vehement appeal by Sausalitan Warren Glass to appoint Marsha Owen (Sally Stanford) to the post.

(Another Sausalito City Council story, page 12.)

Dunphy refused to read Glass' letter backing Mrs. Owen, and said "the council obviously has made up its mind."

Mrs. Owen ran fourth in the 1968 council election approximately 25 votes behind George C. Hoffman, who resigned his council seat July 1.

Glass said Mrs. Owen was "a runner-up who none of you like . . . can tolerate . . . or even stomach," but said she should be the council choice.

When Glass had finished his brief speech and a verbal tangle with Dunphy, the council went ahead and appointed Hicks by a 4-0 vote.

Hicks, a native Californian who has lived 20 years in Sausalito, is an associate professor of management at Sonoma State College, and is on the educational policies council of the Academic Senate there.

He formerly was an economist with Crown Zellerbach Corp. He was a founder and former executive secretary of the Marin County Human Rights Commission, a former member of the Marin County Democratic Central Committee and former president and trustee of Marin Country Day School.

He was an Army captain in the Pacific Theater during World War II. Hicks is married and has two sons.

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales said today his office will look into possible violation of the Ralph M. Brown Act by the Sau-

U.S. Industrial Production Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Industrial production rose seven-tenths of 1 per cent in June to a seasonally adjusted figure of 173.9 per cent of the 1957-59 average, an increase of 5 percent above that of a year ago.

The Federal Reserve Board, in its report on business conditions, said nonfarm employment also increased during June while the unemployment rate edged downward.

The over-all unemployment rate declined to 3.4 per cent from the 3.5 per cent figure of April and May.

New Rules Stated In College Signups

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Junior college graduates have been given priority over incoming freshmen and graduate students in admission to the University of California and the State Colleges.

The coordinating Council for Higher Education yesterday adopted a new policy giving junior college transfers priority when U.C. or State College campuses are forced to limit enrollment.

Span Leaper Fourth To Survive Fall

A long-haired youth dressed in flowered bell bottoms plummeted almost 250 feet from the Golden Gate Bridge into San Francisco Bay yesterday, claiming he was obeying the will of his "leader."

(See photo, page 5.)

Moments later he floated up singing and became the fourth person to survive the plunge. He suffered only bruises.

The youth who, doctors said, was "suffering an extreme psychotic reaction from a drug overdose," was identified as James C. Layton, 20, of San Francisco.

Layton was discovered sitting on the bayside railing in midspan shortly before noon by a Tiburon girl and a Ukiah youth, and the California Highway Patrol's "suicide scanner" closed circuit television.

Peggy M. Cecil, 17, of 322 Karen Way, Tiburon, and John C. Pearson 18, of Ukiah, asked Layton what he was doing. He told them, "Goodby loves," as a roving patrol truck approached and stopped. Two men in the truck scrambled out and started to talk to the youth, "but he went right off the railing in a feet-first dive," they said.

Highway Patrolman Richard W. Ward, who witnessed the leap, reported, "He hit the water like a knife, as if slicing ice." A bridge engineer has estimated jumpers hit the water at

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan said today the Legislature may have to delay action on a property tax relief bill until next year.

"We may get ourselves in a position where we may have to postpone final action until next year," the Tracy Republican told a news conference. Senate President pro tem Howard Way R-Exeter, agreed legislative adjournment— scheduled for Aug. 6 or 8 — might prevent passage of a bill reducing property taxes.

"Time is running out," he said at the same news conference.

The two commented as Gov. Reagan's tax relief program was temporarily snagged, mired in opposition by Democrats, big business, the League of Women Voters and local government.

Monagan also said Assembly passage of a bill imposing a study-now, pay-later tuition plan on the University of California and the state colleges was a "futile exercise."

He said the measure can't take effect unless a constitutional amendment accompanying the plan is approved by two thirds vote of the legislators and the voters. He said he doubted whether it could get a two-thirds vote in the Assembly.

The Republican governor suffered a setback yesterday when the Assembly Elections and Constitutional Amendments Committee was forced to delay a vote on the plan because Democrats refused to support it.

Chairman Paul Priolo, R-Pacific Palisades, called for another vote today, hoping an absent Republican will return in time to push the measure out of the committee. From there it would go to the budget screening ways and means committee.

Reagan reacted angrily. In a statement issued through his press office, he said he was "shocked at the blatant partisanship of Democrats on the committee who showed a complete lack of concern for failing to help give California taxpayers meaningful tax reform.

"Their real concern was evidenced by the fact that only two Democratic committee members even bothered to stay for the vote on the measure," he said.

The rising opposition came as Reagan sought to gain the two-thirds majority required to push the plan through the legislature.

With Republicans in control of the Senate 21-19 and the Assembly 41-39, he'll need Democratic support.

In addition the plan — in the form of a bill and a constitutional amendment — would have to be approved by the voters in the June 1970 primary election.

The plan was heavily rewritten by committee members. As it now stands, the measure:

Raises the sales tax from four to five cents on the dollar — a 20 per cent hike.

Boosts the income tax by 25 per cent by imposing a new one per cent tax on gross income.

Imposes a statewide prop-

GOP Chiefs Prod Surtax Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Republican leaders prodded Senate Democratic leaders today to push for passage of the income surtax extension before Congress recesses Aug. 13.

"I think it would be very bad to have the surtax in doubt beyond the recess," Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy told a news conference.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen told the Senate he hopes the Democrats will not permit the extension bill to languish while inflation grows. He called that dangerous.

The Senate's Democratic policy committee has voted unanimously to delay the surtax extender until meaningful tax reforms are ready for Senate consideration.

NETWORKS SLATE APOLLO TELECAST

NEW YORK (AP) — Tomorrow's television network coverage of the Apollo 11 mission will include the first color telecast from the spacecraft.

NBC-TV network will carry live coverage from 4:30 to 4:50 p.m. (PDT); ABC from 4:30 to 5 p.m., and CBS from 4:30 to 5 p.m.

Astronaut Borman Joins President To Watch Launch

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon and astronaut Frank Borman watched on television today the Apollo 11 launch Nixon predicted would "lift the spirits of the American people and the whole world."

Nixon and Borman went into a small office beside the oval presidential office to witness the vent on a color TV set brought in for the occasion. Nixon has no TV set in his working quarters.

Borman, commander of the Apollo 8 mission last Christmas, has been given a temporary desk at the White House where he is serving as Nixon's briefing officer on the Apollo 11 flight.

In a telephone call last night to the three Apollo 11 astronauts, Nixon said the launch would lift spirits around the globe because the flight is the "greatest adventure man has ever undertaken."

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Homphrey In Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who has been in the Soviet Union on a private visit since July 9, says he's sure he will see some Soviet leaders during his stay in Moscow.

Humphrey declined, however, to say yesterday whether they would include Communist party chief Leonid Brezhnev, President Nikolai Podgorny or Premier Alexei Kosygin.

"I think I will have a very useful visit," the former vice president said.

Virginia Run-Offs

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — William C. Battle, a former U.S. ambassador to Australia, and state Sen. Henry E. Howell Jr. ran one-two in Virginia's Democratic gubernatorial primary yesterday and will meet in a runoff election Aug. 19.

Battle, son of former Gov. John S. Battle Sr., pulled in 39 per cent of the votes cast, while Howell drew 38 per cent. The third man in the Democratic primary, Lt. Gov. Fred G. Pollard, got 23 per cent.

Stennis Elected

Young Stennis, a Jackson attorney, won a seat yesterday in the Mississippi House of Representatives.

Weather Rockets

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has built what it calls the first permanent base for launching weather rockets inside the Antarctic Circle.

The official news agency Tass said the base is at the Soviet Molodezhnaya station in Antarctica. It said that with the rockets, which go up 60 miles, new information will be obtained about weather conditions.

Iwo Jima Victims

TOYKYO (AP) — The remains of 300 Japanese soldiers who died on Iwo Jima in World War II were brought back to Japan today by a group of government officials and bereaved family members.

The remains of 1,260 others will be brought to Japan in August for interment in the Chidorigafuchi Cemetery near the Imperial Palace.

AMA Backs Loans

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Medical Association, citing high interest rates and a tight money supply, has reversed its policy and approved federal loans to medical students.

The AMA's governing body, the House of Delegates, approved without dissent yesterday a resolution calling for an increase in federal financial support of medical schools.

The purpose: "To permit a major increase in the enrollment of medical students and the production of physicians."

Music Bequest

CLAREMONT (AP) — Scripps College reported yesterday that a $687,486 bequest from the estate of Cecil Frankel, Santa Monica insurance executive, will permit long-range development of the school's mucic program.

Government Sues Baker In Peddling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has sued Bobby Baker for part of the money the government claims he obtained peddling influence while secretary to Senate Democrats.

The civil damage claim was filed in U.S. District Court here yesterday, only two days before expiration of the six-year limitation on government action against one Baker contract.

The suit cited four fees as having been received by Baker, including one of $2,500 from Redwood National Bank, San Rafael.

The Justice Department also asked that Baker, now free while appealing a 1-3 year prison sentence, be forced to give a full accounting of his net worth.

Accusing the former South Carolina farm boy of conflict of interest, the complaint asked for Baker to show how his net worth increased from $11,000 to about $1.7 million during eight years in the Senate post.

Baker served as majority secretary while former President Lyndon B. Johnson was Senate Democratic leader. He resigned under fire in 1963 after being charged in a civil suit with influence peddling.

He was indicted on two counts of tax evasion, two counts of theft and one of fraud.

His latest appeal is now before the U.S. District Court here.

Israeli Killed During Gun Duel Over Canal

TEL AVIV (AP) — One Israeli soldier was killed as Egyptian and Israeli forces traded gunfire across the Suez Canal last night and early today, the Israeli army reported.

The firing centered in the Dwad Suwar region, midway along the 103-mile waterway, a spokesman said.

In Amman, the Jordanian capital, the Palestine Armed Struggle Command said four of its guerrillas and several Israeli soldiers were killed in a clash yesterday in the Jordan Valley, and that the Arab raiders destroyed three Israeli armored vehicles, two heavy machine guns and a radio post.

The Israeli army reported earlier that two Arab saboteurs were killed in the clash, but mentioned no Israeli casualties or damage.

The Israelis also reported two gun duels between Israeli and Jordanian forces in the Beisan Valley but said nothing about casualties.

Defense Minister Moshe Dayan told Knesset, Israel's parliament, that 119 Arab saboteurs had been killed by Israeli troops from Jan. 1 to July 7.

Seven Drug Firms Accused In Nixon Antitrust Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration, trying to lower spiraling drug prices through vigorous antitrust enforcement, has charged seven major drug firms with using a fraudulent patent to monopolize sales of a leading antibiotic.

The government, in a three-count civil suit, also demanded at least $25 million in damages —probably much more—from two of the companies, Charles Pfizer & Co. Inc. and American Cyanamid Co.

The action marked the second time in a week Justice Department antitrust enforcers moved against drug patents in a concerted drive for more competition in the industry.

In yesterday's suit, filed in federal court here, Pfizer was accused of obtaining a fraudulent patent in 1955 on the drug tetracycline, the nation's largest selling broad spectrum antibiotic.

Broad spectrum antibiotics are popularly known as "wonder drugs" for their ability to counteract and cure a broad range of illnesses and diseases.

In addition to Pfizer and Cyanamid, five other leading drug producers — Bristol-Myers Co., Olin-Mathieson Chemical Corp., Squibb Beech-Nut Inc., E. R. Squibb & Sons Inc. and the Upjohn Co.—were charged with conspiracy to monopolize the tetracycline trade.

That count stemmed, the government said, from licensing agreements under which Pfizer, Cyanamid and Bristol-Myers would manufacture the drug and all seven firms could sell it in dosage form.

Since taking office, the Nixon administration's antitrust chief, Asst. Atty. Gen. Richard W. McLaren, has taken the task force advice and directed probes of several licensing arrangements.

Man Convicted For Killing Rider

BAKERSFIELD (AP) — A Superior Court jury that convicted a San Antonio man of killing a hitchhiker will begin hearing the penalty phase of the trial today.

The penalty phase had been scheduled to start yesterday but it was delayed because several witnesses were unable to attend.

The jury of eight women and four men returned a first-degree murder verdict last Friday against Richard Welch, 24, in the death of Randall Jenkins, 17, of Salt Lake City.

Welch testified he shot Jenkins near Tehachapi and wounded Jenkins' companion, Diane Bradford, 19, of San Jose, because he was afraid the teenagers would harm him and his wife.

Track Medal Kills Worker, 19

CHICAGO (UPI)—A 19-year-old youth was electrocuted yesterday when the high school track medallion swinging from a chain around his neck touched a third rail at a Chicago Transit Authority elevated train station.

James Elias, who graduated from Carl Sandburg High School in Orland Park last month and was working as a summer employee for the Swanson Construction Co., was reaching across the tracks while applying bolts when his chain touched the third rail at 63rd Street and Loomis.

Elias, had been a leader on the high school's cross-country team. He was working for Swanson, a subcontractor for the CTA and was enrolled at Illinois University for the fall semester.

Lull Over Vietnam As Wheeler Arrives

Wheeler came to Saigon for four days of conferences at U.S. headquarters and field locations, a command spokesman said. Adm. John S. McCain Jr., U.S. commander in chief in the Pacific, arrived shortly before Wheeler.

The U.S. Command reported 26 enemy shellings during the night and an ambush of an American truck convoy north of Saigon. One American was killed and nine were wounded in the shellings, and one was killed and six were wounded in the ambush, a spokesman said.

The command also reported the loss of an OH6 observation helicopter, downed by enemy ground fire yesterday near Phuc Vinh, 37 miles north of Saigon. One American was reported killed in the crash, and two were injured. The report raised the announced total of helicopters lost in the war to 2,851.

DRIVING BEGINS BADLY FOR NOVATO BOY, 12

A 12-year-old Novato boy began his driving career with a flourish yesterday—running into a yard and backing into a police car.

Police reported they saw three small boys in a car about 8:30 a.m. yesterday on South Novato Boulevard. The boys apparently also saw the officer, turned off and ran into the yard of Lawrence G. Chapman, 1454 Cambridge Street.

The driver, Cameron F. Harr of 1639 Merritt Drive, then backed the car out of the yard and into the police car. He told officers he had practiced driving earlier and thought he was good enough to take the car out of the family driveway.

He was cited to juvenile authorities for auto theft, driving without a license and resisting arrest. The car belonged to Frank C. Woodward of 21 Alta Street, Petaluma.

Apollo 11 Moonward; Liftoff Is Perfect

the rocket stage. It was to go to an orbit of the sun.

Mission control told the astronauts earlier that "it looks like you're about 18, maybe 20 pounds, below normal" in the amount of control rocket fuel left.

"No problem at all," said a flight controller.

"I wanted it to be 18 to 20 poundf above nominal," said a disappointed Collins.

Collins said earlier he thought he used more fuel than planned during the docking maneuver.

The firing of the third stage increased their speed from about 17,400 to 24,200 miles per hour, enough to break the grip of earth's gravity.

It send them on the lunar trail blazed twice by man in the last seven months—by the Apollo 8 and 10 astronauts who came tantalizingly close as they orbited earth's only natural satellite.

"That Saturn gave us a magnificent ride," said Armstrong.

"It certainly looks like you're on your way," mission control replied.

"We have no complaints about any of the three stages on that ride," Armstrong reported.

The Apollo 11 crew planned to coast for three days, firing themselves into orbit 69 miles above the moon early Saturday afternoon to set the stage for the landing attempt.

During their first hours in space, the astronauts were very businesslike as they checked spaceship systems. There was very little conversation from the orbiting craft.

The Cape Kennedy launch was right on schedule.

"Houston, be advised the visual is go today," one of the astronauts said shortly after the spacecraft left the ground. "They finally gave me a window to look out."

Armstrong's first words on achieving orbit were very businesslike.

"The booster has been confirmed for orbital flight. Both spacecraft are looking good," he said. He referred to the still attached third stage of the Saturn 5 which was to ignite later to boost Apollo 11 toward the moon.

Sunday afternoon, Armstrong and Aldrin are to detach a lunar module and fly it down to a landing at the Sea of Tranquillity. Early the next day they are to fullfull a centuries-old dream by walking on and exploring the lunar landscape.

Civil defense officials estimated more than a million persons, the largest crowd ever to witness a Cape Kennedy launching, cheered as the great rocket lifted away from earth.

Thousands had camped overnight on beaches and other vantage points. Roads were jammed early in the morning.

Among those who watched the start of the moon mission from Cape Kennedy were former President Lyndon B. Johnson, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and Armstrong's wife, Janet, and their two sons, Eric, 12, and Mark, 6.

Also watching the start of the moon mission were Armstrong's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Armstrong in Wapakoneta, Ohio.

Mrs. Armstrong told newsmen she talked to her son the morning before launch.

"He was happy," she said. "His usual self. Just like he always is."

As the astronaut's parents spoke, one of the spacemen in the capsule told mission control: "It sure is clear down there. It's like sitting in your living room."

The astronauts go to the moon as men of peace, bearing the flags and messages of many lands.

They may not make it. For Apollo 11 is not only man's most ambitious space adventure but also the most dangerous.

The astronauts and space officials warned in advance that the flight might have to be aborted at any time, even up to the moment of lunar touchdown.

And if the two astronauts do land, there is a remote chance they could be stranded on the moon, with only two days of oxygen and no chance of rescue.

The astronauts have chosen as their symbol the drawing of an eagle swooping to the cratered surface, its talons gripping an olive branch.

As is the manner of men, Armstrong and Aldrin will plant an American flag on the surface as a symbol of conquest. But they will not claim this territory for the United States. To make this clear they will leave behind a plaque bearing these words:

"Here men from the planet earth

"First set foot upon the moon

"July 1969 A.D.

"We came in peace for all mankind."

They are to gather precious rocks from this new world, deploy scientific instruments and determine how well man in a bulky space suit can operate in the unfamiliar one-sixth gravity field on the moon.

Armstrong and Aldrin are to spend about two and one-half hours outside. In all they are to be on the moon less than a day.

But in that time they will have opened the limitless frontier of space a bit farther. The rocks they bring home may provide clues to the origin of the moon, the earth and even the solar system— and set the course for future expeditions to probe the universe beyond present imagination.

If all goes well, much of the world will watch the entire lunar surface activity beamed live via television from a camera the astronauts are to mount 30 feet away from their landing craft.

Television provided millions with a ringside seat for the blazing start of the momentous mission. Much of the world stood still as the 363-foot Saturn 5 roared into the sky.

The most powerful machine ever built sprayed the launch area with a dazzling sheet of flame as its five first-stage engines flashed to life and sent an unearthly howl rolling across the scrub and swamplands of the moonport.

The monster screamed on its pedestal for 8.9 seconds as a computer system made certain all engines ignited properly and built up full total thrust of 7.7 million pounds—equal to the power of more than 500 jet planes. When the computer When the computer sensed all was right, it commanded four 40,000-pound steel restraining arms to flip back to release the pulsating giant.

Gulping fuel at the rate of 15 tons a second, the rocket blazed into the heavens. Its millions of parts meshed, pulsed and interacted flawlessly and all three stages fired with precison to boost Apollo 11 to its first orbital plateau.

TAX

erty tax of $3.50 per each $100 of assessed valuation on nonresidential commercial business property and a $2 per $100 tax on farmland.

Ruth Funk, representing the League of Women Voters, objected to a provision putting the new tax rates in the constitution.

"You're singling out a particular segment of the economy," complained Thomas Knight of the California Manufacturers Association. He objected to the special business property tax.

The League of California Cities and the County Supervisors Association also spoke against the bill and the California Teachers Association had several criticisms.

VIPS

man on Mars," he said. "That's my judgment."

"I'm sure the way science has developed in the last 50 years, we'll have the capability."

The vice president said he is "on the minority side in wanting to forthrightly say we are going to Mars," among the administration's science advisers.

"Many people say, 'Why can't we utilize to some extent the unmanned part of the program to explore our own geography and our own biology and our own weather," rather than venture to the planets, Agnew said.

"We're all advisers to the President," he said. "He will make the ultimate decision."

Former President Lyndon B. Johnson, who served on space committees for years as senator and vice president, likened the pre-launch wait to "standing around the hospital room before your baby is born—you must be prepared to accept the worst, but you hope for the best."

After the launch, he said: "You never get the same feeling sitting in a room watching it on camera that you get when you're right there. I had a feeling of great concern for the outcome of their flight. We haven't reached the end. It's just the beginning."

As the Saturn 5 ignited and rose from the pad, some in the VIP section yelled "Come on baby. . . go baby!"

Johnson said the moon flight came from decisions reached only 12 years ago.

"If we can do all that in such a short time," the former president said, "I wonder why we can't put the same effort into peace for all time."

After the launch there were massive traffic jams on the roads out of the launch area. Cars and buses backed up in a line 10 miles long.

Three Hurt In Bridge Collision

Three persons were hospitalized, one in poor condition, following a head-on collision on Golden Gate Bridge at 10 p.m. yesterday, the California Highway Patrol reported.

James E. Gray Jr., 28, of 21 Chanticleer, Larkspur, was reported in poor condition in the intensive care unit at Marin General Hospital with severe skull cuts.

Brian W. Beggs, 21, and Paul R. Healey, 18, both of Peterborough, Ontario, were reported in fair condition at Marin General Hospital, each with a concussion.

The highway patrol said the accident occurred when Gray's car crossed the center line and hit Beggs' minibus.

Ex-Felon Admits Gun Possession

A misdemeanor charge of possessing someone else's credit card was dismissed.

He was arrested by the California Highway Patrol July 1 when officers stopped on Highway 101 to aid Smith who was getting out of his stalled car.

Kentfield Firehouse Dedication Saturday

Dedication ceremonies will be held at an open house from 2 to 5 p.m. Saturday at the Kentfield fire station at 1004 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

The $325,000 firehouse, completed last September, will be dedicated by E. C. Adams, chief engineer of the Pacific Fire Rating Bureau, San Francisco, while Peter A. Arrigoni, Marin County Supervisor, will be master of ceremonies.

The young postal clerk landed yards from a small fishing boat whose startled operators pulled him from the water. He was taken to Letterman General Hospital and then to San Francisco General Hospital where doctors said he was in satisfactory condition with no fractures.

He was the least seriously injured of the four survivors of the more than 350 persons who have made the jump since the bridge opened in 1937.

In 1941, Cornelia Van Ireland, then 22, suffered mulitple fractures; in 1965, Thomas Paul Tawzer, then 16, sustained broken ribs and a broken collarbone, and in 1967, Gene Robens, then 21, had internal injuries.

Layton told hospital officials he had taken LSD for 18 months and had taken mescaline Monday night.

His roommates reported the youth "has been on a spiritual trip lately," and yesterday gave them all his money, telling them to use what they needed.

He had been attending the Church of Cosmic Light in San Francisco and hoped to become a teacher in metaphysics, his roommates said.

He told the highway patrol he was following the teachings of his religion — "teachings I have learned through meditation." He added, "I guess maybe I might have tripped out by the guidance of my leader."

salito City Council which held a secret meeting July 7 to screen candidates for the council vacancy.

Bales said, however, he is "not contemplating at present" filing misdemeanor charges against the council.

The Sausalito council, it was disclosed yesterday, held the unannounced meeting in violation of the Brown Act because, according to Mayor Earl N. Dunphy, "Nobody even thought of it, to tell the truth . . . we just picked up the phone . . . and then we met and that was it."

Under the Brown Act, official bodies must give 24 hours advance notice of closed meetings to the public and the news media which have asked for notice, as the Independent-Journal has.

Tax Rate Defeat Idles New School

MONTEREY (UPI)—The defeat of a proposed school tax increase in Monterey County yesterday has prevented the opening of a new elementary school in the area.

A 24-cent tax increase, proposed by the Northern Monterey County Elementary School District, was defeated by Monterey voters 298-500. It was the fourth such defeat in the last four years.

As a result, school officials say no teachers can be hired to staff a new school building in Castroville and no additional supplies can be purchased for the remainder of the school district.

Assessor To Talk On Property Evaluation

John Chambers, chief county assessor, will discuss recent property assessment reevaluations at a meeting of the Old Tiburon Neighborhood Association at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at Old St. Hilary's Church in Tiburon.

Also to be discussed are street improvements, animal control ordinance, a 15-mile-per-hour speed limit on Mar West Street and election of new officers.

Call For Holiday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today urged that all Americans be given a holiday Monday to celebrate the scheduled first footfall of man on the moon — "a moment of transcendent drama."

Road and Track Magazine (May 1968) says:
"The BMW 1600 and 2002 are the best sedan buys in the world."

Next to BMW owners themselves, professional critics are the most enthusiastic endorsers of BMW performance. You'll understand why five minutes after you're behind a BMW wheel. Come in for a test drive soon!

OBITUARIES

James Gulick, 58, Succumbs

James Gulick, English teacher at San Rafael High School for 24 years and a resident of San Anselmo, died yesterday of cancer at his home after a two-month illness.

Gulick, 58, was born in Long Branch, N.J., and went as a boy to Paradise, Butte County, where his family ran a general store.

He received his bachelor's degree and teacher's credential from Chico State College and then entered the Army in World War II, serving as a corporal.

He then attended Stanford University and got his master's degree in English and a second teacher's credential.

Gulick taught for a short time at Selma Junior High School, Selma, Fresno County, then came to San Rafael High School in 1945.

He taught English through June, up until his illness. He coached the C track team when he first came to San Rafael High and was chess club adviser for many years.

Gulick's avocation was fruit growing and he had 90 trees in his garden at 45 Sais Avenue, including cherries, peaches and apples. He was recently experimenting with the New Zealand kiwi berry.

He was a member of the California Council of English Teachers, California Teachers Association and sang tenor in the Winifred Baker Chorale at Dominican College.

Gulick is survived by his wife, Frances, who was librarian at San Rafael High School, where the Gulicks met, from 1942 to 1954. Also surviving him are three daughters, Gail Lucil, Dorothy Ann and Letha Lynn Gulick, of San Anselmo; a brother, Robert L. Gulick of Glendale, Ariz., and a sister, Caroline Ingram of Monrovia, Los Angeles County.

Funeral will be at 1:30 p.m. Friday at the Chapel of the Hills Mortuary, San Anselmo. Interment will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

JUMP SURVIVOR

San Anselmo Park Land Funds Cut From Budget

The San Anselmo City Council last night eliminated $16,755 from the 1969-70 parks budget earmarked for purchase of the six-acre Jones property adjacent to Sorich Ranch.

The cut, made for economy reasons, brought the parks budget to $40,574. Included is $2,750 for two toilets at the Robson-Harrington Mansion and $2,000 for contingency funds for mansion roof repairs.

The council approved a 1969-70 recreation budget of $33,680 and a library budget of $61,234. The library budget was increased by $2,150 of which $1,650 is for 10 hours a week in added library salaries and $500 for a book drop.

The San Anselmo City Council Also:

FIRE HORN — Voted 3-1, Councilman James F. Reed voting "no" and Councilman Kenneth L. Anderson abstaining to continue to sound the fire horn from the city hall tower three times a day at 8 a.m., noon and 5 p.m.
mously reaffirmed its support mously reaffiremed its support of a Marin transit bus system and of a connecting route between San Anselmo and Terra Linda to be planned and built as soon as possible.

CIVIC PRIDE AND BEAUTIFICATION — Voted unanimously to recommend that San Anselmo not enter into the flood control district until esthetically acceptable plans have been accepted; that neighborhood groups be formed to study problems; that the council enforce existing laws to see that vacant property is adequately maintained and it continued action on a recommendation that parking lot A be developed into a twon plaza.

CITY DEVELOPMENT — Referred to the chamber of commerce recommendations that stores be encouraged to stay open one night a week and an investigation into craft type stores and said that the recommendation for an up-to-date general plan is now being pursued.

HUMAN RELATIONS — Referred to the San Anselmo Human Rights Board a recommendation that the board be given direct power by public referendum; heard from Councilman Reed that a proposed "Halfway House" for youth is beyond the city's fiscal ability and took no action on a recommendation for establishing a communications center.

Driver Fined $240

Richard Lewis Rock, 36, of 230 Del Casa Drive, Mill Valley, was placed on one year probation yesterday in Marin County Municipal Court and fined $240 for drunk driving. He was arrested April 24 in Sausalito.

Butchertown Gets New Name

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Butchertown, a 125-acre area south of Market Street, has a new name today.

The city's Redevelopment Agency voted last night to change the name of its Butchertown Redevelopment Project to Basin Industrial Park.

Butchertown got its name from the slaughterhouses it once supported but the agency decided the name wasn't appealing. Basin is a nearby part of San Francisco Bay.

The agency plans to raze buildings that house 109 buildings and industries in the area and 77 families.

Woman Struck By Gallon Bottle

A 26-year-old Corte Madera woman was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital after being struck over the head with a gallon bottle at about 10:30 p.m. yesterday by an unknown assailant, police reported.

Nancy Irwin Burgess of 403-A Chapman Drive is being treated for multiple head cuts.

Miss Burgess told police that she had taken a shower and stepped out, wrapped in her nightgown, when she was struck by a youth with long black hair, about 17 years of age, 5 foot, 10 inches, weighing about 155 pounds and wearing a brown wool shirt and blue jeans.

It was not disclosed how the youth entered the house.

Fall Victim Fair

William Purtell, 53, of 111 Buena Vista Avenue, Corte Madera, was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital as a result of a fall from a building at 1827 Second Street, San Rafael. According to police, Purtell suffered a cut scalp after a roof beam gave way with him.

Adebonojo Quits Hub's Rights Board

Dr. Festus Adebonojo last night resigned from the San Anselmo Human Rights Board saying the board now serves primarily to soothe the consciences of all the citizens. He said his written resignation-would be forthcoming.

Adebonojo, a pediatrician who has lived in San Anselmo five years, was asked by Councilman James F. Reed to reconsider but later, outside of the city hall, Adebonojo said his decision is "final."

Action came at a discussion of Town Meeting recommendations by the human relations panel, one recommendation being the call for a public referendum to give the human rights board direct power to deal with discriminatory practices in jobs, housing and education.

Adebonojo said the thing that made him resign from the board is that a local church "just about admitted that it practices discrimination in hiring of a minister by saying it didn't want to consider all applications that came before it . . . If a church did it and cannot be brought to account, I ask you, who cannot do it? A church of God."

Reed, who pleaded with the board member not to resign, said that the board's regulations come frrom the County of Marin but the board's power rests with the U.S. Attorney's Office.

"Any black man in Marin County has experienced discrimination," said Reed. "I think the only way to resolve it is to hear about it by getting it out in the open and work on it. We want your help."

Tri-Partite Session Canceled For Study

Today's morning meeting of the Tri-Partite Transportation Committee was canceled to give Marin and San Francisco officials time to review the ferry feasibility report issued last week by consultants Arthur D. Little Inc., secretary Seymour Kashin reported.

The committee, composed of officials from the two counties and the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District, has not met since March.

The Pacific Ocean touches five continents, North and South America, Asia, Australia and Annarctia.

Money, Marijuana: Teen-Agers Win Help

The San Anselmo City Council in an emotion-packed discussion of money and marijuana, last night voted unanimously on three programs to provide activities for teen-agers.

The council allocated $1,000 in the city recreation budget for teens, the exact purpose to be designated later.

It voted requested the city attorney to look into the legality of giving $500 to the Third Rail Coffee House, the San Anselmo teen center in the basement of the First Presbyterian Church.

The council authorized the parks and recreation commission to proceed with construction of picnic tables and campsites at Sorich Ranch Park without further council action.

The council implied that young people in the city might work to put the park into service this summer.

All three actions followed recommendations which grew out of the May 17 Town Meeting.

An argument over marijuana developed when Councilman Robert M. Scott said he is not opposed to subsidizing any group if the city controls it and he said he would object strenuously to hiring any directors who advocate the use or legalization of marijuana.

"I am sorry this has got down to name calling," responded Norman Leach, Third Rail Coffee House director, who said he has not advocated the use of marijuana.

Leach said drugs are not used at the Third Rail and added that he would leave his job if he thought this would mean more support for the coffee house. "I think the real issue shouldn't be the manager's personality but whether this city is going to invest money," he said.

Two teen-agers spoke during the evening, Dennis Gallagher saying that if the city decides to clean up its vacant lots, he knows youths who would be interested in being hired to help.

Charles Stewart, who called himself a "short-haired representative of the young adult community," said he knows Leach as a responsible person and "the kids (at the coffee house) are responsible in every case."

Dr. Festus Abebonojo told the council he was amazed at the amount of discussion about giving teen-agers in a community of 13,000 a "paltry $1,000." "If you turn them down right now," he continued, "you have no right later on when they turn against you in whatever form they do."

"I think the decision should be based on whether we give $1,000 to teens or not — not legalizing marijuana," said Councilman James F. Reed. He was applauded.

Maintenance Man Disciplined

Sherman R. Smith, formerly manager of the Bolinas Community Public Utility District, was suspended without pay for 30 days by the district board last night after charges against him were heard in closed session.

Smith had repeatedly failed to follow board orders in district operations, director George F. West said today, and had been warned about some of his actions two or three times before. West said Smith had been reduced to maintenance man several months ago in another disciplinary action by the board.

In open meeting, the board directed engineers Whitlow, Hoffman and Albritton to prepare final plans for a new pipeline to the end of Wharf Road for the Aug. 13 meeting.

The board also directed Kennedy Engineers to prepare a contour map of the Bolinas area for study in the proposed joint sewer system with Stinson Beach.

Cotati Trustees Approve Budget For Publication

The budget represents a decrease of $40,000 from 1968-69 expenditures and a continuation of the present tax rate of $2.06 per $100 assessed valuation.

A meeting of the finance committee was set for Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. to review the budget and prepare it for final adoption at the Aug. 5 board meeting.

The Cotati School District board also:

LAND PURCHASE — Approved the purchase of 2,000 square feet of land adjacent to the driveway at the new Thomas Page School on Madrone Avenue. Supt. Duncan A. Coleman said the purchase of land from Henry Eickmeyer for $300 would prevent the need for a $12,000 retaining wall. He said the extra driveway area would cost an additional $1,000 in paving work.

ROHNERT PLANS — Heard a report that preliminary drawings for the six classroom addition to the Waldo Rohnert School are 50 per cent complete and ready for study by the building committee.

PORTABLES — Approved the placement of two portable classrooms for trainable mentally retarded students on the Waldo Rohnert grounds. The buildings and classes will be maintained by the Sonoma County Schools office.

Theft Hearing Set

A preliminary hearing for Steven J. O'Brien, 19, of Mill Valley, was set yesterday for tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court. O'Brien is charged with stealing an auto tape deck in Mill Valley June 10.

BURIED TREASURE HUNTERS SCORE

Bill Increasing Lawmakers' Pay To Floor Of Assembly

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill inflating lawmakers pay 20 per cent to $19,200 a year in 1971 hit the Assembly floor today with the unanimous blessings of its committee watchdogs of the state Treasury.

The Assembly Ways and Means Committee, lower house controllers of California's purse strings, cleared the Senate-passed bill to the floor at the tag end of a hearing last night without a dissenting vote.

Salaries of the 120 lawmakers would rise $3,200 from the present $16,000 to $19,200 on Jan. 4, 1971. The new schedule would apply to the 80 assemblymen and 20 of the 40 senators elected in the 1970 elections, and for the last two years of the four-year terms won by 20 senators reelected last November.

The bill, by Sen. James Wedworth, D-Hawthorne, requires a two-thirds vote for passage to Gov. Ronald Reagan. No one doubted the 54 votes could be rounded up.

A spokesman for Reagan said the governor was "neutral" on the bill but would just as soon wait until the 1970 session to see it on his desk.

A. Alan Post, the legislature's analyst, defended the increase. "None of the salary adjustments in the state are tied to cost-of-living as such," he said. "It's really not germane."

He noted the Legislature raised judges' salaries 21 per cent over a four-year period.

Lawmakers also receive $25 a day expenses when in session or on legislative business plus other benefits like a leased car and gasoline credit card. Average pay received in 1967 was a little more than $21,000.

The present annual sessions and $16,000 pay scale were approved by the voters by a 2-1 margin in 1966 as Proposition 1-A.

Demos Seek Help To Restore Budget Items

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Senate Democrats today appealed to Republicans to help them override $118.1 million worth of vetoes by Gov. Ronald Reagan in the new state budget.

Democrats met behind closed doors yesterday and decided to try to restore nine items Reagan vetoed from the $6.2 billion record spending package.

"We thought these were the most worthy expenditures," caucus Chairman James R. Mills of San Diego said. "In each case it was the overwhelming opinion that these items were desirable."

However, it takes a two-thirds vote by each house to overturn the governor's veto. Republicans control the Senate 21-19 and the Assembly 41-39. Prospects for GOP members joining Democrats are remote.

Mills said the caucus decided to try Monday to override the blue penciled items. Reagan vetoed 25 items in all.

He said that no Republicans had yet been asked to join in the override attempt and added that there was no assurance all 19 Democrats will go along.

Mills said "We have 10" Democrats, which leaves those seeking to overturn vetoes the task of rounding up 17 other colleagues.

In recent history no governor has had his veto overridden.

Since the budget bill which was approved originated in the Senate that is where attempts to override must begin. If Senate Democrats are unsuccessful, the effort fails automatically.

Mills said among those items selected was $100 million for additional school assistance that Reagan sliced from the budget.

Democrats will also seek to restore the $7.6 million that was appropriated to pay off a loan for the California Exposition. Mills said Democrats wanted to pay off the loan rather than pay $700,000 annual interest on it.

Democrats will also seek to override the governor's veto of $1 million for a special program to admit academically unqualified and disadvantaged students to the University of California. Reagan said the university could find the money from its own funds.

Other vetoed items on the Democratic list for override include:

$4.6 million for additional pay raises for state employees.

$60,000 to plan for construction of a medical correctional facility at Otay Mesa in San Diego County.

$70,000 for a water contamination study in Gardena and Delano.

$500,000 for the Head Start preschool program.

$2.4 million for capital construction at junior colleges.

Felony, Theft Reports At 76

A total of 76 felony and theft reports were received by the Petaluma Police Department during the month of July, according to Police Chief Larry D. Higgins.

Included in the felony offenses were 15 burglaries, a robbery, 17 thefts over $50 in value and 35 thefts under $50. Ten of the felonies were cleared through arrests.

Chief Higgins said 322 misdemeanor reports were received and 742 complaints processed. A total of 295 moving traffic citations were issued and 38 accidents investigated, 11 of which involved injuries.

Mild Earthquake Shakes Paso Robles

The University of California seismograph station in Berkeley recorded a "moderate" temblor in the area at 9:22 p.m. The quake was felt by residents of Paso Robles and Atascadero.

Publication Budget Approved

A $1,118,614 publication budget for fiscal 1969-70 was adopted last night by the Shoreline Unified School District board, according to Supt. Charles E. McCully.

This is $47,813 more than the $1,070,801 preliminary budget.

The board set 8 p.m., Aug. 6 at the district office for public hearing and adoption of the budget, McCully said.

The publication budget calls for $3.17 per $100 assessed valuation operating tax rate, he said. McCaully said he did not know what the total tax rate would be because such fixed charges as retirement have not yet been figured out for the new district, he said.

The board hired Joan Smith as English teacher at Tomales High School at $8,630 per year; Charles Billings as half-time psychologist at $6,800 per year; Doris Chadwick as secretary at $456 per month, and Richard Lyttle as bus driver at $2.85 per hour.

Dillon Beach Sewer Cost Discussion Set For Friday

A meeting to inform the residents of the Dillon Beach area about the cost of sewers in that community will be held at 8 p.m. Friday in the old Tomales High School, according to Eugene Churchill, manager of the North Marin County Water District.

The water district has been requested to furnish sewage service to the proposed Oceana Marin Units 3 and 4, adjacent to Dillon Beach. If the entire area went into this project, a large enough sewage treatment plant could be constructed, Churchill said.

A meeting was held May 5 at which there was considerable interest shown in a sewer system for the entire area, Churchill said.

Preliminary estimates of the cost put the treatment plant and the sewers at $392,000. This would serve 1,085 residential units, according to the water district's survey.

If there is sufficient interest, the area can annex to the North Marin County Water District by petition to the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission.

If the area annexes to the district, a detailed study of the sewer facilities would be made. This could then be financed through an improvement district. After that, there would be the annual operation and maintenance costs of the district, Churchill said.

Heyns, Senate Leader Clash Over Unrest

WASHINGTON (AP) — The University of California's Berkeley chancellor disagrees with the chairman of a Senate subcommittee concerning unrest at the California campus.

Chancellor Roger W. Heyns asserted yesterday that disturbances in Berkeley last October resulted from a board of regents decision concerning lectures by Eldridge Cleaver, author and Black Panther Party leader.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., had tried to show at a hearing by his Senate permanent investigations subcommittee that the unrest resulted from Cleaver's lectures themselves.

STUDENTS APPLAUD

Heyns testified there was increased violence on the Berkeley campus this past year and said the "situation is still serious and not satisfactory."

Cleaver, now a fugitive, was scheduled to give 10 lectures on "racism in America" but regents passed a regulation that academic credit would not be given for any course at which an off campus speaker appeared more than once.

In defending a faculty vote to award credit, Heyns said it concerned the regents taking from the faculty the authority it had delegated 35 years before.

CLEAVER QUESTION

When McClellan, using questions, brought out that Cleaver was under indictment at the time of the lectures in the slaying of two policemen Heyns declared he believed Cleaver "had a contribution to make" to the class.

Although he said Cleaver would perform "a useful service," Heyns said that did not mean that "we agree or subscribe to his views."

Another witness was William C. Hanely, Berkeley's city manager who described riots in the university city.

"Drugs are getting harder and harder and violence worse" among those living on the fringes of the campus, he declared.

He told the subcommittee "I support the use of force when someone is disrupting the fabric of the entire community."

Rebuilding Ordered For Burned-Out Hall

BERKELEY (UPI)—University of California Chancellor Roger Heyns has given the go-ahead for a $500,000 rebuilding job on Wheeler Hall, which was gutted by an unexplained fire last February.

Reconstruction, expected to begin in about six months, was recommended by the Berkeley campus building and development committee. Campus architects said there would be a 650-seat auditorium and 40 offices and seminar rooms.

Cause of the fire was never determined.

Reports On Spending By Lobbyists Denied

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, denied yesterday widely published reports that up to $2 million was being spent by lobbyists for and against his bill to legalize betting on greyhound racing.

McCarthy told the Independent-Journal he introduced a similar bill last year, "but no one said anything." It was defeated in committee.

Both last year and this year, McCarthy said, he introduced the measures at the request of a Novato greyhound breeder, Mrs. Patricia Zwillinger of 300 Olive Avenue.

His bill languished for months in the Senate Governmental Efficiency Committee, but then last week was quietly given a do-pass recommendation and moved to the finance committee. It is expected to be heard there before the end of the week.

The battle finds two of California's most powerful lobbyists opposing one another, with Daniel J. Creedon representing the greyhound industry and James D. Garibaldi representing state horse racing interests which fear they will lose revenue if they have to compete with dogs. Nevada gambling interests also reportedly are opposing the bill.

McCarthy's bill (SB 398) originally would have legalized greyhound racing and betting throughout the state, but was amended to limit to the California Exposition — for 200 days a year.

In 1873, New York made Memorial Day a state observance. Soon all states except a few in the South followed New York's example.

Campus Editor Blasts Radicals Over Park Issue

BERKELEY (UPI) — The University of California's student newspaper has condemned this week's "senseless and irresponsible attack" on People's Park.

The Daily Cal editorial, written by editor Steve Duscha, was the toughest antiradical statement in the paper's recent history.

"We believe the vast majority of the people on this campus and in Berkeley will reject this brand of politics by terror," the editorial said.

"This senseless and irresponsible attack—an attack so contrary to the creative spirit which built the park—served only those revolutionaries of the left and those reactionaries of the right who wish to destroy."

"The establishment grows to hate those 'dirty commy-hippie rioters' and 'The People' grow to hate 'The Fascist Establishment' and nothing possible is accomplished," Duscha warned in his editorial.

Span Traffic Up

A total of 496,056 vehicles crossed the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge during April, up 31,751 over the same month last year, the Division of Bay Toll Crossings reported today. Toll revenue was $379,479, up $12,113 over April 1968.

Hitching Posts Prank Is Fined

Dennis Lee Roberts, 26, of San Francisco, and George Burt Reed, 27, of Pacifica were sentenced in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to fines of $25 each ordered to make restitution and placed on probation for one year for damaging a collection of antique iron hitching posts in Tiburon.

The two men were nabbed by a sheriff's officer June 6 as they loaded an iron dwarf and an iron jockey into their car near the Tiburon Playhouse.

The pair, originally charged with grand theft, yesterday pleaded guilty to a lesser charge of damaging property.

Convict Indicted In Murder Case

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The San Francisco Grand Jury has returned a murder indictment against a San Quentin convict accused of the June 22 slaying of a San Francisco opera singer.

Earl L. Miller, 25, a Los Angeles robber who failed to return to the prison after a 72-hour leave in May to look for a post-parole job, was held in connection with the fatal shooting of William H. Miles Jr., an opera singer under the name of Wilhelm von Naumann.

He was arrested in Los Angeles June 29.

At the same time, the grand jury on Monday dismissed a charge of assault with attempt to commit rape against another San Quentin inmate who also had been on furlough to find a job.

Robert J. Meengs, 42, had been arrested for an alleged assault at gunpoint on a 23-year-old San Francisco model. Meengs was turned over to prison authorities.

Vandalism, Bike Theft Reported

Police also said a $35 bicycle owned by Michael Lydon of 242 San Rafael Avenue was stolen sometime between Saturday and Sunday.

Policemen Carrying A New Weapon—Offender Tickets

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The city's 1,500 policemen today carried a new weapon in their crime-fighting arsenal—tickets.

The officers were armed with citations which they can issue to thieves, beggars, gamblers, litterbugs and other law violators rather than haul them to jail for booking after their arrest.

The tickets—similar to those issued traffic violators—are designed to free policemen from time-consuming custodial chores and allow them to spend more time patrolling the streets.

Under the citation plan which went into effect today, officers can issue the tickets at the scene of the crime to suspects who meet 13 criteria and sign an agreement to appear in court.

Backers of the new system hope it will help the poor and members of minority groups, who sometimes spend long periods in jail on minor charges because they can't post bail.

Chief Thomas Cahill and other police department officials expect ticketing to allow officers to spend more of their time protecting property and preventing crime—instead of hauling suspects to jail.

The city's policemen were issued general orders last week telling them when and to whom they could give the tickets. The final decision whether to tag or to jail was left to the arresting officer.

He may issue tickets to suspects in cases of petty theft, assault or battery, crimes against public peace or welfare, disorderly conduct, loitering, begging, trespassing, gambling, crimes against health and safety, abandonment or neglect.

The officer must jail suspects in all felony cases, sex crimes, narcotics violations, continuing crimes (such as drunkenness), violations requiring a physical examination (such as prostitution) or when the lawbreaker offered resistance or was armed.

He must issue a citation for all other misdemeanors—thousands of laws covering everything from littering to fortine telling—unless given permission by his commanding officer to jail the suspect.

However, all ticketed suspects must meet several qualifications—local inentification and residence, no outstanding warrants, no prior record of non-appearance in court or issuance of bench warrants, and a willingness to sign the ticket.

The officer will check a suspect's record with police headquarters by radio. If he qualifies for a ticket, the patrolman and suspect will reach a mutually agreeable date—at least five days away—for the suspect's court appearance.

Seven Fined For Drinking While Driving

Seven persons have been sentenced in Marin Municipal Court by Judge Peter Allen Smith for drunken driving.

Richard A. Henderson, 38, of 819 G Street, Petaluma was placed on one year probation and fined $273. He was arrested April 30 on Highway 101.

Albert Adolph Olsen, 51, of San Francisco, who was arrested July 7 on Highway 101, was placed on two years probation and fined $100.

Herman Berry, 59, of San Francisco, who was arrested last Tuesday on Highway 101, was placed on one year probation and fined $182.

Lois Elaine Cochran, 25, of 1825 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, was placed on one year probation and fined $225. She was arrested Friday on Highway 101.

Conrad Toral Kvam, 60, of 660 Las Colindas Road, San Rafael, who was arrested Thursday on Highway 101, was placed on one year probation and fined $273.

David John Peppard, 30, of Alameda, who was arrested July 5 in Sausalito, was placed on one year probation and fined $100.

Jeff Mack Hall, 71, of 516 Richardson Street, Sausalito, was placed on one year probation and fined $175.

Undersea Tent City Stemming Oil Flow

The current flow, a feeble aftermath of the once-massive gusher that spewed an oil slick covering up to 800 square miles of ocean, is described as "not a significant amount" by the Coast Guard.

The "tent city," according to its inventor, deserves the credit.

Richard Headrick, an engineering consultant, said five huge tents were put in place on the floor of the channel 206 feet below the ocean surface. The first tent was lowered 2½ months ago and the last about three weeks ago.

The tents, shaped like pyramids and 100 feet square, are each attached to a huge steel frame to hold them in place. A flat in the top of the tent holds the pyramid up, and the end result is sort of an inverted funnel with the oil rising to the tent's pointed top. A pipeline to the tent top then carries the oil to the surface to a Union Oil platform where processing begins.

Headrick says the tents cover about 70 per cent of the leak area and "are 100 per cent effective for the area covered." The inventor says his idea was one of "over 10,000 suggestions offered to Union Oil" in the wake of the blowout last January.

Coast Guard Lt. George Brown, who conducts surveillance flights over the channel, said the flow of oil seems to be decreasing. A spokesman at 11th Coast Guard District in Long Beach said that oil is still present but "not a significant amount."

Bank Robbers Prefer Fridays

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Friday, it seems, is the favored day for bank robbers in California.

The state attorney general's office, reporting yesterday on a study of such occurrences in 1967, said 148 took place on Fridays. The next highest day was Monday with 95.

The most frequent times for the holdups was from 2 to 3 p.m.

No Marriage Guides For Astrowives

Not Jan Armstrong, who understood that "Neil wanted to devote his life to what he's doing now."

Not Joan Aldrin, who learned on the amateur stage to lose her own identity.

Not Pat Collins, when she promised, like women the world over, "to have and to hold from this day forward . . ."

They have lived with it for years, this fantasy that one day man will go to the moon. This was the day. The men were their men.

50 WIVES

But not quite like the wives of the Apollo 11 crew. Nothing ever prepared a wife for a time such as this.

"I feel fine about it," said Mrs. Collins on the day before. "Everything seems to be going just fine."

WATCH TV

They always say such things to newsmen on the day before. But the lights and the television sets go on early in the space-made communities of Nassau Bay and Seabrook and Clear Lake and El Lago.

And as an electronic clock 1,040 miles away at Cape Kennedy, Fla., strangely counts backward to zero, there suddenly are no kids on the street and no housewives going for the paper or a street chat, and newsmen wait outside three homes to hear what the wives have to say when the clock starts going forward and everything is well.

Jan and Joan and Pat all have gone through it before. But nothing ever prepared a wife for a time such as this.

'THE BEGINNING'

"Gemini was the end of something," said Joan Aldrin, whose "Buzz" was on the last flight of that series and left his spacecraft for 5½ hours, establishing a record. "This flight," she added, "is the beginning."

Joan Aldrin commented that their sons, 13-year-old Michael and 11-year-old Andrew, and daughter Janice, who will be 12 next month, are becoming aware of the meaning of this flight.

Their fathers are going to the moon.

Antipoverty Workers Applaud Astronauts

"I'm proud of those three men, the astronauts," the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, leader of the antipoverty group, told a church rally last night in nearby Cocoa. Then he led about 300 marchers to the city hall for a midnight demonstration.

"America has mixed up priorities," he said. "I'm happy because we're going to the moon, but I'd be just a little more happy if we had learned how to live down here on the Earth."

Abernathy, successor to the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., met the nation's top space official yesterday and was invited "to hitch your wagon to our rockets" in a fight to solve humanity's problems on earth even as three astronauts readied for man's greatest adventure beyond his world.

Abernathy and other members of the Poor People's Campaign were assured of VIP seats by Thomas O. Paine, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, during a meeting near Gate 3 of the Kennedy Space Center.

Paine said he would provide VIP passes to the launch viewing site for 10 families—at the request of Abernathy, who is president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC).

Paine told Abernathy and about 100 followers who marched a short distance: "We feel the space program is a program for all Americans. We don't regard it as a program against the antipoverty program."

"We'd like to see you hitch your wagons to our rockets and we hope the space program will encourage this country to tackle other problems."

Nearly three million tourists visited Grand Teton National Park in Wyoming in 1968.

Russians Quickly Hear Of Takeoff

MOSCOW (AP) — With unusual speed Soviets news media today reported the launching of Apollo 11 on a mission to land Americans on the moon. Tass hailed the astronauts as "courageous people."

After a brief, quick factual dispatch from New York on the blastoff the official Soviet news agency added a longer description of the planned flight.

Tass introduced a section of its report giving biographical sketches of the astronauts with these words: "Who are those courageous people who were entrusted with the most responsible flight of landing on the moon?"

Space Problems

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A committee formed by Mayor William Ensign to help solve parking and meeting space problems had to delay its first meeting.

It couldn't find a place to meet.

VIPS TO FLORIDA

It's Like Waiting For Your First Baby—LBJ

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — "It's kind of like standing around the hospital room before your first baby is born," former President Lyndon B. Johnson said as he and 500 other special guests marked time before the Apollo 11 launching.

"You must be prepared to accept the worst, but you hope for the best," Johnson explained.

Vice President Spiro Agnew, like Johnson, arrived in the jam-packed Cape Kennedy area on the eve of the flight to the moon and attended a private dinner party given by Dr. Thomas O. Paine, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Not all the VIP's had housing in the immediate vicinity of this cape midway down Florida's east coast. Dr. Lee A. Dubridge, President Richard M. Nixon's science adviser, stayed overnight in Orlando, 50 miles away.

Sixty-nine ambassadors of foreign governments fly in this morning, as do many other visitors.

They protested the nation's high spending on space exploration compared to antipoverty programs.

Nixon originally was to have dined with the Apollo 11 astronauts on the eve of their departure from Earth. But he canceled this plan when space agency doctors expressed concern that Armstrong, Aldrin and Collins might catch a cold or other germ from the President.

Pet Parade Is Slated Tomorrow

Costumed Mill Valley youngsters will parade their pets through Lytton Square tomorrow in a special march sponsored by the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Department.

The pet parade, open to all youngsters, will begin at 1:30 p.m. on Miller Avenue near the Vogue Cleaners and will wind through the downtown to city hall where participants and their pets will be judged.

Prizes will be given to outstanding pets in several categories and to the best costumes.

Children from summer recreation programs at Alto, Homestead and Old Mill schools, Boyle and Sycamore parks and the junior and senior day camps at Old Mill Park will participate.

Machine Aids India's Snake Bite Victims

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Medical research workers have developed an inexpensive machine which may help reduce India's death toll from snake bites.

Because of inadequate medical facilities in rural areas, an estimated 20,000 persons die of snake bites—usually cobra—in India each year.

A team of anesthetists headed by Lt. Col. G. C. Tandon has developed a portable, hand-operated respirator which the doctors believe will keep a snake bite victim alive up to four days while he is being moved to a hospital.

PARALYZE MUSCLES

"Most snake poisons paralyze certain muscles and cause respiratory failure," Dr. Tandon said. "Surprisingly, the other toxic factors in cobra venom are not of major clinical importance. Thus our most important job is to keep the vital oxygen line free, and this is where our tiny pocket respirator comes in extremely handy.

"The most critical period for the snake bite victim is the time between the actual bite and the administration of antivenin—an average five to six hours or even more." Several years ago, Tandon's only son, an army engineer, died in a drowning accident. "Since then I've always pondered over my plans to invent a small artificial respirator which could be attached to a swimmer's kit," he said.

The pocket respirator resembles a toy accordion. It can be manufactured for 20 rupees (less than $3) and can be operated without special training.

TWO YEARS' WORK

Tandon is the head of the department of anesthesiology in the All India Institute of Medical Sciences. He and his colleagues spent two years developing and testing their respirator. They picked up 30 stray dogs from the streets and injected cobra venom into their veins.

"These lethal doses normally would kill a dog within 45 minutes unless antivenin was administered," Dr. Tandon said. "But we kept the dogs breathing for as long as four or five days with the help of artificial respiration and then administered antivenin. The dogs lived."

India's major killer snakes are cobras, two varieties of vipers, and kraits. The cobra is the big killer. According to Tandon a six-foot cobra contains enough poison to kill 100 persons.

About 80 per cent of India's 531 million people live in villages, where most of the snake bites occur. Hospital facilities are scant in the rural areas, and the only known antidote for snake bites, antivenin serum, requires special storage conditions which are not available in rural villages.

Larkspur Stores Revision Sought

Robert L. Hamann will ask the Larkspur Planning Commission at its 8 p.m. meeting Tuesday for permission to convert four stores on the lower floor of his building at 503-505 Cane Street to four apartments.

The commission will hear an application from Alice E. Sohner to change the zoning of about three acres at the northwest corner of Magnolia Avenue and Bon Air Road from residential to administrative-professional.

Dr. Louis J. Geissberger will ask the commission to allow the addition of optical shop and pharmacy as permitted uses in an existing medical-dental building at 1331 South Eliseo Drive.

One reason so many people are named Smith dates back to early times when names were selected from occupations. Smith originated from tradesmen such as blacksmiths, locksmiths, etc.

Revolutionary Ideas, Tactics To Be Viewed

Revolution, a course which has the purpose of informing Marin County residents — especially high school youngsters — of revolutionary ideas and tactics of various organizations, will begin tomorrow at 7 p.m. at the College of Marin.

It is sponsored by the Students for a Democratic Society and taught by Dennis Marnell of San Rafael, an anarchist and SDS member.

The class is within the Experimental College and not related to the College of Marin's summer instructional program in which about 1,700 students are enrolled.

"The board of trustees would be very unhappy to sanction something like this," said Acting Supt.-President Louis H. Herkenhoff.

However, he added, having it under the Experimental College, it provides a healthy release for some of the college students' energy. And, said Herkenhoff, whereas it can be implemented over night by the Experimental College, if it had to go through the curriculum committee and get board approval, it would take months.

Marnell said that there will be two or three films shown tomorrow in the class at the teacher's lounge in the Student Center. Produced by San Francisco Newsreel, one is on the struggle and community control in the black and Puerto Rican ghettos of New York, the other on the cleaning up of garbage during the New York strike.

During the course there will be talks by members of the Red Guard, Women's Liberation Movement, Black Panther Party, Progressive Labor Party, the Resistance, the Black Students Union and the Brown Berets.

Marnell, who said he is working toward a national revolution, said that the SDS plans, at the end of the course, to get students to put theory into practice. For example, taking part in such activities as Black Panther breakfasts for children in San Francisco.

Under the Maoist definition, said Marnell, revolution is the seizure of state power and the installment of the dictatorship of the proletariat.

As an anarchist, the student said, "I don't believe in the dictatorship of the proletariat."

Darin Charges CBS Censorship

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bobby Darin has sued Jackie Gleason and the Columbia Broadcasting System for $238,756 damages, contending he wasn't allowed to sing his own composition on the comedian's April 19 television show taped on Jan. 13.

The song is "Long Line Rider" and concerns discovery of inmates' bodies on an Arkansas prison farm.

Darin said in the suit filed yesterday he was told that CBS, at Gleason's urging, turned down the song before the show was taped on the ground it was "objectionable."

Darin said he couldn't substitute another song and thus didn't appear on the show.

He asked $138,756 general damages and $100,000 punitive damages.

Pleads Innocent

Steven E. Bigelow, 19, of Larkspur, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of burglary Oct. 23 in Alto. Judge Peter Allen Smith set a preliminary hearing for July 21.

Marine World Visit Is Scheduled Tuesday

A special day-long visit to Marine World in Redwood City for Mill Valley children will be sponsored by the city's parks and recreation department from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday.

Signups are now being taken at the Mill Valley Golf Clubhouse on a first come, first served basis. Buses will leave from the Purity Market parking lot, East Blithedale Avenue at Camino Alto, at 9:30 a.m. promptly, according to John Garber, recreation supervisor.

Development Company Status To Be Studied

The status of the Marin Development Co., and a proposal by the company to proceed with development in Marin City, will be discussed when the Marin County Redevelopment Agency meets at 8:30 p.m. today in the Manzanita Center, Marin City.

Marin Development Co. has been under fire in the community for the slow pace of redevelopment, and there have been requests the company be declared in default of its contract and excluded from further Marin City development.

The Marin County Housing Authority, meeting at 7:30 p.m. today in the Manzanita Center, will discuss a planned modernization program for Marin City public housing, for which a $289,731 federal loan will be available, Donald O. Stutsman, executive director said.

Mississippi and Louisiana have the same state flower, the magnolia tree blossom.

Sausalito Gets Boat Use To Aid In Rescues In Bay

Sausalito firemen will have a boat part time for San Francisco Bay rescues, the Sausalito City Council voted last night after heated debate.

Councilman Robin Sweeny, who raised a series of objections to the proposal, was on the short end of a 4-1 vote authorizing the boat's use.

Clipper Yacht Co. offered free use of the 26-foot work boat if the city agreed to indemnify Clipper of any loss during city use.

Mrs. Sweeny questioned the condition of the boat, training to be given, rescue crews and planning of the project.

Fire Chief Charles E. Masten said the boat is in excellent condition, and he has four firemen with training in boat handling.

"There's nothing more disquieting," Masten said, "than to stand on the shore watching someone in trouble . . . and not be able to do anything about it. This is only a service . . . if you don't want us rushing around the bay saving lives, fine."

According to the agreement, Clipper will man the boat for rescues during business hours. At other times the boat will be available for firemen to use. The city would indemnify Clipper from any loss occurring during rescue operations.

Masten had less luck persuading the council to authorize two more fire captains in the department. Councilmen postponed action until a fire rating inspection which City Mgr. George M. Patterson said should come this year.

Masten said more captains are needed so each shift will have a captain in command. There are two captains now.

Insurance agent Frank Klienmann said the promotions might help the city get a better fire rating in the next inspection.

Mayor Earl N. Dunphy said the change would give the department eight officers and 10 firemen, making it too top-heavy.

The Sausalito City Council also:

SAFETY — Was given a pedestrian safety citation award by the California State Automobile Association, the 14th consecutive year the city has earned the citation.

PARKING — Approved a change in parking layout at the 7-11 store at Bridgeway and Easterby Street to improve access.

APARTMENT — Let stand a planning commission denial of an application by Loyal Davis to build a 19-unit apartment at an unfinished building on Lincoln Drive. The planning commission recommended a limit of 15 units.

BUS STOP — Rejected a recommendation by the community architectural advisory board that plans for a new bus stop at Bridgeway and Nevada Street be scrapped and an architect design new plans. The plans, drawn by public works, are already out to bid, Dunphy said.

CONSTRUCTION — Approved uniform construction standards prepared by the Marin County Public Works Association.

HEARING — Set a public hearing for 8 p.m. Aug. 5 at city hall on condemnation of sewer easements serving a proposed lot split on Sausalito Boulevard property owned by Bernice Andron.

LITIGATION — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at city hall for a closed session on pending litigation.

Shipyard Funding For Another Year

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — American taxpayers will continue for another year to subsidize American shipyards under a bill by Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, that has been signed by President Richard M. Nixon.

The bill subsidizes ship operators for up to 55 per cent of their additional cost of having a ship built in an American shipyard instead of in a foreign yard. The bill also extends the 60 per cent subsidy ceiling to reconstruct or recondition passenger vessels in American shipyards.

Soviet Warships In Mexican Gulf

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five Soviet war vessels were about 250 miles from Key West, Fla., in the Gulf of Mexico this morning, the Pentagon reported.

A spokesman said the squadron, including a cruiser, a frigate, a destroyer, and two submarines, were "maneuvering around. There was no indication where the Soviet squadron might head before its announced visit to Cuba starting July 20.

Three replenishment ships, two oilers and a submarine tender, were about 75 miles west of Key West, where they have been for more than two days.

The Pentagon spokesman avoided saying the United Sates would observe the ships when they arrived in Cuba, presumably Havana.

Marin's Assesssed Property Valuation—$548.8 Million

The value of assessed property in Marin County yesterday was placed at $548.8 million — an increase of 4 per cent over last year's figure of $527.6 million.

The increase was the smallest in more than 20 years, said Michael Mitchell, county auditor-controller.

And it means that the current estimated county tax rate for 1969-70 is now $2.395 per $100 assessed valuation, a 3-cent drop from the last estimate but 12.5 cents more than last year's rate of $2.27, Mitchell said.

A breakdown by city and school district of the county assessment rolls was delivered to the county board of supervisors by Assessor Bert W. Broemmel.

The $548.8 million figure does not include assessed value of public utilities, which is made by the state Board of Equalization. That figure is expected in late August, when the supervisors will determine the official tax rate.

The supervisors are faced with financing $13.5 million of the $34.3 million budget for 1969-70 from property taxes.

County officials have blamed the projected rise in the tax rate on the small increase in assessed valuation, inflation and increases in costs for welfare and mental health programs and in other areas.

Broemmel also said 13,105 acres were added this year to coverage under agricultural preserve agreements, lowering the tax base by about $6 million. Under the agreements, land owners maintain their acreage as open space for 10 years and in return the land is assessed not on its market value, but on the income it generates.

Homeowners will bear 52.1 per cent of the county's property tax levy in 1969-70, Broemmel said. The figure is down 3.7 per cent, a direct result of the new $750 exemption for qualified homeowners.

The state is to reimburse local governments for losses through the exemption from revenue acquired through sales and income taxes.

A 15 per cent business inventory exemption also goes into effect for the first time this year, with the state likewise to reimburse local governments, in this case from Bank and Corporation Tax revenues.

Mitchell estimated Marin County would receive $2.7 million in reimbursements from the state.

The breakdown of assessments shows five school districts with decreases in valuation and 17 with increases. Nine of 11 municipalities showed increases three at more than 10 per cent, while two were relatively unchanged.

New assessment figures for elementary school districts:

Bolinas-Stinson Union, $9.9 million, up 5.9 per cent; Dixie, $47.5 million, up 4.7 per cent; Fairfax, $17.2 million, up 5.4; Kentfield, $37.6 million, up 8.5; Laguna, $1.2 million, down 6.5; Lagunitas, $6.2 million, up .7; Larkspur, $34 million, up 5; Lincoln, $1.2 million, down 4.4.

Mill Valley, $68.5 million, up 8.1; Nicasio, $2.4 million, down 1.1; Reed Union, $47.9 million, up 6; Ross, $11.2 million, down .3; San Anselmo, $33 million, up .8; San Rafael, $109.3 million, up 1.4; Sausalito, $31.3 million, up 2; Union Joint, $374,071, up .5.

Unified school districts:

Novato, $72.3 million, up 3.3 per cent; Shoreline (succeeds West Marin Union, Tomales Elementary and Tomales High), $16.8 million, up 4.1.

High school districts:

Petaluma, $2.9 million, down 4.7 per cent; San Rafael, $156.0 million, up 2.4, and Tamalpais, $299.7 million, up 5.2.

Municipal figures were:

Belvedere, $13.5 million, only a fractional change; Corte Madera, $23.9 million, up 3.7 per cent; Fairfax, $14.5 million, up 7.3; Larkspur, $27.1 million, up 13.6; Mill Valley, $35.8 million, up 16.9; Novato, $49.8 million, up 5.3 per cent; Ross, $9.7 million, only fractional change; San Anselmo, $26.2 million, up 1.1; San Rafael, $116.3 million, up 2.9; Sausalito, $26.8 million, up 1.8, and Tiburon, $21.3 million, up 11.4.

Extra Hire Workers Authorized For Emergency Radio Network

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday authorized the county communications department to use extra hire personnel and to contract on a temporary basis with two private firms to continue maintenance of county's emergency radio network.

The action was taken to insure uninterrupted operation of the system, which serves about 500 mobile and 60 fixed police, fire, ambulance and other emergency units, while replacements are sought for three technicians. Two of the technicians quit last week and two others quit earlier. One will not be replaced.

The supervisors were told yesterday that County Administrator Alan Bruce is conducting an investigation of "a variety of charges made by departing employees and other persons."

Operation of the emergency communications network, meanwhile, is continuing at normal levels, communications director John H. Atkinson told the Independent-Journal.

Under the action yesterday, the county will use "extra hire" to maintain the system's equipment. In addition, senior administrative analyst Timothy M. Jackson told the board that Delta Industrial Communications and Engineering and Radio Communications Service both of San Rafael, have agreed to provide maintenance service to the county on request.

One new technician was to be officially hired today at $937 a month and county officials said the two other vacancies were expected to be filled soon. A fourth technician will not be hired although an assistant director is being sought.

One of the departing employees, Francis Strohmeyer, accused Atkinson of harassing the technicians into quitting. Atkinson flatly denied the charge.

Randall M. Prevo, head of the Marin County Employees Association, also said he had received "considerable reports of harassment" of the departed employees by Atkinson.

Some of the technicians who quit had been unhappy with changes instituted by Atkinson since he succeeded J. Mansfield Lewis as head of the communications department earlier this year.

The supervisors last month refused, at least for the next year, to grant Atkinson's request for the biggest change, which would put the system into private hands on a contract basis. Atkinson contended the move would save the county $17,500 a year

In a letter to the supervisors yesterday, Jackson said that the administrator is investigating charges against Atkinson "carefully and objectively, without pre-conceptions."

He said Bruce would take action or recommend board action if warranted "and in any case, will make a full report in order that public confidence may be restored."

10 Marinites Get CPA Certificates

Ten Marin County residents have been awarded certified public accountant certificates by the state Board of Accountancy.

They are: James D. Kirsner, John J. Walley of Sausalito, Fern I. Kruck, Peter Ansdell, Lawrence J. Chazen of Mill Valley, Dean J. Moser of Novato, J. Scott Maze of Tiburon, Robert A. Maloney, Thomas G. Moore and Dennis S. Parsons of San Rafael.

College Board Sets Hearing On Budget

The Marin Junior College District board will consider adoption of both the 1969-70 preliminary district budget and the Associated Students budget at its 8 p.m. meeting tomorrow in the Fine Arts Building.

Also on the agenda is discussion of flood control easements sought by the Army Corps of Engineers for Stage III of the Corte Madera Flood Control project for which the district is to be compensated.

Teen-Agers Face 12 Murder Counts

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (AP) — Two teen-agers have been indicted on 12 counts of murder each in connection with the June 8 house fire that killed their mother and father and their 10 brothers and sisters.

Susie Bailey, 15, and her brother, Roger, 13, originally were charged with murdering their father, but the Wood County grand jury yesterday returned indictments charging the pair with 12 counts of murder each. They will be arraigned Friday.

Police said Susie and Roger admitted pouring gasoline throughout the Baileys' six-room, frame and tarpaper home and throwing a burning piece of paper through an open window to touch it off.

Mental Care Plan Gains Board's Nod

A citizens' committee plan for mental health care in Marin was accepted by the board of supervisors yesterday, but its eventual use was qualified by modifications submitted by the Marin Mental Health Advisory Board.

The plan sets up priorities in mental health needs in 62 areas and is the product of two years work by a committee headed by federal Judge Richard M. Sims Jr. of Belvedere.

Sims appeared in the supervisors chambers to defend the report. He challenged a statement by Dr. Paul A. Steinman, chairman of the advisory board, that the citizens' report by and large ignored emphasis on preventive programs.

Stienman also said, in a letter to supervisors, the advisory board supports outpatient services on a wider scale than suggested by the citizens' group, sees limitations in group counseling, and backs comprehensive mental retardation programs.

The advisory board also wanted greater allowances for planning and research.

Stienman in addition said a suggestion that evaluation services be obtained from the Bay Area Social Planning Council did not acknowledge that responsibility for that function already in the hands of the advisory board and the county mental health services director.

However, Sims assured the supervisors the Bay Area group, which organized the citizens' committee, was not out to "intrude on government."

The supervisors took up the issue of evaluation by the council as a separate measure, and after terming it a "supplementary review," voted 4-1 to accept the offer with Chairman John F. McInnis voting against it.

Teens Get $500 For Center Aboard Ark

A group called Students of the Tiburon Peninsula (STP) was given $500 by the County of Marin yesterday to help finance a drop-in center in a remodeled ark in Tiburon.

The funds, voted conditionally by the board of supervisors, sweetened a pot that already included $1,075 — $575 in private donations and $250 each from the cities of Belvedere and Tiburon.

The youths said they wanted to charge admittance to young persons living outside the Tiburon Peninsula and limit membership to student residents of the peninsula, but the supervisors — said they would not spend money on an exclusive club.

The youths said they would drop the restrictions.

County Administrator Alan Bruce opposed the appropriation — drawn from contingency funds — unless it were reviewed by the county youth commission when it formed in the fall and unless guarantees of other financial aid were furnished.

Pierre W. Joske, county parks and recreation director, and the Tiburon City Council sent letters strongly endorsing the appropriation.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

SHORELINE HIGHWAY — Deferred indefinitely wording revisions to criteria for development of a new Shoreline Highway. The Marin County Real Estate Board asked reactivation of new route studies.

SURPLUS LAND — Upheld present methods of disposing of surplus property, voting to auction land on the Larkspur Boardwalk and accept bids for property on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Kentfield. Supervisor Louis H. Baar said county land sales should be handled by the Marin County Real Estate Board.

BEER — Granted permission for the sponsors of the Kiwanis Air Show at Gnoss Field Aug. 16 and 17 to sell beer, subject to obtaining necessary licenses.

PLAY YARD — Approved an agreement with the Marin City Community Services District to contribute $6.633 for operation of a recreation program for children between 3 and 8.

STOP SIGNS — Authorized installation of two stop signs at Crescent Drive and Oak Grove Avenue, Woodacre, to halt traffic entering Oak Grove.

FAIR DISPLAY — Approved the county's California State Fair display, featuring an animated Sir Francis Drake figure, accompanied by murals of Point Reyes, a stand of redwoods, a map of Marin and six screen panels which open out to reveal county scenes. The budget allots $7,000 to the exhibit.

STATE PARKS — Referred back to the county planning commission a letter prepared for the board at commission behest and addressed to Marin legislators deploring the closing of Pan Toll and Bootjack camps in Mount Tamalpais State Park. The supervisors wanted a more detailed look at the situation of which Supervisor Michael Wornum said, "To close the campsites down because the state can't police them is crazy logic to me."

LIBRARY — Appointed Supervisors Michael Wornum and Louis H. Baar to a screening committee headed by the town manager of Corte Madera to select an architect for the Corte Madera Branch Library.

YOUTH CORPS — Authorized the board chairman's signature on letters to Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz and several congressmen protesting the 33 per cent enrollment cuts in the Neighborhood Youth Corps and the limitations on the age of enrollees.

Nuclear Test Starts Tremors

YUCCA FLATS, Nev. (UPI) — An underground nuclear test was set off at 7:55 a.m. PDT and the resultant tremor registered on seismographs as far as 300 miles distant.

The Atomic Energy Commission said the test was of low intermediate yield, between 20 and 200 kilotons, and equivalent to a maximum of 200,000 tons of TNT.

Seismographs at Pasadena and Phoenix recorded the blast.

Remember Chinese For Summer Meals

There's hardly a cook in a carload who wouldn't swap her most closely guarded culinary secret for a recipe for keeping her cool in the kitchen on summer evenings. The best way is cooking Chinese: it's quick, it's easy, it's practically a chiller. And it will get you out of the kitchen and into the swim in record time.

One of the coolest ways we know to treat your family and friends is the Far Eastern Sea Fruit supper. It evokes picturesque images of Chinese shrimp boats against a fiery Oriental sunset and guarantees gastronomic satisfaction for the heartiest appetites.

SHRIMP AND CHINESE MUSHROOMS

10 dried black mushrooms
2½ pounds raw shrimp
2 or 3 slices fresh ginger root
¼ cup of oil
¼ cup soy sauce
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup chicken broth

Soak dried mushrooms. Shell and devein shrimp. Crush ginger root. Slice soaked mushrooms. Heat oil. Add ginger; stir-fry a few times. Add shrimp and stir-fry until pinkish (about 2 minutes) at 375 F. Add soy sauce and salt; stir-fry 2 minutes more. Remove shrimp from pan. Add mushrooms; stir-fry to coat with oil. Stir in stock and heat quickly. Then cook, covered, 2 or 3 minutes over medium heat. Serve at once.

Serves 6.

PIMENTO RICE

2 cups raw rice
2 tablespoons chopped pimento
1 scallion, minced
3 tablespoons soy sauce
2 tablespoons oil
½ teaspoon sugar

Boil or steam rice. Add pimento and scallion to cooked rice, along with soy sauce, oil and sugar. Mix well to blend; then serve.

Serves 6 to 8.

BEAN SPROUTS AND CELERY

2-4 celery stalks, sliced
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon soy sauce
¼ cup stock

Blanch bean sprouts and stir in celery. Add salt, soy sauce and stock. Cover and simmer until sprouts are tender. Serve at once.

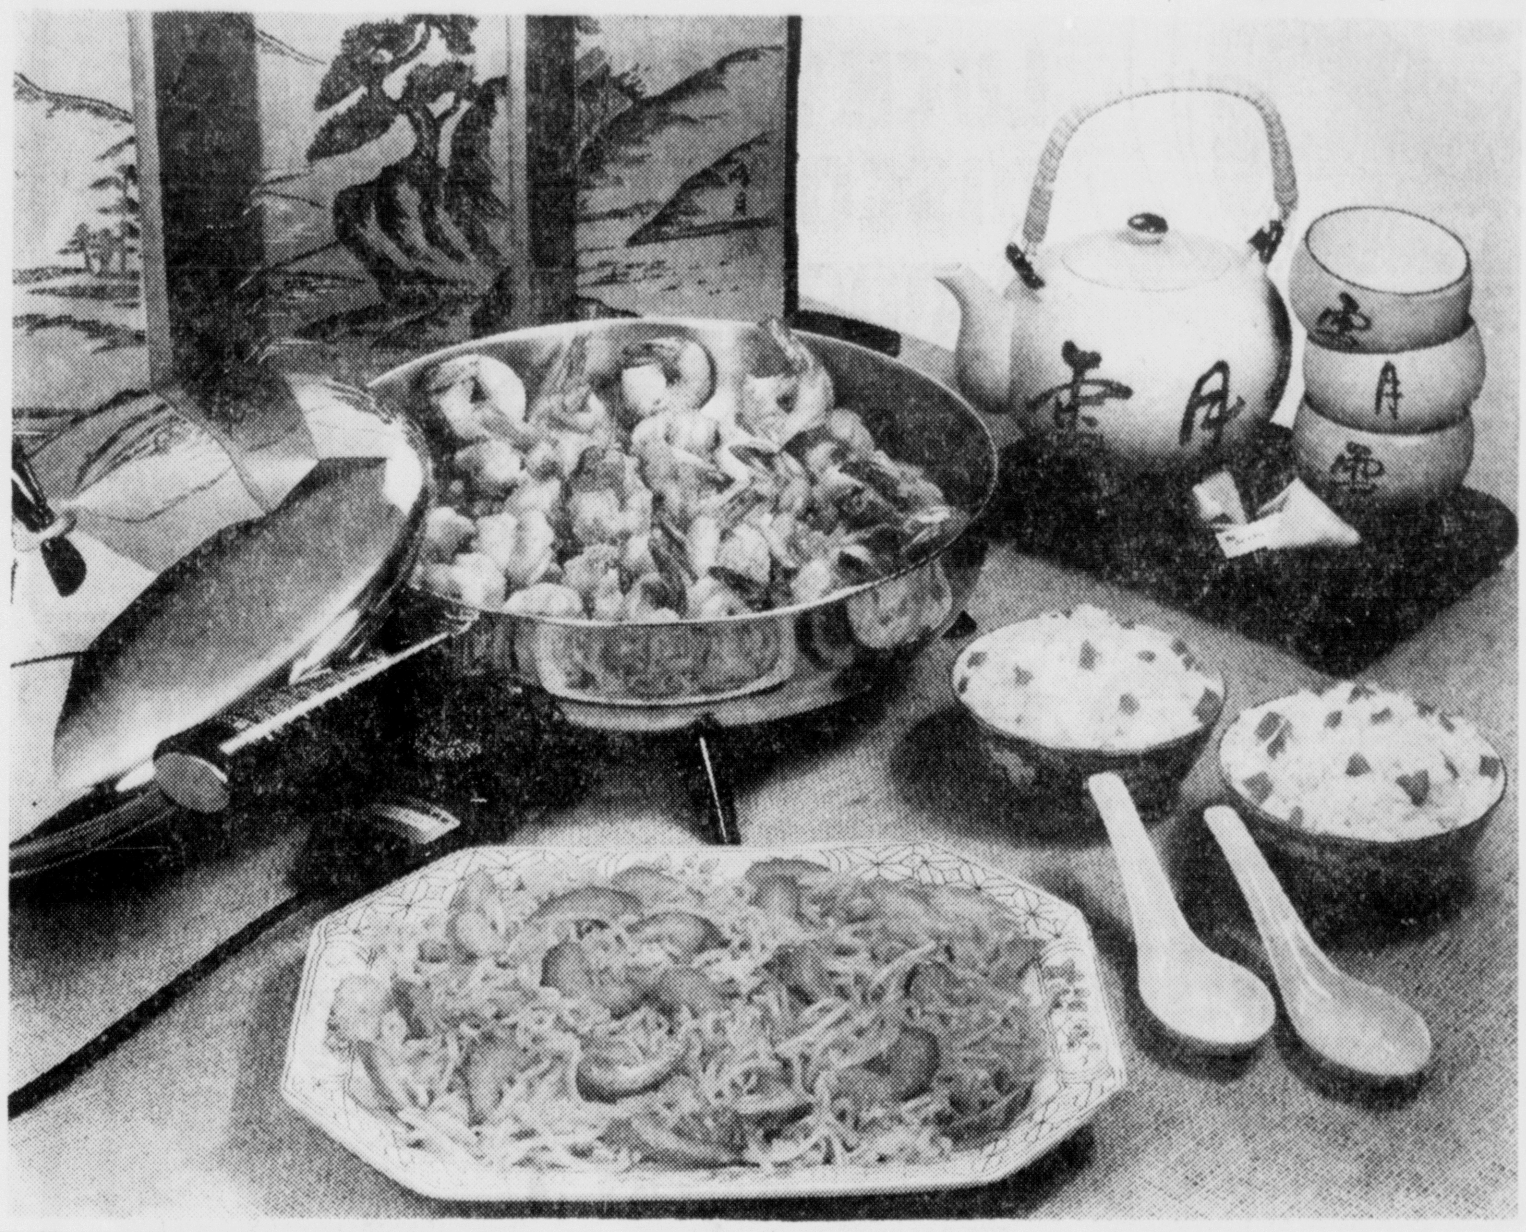
Serves 6 to 8.

ALMOND FLOAT

2 envelopes gelatin
½ cup water
1 cup evaporated milk
2½ cups water
¼ cup sugar
2 teaspoons almond extract

Add unflavored gelatin to cold water to soften. Put over low heat and stir until dissolved. Add evaporated milk and remaining water. Stir in sugar to dissolve. Stir in almond extract. Pour into a shallow pan and refrigerate. Cut into cubes and serve garnished with Mandarin oranges.

Serves 6 to 8.



To Cut Or Tear Lettuce?

Some salad lovers cringe at the thought of putting a knife to a head of iceberg lettuce. While the hand-tearing method is preferred for making a tossed salad or "cups" of lettuce, there are many many other interesting ways of serving lettuce which do require use of a knife. Wedges . . . rafts (cross cut slices) . . . shredded lettuce all need to be cut with a sharp knife.

It is important to remember, however, that cut edges of lettuce do tend to turn brown more rapidly than torn edges because of the oxidization of the milky substance which is released when juicy lettuce cells are broken by cutting. By tearing, the cells are left intact, so for lettuce that needs to be prepared well ahead, tearing is recommended.

Salmon With Remoulade Sauce Set For Feast To Good Will

Traditionally held the opening night of the Marin Shakespeare Festival, the Feast to Good Will is an event on its own this year, with proceeds to aid the festival scholarships.

As always, the food is the thing and Chef Kenneth Stone of the Elks Club in San Rafael, where the feast will be held, has come up with a menu that combines the Shakespearean feeling with appeal to modern appetites.

SAUCE REMOULADE

To one quart mayonnaise, add: 1½ tbsp. mustard; 4 oz. gherkins and 2 oz. capers, chopped and mashed; 1 tbsp. chopped parsley, chervil and tarragon, and ½ tbsp. anchovy essence.

POACHED SALMON

A poached salmon is cooked with very little liquid without boiling. Poaching is used chiefly for cooking sole or salmon. Butter the bottom of a frying or roasting pan, sprinkle it with sliced onions or shallots, place in the fish and season with salt and pepper. Fill the pan halfway only with white or red wine, covering the fish with buttered paper and place it in the oven, cooking without boiling (cooking time depends on weight, size and type), basting from time to time. Chill and bone. Cover with Sauce Remoulade and serve.

MEAT PATTIES

Take some ordinary brioche paste without sugar, cut the desired number of bottom crusts with plain, oval cooky cutter. Fill the center with marinated, grounded beef seasoned with pepper, salt and mix with hard-boiled egg. Lightly moisten the edges of ovals, bringing them together and pinching tightly so as to enclose the filling. Keep the patties half an hour in a rather warm place and then bake in hot oven for 20 minutes.

FRESH FRUIT BOWL

Slice assorted fruits (fresh), add honey and lemon juice according to taste, add Kirschwaaser or dark rum to it and for every six persons, one vanilla bean.

Slow Cooking

Long, slow cooking is the key to successful poultry barbecuing. Allow at least one to 1¾ hours for chicken halves. Whole birds and turkeys require 20 to 30 minutes per pound.

Fresh Peaches Are Just Waiting To Be Baked Into Delicious Pie

Sun-ripened peaches and plenty of them are just waiting to be picked from garden or grocery to convert into delicious summer desserts.

FRESH PEACH PIE PASTRY

1 cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
4 to 6 tablespoons lard
2 to 3 tablespoons ice water

Mix flour and salt. Cut lard into flour until crumbs are the size of small peas. Add ice water, a little at a time, mixing quickly and evenly through flour with a fork until dough just holds in a ball. Use as little water as possible. Roll to ⅛-inch thickness and line a 9-inch pie pan, allowing ½ inch pastry to extend over edge. Fold this over or under and crimp edge. Prepare Peach Filling.

PEACH FILLING

¾ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
¼ cup cornstarch
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
4 cups sliced fresh peaches

Combine sugar, salt, cornstarch and nutmeg. Add to peaches and mix lightly. Spoon into pastry-lined pan. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) 30 minutes.

CARAMEL PECAN TOPPING

2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
¼ cup brown sugar
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
¾ cup pecan halves.

Combine ingredients. Sprinkle topping over peach filling. Return to oven and continue baking 10 minutes more or until glaze is set.

Ideas For Gourmet Meals Aboard Boat

Hoist the sails, secure the lines, push off on starboard. Boating fans are on the water. For some this is the season of gastronomical roughing it afloat. But for others, especially around the Bay of Archchon near Bordeaux, France, dream-vacations under sail can also mean pretty dreamy meals as well. Arcachon is the great sailing center where many French wine makers vacation and sail.

Wine, needless to say, is a welcome passenger aboard. You don't need it, but you can't be a boating gourmet without it.

There's a trick to cooking a delicious meal in the mini-galley of the family ketch, and that's all called planning with a capital "P." The American galley-rat, as the cook is affectionately known, can offer a hearty gourmet meal to the captain and crew and still have plenty of time to enjoy the sun and the wind.

Obviously, the ship's cook has to plan meals around the available galley space, but with judicious use of cooking-ware miracles, refrigerator equipment that really works (don't be afraid to test coolers and return them if they don't perform) and generous supplies of quick gourmet foods available on every grocery shelf . . . the boating gourmet is born.

FOR WEEKENDS, minor, and major, gourmet miracles can actually be wrought at home and carried aboard to be heated. So, take a tip from your home freezer. Plan to make the first meal at sea a real humdinger by pre-cooking and freezing. The trick is to put each meal in its own container, freeze and label.

Another plan ahead trick is to do everything but the cooking in plastic containers. Arrange your beef or chicken or fish in a marinade of wine, white or red as you prefer, and add all cooking spices and oils. The plastic containers, with a little help from whatever ice you have will keep meat fresh for three or four days. The provision is that the air seal be tight. All you need to do is turn out into a deep pan, and saute.

Another good trick is to use wine to poach fish . . . which saves drinking water, and also makes things taste that much more delectable. Poach at home and serve cold. Poach over a beach fire in a pan and serve hot. Either way it is great.

Some sailors even make gourmet bread tricks work for them. For example, pizza dough, with a strong dash of tarragon, can be made up ahead of time into individual rounds, without any filling. Stack them like plates, wrap in plastic wrap or foil, and they'll keep for days, to serve as plates and as sandwich bread substitutes.

For a weekend, or even a week's trip, the home-kitchen equipment is best. A pressure cooker doesn't only do things faster. It keeps things better.

TRY A BEEF and wine, or beef and kidney, ragout with wine, or, a chicken in white wine . . . . any one of them pressure cooked just before you leave the house. Don't open the pot. Leave it. Stick it in a thermal bag if you can spare one, but don't worry if you can't.

The air seal will keep the pot's contents superb for as much as 24 hours, and warm for almost that long. When you are ready to serve, unseal, heat up as needed and eat like a king.

FOR LONGER TRIPS think in terms of canned, boxed and bottled foods . . . . and items which tack easily, don't break or roll. Try to buy containers which hold just enough for one meal, and above all, think in terms of wine. The endless tricks of the French Chasseurs and early woodsmen who could use spices, beans, and root vegetables to make mouth watering delicacies, all in one pot, are your guide. Roots, beans, rice, noodles are not ingredients of famous dishes for nothing . . . . they store well.

Often the trouble with food on board is that the hostess is intimidated by the missing gleaming kitchen, and starts thinking cold sandwiches. The right frame of mind is to determine how artful you can be with one pan, and imagination.

Plot your menus and your ship's course together and aim for fresh sea food.

Quick tricks that wine makes better include sauteeing shrimp (frozen or fresh, or even canned) in wine and herbs, and a dash of catsup or worcestershire. It is quick food frying, really, that can be done in galley or on the beach.

What you can do with shrimp you can do with chunks of other fresh fish, shell fish, or chicken or chunks of meat. What you need to do is be generous with wine and herbs, and saute easily.

A BOAT IS the place for inexpensive regional wines. The gentle rocking of a boat is soothing for the nerves, but not recommended for expensive premier cru chateau wines that should be carefully and quietly stored.

NOTE: Cooking times may vary depending upon your gas or alcohol stove.

GYPSY WEDDING FLOURISH

Seductive sorcery comes across in this Gypsy variation on a wedding dress with matching cape, designed by Giorgio di Sant'Angelo. The polyester three tiered flowing skirt is topped with an elongated bodice that clings skin-tight. Rhinestone buttons allow the neckline to plunge below the waist, and long, skinny cut-out sleeves leave a slit of bareness. The dramatic draped, hooded cape completes the outfit.

What Is The Prince's Style?

By WALTER LOGAN

NEW YORK (UPI)—Britain's Prince of Wales has been limited in his wardrobe as a student although he does have a Windsor dinner jacket in navy blue barathea with a scarlet double breasted collar and cuffs. With more freedom and with a future income of $480,000 a year, things may change.

The 20-year-old Prince runs around in British woolens, as may be expected, and his favorite jacket is of a hacking style in a fawn houndstooth. For evenings he wears a black worsted with a velvet collar and side vents and sometimes for palace parties the Windsor jacket which was designed by his father, Prince Philip.

The facts and figures are from Wilfred Woolmer, founder-chairman of Men's Fashion Writers International and lately editor of the now defunct trade publication The Outfitter. They were published in Tailor and Cutter, the British men's wear magazine.

THE REPORT on the Prince's fashion preferences are of immense interest to the British men's wear manufacturers since they are holding their breath to see if Charles will follow in the footsteps of his great-uncle, the Duke of Windson, who was the last Prince of Wales.

The Duke of Windsor, when he was the Prince of Wales, cut a wide swath of sartorial splendor what with promoting such items as the then new tuxedos, Oxford bags, Windsor knots, plus fours and the like. Men all over the world followed his fashion lead and British exports boomed.

Woolmer, in a report written for the International Wool Secretariat, complained that the Prince, like his father, has a bad habit of putting his hands in his jacket pockets, which is not very good for the line of the suit.

"However, the Prince has an excellent tailoring figure," Woolmer said. "He is slim, 5 feet 11½ inches tall with dark hair and blue yes. He has the ideal build for projecting the new age of elegance which is looked on as being the future men's wear."

CHARLES, as his father, is apt to put comfort first. For example, he does not like narrow trousers but will wear 16-inch trouser bottoms.

Woolmer noted happily that Charles has a liking for clothes in natural fibers—British woolens and worsteds and that his color preferences are browns and mid-blues, right in line with the projected fashion trends.

Even the prince's crown that he wore for his investiture July 1 at Caernarvon Castle in Wales was cause for rejoicing among some style buffs—he helped design it to fit his Mod Generation. Taylor and Cutter called it somewhere between a kind of barbed wire crown of FASHION DESIGNERS in London have suddenly become more interested in the new Prince of Wales. Generally they express pleasure that Charles seems to be right in the swing of men's fashions, but one complains that Charles, like his father, Prince Philip, has a bad habit of putting his hands in his jacket pockets. This, as all fashionable men know, spoils the line of the suit. This 1966 photo underscores the like father - like son complaint.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Families Travel, Entertain

By MOLLY MARIN

Touring Canada are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Freitas of San Rafael, who attended the Calgary Stampede and will visit Lake Louise, Victoria and Vancouver Island.

While they are vacationing Lillian Freitas, sister and brother-in-law, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Charles Hoffman of Hamilton Air Force Base, are staying at the Freitas' home. On their return Walter and Lillian plan to open their Squaw Valley home for the month of August and possibly September.

THREE MARIN families have recently returned from a week's vacation at Camp Mather, a family recreation camp in the High Sierra. They are the Edward T. Stoners and their children, Cindy, Carol and David; the Bernard Chapmans and Chris and Mark; and the Lee R. Merrills, their son, Brian, and daughter, Laurie, all of San Anselmo.

The families also made trips to nearby Hetch Hetchy Reservoir and O'Shaughnessy Dam, and the Chapmans spent a day sightseeing in Yosemite Valley, also near the camp.

Days at the camp were spent swimming, hiking, horseback riding, fishing, playing tennis and relaxing.

MRS. CHARLES Meredith of Washington, D. C., is being entertained by a number of Marin Country Club Estates residents during her visit here with her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Flachs.

The Flachses have invited 80 guests to a poolside party on Saturday. Dr. and Mrs. Charles Galt entertained at a dinner party and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Amos at a cocktail party. Mrs. L. T. Kett held a bridge luncheon today for Mrs. Meredith.

THE GOLDEN WEDDING celebration for his parents will be given Saturday at their home in Kent Woodlands by Dr. and Mrs. L. Martin Griffin Jr. The honored couple, Mr. and Mrs. Loyal Martin Griffin of Oakland, will be feted by family members and friends at the reception and garden party.

The couple were married July 19, 1919, in Ogden, Utah. They are parents of another son, Robert S. Griffin of Medford, Ore., who is away and unable to attend the party. However, the Griffin grandchildren from Oregon will attend, as will Dr. and Mrs. Griffin's daughters, Anne and Carol. Their two sisters are away, however.

Another special guest will be Mrs. Griffin's sister, Mrs. Harold Franklin of Portland, Ore. Some 150 guests are expected and a choral group from Mr. Griffin's Shrine unit will sing for the celebration.

Marin Women

Wedding Set In Ross By Margot Mailliard

The Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross will be the setting for the small family wedding on Sept. 27 of Margot Mailliard of San Francisco and John B. Schoolland of Phoenix.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mrs. Leonard Hawxhurst of Carmel and John Ward Mailliard III of San Francisco. She is the sister of Mrs. George W. Whitaker of San Rafael and Mrs. Giandomenico Rende of Greenbrae.

Margot is a Katherine Delmar Burke School graduate and both she and John are graduates of the University of Colorado. Margot was a 1965 Cotillion debutante.

John's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John V. Schoolland of Phoenix, and he is the brother of Kenneth Schoolland. After the couple's marriage he will be employed with Proctor and Gamble in Kansas City, Mo.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Telephone Service For Youth Needs Dedicated Volunteers

DEAR HELEN:

I read your article about "Youth Life Line" in a weekly magazine and wonder if you could tell us how to start such a telephone service for young people in our town. Our club doesn't have much money, but we're very willing. We know that teens do need an anonymous someone to talk to, for so often they won't or can't confide in people who know them.

Good listeners who would advise on minor problems, direct deeply troubled people to the right agency, and let them know about the free help that is available (such as VD clinics) would be a great thing for this city. — WOMEN'S CLUBBERS.

DEAR CLUB MEMBERS:

A youth telephone line such as the one in Sacramento takes dedicated workers willing to canvass the community for volunteers who qualify as good listeners. These include not only laymen but also professional people, to be called in emergencies. No one should be expected to donate more than one or two hours a week.

Next, you need money: Enough for telephones, brochures, cards and advertising. You might find a rent-free office in a public building, if you interest the right officials. Sacramento's Town and Country Junior Women's Club started its Youth Life Line with not much more than $200; keeps it going for around $30 a month.

Third, a training program for volunteers is essential. No one should serve on the phones unless he or she has learned the fine art of not saying too much. Each person must be aware of all the local help agencies and which referral best suits the questioner's need. A psychiatric social worker could assist you here and perhaps a city or county agency will lend you one for a while.

In several large cities, such as Los Angeles, hospitals or other agencies have assumed financial responsibilities. Your club might sound out various directors of local institutions.

No one knows better than a family relations columnist how necessary it is for young people to have a listening ear. So often they write, "I just can't talk to anyone close — I'd be too embarrassed." When they can pour out their troubles without fear of condemnation — or recognition — many times they've taken the first step towards solving them.

Good luck with your new Youth Telephone Line. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I wouldn't dare write this to my hometown newspaper or I'd be run out of town on a rail by our uptight, upright citizens. So I'm hoping you'll print this without giving my name.

Our self-righteous little community has been shook to its roots by a migration of Hippies who like our wooded areas and are living back in the hills on river property owned by one of them.

They're peaceful, quite religious (though their faith differs from ours) and they cause no harm, but the townspeople are up in arms. They scream about filth, drugs, orgies, free sex, long-haired zombies, etc., and most of the merchants won't allow them to trade in their stores. Those few who do, are ostracized — and I'm one of them. I've gotten to know the Hippies and they are often more real than my hypocritical neighbors who cheat, lie and sleep around on week days and go to church on Sundays. Why can't people live and let live? — C. J.

DEAR C.:

Why indeed. Perhaps for the same reason chickens peck a different one to death. Pity. — H.

Prince And His British Woolens

thorns and a faint facsimile of the Unknown Political Prisoner.

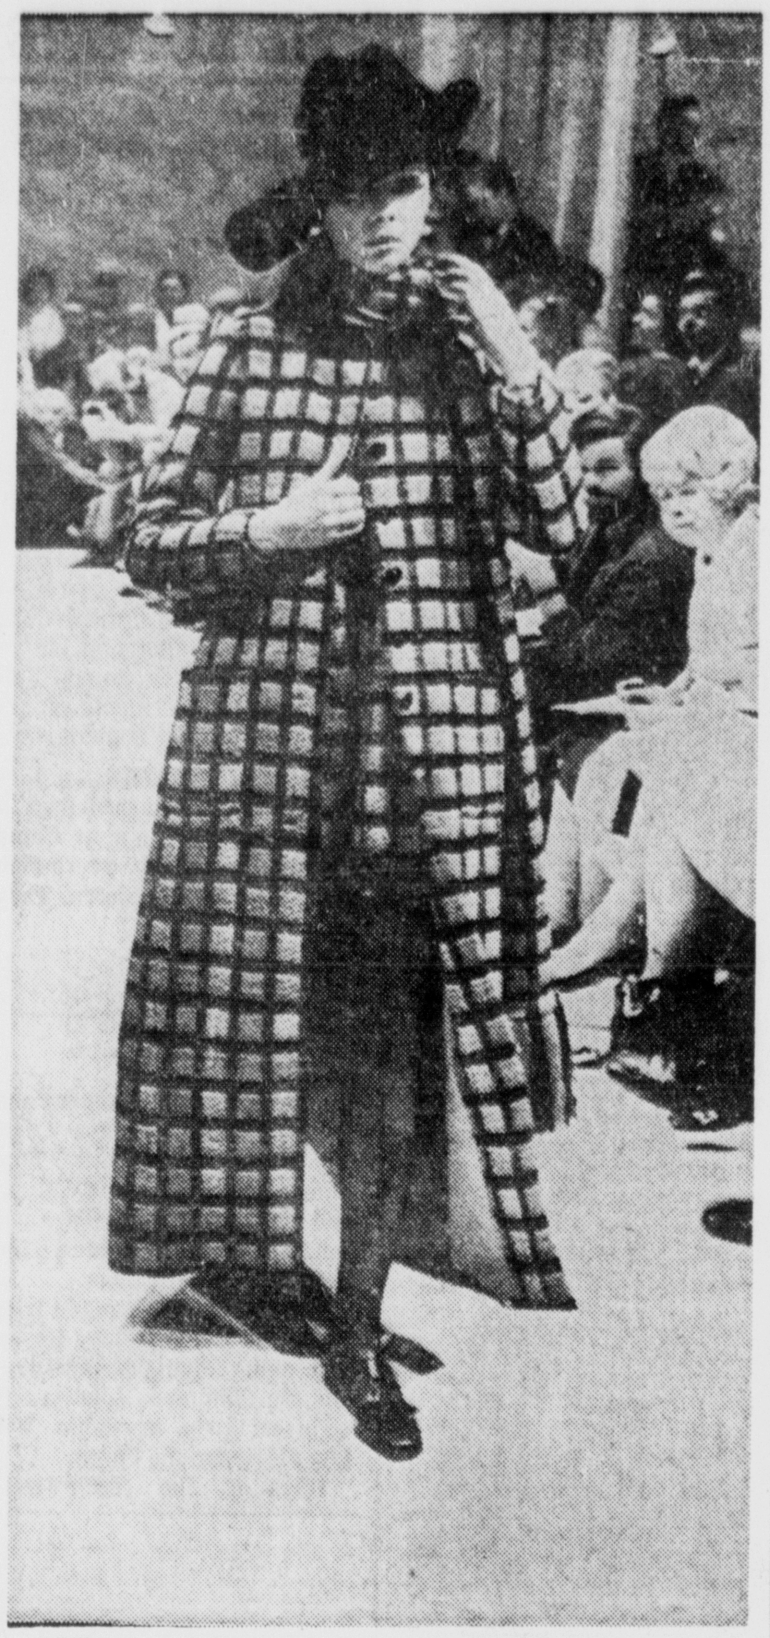
Tailor and Cutter lends another hopeful note to those hoping Charles will become the world's fashion leader: He belongs to the proper generation, following a strange development that has seen every other British generation of Royalty become fashion leaders.

GEORGE IV, WHO also had been a Prince of Wales and a Prince regent, was a flamboyant style leader who chummed with Beau Brummel and set styles that have been revived today — the Regency Jacket. The next generation brought up Victoria and Albert, who may have been good rulers but who were fashion duds.

Then came their son Edward VII, a very sharp dresser who has influenced the current Edwardian styles. The next generation brought in King George VI who had a marvelous beard but little else in the way of sartorial innovation; as a matter of fact, he refused to take up the new fangled custom of pressing trousers front and back instead of on the sides.

The next generation brought on Edward the Prince of Wales, and everybody knows how famous he was as a style setter. The next generation was Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip—and Prince Philip did little more than bring in that blue barathea jacket with the scarlet collar and cuffs, and then only in the confines of Windsor and Sandringham.

But Charles is the next generation. Who knows what will happen when the Queen takes off the wraps?



IT'S THE LOOK

Designer Oscar de la Renta likes the maxi-coat, mini-dress look. The floor-sweeping coat and short costume suit sums up the major daytime look for fall. He thinks the long, matching scarf and swagger hat are the "with it" costume.

More Americans Will Work In The Fields Of Health Care Services

By 1975 an estimated 5.3 million Americans — (one of every 16 workers)—will be earning their livings by providing health care for their fellow citizens.

That is a government prediction and if it comes true, in a scant half-dozen years more people will be associated with health care than any other field of endeavor, the Health Insurance Institute says.

One reason to believe that it will come true is the rapid growth of health care facilities all over the nation. At present, some 3.7 million people are employed in the medical field, which now constitutes the third largest industry in the land, after agriculture and construction.

In many instances new health facilities are being located near the people who need them most — the nation's urban poor.

Evidence of this was the report by the life insurance business, which has a special investment program to improve urban life. Under its billion-dollar investment program, more than $126 million has already gone for health care facilities.

Nearly $75 million for the expansion or modernization of hospitals.

More than $44 million for the establishment of nursing homes.

More than $3.5 million for ghetto area medical clinics.

More than $3.5 million for the building of medical office buildings.

These facilities — which will deliver health care and services to thousands of inner city residents for years to come — are already providing more than 1,500 job opportunities. (The creation of new jobs is one of the main objectives of the special life insurance urban investment program.)

The growth of health care "industries" is based on three major trends:

1. More people. The U.S. population is now at 202 million mark and by 1975 it is expected to hit 215 million.

2. The almost-universal use of health insurance by U.S. families. At the beginning of this year nine out of every 10 Americans under age 65 had some form of private health insurance protection.

3. The introduction of such programs as Medicare and Medicaid which have facilitated medical care for people over 65 and very low income families.

Linda Ann Hansen Wed Saturday To Thomas Edward Solinsky

A six o'clock ceremony at the Community Congregational Church of Belvedere-Tiburon united in marriage Linda Ann Hansen of San Francisco and Thomas Edward Solinsky of Mill Valley.

Matron of honor for the Saturday nuptials was Mrs. Sim Hixson of San Marino, and Catherine Wright of Woodcliff Lake, N.J., was the bridesmaid.

The reception was held afterward at the St. Francis Yacht Club in San Francisco. The couple will live in Tiburon upon their return from a Carmel wedding trip.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Svend A. Hansen of Millburn, N.J., and Hollwood, Fla., Linda was graduated from Millburn High School and Tufts University Forsyth School for Dental Hygienists in Boston. She also attended college in Buena Vista, Va. She is employed in a dental office in Greenbrae.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Solinsky of Belvedere are parents of Thomas, and he is the brother of Dick Solinsky, also of Belvedere. Now employed with Wells Fargo Bank in Berkeley, Thomas is a graduate of Redwood High School and the University of California. Edward R. Solinsky of Berkeley is his grandfathtes.

PRESS GUIDE IS AVAILABLE

A new guide for press chairmen of organizations which are interested in getting news to the Marin Women's Section of the Independent-Journal is now available at the San Rafael main office and the Novato, Mill Valley and Southern Sonoma I-J offices.

The booklet, "Getting News Into Your Newspaper," is issued as a service of the Independent-Journal Women's Section to assist press chairmen for women's organizations.

The guide explains policies of coverage, how to prepare news stories and meeting notices, and the special stories and features emphasized by the section.

The booklets at the San Rafael office may be obtained from the switchboard on the main floor.

Leslie Thompson To Become Bride

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Thompson of Petaluma announce the engagement of their daughter Leslie to Gale Bettinelli, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bettinelli, also of Petaluma.

Leslie, a graduate of Petaluma High School, is the sister of Tom and Kathy Thompson. She is employed by State Farm Insurance in Santa Rosa.

Gale is also a graduate of Petaluma High School. He is a student at California State Polytechnical College. The future bridegroom is the brother of Gary and Dale Bettinelli.

Judy Contos Engaged To Wed Theodore Dzuban Jr.

Judy Contos, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Contos of Greenbrae, will be wed to Theodore E. Dzuban Jr.

She is a graduate of Redwood High School and attends the University of Arizona. John Contos Jr., a graduate student at the University of Santa Clara, is her brother.

Ted is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore E. Dzuban of Tucson, Ariz. He is also a student at the University of Arizona, where he is affiliated with Delta Chi fraternity. He attended Palo Verde High School in Tucson and will enter law school at the University of Arizona, following his graduation in January.

Reed District Parents Begin New 'Hip Pocket' Communication

A new organization designed to supplement the "hip pocket" courier system in the Reed Union School District has been formed.

The Communications Council is the brain-child of Mrs. Diane G. Bramman, who heads the Reed Parent - Teacher Club committee which is working out details of the program.

"Its intent and purpose is to have the 'left hand and the right hand' share information, exchange ideas and let the community and the press know about our school district in an organized, business-like fashion," Mrs. Bramman says.

Representatives from each of the six P-TC units, serving the district's six schools on the Tiburon Peninsula, an administrative representative, the Reed Reviews chairman, a representative from the teachers' group and a liaison with the board of trustees will meet with Mrs. Bramman, who represents the Reed District's P-TC board.

"Notices carried home by school children in pockets or lunch boxes sometimes go astray. We hope to identify and improve the existing communication mediums within the district, with a view toward making information available, current, accurate and avoiding overlap or omission," the chairman explained. One possible project of the Communications Council would be the publication of a Parents' Manual.

The council's first formal meeting will be at 9:15 a.m Sept. 5, place to be announced later.

TOMORROW NIGHT at 7 p.m., San Rafael Assembly 195 of the International Order of Rainbow for Girls will initiate Kathy Lee and Claudia Neuwald into the order.

Sixteen girls of the assembly have recently returned from a trip to Canada. They visited Victoria and Vancouver in British Columbia and also attended the 43rd session of the Oregon Grand Assembly of the International Order of the Rainbow for Girls, where they helped with a presentation to grand worthy advisor Wendy Panage.

The girls will share their experiences with the rest of the assembly at the meeting. Worthy advisor Jennifer Knapp of Terra Linda will preside.

CATHOLIC DAUGHTERS of America, Court 1707, will hold a rummage sale from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. tomorrow, Friday and Saturday at Our Lady of Loretto Church parish hall in Novato.

The sale will benefit Our Lady of Loretto School which serves both Our Lady of Loretto Parish and St. Anthony of Padua in Novato.

Mrs. Delbert King is chairman, assisted by Mmes. A. R. Ferrera, co-chairman, and Robert Abeling, Ronald Snodgrass, Bernard Ahern, Richard Walsh, Paul Feairheller, Stanley Rousseau, Frank Baccaglio, Earl Karinen and Bert Beckman.

THE MOTHER-daughter brunch of the Christian Women's Club will be held poolside at the Flamingo in Santa Rosa tomorrow at 10 a.m., announced Mrs. Clifford Durham of Petaluma, president. A fashion show of beach and poolside apparel and accessories will be featured. Neal Doty of radio and television will speak.

Norgaard-Foster Rite To Be Held In Ross

DIANE FOSTER

An outdoor wedding Aug. 24 at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross is planned by Diane Lynn Foster of San Anselmo and Gregory Norgaard of San Rafael. The announcement is made by the future bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Foster of San Anselmo.

Lynn, a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School, is the sister of Donald Foster of San Rafael; Steven Foster, in Germany with the Army; and Robert Foster of San Anselmo.

Mr. and Mrs. Loring Norgaard of San Anselmo are the future bridegroom's parents. He is the brother of Peter Norgaard of Portland, Ore., and the grandson of Mrs. Doris Sidebottom of San Francisco. Gregory was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and attended Pasadena School of Theatrical Arts and College of Marin. He is employed by Junior Theater of Marin and the Marin Jewish Community Center.

Barbecue Sauce

Apple jump marinade makes an unusual and flavorful barbecue sauce, especially for pork, ham, duck or beef. Saute ½ cup of finely chopped onion in ½ cup of oil. Add 1 clove of garlic, 1 cup of canned apple sauce, ½ cup each of apple juice, tomato sauce and vinegar, ¼ cup of brown sugar, 2 tablespoons of tomato paste, 1 teaspoon of worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon each of salt and dry mustard and ½ teaspoon each of black pepper and bottled red pepper sauce. Simmer 20 minutes over medium heat, stirring occasionally. Use as marinade and to baste and glaze meats while cooking. Makes 1 2-3 cups.

Here's A Diet For The Skinnies

By ROBERT MUSEL

LONDON (UPI)—So you need a diet? How about this one:

Breakfast — oatmeal with plenty of milk and sugar. Bacon and eggs (or sausages and kidneys). Toast with marmalade or honey.

Morning break—pint of milk with buttered toast.

Lunch — thick soup, roast meat with potatoes and vegetables, rice pudding, cheese and biscuits.

Afternoon break—tea and sugar with cakes or biscuits.

DINNER — HORS d'oeuvres, fish and french fried potatoes, apple pie, cheese and biscuits and a glass of stout.

How much weight will you lose? Absolutely none. Dr. Robert Kep hopes, in fact, that it will add a few pounds for this is a diet for that forgotten group who are too thin. Yes, there are plenty of them around.

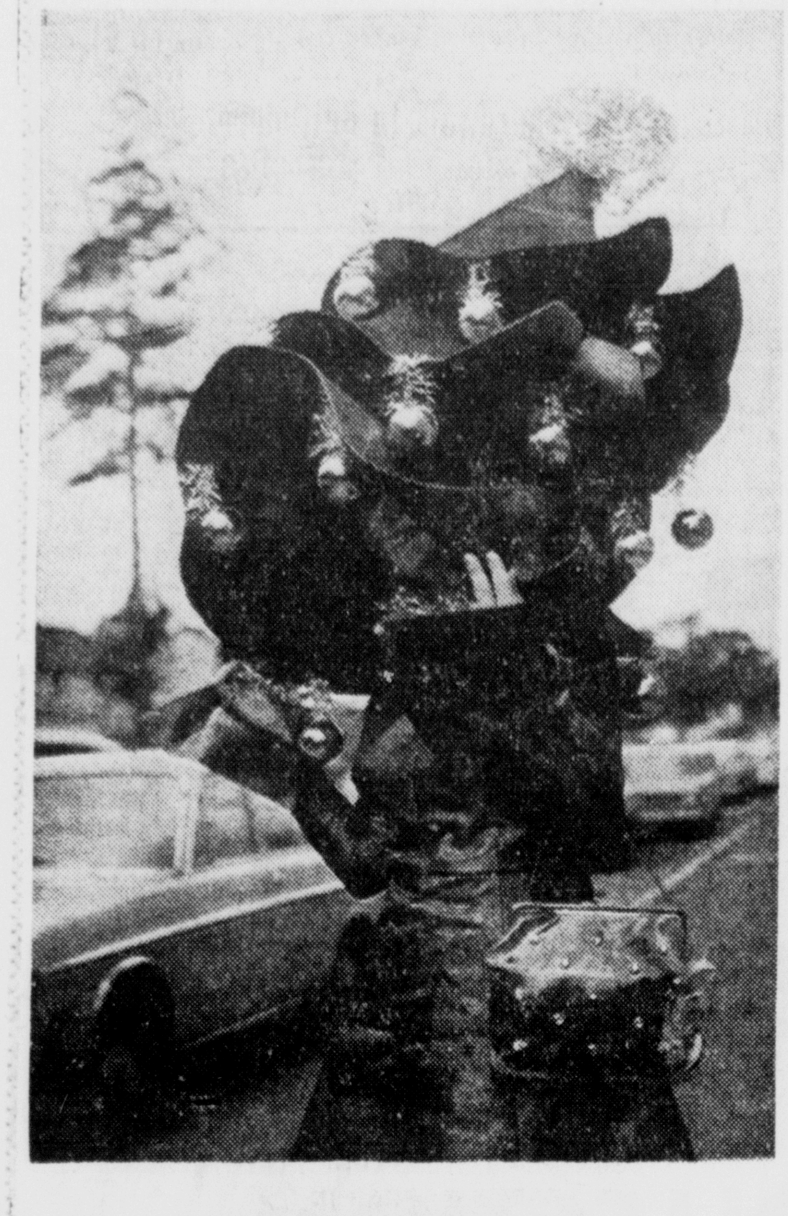
In a new booklet, "So You Need A Diet?" published by the British Medical Association, Dr. Kemp says it is just as hard, if not harder, to put on weight if you are constitutionally lean than it is to take it off if you are the well-covered type.

"MANY LEAN people already possess a good appetite so that steps to increase the appetite will be ineffective," Dr. Kemp said.

"However, there may be room for a definite snack in mid-'morning, mid- afternoon and at supper time. Additional milk in the shape of two or three pints a day is sometimes very effective. So, for that matter, is the same amount of beer or stout...an increase in bread and other starchy foods such as rice and cereals could be safely advised."

Dr. Kemp's booklet stresses the importance of choosing the right diet for specific aims (such as reducing, heart disease, arterial trouble etc.). He says that many of the changes thought to be due to old age are in reality due to a poor diet.

"It has long been said," he went on, "that a man is as old as his arteries and in the normal course of events as we grow older our arteries becomes less elastic and more rigid. Nevertheless with good management they can last up to 100 years."



ASCOT YULE

Mrs. Ronald Schilling of Australia wore this creation of her own design and caused a summer sensation at Royal Ascot in London. The Christmas tree getup began with a green lame cocktail dress with tinsel collar. She wore silver stockings and shoes and highlighted the costume with a three-foot-high canopy mode of three hats with two dozen silver balls dangling. She carried a see-through handbag. MR. AND MRS. PAUL HERRIOTT

Sharon Lynn Sawyer, Paul Herriott Marry

Sharon Lynn Sawyer and Paul Stuart Herriott of Novato were united in marriage at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in San Rafael on Saturday.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Francis Goerndt of Novato and Jess Sawyer. Her matron of honor was Mrs. Robert Nichols of Petaluma, and bridesmaids were the bride's sister, Karen Goerndt and Sandy Gilmore, Mrs. Jeffrey King and Mrs. Robert Willey, all of Novato.

Donald Herriott was best man for his brother and ushers were George Noujaim, Alfred Goerndt, the bride's brother, and John Jewett of Santa Rosa, Robert Willey and Roland Millor of Novato.

The couple are on a Hawaiian wedding trip following a reception at the Officers Club at Hamilton Air Force Base and will live in Petaluma on their return.

The bride was graduated from Novato High School and Marinello School of Beauty in San Rafael. She is employed with a wig shop in Novato.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Herriott are the bridegroom's parents. He was graduated from Novato High School and attended College of Marin. He is employed at Indoor Advertising in San Francisco.

Joseph Raffo To Wed Miss Nicolds

A November wedding is planned by Linda Lee Nicolds and Joseph Raymond Raffo. The future bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Nicolds of Patterson, who are announcing the engagement.

A graduate of Patterson High School and San Jose State College, the future bride is a teacher in Patterson. Richard Nicolds is her brother.

Joseph is the son of Mrs. Joseph D. Raffo of San Rafael. He was graduated from Petaluma High School and the University of the Pacific and is employed by Signode Corporation in Modesto.

'A HUMBLE BUILDING'

Oakland's New Museum Breaks With The Traditional Design

OAKLAND (AP) — A new kind of museum—in rectangular tiers among trees, shrubs, lawns and pools—is taking shape here in a deliberate break with mausoleum-like traditional style.

The low-slung three-level structure of pebbled masonry, set amid four square blocks of greenery, is all horizontal and vertical lines, without a curve inside or out.

"This is a building that does not rise up and dominate people—a humble building," said the Oakland Museum's proud director, Dr. J. S. Holliday.

Now engulfed in a fever of activity to prepare for the planned September opening, the new museum already has been acclaimed as a revolutionary departure in design.

"The most brilliant concept of an urban museum in America," says Arthur Drexler of the New York Museum of Modern Art.

The cultural oasis, next to Lake Merritt in the middle of downtown Oakland, seems to have dozens of entrances, unlike most museums, where there are only one of two doorways and straight halls to walk down on the inside.

Here, visitors can enter from virtually any direction, walking on soft carpets and not on echoing marble or hard linoleum.

The design is by Kevin Roche, John Dinkerloo & Associates of Hamden, Conn. What is to be contained in their creation seems just as unusual as the package it will all come in.

The museum will deal only with California in three sections—natural science, history and art.

The first will be a gallery of ecology, cross-section of animal life and terrain from the Pacific across the fertile valleys and over the Sierra into the Nevada desert.

The history section will depict California life from primitive Indians, to the confrontation between Indian and Spaniard, to the Gold Rush, development of industry and agriculture, the 19th Century Victorian era through to the present.

In the art division, the museum says it is preparing "the most meaningful collection of California art in existence" — paintings, scultpure, photography, print making, architecture and the crafts.

When the visitor has had his fill of exhibits, or wishes respite, he can stroll into the sun on broad greenswards, contemplate sculpture on 18 tree-lined courts, or look at sailboats on Lake Merritt a few hundred feet away.

An educational program will offer a "museum on wheels"—a big van to take exhibits into the neighborhoods.

The museum also contains a 300-seat theater, 180-car underground garage, a library and workrooms. A restaurant will be concession-run.

The $10 million project was financed by Oakland taxpayers and the Oakland Museum Association.

"This museum must be a place of change and vitality, an educational force, a source of new awareness, a place where the past will provide insight to the present," said Holliday.

Director Holliday, an authority on the history of the Far West, is a native of Indiana. He took a degree from Yale in 1948 and completed his doctorate in American History at Berkeley 10 years later.

His documentary study of the California gold rush is soon to be published.

Bruised Maid Padlocked In Shed Three Days

CANOGA PARK (UPI)—A 13-year-old Mexican girl who was brought to the United States to be a maid was padlocked in a shed by her employers and kept there for three days without food or water.

Carmen Rodriguez was found yesterday in the outbuilding by neighbors whose children heard whimpering and crying from within and then saw a hand waving in the window.

Carmen was reported in poor condition and suffering from malnutrition in Los Angeles County-University of Southern California Medical Center. Hospital officials said she had numerous bruises, possibly from a beating.

Her employers, Bernarde and Theresa Gonzales, were arrested on suspicion of endangering the life of the girl. Carmen told police she thought she was imprisoned because she was unable to care for the Gonzales' eight children while the parents were away.

Vandals Steal Stakes From Creek Project

Determined vandals have been removing iron center line stakes from the Corte Madera Creek flood control project, the county department of public works has reported.

Charles E. Murphy of the public works department said the pipes were driven three feet into the creek bed. At least six of the stakes are missing, he said.

Three Donate Awards For Art Show

The prizes are a $25 special award for the crafts division from Mr. and Mrs. James H. Swearingen of the Mill Valley Furniture Shop, a $25 merchandise special award from Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Crook of Crook's Mill Valley Bootery, and a $10 geode and stand from Mr. and Mrs. Jim Kerrigan of Tamalpais Hardware Store.

A fourth prize, one where the donor will purchase the winning work of art, will also be given.

The festival committee will meet at 8 p.m. Thursday in city hall to discuss plans for the show to be held Oct. 11 and 12 in Old Mill Park.

San Diego Cools Despite Fires

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—A firebomb was hurled at a police car last night and scattered grass fires were set by arsonists in the racially tense southeast district.

The Molotov cocktail went wide of its target, but two others were thrown at Knox Elementary School and another at a gas station. They caused no major damage.

Police reported only eight arrests in the troubled area last night and early today, in contrast to Sunday night's rampage of looting, sniping and arson when more than 70 persons were booked.

State Strike Leader Gets Stiff Penalties

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Former San Francisco State teaching assistant George Murray has been sentenced to six months in jail and ordered to resign from the Black Panther Party and the college's Black Students Union.

Municipal Judge Fitzgerald Ames sentenced Murray Monday to three months in jail for disturbing the peace and six months for failure to disperse. The judge suspended one month on the first count and two months on the second.

Murray had pleaded guilty June 30 to the charges stemming from a demonstration on campus Dec. 2, 1968. Though Murray asked for leniency because of "a spiritual reawakening," Judge Ames refused the request and said:

"You stirred up a lot of violence with your utterances and your actions. You also stirred up a lot of people."

Ames said that Murray could not receive future probation unless he resigned from both the Panthers and Black Students Union and refrained from appearing at any college or high school campus without permission from the probation department. The judge also prohibited him from enrolling in any college without similar permission.

Murray said he was no longer a member of the Panthers and would accede to the other conditions.

"I've made mistakes," he said, "lots of mistakes. All the mistakes I've made I sincerely regret. If I have done any damage or harm to citizens of San Francisco or elsewhere I regret that too."

NEW CITIZENS — Mr. and Mrs. George Weatherstone joke with a customer at the Novato pet store about the "funny picture" on Mrs. Weatherstone's naturalization papers. The Weatherstones were among 23 residents of Marin and Southern Sonoma who became American citizens last month. (Independent-Journal photo).

NEW CITIZENS

June Big Month For A Novato Pair

June was a big month for Edith and George Weatherstone of 3 Zanco Way, Novato.

First, on June 3, they became citizens of the United States after 24 years of living in this country. Then, on June 8, they celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary.

That same day, they left for a trip back to England — he is a Scot and she's Irish — for the first time since coming to the U.S.

On that trip, the Weatherstones, who run a pet store on Grant Avenue, were going to see one of their two daughters, Jean Wilson, for the first time in 24 years. Their other daughter, Mary Poliak, lives in Novato.

Everything worked out just as it was supposed to except for seeing their second daughter.

Just before they arrived, Mrs. Weatherstone said, their daughter's husband, a Royal Air Force officer, was transferred to Singapore and, naturally, his wife went with him.

"Maybe next year we'll go to Singapore," Mrs. Weatherstone said.

Speaking about the naturalization ceremony in U.S. District Court in San Francisco during which she, her husband and about 150 others became American citizens, she said, "It was a wonderful ceremony, very impressive."

Often, new citizens feel that the naturalization ceremony seems very routine for such an important event but this one was different, Mrs. Weatherstone said.

It happened to be Law Day, proclaimed by President Richard M. Nixon, and judges from throughout the Bay Area spoke at the ceremony.

"This one happened to be an historic event," Mrs. Weatherstone said. "It was very interesting, very wonderful."

Of the preparation for citizenship, she said that new citizens probably have to learn more about American history that native-born Americans know.

She didn't have much trouble with the history because American history was a required subject when she attended school in England.

"I learned the Star Spangled Banner when I was five years old," she said. "It lives with you over the years. You just don't forget it."

The Weatherstones were among 23 Marin and Southern Sonoma residents who were naturalized during June. Other new citizens were:

GREENBRAE — Andre Eugene Carbonnel, 124 Paseo Way.

CORTE MADERA — Jorn Abrahamsen, 216 Granada Drive, and Mrs. Danuta-Maria Drozdowicz, 25 Lakeside Drive.

SAUSALITO — Barbara Fallis Johnson, 109 Bulkley Avenue.

TIBURON — Margaret Duddy, 761 Hilary Drive; Patricia McKenna, 735 Hilary Drive; and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Heinz, 45 Barbaree Way.

HAMILTON AIR FORCE BASE — Raul Fernandez, 107 Bookin Street.

SAN ANSELMO — Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Holloch, 53 Oak Knoll Drive.

FAIRFAX — Vera Nada Kurelic, 18 Valley Road.

KENTFIELD — Francesco Latini, 226 Woodland Road.

PETALUMA — Joseph Matos, 1391 Old Adobe Road and Wolfgang Wilhelm Bruno Schilder, 2012 Harrison Street.

MOON CONTEST DRAWS 90,162
ENTRIES FROM I-J READERS

Moon contest winners to be announced week of July 21

HUMOROUS NOTE: ALMOST HALF (OVER 40,000) ENTRIES WERE SENT IN BY JUST TWO SUBSCRIBERS!

When will the Apollo astronaut first put his foot on the moon?

More than 300,000 "guesses" from readers of the Independent-Journal and the Gannett Newspapers (TODAY, the newspaper of Cape Kennedy) have been fed into computers of Intertech Company at the Cape. When word is flashed from NASA on the exact landing time, the computers will select the winners.

Winners will be announced week of July 21 in the I-J. Decision of judges is final. Judging is under supervision of the Gannett newspaper, TODAY, of Cape Kennedy, which devised the contest idea.

NOTE: During the contest the dates were published which the Space Agency designated as the most likely times for the first landing attempt . . . days on which the spacecraft could reach pre-selected sites on the moon. These included July 15-22 among others. However, just to cover each second of the July period would require a total of 691,200 entries. To cover one day, 86,400 entries. Hence, "system" players who sent in thousands of entries based on NASA's optimum landing days are still up against astronomical totals. Just one lucky guess, judges point out, can make a winner. Look for the announcement!

☆ FIRST PRIZE: A 2-week trip for two anywhere on earth.
☆ 3RD PRIZE: $100 cash

Good luck to all entrants!

Rezoning Bids In Petaluma Approved

The Petaluma Planning Commission last night approved the rezoning of two East Side areas for future subdivision development.

The request of Wesley Bailey Land Co. was approved to change their property at the proposed Valley Green subdivision on South McDowell Boulevard to smaller lot sizes. The 10,000-square-foot lots will be reduced to 6,000 square feet.

Also approved was the request of Perma-Bilt Enterprises, Inc. to rezone land on Casa Grande Road, South McDowell Boulevard and Lakeville Highway from agricultural to single family residential. Unit one of Sonoma Vista Subdivision is planned for the area.

The Petaluma Planning Commission also:

GENERAL PLAN — Continued the public hearing on updating the Petaluma area general plan. Norman Van Bebber, representing the chamber of commerce, urged the city to encourage development on the West Side so that the population might be equally balanced with the East Side. Ronald Simpkins of McKay and Somps Engineers also spoke for increased development on the west side.

APARTMENT — Approved the site design for a four unit apartment building at 418 Kentucky Street being planned by Ronald Hardy. The commission granted a variance to reduce sideyard setback from eight to six feet.

HEARING — Set a public hearing for Aug. 19 at 7:30 p.m. to consider amending the service station ordinance to provide exceptions for the spacing of stations at freeway interchanges.

Reagan Hints New Stand On Bay Fill

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Gov. Ronald Reagan appeared yesterday to have reversed his stand on bay fill control by suggesting that local governments have a veto power over the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission when they want to fill the bay.

For the past six months, the governor had urged legislation to extend the life of the BCDC, due to go out of existence this year under current law. He never had indicated any opposition to the BCDC's present power to bar bay fill, which cannot be overriden by local governments.

But when he was asked at his weekly press conference for his view on local governments' opposition to bills that would expand BCDC's jurisdiction to shoreline development, Reagan clearly suggested that local governments should be able to override BCDC objection to bay fill as well as to shoreline development.

"I do not think that a bill should be so inflexible that it says there is no provision whatsoever that everything — blanket denial as of this moment, because there are communities — there are cities around the bay with airport needs and harbor needs and so forth, and who have claim and rights to the bay and the bay bottom," Reagan said.

"I just think that a strong bill should come down which would make provision for the review and the — so that whatever takes place or whatever has to take place there can be a proper reconciliation between necessary progress and the preservation — to the greatest extent possible to the bay.

"And I recognize the communities, the cities have some problems of their own and these problems should be recognized," he added.

Asked by a reporter if he was talking only about the shoreline, Reagan said, "I'm talking about the shore and the tidelands."

Pressed by another newsman to clarify whether he would allow local governments to fill the bay for airports and ports regardless of the BCDC's position, Reagan said, "I'm not going to get into this while we are still trying to work out these delicate problems out upstairs. I gave you my philosophy of what I think the bill should include. It should not be adamant one way or the other."

Legislative action on measures to extend the life and powers of the BCDC are stalled in the Senate Finance Committee while the authors of the four surviving rival bills try to work out a compromise on a single bill.

Blowout Accident

Guillermo E. Zavala, 44, of Daly City, was treated for an injured foot yesterday at Marin General Hospital after his car had a blowout and hit a guard rail on Highway 101 in corte Madera at 9:30 p.m., the California Highway Patrol said.

Board Heeds Sewage Plant Smell Issue

Faced with complaints about smelly sewage treatment, Richardson Bay Sanitary District directors last night promised to investigate enclosing the plant to prevent further annoyances to Little Reed Heights residents.

Director Douglas de la Fontaine said enclosing the plant had been suggested several years ago but rejected by the county planning commission following complaints from Tiburon Peninsula residents on design aesthetics.

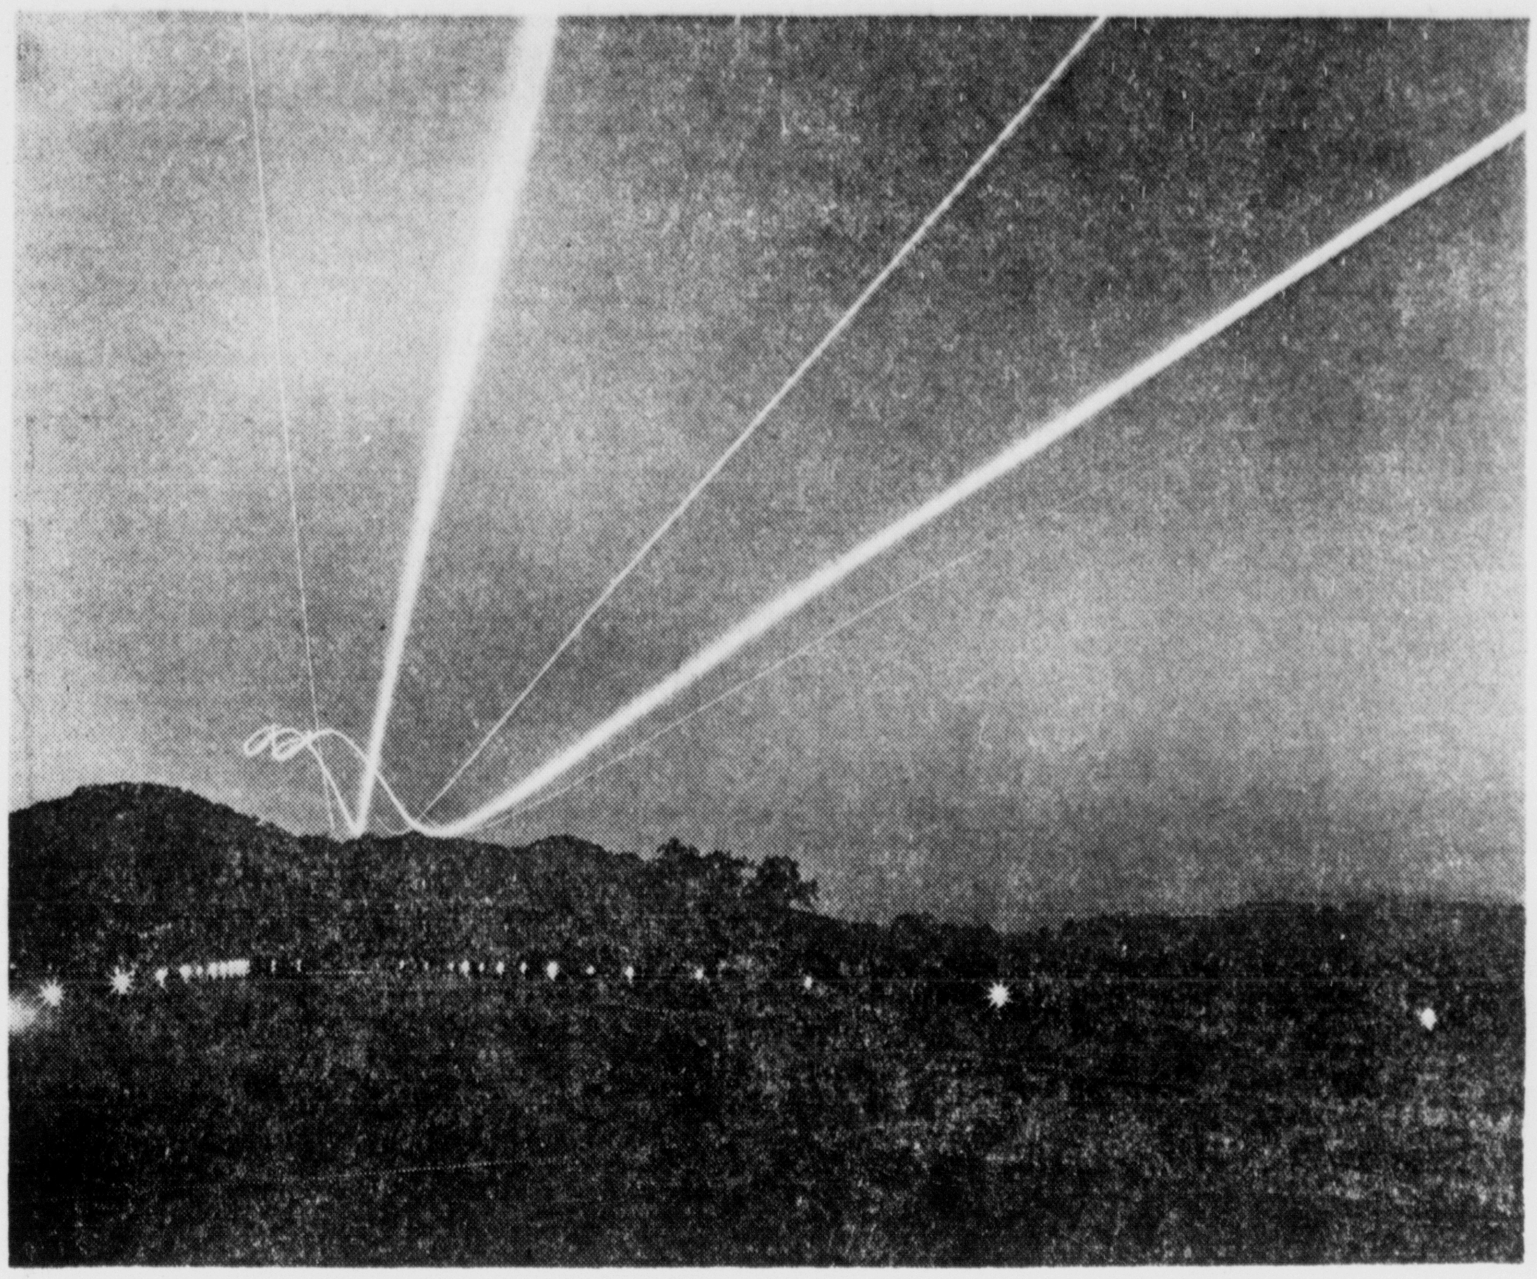
However, he said, a group of 13 residents from Little Reed Heights, at last night's meeting, agreed to work with the district in developing an enclosure which would meet objections and still control odors.

Once enclosed, de la Fontaine said, the plant air would be funneled through a scrubber and de-odorized.

"We realize we have odors and we've been trying to correct them for years, but they are elusive to say the least," de la Fontaine said.

At the Tiburon City Council meeting Monday night, the group noted that tradesmen and guests "now ask how we can live there." They also threatened to remove the board from office in November unless steps were taken to remedy the situation.

The board set a special meeting to consider the district's budget for fiscal 1969-70 for 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Trestle Glen treatment plant.



NEW LIGHTS AT GNOSS FIELD

Ribbons of light dart from the hills surrounding the star-like lights on the runway at Gnoss Field, north of Novato. The effect was produced by photograping a Civil Air Patrol T-34 by time exposure as it swooped low over the new runway lights which now will enable fliers to land an airplane at night. The lights on the 3,300 foot runway turn on automatically at dusk and can be adjusted to varying weather conditions.

Yet Another In Race For Supervisor

Another name has been added to the lengthy list of southern Sonomans seeking appointment as Sonoma County Supervisor.

George T. De Long, 731 Cindy Lane, today said he had contacted Ned Hutchinson, Gov. Ronald Reagan's appointments secretary, to say he would be interested in receiving the appointment.

The owner of George Buick-Pontiac Sales in Petaluma, De Long is a director of the chamber of commerce, a member of the water commission and chairman of the citizen's advisory committee to the board of education.

The appointment to replace Leigh S. Shoemaker, who resigned last month due to ill health, is expected to be announced on July 24 at "Governor's Day" at the Sonoma County Fair in Santa Rosa.

Others seeking the position are Mary Jean Burgess, administrative secrstary at Santa Rosa Memorial hospital; Norman Van Bebber, former Petaluma mayor; Lucien Libarle, businessman; Vice Mayor John W. Cavanagh Jr.; Frank Crocoran, sheriff's department employee; and George Crane, rancher

Wendell E. McReynolds, 19, of 59 Cole Drive, Marin City, was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with a broken left ankle and multiple scrapes suffered when his motorcycle and a car collided on Almonte Boulevard, Almonte, yesterday, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The accident occurred at 6:30 p.m. when a car driven by Mervin A. Giacomini, 58, of 251 Morning Sun Avenue, Tamalpais Valley, made a left turn in McReynolds' path, the highway patrol said.

Dixie Board Adopts $3.9 Million Budget

A publication budget of $3,925,000, up $328,000 from 1968-69, was adopted for the 1969-70 fiscal year last night by the Dixie School District board.

Supt. Clifford W. Campbell estimated the budget would bring the district tax rate to the maximum of $3.35 per $100 of assessed valuation approved three years ago by voters.

In other action, the board adopted salary schedules for non-teaching personnel and substitute teachers. A raise of $40 per month was granted to most classified personnel, with maintenance workers receiving a monthly raise of $60. Daily pay of $33, up $3, was approved for substitute teachers.

The dixie school district board also:

MULTI-ETHNIC — Took no action on a request by the Human Relations Council of the district to appropriate $2,500 to help pay for a consultant in multi-ethnic studies. The board said it would rather spend on the money on district programs.

CALENDAR — Adopted a 179-day calendar for the 1969-70 year, with school beginning on Sept. 4 and ending June 11.

FIELD — Approved a joint agreement with the city of San Rafael for turfing of the athletic field at Oak View School as soon as possible.

DUES — Decided not to join the California School Boards Association because of a "massive" increase in annual dues to $727.

TESTING — Learned that first and second grade students scored higher than the national average and third grade pupils equal with the national average in standardized reading tests.

Warrant Issued For Publicist

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A bench warrant was issued yesterday for Peter L. Goldstein, 34, when he failed to make an appearance in San Francisco Municipal Court.

Goldstein, brother of Marin Municipal Court Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr., is charged with striking a friend, Mrs. Patricia Rogers and her daughter, Jillian. The incident allegedly occurred at the Rogers' home last August.

The former San Anselmo publicist who now lives in San Francisco, was to have been tried last January but the case was postponed because the woman had died "of causes utterly unrelated to the incident," according to Goldstein's attorney, William O. Weissich of San Rafael.

Since then the case has been continued a half dozen times.

Felony Dope Charge To Superior Court

Edward T. Chorovsky, 23, of San Francisco yesterday was bound over to Marin Superior Court on felony charges of possessing marijuana and benzedrine June 15. He is to be arraigned in Superior Court on July 28.

Chorovsky was arrested by California Highway Patrol officers after they investigated his stopped auto on Highway 101 near Ignacio.

Hub School Board Adds To Budget

The San Anselmo School board last night added $15,000 to the 1969-70 budget to give added support to the seventh and eighth grade program, bringing the budget to $1,917,971, an increase of $91,621 above last year's $1,836,350.

Trustees set 6 p.m. Friday to meet at Red Hill School and review salaries, maintenance and capital outlay items in the preliminary budget.

The board heard a request from nonteaching employees asking that salary negotiations be kept open until September when all personnel are available but took no action saying the subject is closed, Supt. Stephen L. Parodi reported.

The board approved classified salary increases ranging from 6.66 to 8.33 per cent on June 26.

Trustees agreed to raise salaries for part-time personnel who work in community services related activities from $3 to $3.50 per hour.

The San Anselmo School board also:

READING TESTS — Heard these results from Stanford reading tests given in May: First graders at 1.8 years in school scored 2.0; second graders at 2.8 years scored 3.1 and third graders at 3.8 years scored 4.3.

EMPLOYED — Hired Doris Harnsberger to teach science and mathematics, at Red Hill School, $8,680; Terrie Monti, fourth, Brookside, $8,848; Barbara O'Brien, reading and language, Red Hill, $9,269; Patricia Powell, French, district $7,164; Carol Sawyer, first, Isabel Cook, $8,006 and William B. Emerson, district psychologist, $10,979.

Woodshed Robbed

School Land Sale Sought By Trustees

Initial steps to sell part of the Stinson Beach school site were taken Monday night by the Bolinas-Stinson School District board after it was told how to proceed in a letter from Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino.

District plans to sell the site were delayed by a title search required when the board learned part of the land had a reversion clause, in which the land would return to the previous owner if not used for school purposes.

The search showed, Supt. Clarence B. Larison said, that the reversion applies only to a narrow strip at the rear of the property, some five feet wide. The main part of the site is owned in clear title by the district, and a third part is leased at $10 a year.

Loss of the narrow strip would not affect sale of the main portion, Godino said yesterday.

The board told Larison to notify Godino of the district intent to sell the Stinson Beach property.

The board approved a publication budget of $213,325, up some 5 per cent from last year's $203,126. The total was adopted after three changes.

The board approved a levy of 10 cents per $100 assessed valuation under the new Field Act tax levy, which will produce $10,000 to improve earthquake resistance of district buildings.

A 2-cent increase in the 7-8 grade levy, to 13 cents, was approved to finance use of a portable classroom for the year.

Another $800 was added to the budget for outdoor education.

The board set a budget hearing for 8 p.m. Aug. 4 at Bolinas School.

The Bolinas-Stinson School District board also:

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignations of three teachers, Erika Zettl, Elizabeth Hufnagel and Ronald Weiss, all of Stinson Beach School. The three submitted resignations several weeks ago and the board hired three new teachers.

DESK — Rejected all five bids, the highest $103, for a desk made by cabinetmaker Arthur Carpenter of Bolinas, and instructed Larison to sell the desk privately. Items under $200 can be sold without bids.

DELEGATE — Names Trustee Jessie Reasoner delegate to the California School Boards Association.

CONTRACT — Approved the annual contract with the Marin County Schools Department for county services such as nursing and psychological aid.

CONFERENCE — Conferred with county school staff including Stanley Friese, assistant superintendent for the county, but took no action.

Youth Bound Over To Superior Court

Robert Edward Decker, 18, of Corte Madera yesterday was bound over to Marin Superior Court on a charge of burglarizing a Ross home May 8. He will appear in court Monday for arraignment.

Decker turned himself into police in connection with the burglary.

Pacifists On Hanoi Trip To Get Prisoners

PARIS (AP) — Seven American pacifists, including two women, passed through Paris today on their way to Hanoi to receive three U.S. war prisoners, freed by the North Vietnamese.

The prisoners, still unnamed, are being released in Hanoi in what North Vietnam has called a "goodwill gesture" to mark U.S. Independence Day.

The pacifist group, led by Rennard C. Davis, 28, was invited to Hanoi to escort the three prisoners back to the United States.

Davis is under indictment with seven other persons in the United States on charges of inciting mob action during the 1968 Democratic National Convention. Federal Appellate Court Judge Otto Kerner in Chicago gave Davis special permission yesterday to leave the United States for three weeks in connection with the prisoner release.

The seven Americans arrived at Orly Airport from New York and left almost immediately on another plane for Phnom Penh, Cambodia, where they will take the weekly flight to Hanoi of the International Control Commission.

Davis told newsmen, "We plan to bring the three freed American airmen back to the United States as quickly as possible. We will take advantage of our trip to bring back to the United States photographs and documents on Vietnam at war and to reaffirm our solidarity with the Vietnamese people."

The North Vietnamese invited the group to escort the three prisoners home to avoid them being interrogated en route by military authorities.

Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. negotiator at the Paris peace talks, gave another American pacifist, David Dellinger, formal assurances last week that no attempt would be made to intercept the prisoners to "debrief" them.

'People's Pad' Plan Rejected

BERKELEY (AP) — The board of education voted last night not to lease an abandoned housing unit for use as a "People's Pad" youth hostel for an expected summer influx of the nation's youth.

Proponents calling themselves the "People's Pad Steering Committee" said they had interviewed 250 persons in the unit area and found that 43 per cent favored the project, 9 per cent opposed it and the rest were indifferent.

The South Berkeley Model Cities Neighborhood Council questioned the poll and opposed the project. The school board had said it would withdraw its lease offer if the council objected.

Ferry Strike End Is Sought

Tiburon Mayor L. D. Fanning asked congressional aid in settling the ferry strike which has disrupted commuter service for Tiburon residents.

In a letter to Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, Fanning said the strike is stranding approximately 350 commuters a day, forcing them to "already crowded highways."

Also, he noted, city businesses, particularly restaurants, are suffering a "grievious impact" with tourist trade curtailed by the strike.

He asked Mailliard to help in bringing the strike, by marine engineers which began June 4, to an end.

$10,285 Net For '68 By Marin Appraisers

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Marin's two inheritance tax appraisers earned a net total of $10,285 for their part-time work during 1968, reports on file yesterday in the controller's office showed.

Edmond C. Ward of Greenbrae, appointed in April by Controller Houston I. Flournoy, grossed $11,774 and netted $6,953. Earl D. Brown of Mill Valley, appointed in May last year, grossed $6,870 and netted $3,332.

Their fee is one tenth of 1 per cent of the appraised values of estates the court assigns to them for appraisal.

Their earnings last year compared with those reported for 1967 by former appraisers Lee V. Holman of San Rafael and Ralph T. McGrath of Novato, both of whom served throughout the entire year. Holman netted $12,007 in 1967 and McGrath netted $3,382.

The biggest earnings last year were reported by a San Jose inheritance tax appraiser, who grossed $74,827 and netted $44,963 after expenses.

For the third year in a row, a Senate committee has shelved Flournoy's proposed legislation to replace the 163 appraisers with civil servants. Flournoy was critical of his predecessor, now Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., alleging he used his power of appointing the appraisers to select political friends, who then donated some of their earnings to Cranston's campaigns.

Laird Aide Attempting To Untangle Boss's Statement

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top Pentagon spokesman tried today to disentangle Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird from an impression that he was being overly optimistic about prospects for peace in Vietnam.

The issue revolves around a remark by Laird before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that "I think we've certainly turned the corner."

The sentence was sandwiched in between Laird's expression of fervent hope yesterday for the day when peace can be restored, and another statement reporting forward progress in "Vietnamization" of the war.

Jerry Friedheim, deputy assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, told a briefing that Laird's "turned the corner" reference was to the progress toward turning the war over to the South Vietnamese rather than an expression of optimism about peace possibilities.

Friedheim said that "no new ground was broken" when Laird mentioned President Richard M. Nixon's orders to Gen Creighton Abrams, U.S. commander in Vietnam, to reduce American casualties.

"We're satisfied that Abrams is conducting his operations in a manner to minimize U.S. casualties," Friedheim said.

It was recalled that the White House several months ago spoke of such orders to Abrams and that Laird later amplified this to say that the U.S. commander was under orders "to keep the maximum pressure on the enemy consistent with the lowest possible casualties."

Before the use of water meters slaughter houses in New York and St. Louis were charged on the basis of five cents for each bullock slaughtered. Most other cities charged flat monthly rates ranging from $5.00 to $10.00, according to Rockwell Manufacturing Company.

Pair Arrested In Drug Case

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Customs inspectors and narcotics officers arrested two women yesterday on charges of possessing hashish smuggled from Moracco.

The women, arrested at 41 Ord Court, are Virginia Pavlick, 23, and Pamela Warren, 26. They were booked on charges of possession of dangerous drugs and possessing them for sale.

Inspectors, who said they found hashish with a blackmarket value of $10,000, asserted the raid was only the beginning of a large-scale investigation.

Guide Dog Diplomas To 10 On Saturday

Ten high school and college students will be graduated from the summer classes of Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc. during ceremonies at 2:30 p.m. Saturday at the school at 350 Los Ranchitos Road, San Rafael.

Hollis Moore, director of the Marin County Schools Office teacher aide training program, will speak at the ceremony which will be followed by a tour of the kennels and an obedience demonstration.

The graduates are: Ronald Carey of Pacific Grove; Manuel Gonsalves of Modesto; Samuel Jennings of Grand Junction, Colo.; Jan McEwen of Berkeley; Susanne Sumner of Spokane, Wash.; Rebecca Thompson of Poway, San Diego County; Kenneth Volonte of Redwood City; Carl Wake of Richmond; Connie Walker of Troutdale, Ore.; Talmadge Wells Jr. of Shreveport, La.

Seven of the guide dogs being presented to the blind trainees were raised by Bay Area 4-H members, including Dale Perry of Mill Valley.

Sausalito School Burglary Losses Report Tallied

Burglaries have cost the Sausalito School District $6,616 in the last four school years, the trustees learned Monday night.

A report itemizing burglary losses over that span showed the loss last year was highest, $2,663 in eight burglaries. Losses were $2,081 in 1965-66, but dropped to $1,356 in 1966-67 and $516 in 1967-68.

Burglaries were committed last school year on Sept. 30 at the district office, Oct. 1 at Bayside School, Oct. 1 at the district office, on an unspecified November date at Bayside, April 27 at Bayside and at Martin Luther King School, May 6 at King, and June 2 at King.

Items taken this year include six tape recorders, two electric typewriters, two phonographs, a dictator transcriber, a set of cymbals, a camera, three stopwatches and two track starter's guns.

The board did not discuss or act on the report.

Cotati Rezoning

The Cotati City Council will consider a rezoning request at its meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Cotati fire hall. The request by Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Thompson would change their property on El Rancho Drive from single family residential to allow apartments.

Jealous Uncle Guilty In Murder

POMONA (AP)—A jury rendered a second-degree murder verdict against a 33-year-old man the prosecution said fatally shot his niece, 22, because she planned to marry a Ft. Ord soldier instead of him.

The body of the girl, Anita Arteaga, was found by her father Feb. 15 in a shallow grave under the family home. The prosecution said she had been dead a month.

The prosecution contended that Arnulfo Maldonado killed the girl in Salinas and took her body to the family home for burial.

Maldonado's defense held that Miss Arteaga was accidentally shot three times during a struggle after an argument over a loan. He was convicted yesterday by a Superior Court jury after one and a half days of deliberation.

Warrant Issued For 19-Year-Old

A bench warrant with bail set at $2,500 has been issued by Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court for Eugene Richard Rudnick, 19, of San Rafael, who failed to appear for a preliminary hearing on forgery charge.

Rudnick is accused of forging a money order believed to have been stolen by a former postman.

IT'S 'GOLLYWOOD'

English Language Confuses Russians

MOSCOW (AP) — The Russians succeed in a lot of things, but attaining facility in the English language is not one of them.

This even goes for the names of American Communist leaders.

When Gus Hall was in Moscow recently he was introduced at a news conference as "Hell Guess."

This blooper illustrated the chronic Russian confusion over the letters G and H in translating foreign names. The Russians also seem to have a gift for mixing up foreigners' first and last names.

Hall's first name threw the translators for a loop anyway, because spelling it straight in Russian would have made him "Goose," the same word in Russian and English. The compromise makes him "Guess."

Another classic deformation is the name of the former U.S. vice president, pronounced here as "Goobert Hemfry."

Under the Russian system of translating, Havana becomes Gavana, Hamburg is Gamburg, Hawaii is Gavaii and the American film capital is Gollywood. A Hollywood Western movie comes out in Russian: Gollyvoodski kovboyski film.

The trouble does not end with proper names.

American expressions are popular among the English-speaking Russians, but the results are sometimes disastrous.

A Pravda writer, Yuri Zhukov, demonstrated his knowledge of English recently by introducing an article on rumors of a change in Vietnam policy thus:

"It's cooking something in Washington."

Since this sentence appeared in Pravda in English, the author went on to explain that this is an old American expression that means "Something is being cooked in the Washington kitchen."

Occasionally a glaring error in some public sphere goes unnoticed for weeks. The first translation for the movie "Room at the Top" was "Mansarda" in Russian advertisements.

Mansarda is the Russian word for attic.

It was changed to a less literal translation after some complaints.

Russians learning English are badly handicapped by their lack of contact with native English speakers, causing them to fall into the trap of outdated slang.

One young diplomat, anxious to show how hard he had studied his English, was telling a group of Americans about his fellow-students who couldn't make the grade in the Institute of Foreign Languages.

"These you would call nincompoops, yes?" he asked.

Another recent graduate, confused by an American's rapid speech, interrupted and pleaded:

"Lower, please. I don't dig you."

The Russians also are great borrowers.

Blue jeans, a hot item on the black market here, are called jeansy. A sweater is a sveeter, phonograph records are diski, and the main street in any Russian city is nicknamed Broadvei.

There are hazards in many languages.

A couple of years ago a Czechoslovak official, speaking in public in Moscow, praised the "krasny zhivot" of a Spanish woman Communist.

In Czech that means "beautiful life."

In Russian it means "red belly."

Tennis Lessons

Signups for tennis lessons for adults and children, sponsored by the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Department, are being accepted now at the Mill Valley Golf clubhouse. The classes will begin Monday and run through Aug. 15.

Air Base Awards Contracts For 13 Projects To Firms

The awarding of 13 contracts totaling $421,726 was announced today by the base procurement office at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Reliance Enterprises of Santa Rosa received the most contracts, three. Included were a $69,996 contract to alter the data processing plant in Building 420; an $18,921 contract to alter Building 924 and a $799 contract to replace the time delay relays in the power transfer buildings in the emergency plants.

Pearson and Johnson of San Francisco were given a $137,450 contract to remodel the interior of the commissary; Market Engineering of San Rafael, a $3,955 contract to repair the cold storage plant; Custom Maintenance of Marin of San Anselmo, a $99,687 contract for janitor service; Brown-Ely Co. of San Rafael, a $12,307 contract to remove a landslide.

L. H. Leonardi Electric Construction Co. of San Rafael was given a $3,200 contract to repair the primary distribution line to the military affiliated radio system station; Allied Painting and Decorating Co. of Denver, Colo., a $56,670 contract to paint the exterior of family housing; Shields Construction Co. of Novato, a $2,779 contract to refinish the floors and ceiling in the gymnasium; Hawke Engineers of San Francisco, a $13,637 contract for soils testing, and Layton Manufacturing Co. of Salem, Ore., a $2,325 contract for a pull type asphalt paver.

"The Four Hundred," the term for the cream of New York society, was introduced by Samuel Ward McAllister, arbiter of New York and Newport society in the late 19th Century.

Parents Of Dead Firefighters Sue

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The parents of four youths killed fighting a forest fire in Angeles National Forest last Aug. 24 and the mother of another who was burned but survived have filed suit against Los Angeles County for $2.5 million. Each family seeks $500,000.

The joint suit contends the youths were taken "involuntarily" from Camp Kenyon J. Scudder to fight the fire.

It charges also that the youths were not qualified fire fighters.

The parents seeking indemnity for their deceased sons: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rodriquez of Los Angeles for William; Mr. and Mrs. Caesar Carlin of City of Commerce for Larry; and Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Rivera of Pico Rivera for Robert B., and Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Mendibles of Pacoima for Arthur.

Park's Water System May Drop In Cost

The installation of the water system to Pioneer Memorial Park in Novato may cost less than anticipated as a result of action taken last night by the North Marin County Water District board.

The board voted not to charge any reserve facility fees to hook up the meter to the park provided that the city does not irrigate during the daytime, or a water shortage, said Eugene Churchill, manager.

This will reduce the cost of the meter from $2,430 to $1,263, if the city agrees to the terms, Churchill said.

The board approved an agreement with the Novato Civic Foundation to complete the water mains in the park for both irrigation and domestic water at a cost not to exceed $500, Churchill added.

Nine men from the water district crews donated 72 hours of work last Saturday and laid most of the 1,800 feet of pipe in the park, Churchill reported. The system could not be completed because of lack of such materials as connections and valves, he said. The district will furnish these materials and complete the installation under the agreement with the civic foundation, he said.

The board heard that there was a 13.5 per cent drop in water usage or from 213 to 185 million gallons, in June of this year compared to June 1968, because of cool weather.

Reed Board Votes Drug Abuse Rules

A student drug abuse policy was added to the Reed School District's student behavior policy by district trustees last night, according to Supt. Robert B. Gaw.

Gaw said the additions were submitted by the Tiburon Peninsula Drug Abuse Committee following a study of district policies. The student behavior code was adopted in 1966 and contained no references to drug abuse, according to Gaw.

The new policy says a student may be suspended for no more than two weeks or 10 school days if he is found to possess, use or sell narcotics on school premises during the school day.

In addition, the policy requires a conference with the student, his parents and school personnel including teachers, a psychologist, counsellor and principal.

The conference is to "explore effective means of resolving the problem" the policy says, and may require counselling by school personnel or outside agencies as a condition of readmission or continued attendance.

The policy also stipulates that students violating conditions of the confernece are subject to expulsion, following a hearing before the board.

Trustees also voted to make the drug abuse committee a standing committee of the board.

Later in the evening the middle school pilot program and intermediate school program, both at Del Mar School, were continued for one more year on condition that an evaluation of the programs be made by an outside research firm.

Vote was 3-2 with Trustees Thomas S. Price and Leo Souza dissenting.

Price urged the board to eliminate the graded intermediate school program and establish the ungraded middle school as the only sixth-eighth grade program at Del Mar School, Gaw said.

The Reed School District Board also:

BUS ROUTES — Approved the bus route schedule for the 1969-70 school year.

CORPORATION YARD — Approved a joint powers agreement with the city of Tiburon for joint use of a new corporation yard behind Reed School.

CONTRACT — Awarded a contract for $55,137 to E. A. Forde of Greenbrae for improvements to Reed School.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of Naomi Mills, Bel Aire School second grade teacher, who is moving.

Wayward Car Hits Railing, Trailer

Everett Clippinger, 45, of 623 Bamboo Terrace, Terra Linda, was treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday for cuts and scrapes on the face and right knee after a collision on Puerto Suello Hill at 12:45 a.m.; the California Highway Patrol said.

Witnesses told the highway patrol Clippinger's car hit a guard rail on Highway 101, then hit a trailer towed by a car driven by Donald E. Lewis, 47, of Dearborn Heights, Mich.

Fairfax Trustees Put Stamp On Budget

Fairfax School District trustees last night approved a publication budget of $868,091 for the 1969-70 fiscal year, down from the 1968-69 budget of $893,000, Supt. H. Reginald Hammond reported.

Hammond said the lower budget would make no changes in the district's tax rate $3.015 per $100 assessed valuation. The cut in the budget was necessary "because we just don't have the money," Hammond said.

As a result, he said, the district will cut transportation and will be short on maintenance items. "There are still some other needs that are just unmet," Hammond said. "Unless the state comes through with help in substantial amounts, we just can't make some programs.'

The Fairfax Board postponed its consideration of applications for the vacancy on the board until its Aug. 5 meeting. Hammond said any Fairfax citizen interested in applying for the vacancy should do so before Aug. 4. Only one person has applied so far.

The Fairfax School District

WORKSHOP — Approved a board also:

COUNTY — Agreed to a request from the county schools office to construct a portable classroom at the White Hill School site for a county program for the educationally handicapped on the junior high level.

RECREATION — Instructed Hammond to discuss with the Fairfax Parks and Recreation Commission the possibility of making the after-school recreation program an extension of the school program, with teachers providing supervision.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignations of Mrs. Elizabeth Hardin from White Hill School and Julia Wells whose husband has been called to active duty since she signed a contract with district last month.

SOCIAL SECURITY — Authorized Hammond to investigate extending social security coverage to staff members not covered now.

pre-school workshop, probably in late August, for the district's team teachers, most of whom will be new this year.

Reed's Final Budget Increased $29,426

Reed School District trustees last night approved a final publication budget of $1,960,797 for fiscal 1969-70, up $29,426 from the tentative budget approved June 17.

Supt. Robert B. Gaw said the increase was due to surplus carryover funds from the 1968-69 fiscal year.

Of the surplus, $21,300 was allocated to undistributed reserves, bringing that fund total to $140,776. The remainder was used to contract for a fourth school bus, additional teacher aides, books, in service training, and substitute teacher salaries, Gaw said.

Gaw estimated the new budget will require a tax rate of $3.53 per $100 assessed valuation the same as last year, including $1.28 in override taxes. The actual tax rate is set by the county superintendent of schools office in the fall.

Trustees also approved a $1,200 annual salary hike for Asst. supt. William G. Vanasen, increasing his salary to $17,700 a year.

Gaw said the 8 per cent hike was in line with raises granted earlier this year to teachers and principals.

A public hearing on the publication budget has been set for 8 p.m. Aug. 5.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Lawyers Use Case Method

In court you may have heard your lawyer say that such and such a decision — Jones vs. Smith — governed the case at hand. How did he find that "controlling precedent?"

Law school trains your lawyer to use the "case" method to find and analyze legal problems. The law student reads and analyzes thousands of selected cases to find out how to apply the law in particular cases like yours.

The case method allows him to sort out people's predicaments and to see again and again that the outcome of each case rests upon its own set of facts. This is why a lawyer has to study the facts and law in your case to give you an answer. He has to get the particular facts of your case and then find out exactly how the law — as reflected in the cases — applies to them.

When you seek advice, your lawyer begins at once to sort out facts and frame the legal problem. Sometimes he can answer at once; often he has to go to the books and check out your problem.

This process may take only a few minutes. But sometimes it takes hours, or days; and in big cases, sometimes months. Lawyers must also double check on whether some court of appeal has overruled a decision he might be using in your case.

After all this, your lawyer can stand before the court and say "Your Honor, we believe that our case is controlled by the case of Brown vs. Johnson." He then usually outlines the circumstances in the Brown case, and compares them with the facts in your case. If they fit, the judge usually makes a judgment in your favor.

In borderline cases, of course, adversary lawyers, too, may quote from other cases which they feel support their opposing contentions.

Finally, in such cases, the judge weighs the contentions of both sides and then "instructs" the jurors what law to apply in the case before them. So far as the jury is concerned, the judge's instructions are the last word. Their job is to measure the evidence given in court against the law that the judge gives them and return a verdict accordingly.

Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

Nicasio Board Publication Budget Lift

The Nicasio School District Board last night approved a publication budget for 1969-70 of $51,350, up from the estimated 1968-69 budget of $48,835, board secretary Beverly Alberigi reported.

Miss Alberigi said the board was not sure whether the slightly higher budget would cause a tax hike until it was determined what assessed valuations in the district would total. She added, however, that any tax increase would be no more than one or two cents above the current $2.225 per $100 assessed valuation.

In other action, the board voted to ask Tamalpais High School District trustees for a public hearing on bus transportation for high school students in the Nicasio area.

Miss Alberigi said the high school district trustees are considering cutting the service which would leave the approximately 15 high school students in the area without transportation to school.

The board made no decision on whether to have kindergarten at the Nicasio school or send kindergarners to Lagunitas. The Nicasio district is seeking a teacher's aide so it can keep kindergarten at the Nicasio school.

Pentagon Stops Poison Gas Class

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor announced today a suspension of the use of poisonous gases in defensive training at Fort McClellan, Ala.

He confirmed also that open air testing of lethal chemical agents has been suspended at Edgewood Arsenal, Md.

Resor's statement made no mention of the Dugway Proving Grounds, Utah, activities, where 5,000 sheep last year were accidentally killed by nerve gas.

Fine Not Enough To Cover Rampage

PORT ISABEL, TEX. (UPI) —A $25 fine levied against a Laguna Heights man convicted on a drunk charge scarcely was enough to cover the cost of putting him in jail when he refused to pay it.

The prisoner, placed in the city's new $60,000 jail, tore built-in lavatory equipment from the wall of his cell and smashed it into quarter-sized pieces which he then used to carve designs on the walls. He also shoved a blanket through an air conditioning system, ruining the fan. Total damage came to $317.30.

Murphy Asks More Fed Aid To Schools

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — Legislation to hike federal aid to education by $220 million was introduced yesterday by Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif.

Murphy said his bill would increase by 30 per cent federal funds for schools with large numbers or a high percentage of disadvantaged children, especially in big city and depressed rural areas, where there is a lack of local money.

"Almost daily from these troubled schools we pick up educational distress signals — bond issues defeated, cutbacks in educational programs, teacher shortages, classroom violence, dropouts and discipline and drug problems," Murphy said.

"Earlier in our history, the city's wealth was tapped to equalize educational opportunities in less affluent areas," he said. "Now that situation is reversed, and the cities are in desperate need of financial help — time is running out."

An advance press release from Murphy's office said the bill would provide $400 million, but his office sent telegrams to the press yesterday saying the amount was cut to $220 million "due to a change in statistics from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare."

Way Confident Of Bay Fill Bill

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Senate Leader Howard Way said today, a tough compromise bill to prevent uncontrolled filling of San Francisco Bay will be approved by the upper house.

Way noted four authors of separate bills are nearing agreement on a compromise that will give the Bay Conservation and Development Commission additional powers.

He said the compromise measure will extend the commission's jurisdiction to salt ponds and to a "reasonable band of shoreline" adjacent to the bay.

Asked at a news conference what a reasonable band was, Way replied between 100 and 200 feet landward from the shore.

"The Senate wants to support and will pass a strong bill," Way said.

Dog's Life Better

VIENNA (AP) — The "living standard" of Vienna's municipal watchdogs has been raised to the level of state-owned police dogs. The dogs after the "raise" will be able to eat 12 schillings (48 cents) worth of food daily. Before, the city-owned dogs earned five schillings (20 cents) a day.

Snellen E Chart, Responses Can Test Seeing In Children

VAN DELLEN

A Spokane mother writes: "How early can an infant's vision be tested? I come from a family of near-sighted people and until my eyes were examined, I never saw the blackboard in school or the mountains from our front porch. Glasses opened up a new world for me. My daughter is almost 4 and I want to spare her my experience."

Visual acuity can be tested after 3½ years of age via the Snellen E chart. Before this age, vision can be determined roughly by testing the light reflex or evaluating the child's response to a rubber ring or marbles of various sizes and colors.

THE SNELLEN-type test consists of rows of the letter E in various sizes corresponding to the regular visual test chart. The points of the E's are up, down, right, and left. Many ophthalmologists have the youngster use his own fingers to indicate the direction in which the E is pointing. The chart then is moved 20 feet away, one eye is covered and the child again is asked to show which way the fingers of the E are pointing.

If the child knows his alphabet, an ordinary chart is used. Picture charts also are available but are of little value when the tyke does not know the names of the objects. Two English ophthalmologists recently introduced a new method for screening visual acuity in young children. It consists of three white cards of equal size bearing one, two, or three black rectangles or blocks. The blocks are so arranged that the child with normal vision can tell whether the card has one, two, or three blocks. The secret of the test involves the white spaces or gaps between the blocks on the second and third card.

AS WITH the E test, the youngster is allowed to see the cards close up before they are moved 20 feet away. The three cards are shown twice, once with the blocks placed horizontally and the other with the blocks placed vertically, The new method is rapid and accurate.

KNEE BENDS

A reader writes: I read that knee bends no longer are done in colleges or in the armed forces because they are a bad form of exercise. And, can even damage the knees. This is news to me. Please do a column on knee bends which I always thought were beneficial.

REPLY

There is no harm in this type of exercise provided the knees are normal. What you say is news to me, too.

SOUNDS

A reader writes: Will X-ray show a heart murmur?

REPLY

No. Murmurs are sounds given off by the heart and are detected with the stethoscope or electronic devices. The X-ray is analagous to a camera, which is able to take a picture of Tom Jones but not record his dulcet tones.

'SHOCKING' AWAY CHIPS

A reader writes: Would shock treatments help a middle-aged woman who has had a chip on her shoulder since childhood?

REPLY

No. Shock therapy is used in counteracting severe depressions and psychoses. It will not correct personality defects.

SYMPTOMS

A reader writes: Can a mild leukemia go on for years?

REPLY

There is no such thing as a mild lukemia but the manifestations of the chronic form of the disease may be mild. With modern therapy, many victims live for years.

OVERSENSITIVE

C. L. S. writes: Can a case of frostbite that occurred many years ago cause great sensitivity to the cold—even to a slight chill? I freeze at any temperature below 70 degrees.

REPLY

Yes, inasmuch as frostbitten tissues are more sensitive to the cold. Some with a low metabolsim feel the cold more acutely. Anemia may have the same effect. Perhaps you should have your thyroid gland investigated. However, if you are otherwise healthy, why not try wearing warmer clothing?

MALE BREAST

J. L. M. writes: If the breast of a male is enlarged at the age of 14, when will it go back to normal?

REPLY

Gynecomastia or unusual enlargement of the breast occurs occasionally in the male adolescent. It rarely persists for longer than two years and can affect one or both breasts. This type of enlargement is due to the secretion of estrogens.

Today's Health Hint — Children should spend part of the day out of doors.

NOTICE INVITING SEALED PROPOSALS ALMONTE SANITARY DISTRICT

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on or before Eight o'clock P.M. of the 30th day of July, 1969, sealed proposals for the laying, construction, and installation of approximately 400 feet of six inch "Dual Seal" Cast iron sewer pipe laid not less than a depth of 12" from ground level to top of pipe; joints of new sewer to be bedded in crushed rock at points of newly disturbed ground, new sewer to include one, "1" rod hole and seven "7" "Y" joints to which will be connected seven existing house laterals, last few feet of house laterals on down slope to be raised to meet higher level of new six inch line, to be installed as per this contract; along an existing easement parallel to Beryl Avenue within the District and terminating at a manhole on Rosemont Avenue, shall be delivered to the secretary of the Almonte Sanitary District at 226 Shoreline Highway, Mill Valley, California. Said proposals will be referred to and considered by the Governing Board of the Almonte Sanitary District at Eight o'clock P.M. on the 30th day of July, 1969, at 226 Shoreline Highway, said time being at least ten days from the time of publication of this notice.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that reference to further particulars and requirements of bidders regarding said proposals may be had by reference to plans and specifications in the proposed agreement, which documents are on file in the office of the secretary of the District at 226 Shoreline Highway, Mill Valley, California, Phone 388-7255. The aforesaid documents must be reviewed prior to submitting bids. Job site inspection can be arranged by contacting Director Dave Beasley, Phone 388-3491 week day evenings after 5:30 P.M.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that proposal forms of District must be utilized in bidding upon the project.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that on 2 June, 1969, the Board of Directors of the Almonte Sanitary District adopted a Resolution determining the general prevailing rate of per diem wages to be paid to the various groundsmen and laborers required to construct and work on said project, a copy of which wage scale is set forth below:

Prevailing union rates within Marin County Area. For positions not listed above, the minimum wage rate for skilled intermediate or unskilled labor shall be not less than the legal minimum wage per hour. It shall conform to the particular craft or classification of workmen employed on the project.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that contractor shall furnish to District a Faithful Performance Bond and Labor and Materials Bond amounting to 100% and 50% respectively of the amount bid, and all proposals and bids shall be accompanied by a Cashier's or Certified check payable to the order of the District, amounting to 10% of the bid or by a Bond of said amount payable to said District signed by the bidder and a corporate surety or by the bidder and two sureties. It shall justify before any officer competent to administer oath in double said amount and over and above all statutory exemptions. Said check shall be forfeited or said bond shall become payable to said District in case the bidder depositing the same does not within 15 days after written notice that the contract has been awarded to him, enter into a contract with the District.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that the contractor will be required to commence work under this contract within 10 days after the date of receipt by him from the district of clearance and notice to proceed and shall diligently prosecute said work to completion before the expiration of 30 calendar days of commencement of work.

The contractor is required to obtain all necessary permits, including encroachment permits and to comply with all ordinances of the County of Marin.

Any fence sections removed to facilitate work will be replaced by the contractor to the satisfaction of the property owner.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that no contractor or subcontractor upon the work herein specified shall knowingly fail to hire or allow to be dismissed from employment thereon any person or persons because of race, national origin or creed. The hiring of all labor for the work included in this contract shall be in accordance with the applicable directives of the Fair Employment Practices Commission of the State of California.

It will be the obligation of the contractor to take out a permit from the Building Inspection Department of the County of Marin — the inspection of the job will be done by that agency.

Alternate bids are requested as follows:

1. Alternate Bid for installation of six-inch no-hub cast iron pipe at depth of not less than 12 inches from ground to top of pipe, with necessary lateral hookups by Y's.
2. Alternate Bid for 6-inch clay pipe at depth of not less than 18 inches from ground to top of pipe. All lateral connections to be accomplished by use of Y joints, no tapping into pipes will be permitted.

DATED this 30th day of June, 1969.

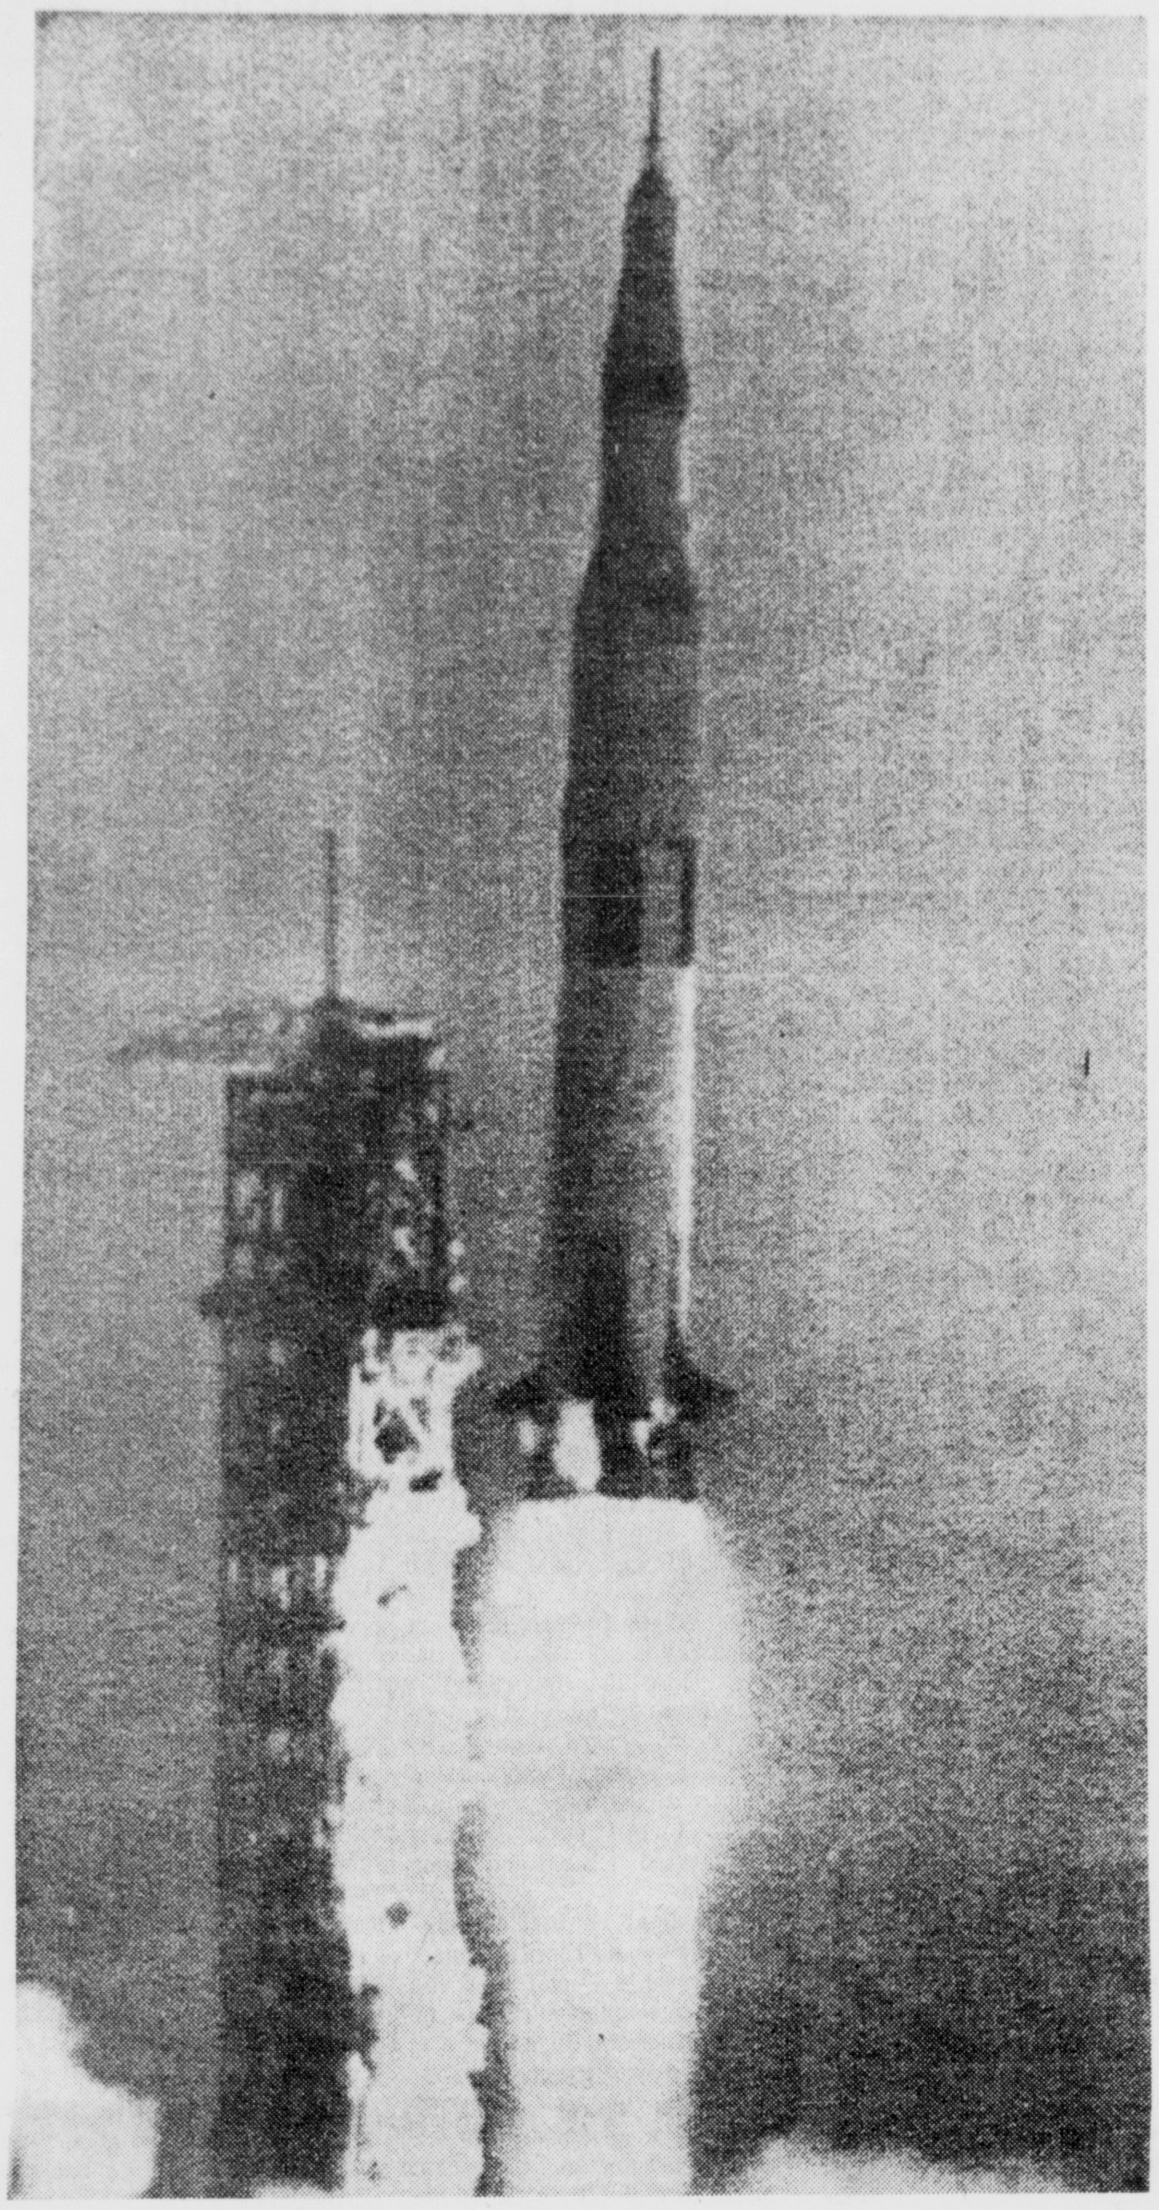
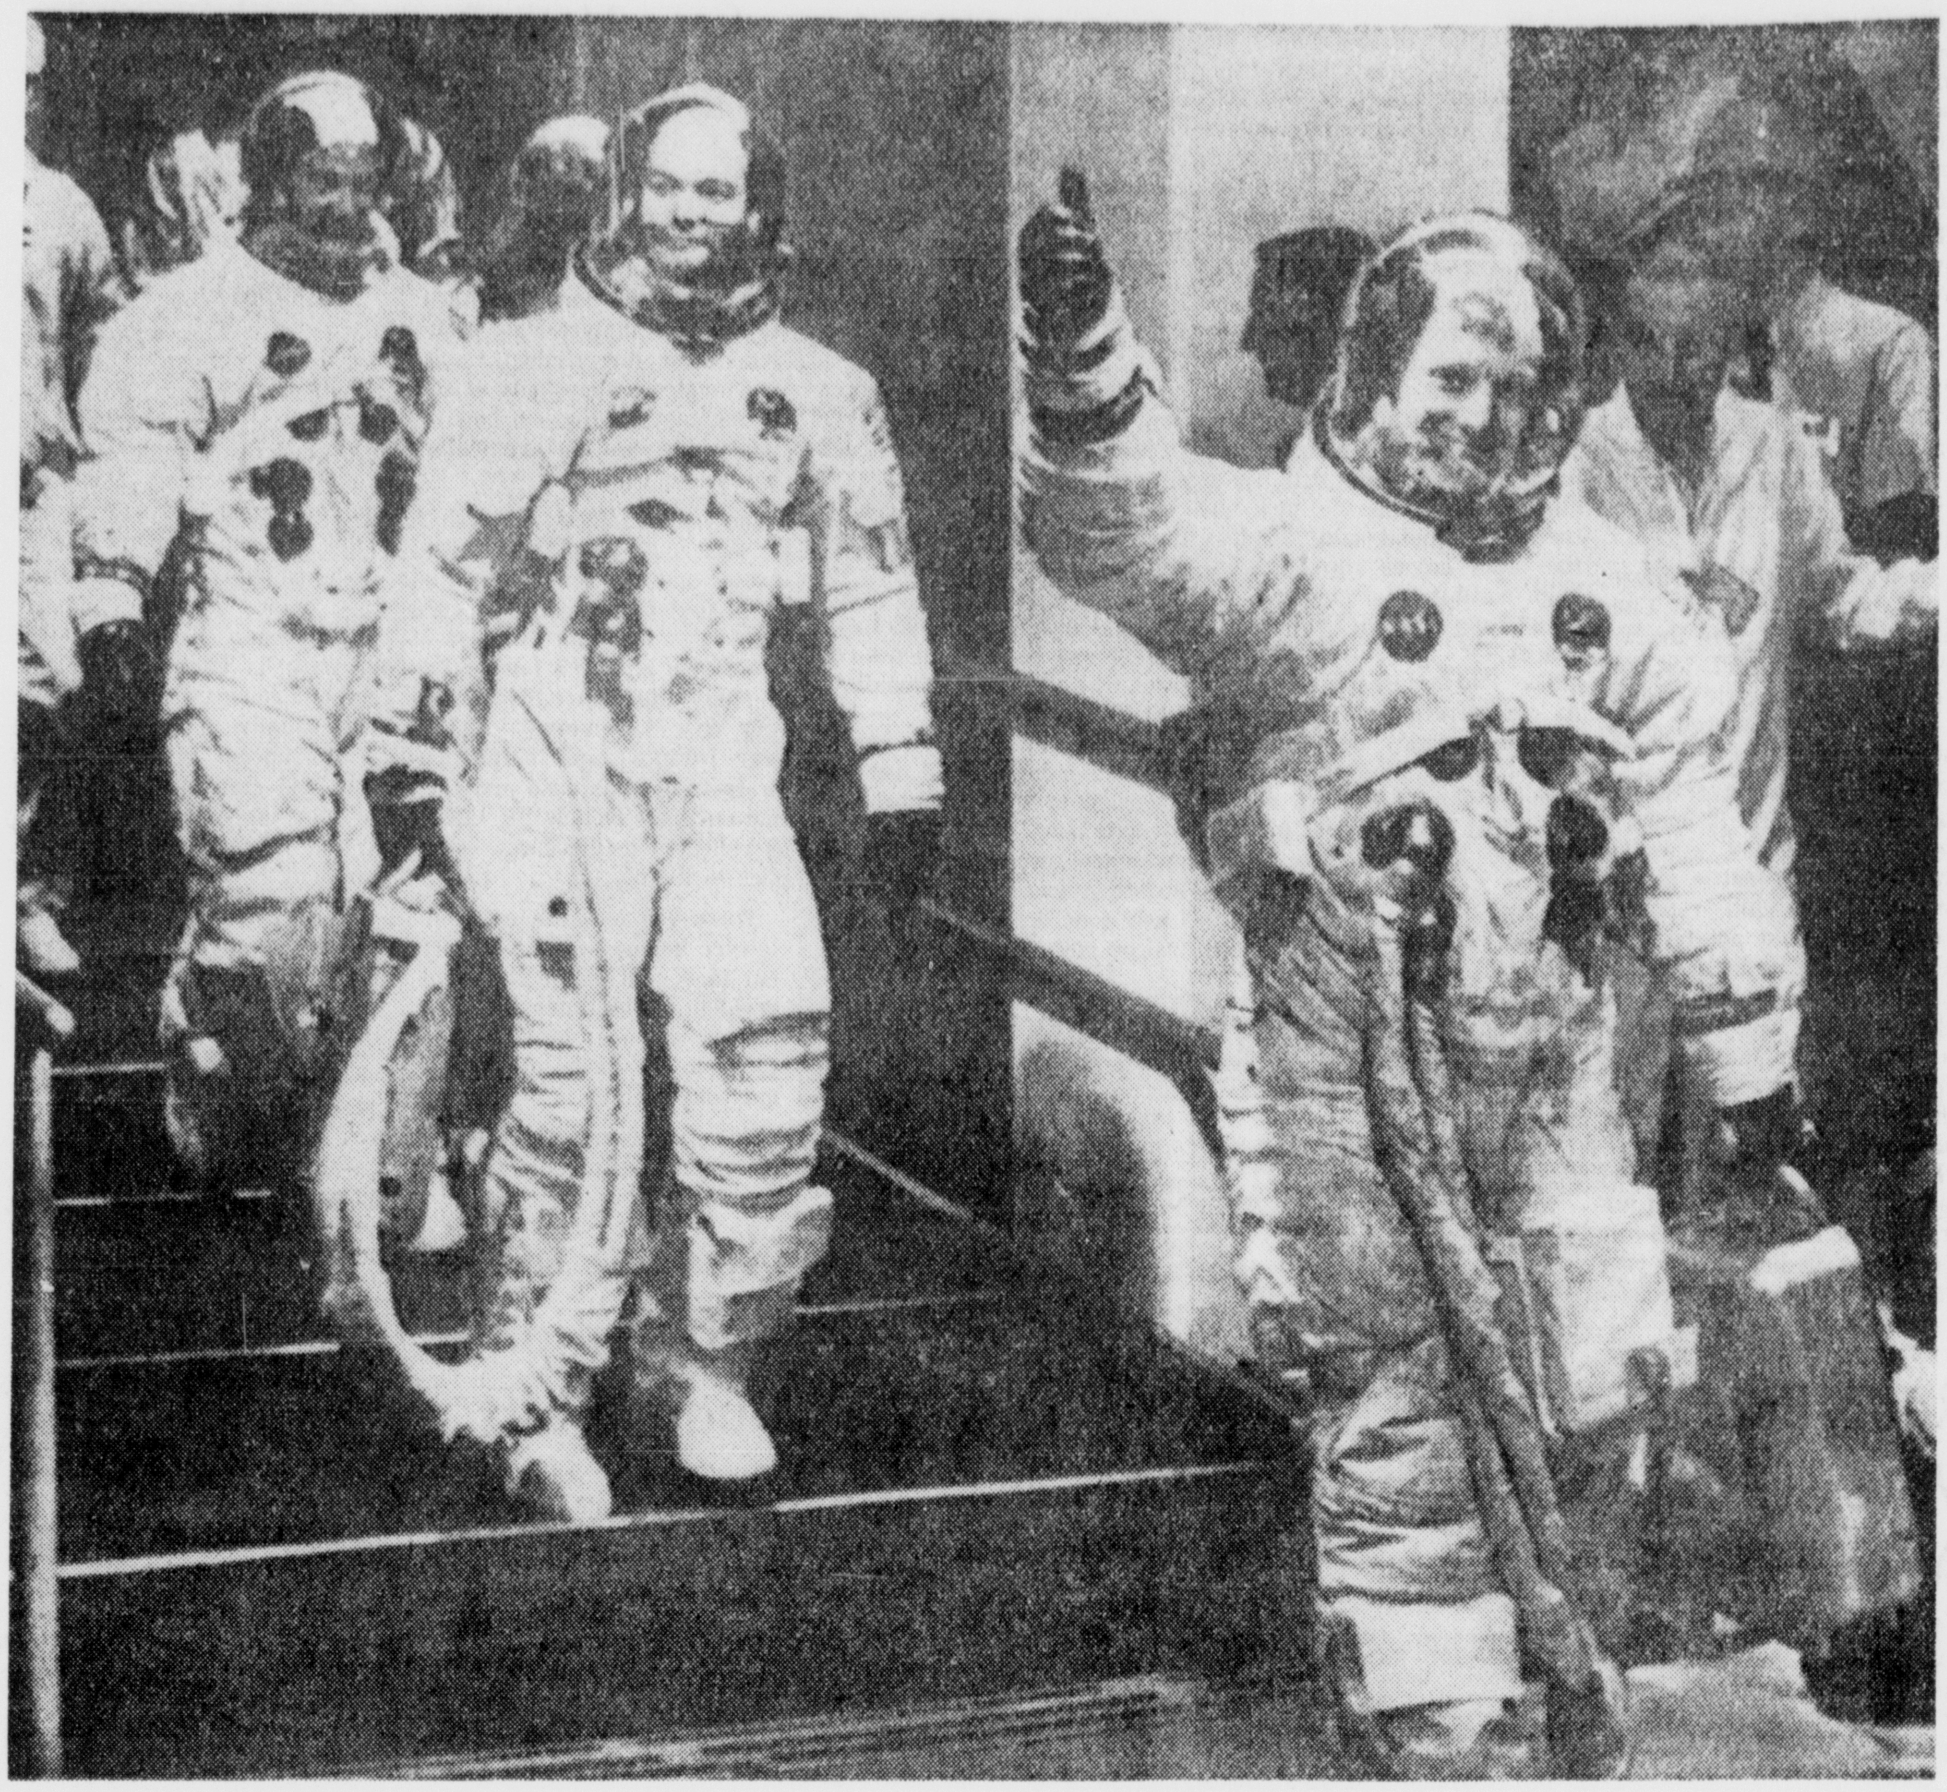
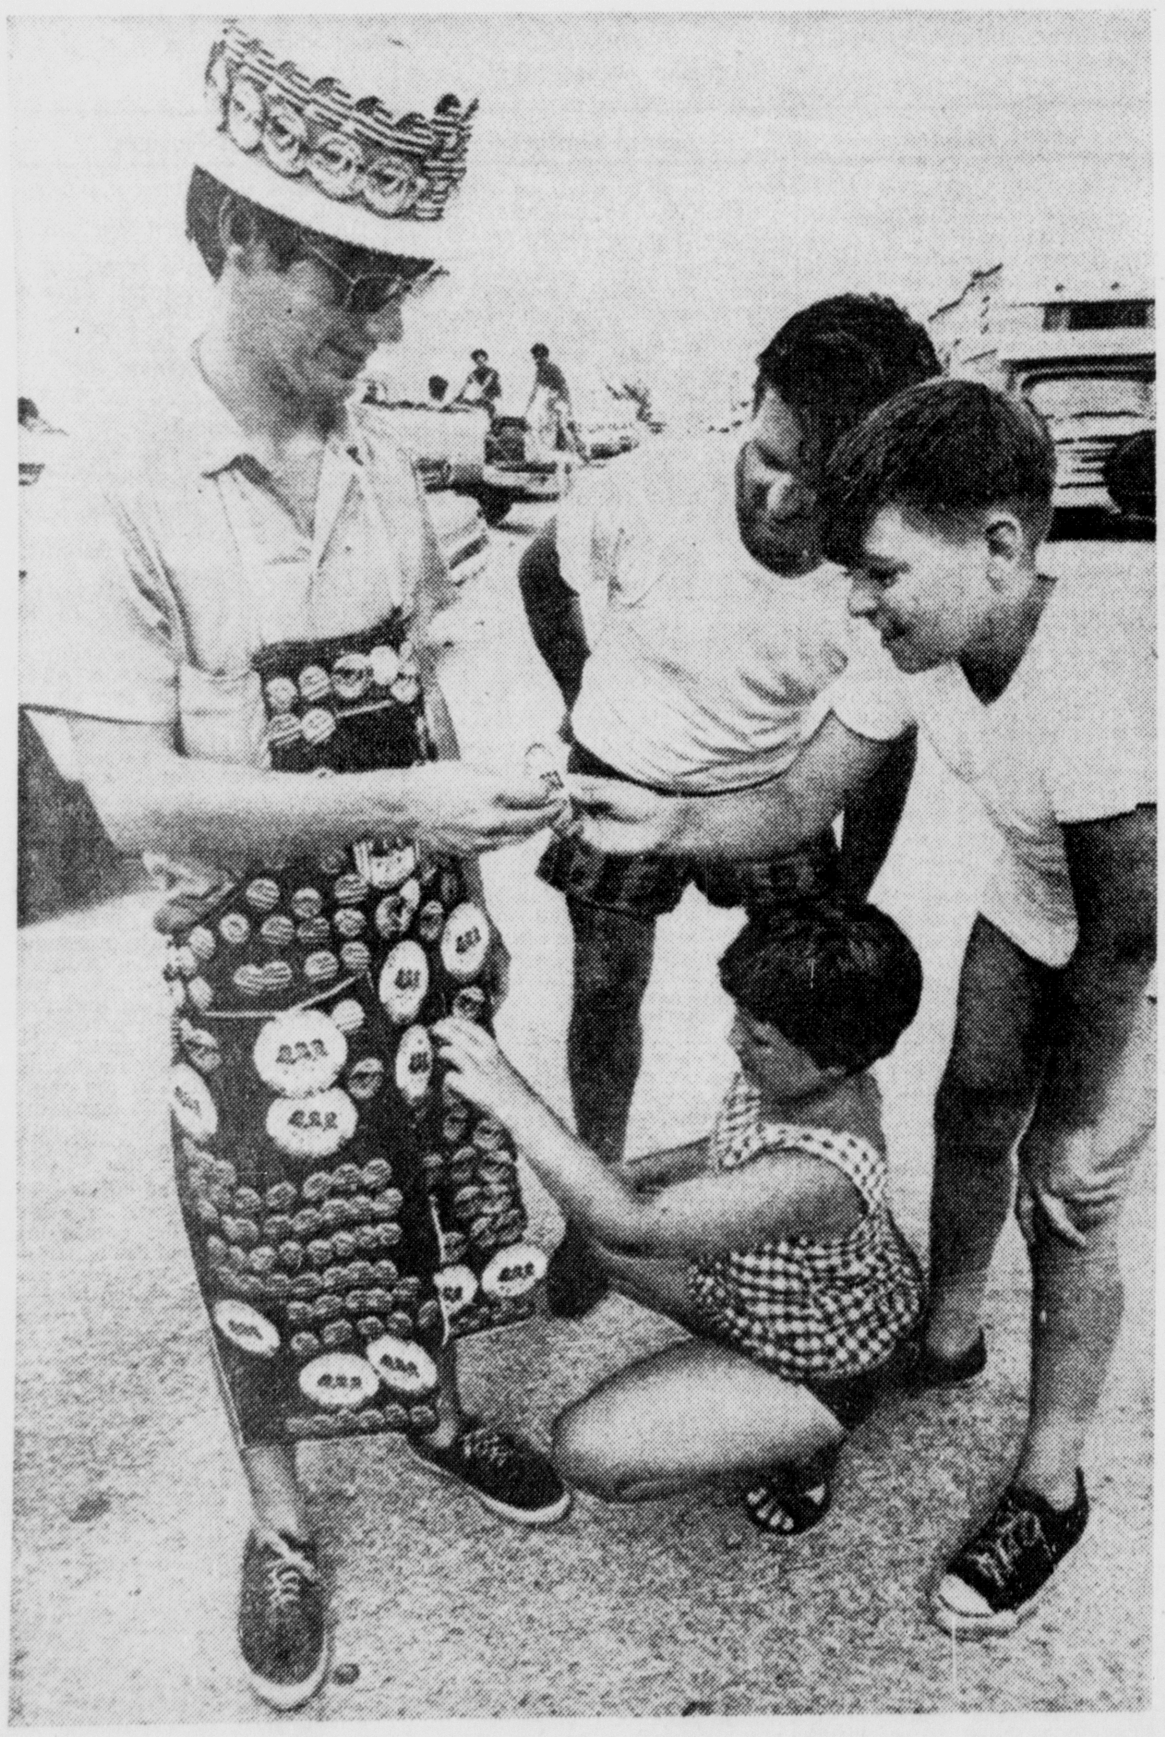
Apollo 11 Takes Off On Perilous Moon Mission



DESTINATION: MOON—Apollo 11, its huge rocket engines belching flame, lifts off the launching pad at Cape Kennedy this morning on a mission designed to put the first human on the moon. Its crewmen plan to leave a U. S. flag and a plaque on Luna, declaring that they have come for all mankind. If all goes well, they should reach their goal on Sunday. Today's perfect liftoff came at 6:32 a.m. PDT.



CHEERFUL MOON CREW—Apollo 11 astronauts Neil Armstrong, Michael Collins and Edwin Aldrin Jr. appear in a cheerful mood as they leave the Manned Spacecraft Operations Building at Cape Kennedy, to enter a van to travel to Pad 39, the launching site for their Saturn 5 rocket. The takeoff countdown went smoothly.



CARNIVAL ATMOSPHERE — Jan Stacy of New York City hawks Apollo 11 commemorative buttons along tourist parking areas at Cape Kennedy. Stopping to check his wares yesterday were Calvin Travers, city commissioner of Cambridge, Md., and his children Lollie, 8, and Rickey, 12.

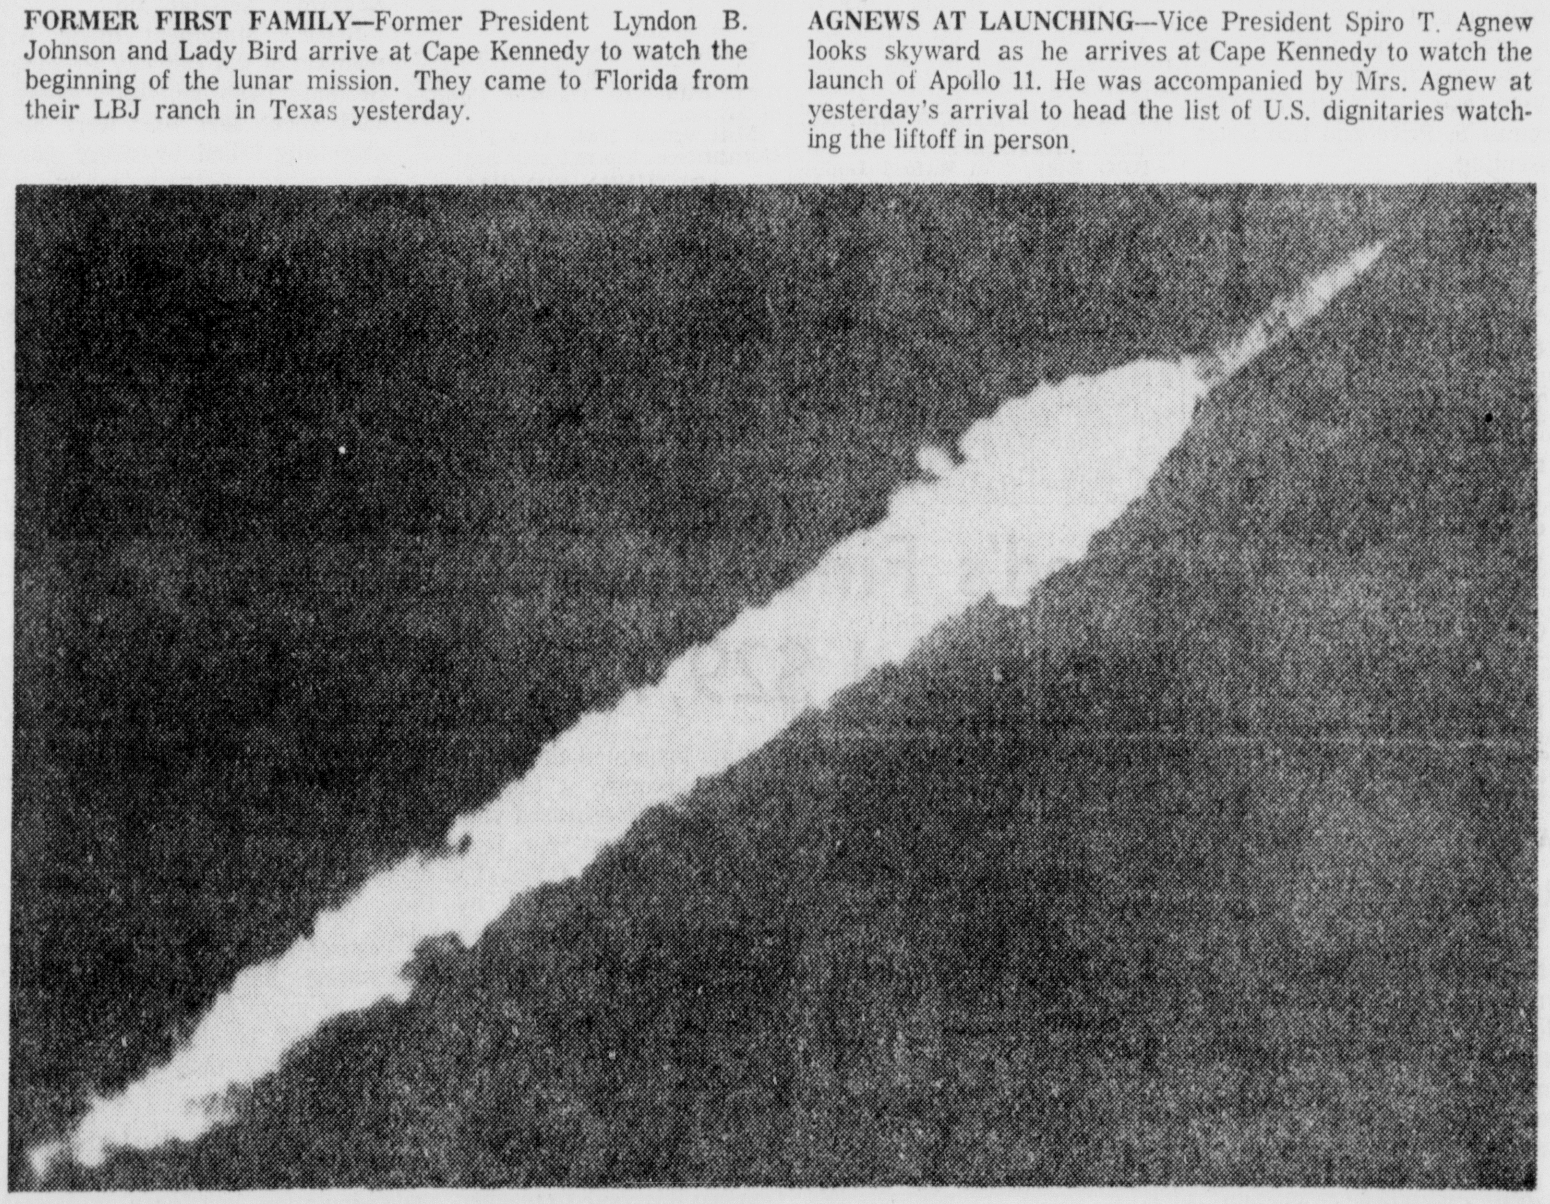
FORMER FIRST FAMILY—Former President Lyndon B. Johnson and Lady Bird arrive at Cape Kennedy to watch the beginning of the lunar mission. They came to Florida from their LBJ ranch in Texas yesterday.

AGNEWS AT LAUNCHING—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew looks skyward as he arrives at Cape Kennedy to watch the launch of Apollo 11. He was accompanied by Mrs. Agnew at yesterday's arrival to head the list of U.S. dignitaries watching the liftoff in person.



UP, UP AND AWAY—Trailing a tail of fire more than three times its length, the Saturn 5 booster bearing Apollo 11 and its three crewmen roars skyward. In addition to the tourists who flocked to the Florida beaches to watch the launch, television and relay satellites carried coverage of the historic launching practically worldwide.

Son Arraigned In Reno Slaying

RENO, Nev. (UPI)—A former mental patient and drug user will appear in justice court July 28 on a charge he fatally stabbed his father in their plush Reno home.

Blake Speers Jr., 20, was arraigned yesterday on a charge of first-degree murder. Officers said he also is the chief suspect in stabbing of his mother, who also died Monday night in one of Reno's most chilling slayings in recent years.

The body of Blake Speers, Sr., 50, a tax consultant, was found in the hallway of his home. The mother's body was found in the kitchen. Both were lying in a pool of blood.

Work Will Slow Petaluma Traffic

Petaluma residents have been advised to avoid the intersection of East Washington Street and South McDowell Boulevard while heavy construction work is in progress.

City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer said that only one lane of traffic in each direction will be permitted at the intersection while the contractor excavates the easterly portion of South McDowell.

Meyer suggested that drivers use South McDowell, Casa Granda Road and Lakeville Highway to D Street as access to downtown Petaluma and Lakeville Highway as access to Highway 101. The traffic congestion is expected to continue for several weeks.

Debris Box No Longer Useable

The City of Tiburon's debris box is no longer available for public use, City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose has announced.

Rose said the debris box, formerly located at a temporary corporation yard at the Hilarita Housing site, has been moved because of construction of a new Reed school playground.

The debris box is now located within a fenced area of the public housing development and is inaccessible to Tiburon residents.

Rose said the city council is studying a report recommending the service be continued at other locations in the city.

El Salvador To Honduras: Surrender

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — ignoring a call from the Organization of American States for a cease-fire, El Salvador pressed its invasion of Honduras today and demanded that the Honduran army "surrender before being defeated on the battleground."

Diplomatic sources in San Salvador said Salvadorean forces appeared to have penetrated as much as 20 miles inside Honduras. The Honduran government claimed that its troops "are fighting valiantly . . . pushing back the enemy attack."

A seven-nation peace keeping committee dispatched by the OAS arrived in San Salvador last night to seek a cease-fire in the two-day-old war, but there was no immediate indication of success.

The Salvadorean army said its forces "are going forward, conquering inch-by-inch the Honduran territory." There were reports that the army had penetrated 20 miles into southwest Honduras, and that a second column to the north was nearly 10 miles inside the border.

Salvadorean government sources said the army was driving toward the Honduran capital of Tegucigalpa in two columns —one made up of tanks, artillery and motorized vehicles moving along the South Highway, part of the Pan American Highway, and the other an infantry force marching through the mountains.

Tegucigalpa is about 40 miles from the Honduras-El Salvador frontier, but nearly 75 miles by highway from El Amatillo, where the armored column reportedly crossed the border.

El Salvador claimed its forces had captured the towns of Nacaome and Nueva Ocotepeque in the border region, but Honduras denied the report and said battles were raging around both the towns.

Suyderhoud Best Skier

PINE MOUNTAIN, Ga. (AP) — Mike Suyderhoud of San Anselmo and Christy Lynn Weir of McQueeney, Tex., set the pace yesterday when four men and two women qualified to represent the United States in the World Water Ski Championships at Copenhagen Aug. 4-10.

Ricky McCormick of Independence, Mo., Wayne Grimditch of Pompano Beach, Fla., and Alan Kempton of Tampa, Fla., were the other mn who qualified at Callaway Gardens.

Liz Allen of Winter Park, Fla., also qualified, and Christie Freeman of Thayer, Mo., was named alternate for the team.

Suyderhoud, who set a worlld jumping record of 162 feet Monday, scored 3,976 points of a possible 4,000 in the qualifying tests of jumping, slalom nd tricks. McCormick had 3,941, Grimditch 3,765 and Kempton 3,751.

Miss Weir scored 3,968, with Miss Allen scoring 3,953. Miss Freeman finished third in women's competition with 3,839.

Biggest surprise was Grimditch, who jumped 147 feet in the final event to pass Kempton and veteran Frankie Dees of Cypress Gardens, Fla., who did not make the team.

Kubiak Playing More, Enjoying It Less

OAKLAND — Ted Kubiak has had the carrot dangled before him and, as was to be expected, is more frustrated than ever.

The handsome young A's utility infielder finally got the opportunity he'd been seeking for two years. On June 20 he became a regular, replacing injured second baseman Dick Green. And on July 3, the day Greenie recovered and returned to the lineup, shortstop Bert Campaneris split a finger. So Kubiak, after sitting on the bench for only two innings, was a regular again.

This marks the longest stretch Teddy has played regularly with the A's. In two previous utility-served seasons with the club he'd appeared in a total of 101 games. And before stepping into the starting lineup against Minnesota here on June 20, Ted had batted only 20 times in 1969.

He'll Be Back On The Bench

The story has been told previously of Kubiak's hope of playing every day here or being traded after this season. Now this month-long full-time employment doesn't seem to have changed his mind, for he knows he'll be back on the bench — no matter how well he might play — as soon as Campy's recovered in a few days.

With good reason, Oakland management believes Campaneris is the key to a pennant, as much for his speed at bat or glove. And that leaves Teddy rubbing his nose against the plate glass.

He's Realistic About Hitting

"I don't think anybody knows how well I can play short," says Ted. "I know I'm as good as those guys they talk about all the time, guys like Fregosi and Aparicio. The thing that bothers me now is that I'm not playing as well as I should, particularly after playing an unfamiliar position like second base for a couple of weeks and especially because I haven't played at short consistently for a couple of years.

"I don't try to kid myself about hitting. Over a full year I'm probably a .250 or .260 hitter (both Kubiak and Campaneris are near the .260 mark so far). But that's a respectable average these days."

In his first appearance as a regular, in a four-game pressure series here against Minny, Ted went 5 for 14. He will hit; he does have the advantage of switching, and power is not beyond him.

His Position Is Solidified

"But my position with this club is solidified," says Teddy. "I finally can see that now. At least I've proved to my own satisfaction that I can play up here, that I have the ability to be a major league regular. And I guess now that I've learned this, it's more frustrating than if I'd just stayed on the bench.

And Teddy, who's 27 and sufficiently mature to keep things in balance, smiles: "But you know, I did learn a lot on the bench about hitting just by listening to other guys talk about certain pitchers."

But for some athletes there are, as Kubiak painfully knows, no compensations in any role. He is too valuable to deal, not sufficiently prominent to start. In a 25-man game there are uncomfortable places for the Kubiaks.

49ers In A Mock Battle With San Diego Chargers

SANTA BARBARA (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers planned to take a long look at quarterback Steve Spurrier today in a scrimmage with the San Diego Chargers at Irvine.

The 49ers took 27 players to the scrimmage and the rest remained at the University of California campus here to work out.

Spurrier, the Heisman Trophy winner from Florida, has warmed the bench — except for punting during two years as backup for John Brodie and George Mira.

Mira was also scheduled for action in the scrimmage, along with rookie quarterbacks Paul Waite and Paul Champlin.

The 49ers will be on offense during the entire scrimmage and will be on defense Saturday in a repeat scrimmage at Santa Barbara.

The 49ers concentrated on passing yesterday, and Nolan said the quarterbacks were slow in releasing the ball. He complimented three rookies — wide receiver Tom Black from East Texas State, running back Gene Moore of Occidental and linebacker Skip Vanderbundt of Oregon State.

Star Preps Begin Action In I-J Tennis Tournament

At least a part of the 16th annual Marin Junior Tennis Tournament at Albert Park in San Rafael yesterday was like a summer rerun of high action as some of the top Marin County athletic League netters of the past spring began boys 18 competition.

Top-seeded Bob Klyce of San Rafael was to have played this morning, but netters like Brian Carlisle of Terra Linda, Tad Isaacs of Redwood and Kevin Madera of Marin Catholic all got into the thick of things. Isaacs, third-seeded, dropped Ed Gutteling, 6-2, 6-0. Madera took care of Jim Lowe, 0-6, 6-3, 6-4 and Carlisle bumped Jim Youtz, 6-0, 6-1.

It was business as usual for most of the seeds in singles action. Top-seeded Bill Kinser downed Lowe in boys 16, 6-3, 6-4 then went on to win a boys 18 match.

Steve DeMartini, top-seeded in boys 14, won his second match over Jim Weaver, 6-0, 6-2 while Claudia Wood, top-seeded in girls 16, brushed off Robin Dix, 6-2, 6-1.

Heilman Whips Jimmy Lester

Heilman, 161, San Pedro, overcame a quick start by Lester, 157, to win the votes of two officials while the referee saw it as a draw.

There were no knockdowns in the hard-fought 10-rounder. Heilman, in scoring his 41st victory, proved the stronger in the in-fighting and offset Lester's jabs throughout the fight.

The scorecards: Judges Rudy Ortega and Frank Carter each had it 5-3 for the winner while referee Elmer Costa voted 5-5.

Ollie Brown: 'Anything Can Happen'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "They can't write that kind of stuff about a club," said San Diego Padre outfielder Ollie Brown. "Anything can happen in baseball—nothing is impossible."

The expansion Padres proved that point yesterday, overcoming a pre-game newspaper report questioning their ability and stunning ace right-hander Juan Marichal of the San Francisco Giants, 10-3.

BROWN HOMERS

Brown, a former Giant, was among the heroes. He walked and scored as the Padres erupted for six runs to chase Marichal in the sixth and added a three-run homer in the eighth.

San Francisco hoped the odds would run truer today when right-hander Gaylord Perry, 10-7, opposed rookie Dave Roberts 0-2, in the series finale.

The first Place Los Angeles Dodgers invade Candlestick Park tomorrow for the start of a four-game series. That game will start at 1 p.m.

The improbable happened often in the series opener. The Giants entered the game with a 9-1 record against San Diego and Marichal was 3-0 against the Padres, while completing his last eight starts.

Li'l League Hurler Has Perfect Game

It's Quite A Start In Tourney

Ed Andersen, the amazing Twin Cities pitcher-infielder who has yet to give up an earned run this season, did it again yesterday as the Marin County Little League Champions tourney got underway.

Andersen hurled a perfect game, struck out 14 batters and hit a solo homer as Twin Cities bombed San Geronimo, 15-0 in Larkspur.

OTHER SCORES

In other games, Strawberry nicked San Rafael American, 5-3, at Strawberry; San Rafael National edged Mill Valley American, 1-0 at Mill Valley; Gallinas Valley downed Mill Valley National, 8-3 at Mill Valley; Novato American topped Hamilton-Loma Verde, 4-3 at Novato; Kentfield downed Tiburon, 2-1 in Kentfield and Marinwood nicked Novato National, 3-2, at Marinwood.

8-0 RECORD

Andersen had an 8-0 record over 54 innings going into the game, along with 129 strikeouts while carrying a hefty .519 batting average. Marty Frey also hit a homer for Twin Cities.

Ethan Winterling of Mill Valley and David Steele of San Rafael National hooked up in a tight pitching duel but it was Steele who won on a one-hit, nine-strikeout job. Winterling gave up only two hits, but one of them was a homer by Matt Dockstader on the first pitch of the game, and that was it.

Shortstop Ron Wilson's grand slam homer in the fourth inning gave Strawberry it's win over San Rafael American. Steve Nichols hit a solo homer for San Rafael.

Sore Hands Can't Stop A's Odom

Not only did Oakland's mound ace hurl a complete game last night despite his pains, he hit a sixth-inning three-run homer than was truly the decisive blow in the 6-2 victory—No. 13 for the man who wears that same number on his jersey.

HAD TO

"Take him out?" snorted Oakland manager Hank Bauer when asked why he left Odom in the game. "The way my bullpen's been going I had to let him finish."

Odom really hadn't been too prosperous before he started picking up hurts.

Anxious to shake off a five-game losing streak, the Pilots took heart in the first inning when Tommy Davis walked and Don Mincher hit a homer into the right field seats. ("It was a good slider, but a little high," noted Odom).

In the third inning Odom tried a drag bunt and the ball skidded along the bat to clip his index finger, raising a blister.

NOT SORE

"I didn't think I'd be able to pitch," said Odom, but he was.

In the fifth inning he hit a ground ball to shortstop for an easy out—and the second hurt—the bat jamming his hand at the base of his thumb. The palm swelled. Again he thought he couldn't pitch; but he could.

The next time Odom went to bat the score was tied at 2-2 and two men were on base. Sal Bando, Dan Cater, Rick Monday and Phil Roof had singled for two runs, chasing Seattle starter John Glenar and bringing on Diego Segui to face Odom.

Sore hand and all, Blue Moon bombed a Segui pitch into the left field seats to make it 5-2—and then in his fourth appearance he singled off reliefer Dim Bouton to knock in his fourth run of the evening.

Lazz Gets Ready For Last Hurrah

By GARY TISCHLER

Dean Lazzarini, the flash who buzzed over Marin County tracks and football fields for three spectacular years while at Drake High School, is preparing himself for the autumn of his last collegiate football hurrah.

Lazzarini, Marin County Athletic League record holder in the 100-yard dash at 9.7, will be at his familiar and much-loved running back position when the University of Pacific goes into action this fall.

Healed and confident, "Lazz" figures this is the ripe and right time to put everything together again.

Lazzarini, hounded by injuries, has been here, there and everywhere for the past three years after being graduated from Drake High School as a highly-touted halfback with stunning speed.

He started out at UCLA, came to College of Marin for a year in time to help Dick Read's last Golden Valley Conference champions, then wound up at Pacific last year, where he started seven out of ten games at an unfamiliar flanker position.

Enroute, the injury bug has followed him like sonar, starting with the next-to-last game of his high school career, when a broken collarbone, his first prep injury, knocked him out. Calcium deposits in his ankle stopped him at UCLA, and torn hamstrings muscles plagued him at College of Marin.

To say the least, the past three years have not come up to expectations for Dean. But he thinks he's ready now.

"I'm prepared mentally, that's the important thing," he said. "I had a great spring practice, and that's pretty much when they decided to put me back at running back. That's where I can help them most."

His weight is a solid 180 pounds. He works out almost every night, after winding up his summer duties as gardener at Drake High School, a job which gives him plenty of opportunities to talk football with Drake grid coach Bob Franceschini.

DEAN LAZZARINI
In final year

"I want to have a satisfying year," he said. "First of all, a winning year for the team and then I want to able to say I've accomplished something."

It would be unfair to say that for Lazzarini, who plans a career in teaching history, football is his whole life. It is more like a first love that has never gone sour.

"That's something you never lose," he said. "You always remember playing in high school, no matter how old you get. It's a close game, because when you're out there hitting somebody, well, you get pretty close. In other ways, too. The college of Marin team of 1967 was the closest team I've ever been on. At UCLA, some of the joy was taken out of football for me. Nobody payed any attention to the frosh team. It was more like a job."

"I'd give my eye teeth to take a crack at it," he said. "If somebody asked me to return kicks, punts, things like that, I'd do it. I'd love to. But I think I'm probably too small."

St. Louis Payday; Cincy May Day

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was payday in St. Louis and May-day in Cincinnati.

Warmed by the cushion of freshly drawn paychecks in their wallets, the Cardinals responded by battering Philadelphia pitchers for 17 hits and ripping the Phillies 8-2 last night. It marked the 23rd consecutive time that the Cards have won on a payday—a streak that extends back to August 1967.

Cincinnati's Lee May, who hits his homers in bunches, had a bunch against Atlanta in a twi-night doubleheader which the Reds split with the Braves. May connected twice in each game and drove in 10 runs in the twinbill as the Braves took the opener 9-8 before the Reds salvaged the nightcap 10-4.

OTHER SCORES

Elsewhere in the National League, New York nipped Chicago 5-4, San Diego rapped San Francisco 10-3, Pittsburgh walloped Montreal 9-3 and Houston outlasted Los Angeles 10-7.

If the Cards played as well the rest of the month as they do on the first and 15th—those are paydays for all major leaguers—manager Red Schoendienst would have no problems.

Julian Javier, Curt Flood, Joe Torre and Mike Shannon each tagged three hits for St. Louis and rookie Chuck Taylor, making his first major league start, went the route for the victory. Taylor also batted in two runs.

TWO EACH GAME

May, who socked six homers in three consecutive games back in in May, tying a major league record, had two in each game against the Braves including the first grand slam of his career.

He knocked in five runs in each game, raising his season totals to 27 homers and 73 RBI.

May's first game performance was overshadowed by Atlanta's Bob Aspromonte, who pinch hit a single in the eighth inning and then smacked a three-run homer in the ninth inning that gave the Braves their victory. Hank Aaron hit his 534th career homer for Atlanta, tying him with Jimmy Foxx for fourth place on the alltime list.

MET HOMER

Al Weis stroked a three-run homer—only the fifth of his eight-year major league career—helping the New York Mets take Chicago. Ken Boswell also homered for the Mets and Ron Taylor saved the victory for Gary Gentry after consecutive eighth inning homers by Billy Williams and Ron Santo knocked out the New York starters.

Carl Taylor drilled a homer and two-run double in an eight-run Pittsburgh first inning and the Pirates pounded Montreal. Richie Hebner also homered in the first for Pittsburgh and Luke Walker won his first major league game on a three-hitter. Rusty Staub and Bob Bailey homered to account for all the Expo runs.

Houston wiped out a five-run deficit, tying Los Angeles in the fourth inning and then pushed across three more runs in the sixth to beat the Dodgers. Norm Miller, who had driven in two runs in the Astros' big fourth, knocked in the tie-breaking run with a single in the sixth.

Philly Golf Classic Draws 'Big Names'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Most of the top names in golf are coming together again for the $150,000 Philadelphia Classic, but it's a good bet that one of the newly-dominant figures in the game will walk off with the top prize.

After a two-week hiatus from the American tour to compete in the British Open, such players as Orville Moody, Lee Trevino and Billy Casper are making an appearance. Arnold Palmer was due back from a two-week rest today. Julius Boros returned from a week's layoff.

FAVORITES

But the favorites for the $30,000 first place check probably would be found in the quartet of Frank Beard, Dave Hill, Charles Coody and New Zealand's Bob Charles.

Their credentials are among the best. They're the hottest players in the game, and, with the exception of Charles, all recent winners.

Hill, 32, has won two of his last three starts, has been sixth or better in five of his last seven tournaments and has earnings of more than $99,000, his best year ever.

The slim chain-smoker is back from a week off, is rested and said he's "playing the best of my life, putting just super."

BEARD TIRED

The laconic Beard, 30, winner of last week's Minnesota Classic, has been fourth or better in three of his last four starts and has six finishes of fourth or higher. He has more than $95,000 in earnings but complained of being tired and said his start was "another day at the office."

He broke a two-year victory famine last week while Coody, 32 just a couple of days ago, ended a four-year drought in his last start three weeks ago, has finished in the top three in three of his last four tournaments and has over $67,000.

Charles, 33, a left-hander, hasn't won but has one of the best records on the tour. He was second in the British Open and has been in the top 10 in nine of his last 11 starts.

NO ROLL

He's a short hitter, and the 6,670-yard par 72 Whitemarsh Country Club course could favor him although Trevino says it's playing "at least 500 yards longer than last year. There's just no roll."

And, too, defending champion Bob Murphy could be a factor when the 72-hole test begins tomorrow.

Among the late withdrawals from the 146-man field were Masters champion George Archer and Mason Rudolph. Tony Jacklin, the new British Open champ, South African Gary Player and Jack Nicklaus were not entered.

THE LEAPING ROBBER

San Diego centerfielder Ivan Murrell robbed San Francisco's Willie McCovey of a home run in the fourth inning with a leaping catch above the fence. Murrell bounced off the fence but hung onto the ball. Even Murrell had to look in his glove to make sure. The Padres spanked the Giants, 10-3, in yesterday's game. (UPI Telephoto) hand, was 0-3 against the Giants and had not gone the distance in 18 previous major league starts.

"But I've gone nine and 10 innings before without a decision," Kirby emphasized. Marichal, 12-4, made his earliest exit of the season after an error that triggered the six-run fifth inning.

With two outs, shortstop Tito Fuentes booted John Sipin's grounder. Roberto Pena's single and Brown's walk loaded the bases. Marichal then hit Nate Colbert with a pitch, forcing in a run.

Van Kelly's two-run single and run-scoring singles by Larry Stahl, Ivan Murrell and Chris Cannizzaro knocked Marichal from the box.

NEAR MISS

Willie McCovey accounted for all the Giants' scoring with a grounder in the fifth and a two-run homer in the eighth. It was his 28th homer and kept him one up on Cincinnati's Lee May, who belted four in a Tuesday doubleheader.

McCovey lost a chance for another homer when he led off the fourth inning with a towering drive to right center. The fleet Murrell rushed over from his centerfield post and caught the ball at the top of the fence. "It would have been a homer," said Murrell.

Senator Orbits One For Nixon

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tim Cullen's lunar probe made a soft landing in the visitors' bullpen . . . and swept the President of the United States off his feet.

President Nixon, accompanied by astronaut Frank Borman, took in another Washington ball game last night . . . and watched Cullen's second-inning home run launch the surprising Senators to a 7-3 triumph over Detroit.

APPLAUDED

The Senators' No. 1 supporter leaped to his feet and applauded when Cullen, who drove in four runs with a single, double and his first 1969 homer, sent the home club ahead to stay with a drive into the left field bullpen.

"I knew he (Nixon) was there and someone said Boran was in the stands," said the Senators' second baseman, whose hitting spree overshadowed a rare ground-ball triple play turned over by the Tigers.

"As I rounded second after hitting the homer, I was thinking to myself, 'I guess I showed him how to put the ball in orbit.'"

The victory, second for the Senators in the five games attended by the President this year, moved them within one game of the third-place Tigers in the American League East.

LEAD BY 14

First place Baltimore trimmed Cleveland 5-1 behind right-hander Tom Phoebus and shot 14 games ahead of runner-up Boston, which split a doubleheader at New York, winning 7-6 before bowing to the Yankees 4-1. Oakland topped Seattle 6-2 and California beat Kansas City 5-2 in other A.L. games.

The Minnesota-Chicago game was postponed because of wet grounds.

WITH SHORT

They sat with Senators owner Bob Short in the Presidential box and were joined by Borman, who headed the Apollo 8 moon mission and had just returned from a good will visit to the Soviet Union.

It was Nixon's second visit to the ballpark in six days.

After Cullen's two-run wallop, the Senators added two runs in the third inning and struck for three more with none out in the fifth for a 7-1 lead.

Then, with runners on first and second, Ed Brinkman bounced to third baseman Don Wert. He stepped on third and fired to second baseman Ike Brown, whose relay to first baseman Bill Freehan finished off the A.L.'s first triple play of the year.

"Wasn't that something?" said Washington Manager Ted Williams, who couldn't recall seeing triple play off a ground ball during his long playing career. "And the ball wasn't hit that hard. It was so easy."

BREAK TIE

The Orioles snapped a 1-1 fifth inning tie on Andy Etchebarren's run-scoring single, then pulled out of reach on Boog Powell's two-run homer in the seventh, enabling Phoebus to coast to his ninth victory against two losses.

Reggie Smith drilled three singles and two doubles as the Red Sox took the opener from the Yanks despite homers by Joe Pepitone and Frank Fernandez. Smith singled his first time up in the nightcap for a string of six straight hits, but Stan Bahnsen stopped him thereafter on the way to a six-hitter.

Throwing errors by third baseman Paul Schaal and pitcher Bill Butler set up three eighth inning runs as the Angels subdued the Royals behind right-hander Tom Murphy's seven-hitter.

Giants Playing As A Team Now

Sometimes a shouting match gets the air cleared. This certainly seems to be the case insofar as Willie Mays and Clyde King are concerned. The captain of the Giants and the manager of the team may never be buddy-buddy in their relationship but there no longer is an invisible barrier between them.

Mays spoke his piece June 24 in the Astrodome and King refused to be intimidated. The rookie manager didn't back away from the showdown when it came. To his credit Mays apologized to King the following day. And to his credit King accepted the apology.

MAYS HAD come to expect certain prerogatives as the team's superstar. He was entitled to them. After all, Willie has packed the fans into ball parks around the country to the benefit not only of the Giants but all National League clubs.

It was only natural that other members of the team resented two sets of rules, one for Mays, the other for the rest of the Giants. Dating back to the managing regime of Leo Durocher, Mays received special privileges and until King came along Giant managers avoided direct confrontations with Mays.

HOWEVER, King is the kind of manager who will not tolerate anything which he feels might hurt the team effort. He sensed a silent brooding among members of the ball club and traced its source to the resentment of the special treatment accorded Mays.

So King brought it all out in the open at a team meeting, two weeks prior to the shouting match in the Astrodome, June 24. And what has been the result? The team is a team now.

SINCE JUNE 24 the Giants record is 14-8. They've improved their road record from 13-20 on June 24 to 21-25. And they trimmed three games from what had been a 4½ game deficit on June 24.

So the Astrodome incident has had its direct benefits for the team and the team, not individual ball players, is King's major concern. He correctly predicted at the time Mays apologized to him that "this incident could bring us all closer together for a drive to the top."

HORACE STONEHAM long has sought a manager who could handle delicate situations. The president of the ball club finally has found the right man in King. He will be managing the Giants for a long time to come.

Two Young Raiders Get Chance

SANTA ROSA (AP) — Eldridge Dickey and Ken Stabler will get a chance to show their quarterbacking skills Monday when the Oakland Raider rookies play a pre season game against the Dallas Cowboys.

Both are second year men with the Oakland club and neither got a chance to quarterback during the 1968 American Football League season.

Coach John Madden said yesterday that each would get a chance this game.

Dickey, from Tennessee A&I, is 6-foot-2, weighs 198 pounds and was used last season as a pass catcher. Stabler, who is 6-foot-1 and weighs 194, played college ball at Alabama.

With such veteran quarterbacks as Daryle Lamonica, George Blanda and Cotton Davidson on hand, the new comers will have a hard time breaking into the starting team.

Rookies Harold Rice and Drew Buie, who had left training camp, were reported back today and ready for practice. Just why they left was not made clear.

Laver Wins, Plans To Rest

BROOKLINE, Mass (AP) — Rod Laver, a transplanted Aussie who collects championships—and money—like some people collect stamps, started a well-earned vacation today before trying to complete his second tennis Grand Slam in the U.S. Open next month.

"I've got three weeks off to look forward too," the 30-year-old southpaw said last night as he packed away a fifth U.S. Pro Tennis Championship trophy before heading for his Southern California home in Corona del Mar.

"I'm mentally tired and can use a rest," he said. "I'll just play some golf and lie around at home. After three weeks, I'll be good and eager to play again at Forest Hills."

Laver, the undisputed king of world tennis who recently won a fourth Wimbledon title, needs the U.S. Open for a repeat of the Grand Slam he scored in winning the Australian, French, U.S. and Wimbledon championships before he turned pro in 1962.

The U.S. Pro Championships isn't part of the Grand Slam, but Laver has made the tournament a rich personal possession. He won the title in 1964, was runnerup to countryman Ken Rosewall the next year, and then assumed virtual ownership.

The freckled redhead earned $8,000 by winning the title for the fourth straight year with a 7-5, 6-2, 4-6, 6-1 victory over Australia's John Newcombe in the windup of the $33,000 tournament before a standing room only crowd of 5,500 at Longwood.

Laver, who has earned more than $28,000 since the New England Merchants National Bank assumed sponsorship of the tournament at Longwood, thought he was "very lucky" in duplicating his four-set Wimbledon triumph over the 25-year-old Newcombe.

Laver has lost only nine of 77 matches while winning nine tournaments and earning nearly $80,000 this year.

"Let's face it, he's just too good," Newcombe said as he picked up second prize money of $4,000 and headed for a $10,000 pro tournament in Milwaukee.

Laver and 41-year-old Pancho Gonzalez of Los Angeles won the doubles championship by defeating top-seeded Newcombe and Tony Roche of Australia, 6-4, 5-7, 6-4.

Softball Mismatch In Rec League

Something of a minor mismatch occurred in the San Rafael Recreation Department Adult Softball League yesterday when Gilmore Shell ripped the Patio Club, 30-1 in a C-II division game.

Ken Johnston had four hits and Dale Anderson had five for the winners while Anderson also pitched a one-hitter to add insult to serious injury.

In a C-I division game, Cain's Tires topped the Mill Valley Bulls 6-1.

MARIN-SONOMA GOLF NOTES

Didn't Take Orv Suttles Long To Prove Himself

By RALPH CHATOIAN

It didn't take Orville Suttles long to prove his golf mastery around these parts.

A native Missourian, Suttles hit Marin County soil only 15 months ago. He was golf course superintendent at Stockton Golf and Country Club and Woodbridge Country Club in Lodi before taking over as course superintendent at Marin Country Club in Novato.

With a job like that, the 54-year-old Suttles of course became a member of the club. He promptly won the club championship six months later.

And now, after last Sunday's sudden-death victory over Meadow Club's Don Lazzarini in the Marin County Golf Tournament of Champions, Suttles is the Marin kingpin of golf.

It didn't take Ol' Orve long to prove himself to Marin County golf filberts.

SPECIAL LOW rates for elementary, junior high or high school students have been started at Rohnert Park Municipal course. Rates for the youngsters will be $1.50 for 18 holes and $1 for nine on weekdays or after 3 p.m. on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

SAN RAFAEL attorney William H. MacKay thinks Las Gallinas teaching pro Joe Crawford really knows his stuff. The second round of golf after taking Joe's lessons and MacKay poked a nine-iron ace on the 90-yard third hole on the Las Gallinas course.

Late congratulations to Jules G. Prizant of Greenbrae for his hole-in-one last week on the 134-yard seventh hole at Mill Valley Municipal.

SECOND ANNUAL Louis George Men's Shop invitational golf tourney drew 54 players last Thursday at San Geronimo national. Dan Sweeney of Greenbrae fired a fine 76 to win low gross prize. Bill Pasquinelli of S.F., brother of KTIM's Aldo, won low net, 96-24 — 70.

ABOUT 40 young golfers from Marin Golf Club, Mill Valley Municipal, Olympic Club, Peninsula and San Francisco golf clubs will converge on the Meadow Club course Friday for the seventh annual Meadow Club Junior Invitational, the shotgun start scheduled for 8:30 a.m. In addition to golf for two divisions — 18 through 20 and those 17 or younger — there will be lunch and some swimming.

EIGHT MARIN-SONOMA area golf teams will be competing in the North Coast Zone Championship at Spyglass Hill course in Pebble Beach tomorrow and Friday. Top four teams will be invited back to Spyglass Hill Sept. 19-20 to compete against winners of other four Northern California Golf Association zones. A total of 24 four-man teams will be competing at full handicap, best ball play.

Marin-Sonoma area players will be Mike Myskowski, Jim Dingman, Robert Dreyfus and Earl Hunter from Rohnert Park Golf Club; Jerome Hannigan, Harold Walton, Guy Robinson and H. J. Haralson Jr. of Indian Valley G.C.; Carl Bromhan, Al Ruggiero, Marshall West and Stew Moir of San Geronimo National; Dr. Tom Grayson, Jody Sturiale, Keeler Nash and Dil Hughes of Mill Valley G.C.; Paul O'Pizzi, Dante Pareglio, Mat Palacio Jr. and Elwood Frink of Marin G.C.; Al Garcia, Chet Patterson, Dr. Hal White and Ray Johnson of Meadow Club; Don Reeves, William Belknap, George Hinnard and Jes Thomsen of Sonoma G.C., and Bill Mathews, Clark Matthiessen, Dan Reid and Vern Jensen of Petaluma G.C.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, July 16, the 197th day of 1969 with 168 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus and Saturn. The evening stars are Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1790 Congress set up the District of Columbia as the permanent seat of the United States government.

In 1862 David Farragut became the first American admiral by an act of Congress.

In 1945 at 5:30 a.m. (EDT) the first experimental test of an atomic bomb was made in New Mexico.

In 1964 Barry Goldwater, accepting the Republican presidential nomination, said in part —"Extremism in the defense of liberty is no vice...moderation in the pursuit of justice is no virtue."

A thought for the day: Mary Baker Eddy said: "Divine love always has met and always will meet every human need."

Most Car Accidents In Dark, Report Says

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—An in-depth study of 40 Louisiana holiday accidents showed that the type driver most involved in such accidents was a person in a familiar car, in familiar territory, close to home and in no hurry.

The study, by the American Automobile Association, also showed that 60 per cent of the accidents occurred in darkness and that alcohol was a known factor in 40 per cent of the accidents.

The Old Habit Of Counting Worth More Than Finesses

"I should have peeked that time," South sighed after losing the game on the hand shown today. "As the old saying goes, one peek is worth two finesses." Actually, South didn't have to peek or finesse. It would have been enough if he had counted the hand.

DIAMOND SIGNAL

East signaled with the ten of diamonds at the first trick and completed the signal with the seven of diamonds at the second trick. West therefore led a third diamond, and East ruffed. South overruffed, of course, but the ruff robbed declarer of an easy trick.

Declarer drew three rounds of trumps and tried a spade finesse, losing to the king. Back came a club, after which declarer tried three rounds of clubs, ending in his hand.

When the clubs failed to break favorably, declarer held his breath and tried a second spade finesse. This lost to the queen, of course, and East cashed the high club to set the contract two tricks.

NINE BLACK CARDS

The first few tricks made it clear that East had begun the hand with only two diamonds and two trumps. With nine black cards, East almost surely had the only stoppers in both spades and clubs. Most important of all, East had been forced to discard twice on the second and third rounds of trumps.

It was correct to draw trumps and try one spade finesse, but declarer should win the club return in his own hand, take the ace of spades and ruff a spade.

VARIOUS WAYS

If East had saved all of his clubs, the last spade in dummy would now be good. If East had saved as many spades as the dummy, the clubs would break. One way or the other, the hand would be unbeatable.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1 no-trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ K Q 9 8 6
♥ 7 3
♦ 10 7
♣ J 10 9 .

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

Game is very unlikely, unless partner has spade, maximum point count and perhaps a doubleton in clubs. Still, it does no harm to bid the spades. If partner passes, as expected, you will be in a reasonable contract, probably safer than 1 no-trump. If partner raises the spades, you will take a shot at game.

NOT SO FAR AWAY

General Electric has just finished a six-month preliminary design study of a Tracked Air Cushion Research Vehicle (TACRV) for the U.S. Department of Transportation. The 300-m.p.h. vehicle may be in service as early as 1975 to meet greatly increased inter-city transportation needs. The TACRV will ride on a channel-shaped rail for faster and safer transportation.

Shopping Center Clearance Sale In Downtown Novato

Merchants in downtown Novato and in all of the shopping centers in the city will put on a city-wide clearance sale tomorrow through Saturday, according to Rodney L. Henderson, chairman of the retail trade committee of the Novato Chamber of Commerce.

There is a citywide effort to get Novato residents to shop the approximately 100 participating stores both along Grant Avenue and in the shopping centers, Henderson said.

To call attention to the sale, the chamber has been giving the merchants banners for the sale which they were to put in their windows today.

The chamber also has placed the "Novato Citywide sale" banner across Grant Avenue at the main fire station where it can be seen by people traveling on Highway 101.

"This is one of four major sales events in Novato each year," Hender said.

"These sales have been getting progressively more successful for the past two years because the merchants are offering good values," he said. The sale does not present any gimmick such as off-hours, but will be carried on during the regular hours of each store for the three days, he said.

Pipeline Contract

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — J. Ray McDermott and Co. has obtained a $4 million contract from Columbia Gulf Transmission Corp. to lay a pipeline in the Gulf of Mexico.

Stocks Mark First Gain This Week

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stock prices did not soar as high as the astronauts today but they closed higher for the first time this week in moderately active trading.

Analysts said it was conceivable the enthusiasm over the Apollo 11 launching might have spilled over to traders and investors, although most agreed that bullish sentiment generally stemmed from a favorable report on Vietnam peace prospects and word from Capitol Hill that wage and price controls are not part of the administration's current strategy in the war on inflation.

Electronics, under considerable pressure in the past two sessions, showed marked strength, with several issues picking up more than a point. IBM and Burroughs gained.

Also higher were American Research and Xerox, the former jumping several points.

Penn Central was on the upswing in the rails, while airlines and aircrafts also tended higher. McDonnell-Douglas, awarded multimillion dollar Navy contracts for the overhaul and repair of submarines, was on the plus side.

Conglomerates were narrowly mixed as were most automobile issues.

Several oils moved a point or better, but in both directions.

Plastics Firm

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (UPI) — Spacecraft, Inc., has agreed to buy Decatur Plastic, Inc., of Dacatur, Ala., which has annual sales of $1.7 million for about $1 million in securities.

Three-Dimension Photos May Be Boom Industry

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. You have mentioned three-dimensional photography as an emerging industry. Please give me the names of companies working in this field. — E. V.

A. The technique of producing three-dimensional images dates back many years. During the Victorian Era the streoscope provided 3-D pictures in every parlor. Then came the "magic lantern" or stereopticon. In 1947 Dr. Dennis Gabor discovered lensless photography — more properly, the wave-front reconstruction process. Until the advent of lasers, providing the necessary coherent light, holographic or 3-D images were too blurred to be useful. Even now the holograph is primarily an experimental laboratory tool.

The buil of the estimated $15 million being spent annually on holography goes for research and development, for which various government agencies furnish about 25 per cent. International Business Machines, cooperating with the Office of Naval Research, has worked on methods for using this device to aid pilots when landing aircraft under hazardous conditions. Bell Laboratories (American Telephone) has developed a flat holographic plate which allows the viewer, by moving his head from side to side, to see a 360-degree reproduction of an object. Previously, a 40-degree perspective was about the maximum possible with a flat plate. United Aircraft is studying the use of 3-D to detect assembly-line flaws in jet engine components. Itek is perfecting a technique to discover signs of stress in building materials.

Other R&D programs in progress or proposed for future applications of holography are: contour mapping, 3-D television and movies, telescopes, information storage, diagnosis of eye disorders, study of certain blood diseases, character recognition, human identification and radar signal processing.

Of the many laboratories thought to be working on this optical process, most are either privately owned or represent divisions of large corporations.

The following companies actively involved in laser holography are suitable only for risk accounts: Conductron, Electro-Optical Systems, Optics Technology, Spacerays and Technical Operations. For more conservative investors, Perkin-Elmer Corp. is suggested.

Holding Firm

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The comptroller of the currency has approved the application of Central-Penn National Bank of Philadelphia a one-bank holding company.

Golden West To Buy Tamalpais Savings

Tamalpais Savings and Loan Association will be acquired by Golden West Financial Corp. of Oakland.

The acquisition, according to a joint announcement by both companies, involves an undisclosed amount of Gold West Financial common stock. The transaction is subject to the consent of Tamalpais stockholders and favorable action of state and federal regulatory authorities.

Upon completion of the transaction, Tamalpais will be merged into Golden West Savings and Loan Association, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Golden West Financial.

Tamalpais, which completed its seventh year of operation at the end of 1968 has assets reported at approximately $20 million. It has branch offices in Palo Alto and Albany. It is the third savings and loan association acquisition by Golden West Financial since February when Modesto Savings and Loan was acquired, followed by Redwood Savings and Loan of Sonoma County in April.

When all three are merged into Golden West Savings, the latter will have 14 offices in Northern California and assets in excess of $225 million.

Golden West Financial became publicly held in 1968. Its shares are traded in the over-the-counter market.

Electronics Manufacturer Moving To Industrial Park

A new manufacturing firm relocating in Marin County is Alfred Adams Associates, which fabricates electronic measuring devices and other equipment for the processing and metal industries.

The firm, about seven years old, had its plant in Salt Lake City, Utah and an office in San Francisco. Now both are being consolidated at 11 Mark Drive, Northgate Industrial Park, where 4,000 square feet has been leased through William W. Hoey and Co.

Initial staff will be about seven, headed by A. A. Blackerby of San Francisco, who expects to move to Marin later. By next spring it is anticipated the staff will be increased to 35 or 40.

MEANWHILE, Ronald Antonioli, who put up the building at 11 Mark Drive, is preparing to start another one at 77-83 Mark Drive. This one will have about 20,000 square feet and offstreet parking, with some offices outfitted with sliding glass doors and private patios. Space will be leased through Hoey.

Antonioli is constructing another building at 135 Carlos Drive for retired plumbing contractor C. P. Smith, who is leasing it to Kent Manufacturing Co., now at 129 Carlos Drive.

MOTORCRAFT: James W. Fitch of San Rafael has authored a new book, Motor Truck Engineering Handbook, which he plans to introduce during the Society of Automobile Engineers annual West Coast meeting at Seattle in August. Formerly West Coast district manager with White Motor Co. and automotive engineer with Western Highway Institute, he is also the author of Motor Vehicle Engineering Guide.

Scripture Oldsmobile, Inc., San Rafael has been granted a National Car Rental System franchise and will provide daily, weekly and monthly car rentals in this area. Cars picked up here may be dropped off at other locations throughout the United States.

INSURANCE: Paul L. Thurston of Mill Valley has been appointed district manager of Equitable Life Assurance Society at Northgate Industrial Park. He has been with the company four years and for the past year has been a district manager in San Francisco. . . . Jerrold Flood of Ross, personnel manager of Industrial Indemnity Co., has been elected a director of the Insurance Personnel Management Association of San Francisco. . . . Carroll Walker, San Rafael, special agent of Northwestern Mutual Life, will be a guest speaker at the annual meeting of agents next month in Milwaukee . . . Jack Nixon of Lucas Valley ranked fifth among 1,000 active agents of State Mutual Life in the sale of life insurance during May.

ALFRED J. GEHL, owner of Marin Piano and Organ Co., San Rafael and local representative for Baldwin pianos and organs, has been named a winner in a three-months Baldwin sales contest. He will be a guest of the company this month in Cincinnati. He has been a Baldwin dealer in Marin for the past eight years.

Reduce Duplication In Juvenile Commissions

The county is considering the possible merger of the Marin Juvenile Justice Commission and the Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission.

This has been turned over to the county administrator for study, along with a reorganization survey on other commissions and committees.

Merger of the two agencies, both concerned with juvenile justice and delinquency, is logical since many of their functions are duplicated or partially overlap.

Problems, however, do exist in the proposed consolidation. And the newly created Marin Youth Commission, which will focus on the same problems from another angle, brings a third agency into the picture.

WE THUS HAVE three commissions dealing with youth and delinquency. At one end is the Youth Commission, whose 11 members are yet to be selected. This will be clearly youth-oriented, with the young comprising seven members.

Then comes the Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission, established in 1967 by the county supervisors. While this group is adult-oriented, it is consciously trying for a rapprochement with the young. It expanded from 7 to 11 last January to include youth members.

And finally we have the Juvenile Justice Commission of seven adults, who are appointed by and responsible to the juvenile court judge. Ideally, this commission should also have constant communication with youth, but effective communication is almost non-existent. Serving as an arm of the juvenile court, it is tagged with "law enforcement" label and shunned by the youth, especially those who get into trouble.

GENERAL CONSENSUS is that the Justice Commission can be merged with the Delinquency Prevention Commission into a workable body. A decision must be made on who will be the appointing body for the merged group — the supervisors or the juvenile judge. Off hand, appointive power in the hands of the supervisors appears desirable, if only to soften the commission's image of being too closely allied to law enforcement and courts.

Another possibility is the consolidation of the Delinquency Prevention Commission, which already has some youth members, with the Marin Youth Commission. We disfavor this idea because the Youth Commission, still in its infancy, should remain undiluted. Teen-agers, who fought for the creation of the Youth Commission, are fired up for their one big chance for a voice in county government. To merge it with an existing adult group might "taint" it in the eyes of youth.

A REASONABLE reorganization appears to be to maintain a separate Youth Commission, voicing the hopes of youth, and a joint Justice and Delinquency Commission, representing an understanding adult point of view.

Until recently, the three separate groups have been operating in a near vacuum, with each unaware of what the others were doing.

A youth coordinator, still to be named, might provide that vital liaison.

Noisy: Plant More Grass

Grass and evergreen foliage have been found to be excellent sound absorbers. Sound waves, which bounce off concrete surfaces, are absorbed by plant life to a remarkable degree.

This is particularly valuable information for Marinites who are building patios and courtyards.

Besides, greenstuff is pretty.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Major Shakeup Continues On Senate Rules Committee

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The new state Senate Rules Committee, headed by President Pro-Tem Howard Way, R-Tulare, moved swiftly to effectuate re-organization on upper house operations.

In a meeting the day after the senate approved by resolution the appointment of Senators Clair Burgener, R-San Diego, and Robert Stevens, R-Los Angeles, the committee "accepted" the resignation of Clarence D. Alexander as fiscal officer and executive secretary of the committee and appointed James Jensen as consultant.

Alexander, however, retains his post as secretary of the Senate, a job over which the rules committee has no control, inasmuch as it is an elective office by the entire membership of the Senate. Alexander was elected to the post shortly after the death of Joseph Beek, the well-known secretary who served the Senate in one capacity or another, for approximately a half century.

THE NEW rules committee also granted a five per cent pay increase to all Senate employees, which, the committee pointed out, is the same amount granted to all state employees under the Governor's budget.

Another announcement said that Senator Stevens had been appointed as the rules committee member to work closely with the senate communications program on newsletters and questionnaires, which are issued by some of the senators to their constituents on a more or less regular basis.

The newsletter program has come under considerable criticism because of the high costs involved. The old rules committee had a contract with a former lobbyist in Sacramento for publication and mailing of these issues to constituents on an individual basis, rather than depending on the press and electronic media to carry the worthwhile news of activities in the Senate to the people of the state.

The committee under Senator Stevens' supervision is scheduled to take a long look at this method of distributing information, with the possibility of some reductions being recommended.

THE ALEXANDER resignation follows rumors that have been floating for some time that the veteran fiscal officer would be replaced when the Way forces took over the rules committee, which it did with the approval of the two new members, and the displacement of Senators John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, and Jack Schrade, R-San Diego.

Both McCarthy and Schrade, although Republicans, were on the team that supported Sen. Hugh M. Burns' continuance in the office of president pro-tem, and were on the rules committee when it handed down the list of committee appointments earlier this year, which saw Senator Way displaced as chairman of the Senate Agricultural Committee.

IN SUBMITTING a letter of resignation, Alexander said he had found his position as secretary of the Senate was more time-consuming than he had expected, and therefore he did not feel he could properly exercise the additional duties of fiscal officer.

Only recently, Governor Reagan signed a measure which provided for additional retirement benefits for four members of the senate staff, with Alexander among them.

What future changes are to be made in Senate organization have not as yet been announced.

Religious Cartoons Show Way To Life

We have enjoyed the Independent-Journal as an excellent family newspaper since we moved to Marin County some 16 years ago.

A feature we have especially appreciated is your Saturday evening editorial cartoon. No one who has seen these cartoons over any period of time can say they were never shown the Way to Life.

Most sincerely and appreciatively,

MR. and MRS. SAM H. MILLER
San Anselmo

Dr. Upton Was People's Choice

The Independent-Journal on June 17 reported that Supervisor John F. McInnis explained the only reason he did not reappoint Dr. Upton was that "I wish to bring a younger person for a perhaps more vigorous approach and in my opinion representative of the newer element in Marin County." Now at a later date Mr. McInnis has found another reason and alleges that Dr. Upton was unresponsive to him and consequently had to be replaced.

Supervisors and planning commissioners are ultimately accountable to the people whom they represent and should not be subject to one individual's arbitrary action. Various organizations from Santa Venetia to Lucas Valley favored retention of Dr. Upton so he obviously was responsive to the people. It is Mr. McInnis who has completely disregarded the wishes of the people he is supposed to serve.

Let him put into practice what he says he believes and immediately remove himself from office because he has failed to respond to the will of the people on an issue of primary importance to Marin County residents.

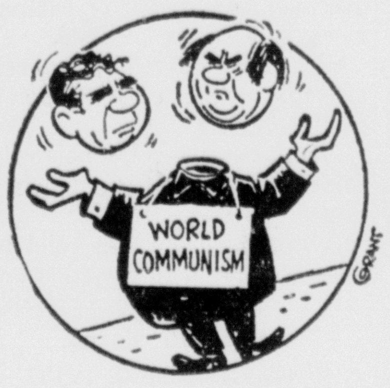
East-West Route Should Skirt Hub

SMALL WORLD



Up in the air again

Your July 3, 1969, edition of the Independent-Journal carried an article covering a KTIM radio discussion concerning the redesign of San Anselmo's Hub intersection.

The article stated that Reed and Anderson agreed that San Anselmo should be a part of the West Marin corridor. I am sure it was intended that a "not" be included in that sentence as both of us have consistently made it clear that a through-traffic corridor to West Marin should not pass through San Anselmo.

I-J Accused Of Dreaming Up Facts

Congratulations on a superlative job of reporting the Tavern fire at Muir Beach the night of the Fourth. Articles of this nature, for which the I-J has a particular knack, help us all to strengthen the polarization between the young and the old. We need more of this kind of responsible journalism these days to hold the line.

The fact that none of what you reported occurred, of course, should not be allowed to cloud the issue.

A first rate job! Keep up the good work.

Hub Councilmen Should Apologize

On June 10, San Anselmo councilmen Reed, Ragan and Anderson showed such abusive language towards Sarah Nome that many of us were shocked.

Mrs. Nome had written a letter pointing out that the San Anselmo Town meeting recommendations rested upon 100 votes or less and that Council should not take these recommendations as a mandate from the voters. Both Mrs. Nome's letter (which you printed) and her oral presentation were calm and lady-like.

The audience response was mixed as one would expect. The chamber of commerce could do well with a more sensible spokesman but the three councilmen named raise a serious issue regarding free speech in our council meetings.

Each of the three read from prepared statements which had to have been written before the meeting, hence they wrote before they heard what Mrs. Nome was going to say. I can understand people speaking as they did in the heat of anger, but not when they have time to think things out.

As things stand now if anyone disagrees with these councilmen, he will be treated to rudeness and insults in a manner that could easily intimidate them. One councilman suggested that these three should apologize to Mrs. Nome, and with this I agree.

The tapes of the meeting are available and those who were not there should listen to the voices of their councilmen. I believe they not Mrs. Nome were on trial.

Marin's largest brush fire of the season burned 300 acres on the Glen Ranch between Point Reyes and Olema.

San Rafael City Councilman Harry Albert proposed construction of a 2,500-seat civic auditorium on land adjacent to Albert Field in San Rafael.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

"My life has not been an easy one," a gentleman draped over a bar informed an acquaintance he just had picked up. "I've been widowed three times. The first two wives died of eating poisoned mushrooms. The third poor thing passed away as the result of a concussion."

"A concussion you say?" murmured the new acquaintance. "How did THAT happen?" "A very sad case," sighed the widower. "I couldn't get her to eat the mushrooms."

THE DRUMMONDS

We Must Be Totally Neutral In Red China-Soviet Conflict

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — There are unspoken words behind the friendly, constructive, let's-get-together speech by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

What Gromyko said deserves a cordial and prompt response from the United States because he welcomed American initative at major point — arms talks, Berlin and a future summit.

What Gromyko did not say should cause us to move with just enough care and caution so that we do not make the mistake of becoming ensnared in the Soviet Union's tempestuous relations with Red China.

Gromyko said that the Soviets wanted to achieve "friendly relations" with the United States and to bring them about not with words alone but with significant actions on nuclear arms control, on freeing West Berlin permanently from tension and harassment, on preparing the way for a Nixon trip to the Soviet Union in the not-too-distant future.

Fine. Welcome. The interests of the United States and the Soviet Union are parallel in all three of these areas, and the moment seems just right so that what has been unattainable so long can be started; that is, to begin to remove not just the tensions of the Cold War but its causes.

WHAT GROMYKO did not say is that Russia purposely is moving to improve its relations with the United States at the moment her relations with China are worsening to the point of open warfare.

It is a prudent assumption that the Kremlin wants to persuade Peking that the United States is about to become an ally of the Soviet Union in its controversies with China, or at the very least to make it appear so.

This is exactly what the United States must avoid. We needn't, we shouldn't, we mustn't allow ourselves to be used by the Soviets as a pawn — an instrument of blackmail — in their dangerous interplay with Peking.

THERE ARE GOOD reaons not to take sides between Moscow and Peking in their strife.

It is not safe to try to tilt the scales either way.

It is not in our interest to do anything which would cause one side or the other to feel that it can make war on the other with our blessing. With each possessing nuclear weapons, such a conflict would imperil the whole world.

The balance of military power probably rests with Russia in any war with China. Much as we dislike Mao's communism, it would certainly not be in America's interests to see the Soviet Union overthrow the Chinese regime and replace it with obedient Chinese puppets doing the will of Moscow.

In acting to achieve a real detente with the Soviets — which is altogether to the good — we must demonstrate beyond any doubt that we intend to remain totally neutral in the Sino-Soviet conflict.

Any other course would be riskful in the extreme.

IT WOULD BE nice if the American soft-liners — from Fulbright to Gore to McGovern, from Case to Cooper to Aiken — would have the grace to admit how wrong Gromyko's speech shows them to be.

They were horrified that Richard Nixon proposed to link Cold War political issues to arms talks. Gromyko is not horrified at all. He approves.

The soft-liners quivered at the prospect of President Nixon going to Romania lest it infuriate the Soviets. Gromyko wasn't infuriated at all.

The soft-liners are still grimly arguing that limited deployment of the ABM would turn Moscow against arms negotiation. Gromyko showed that Moscow will not be so deterred.

The soft-liners are proved wrong on all points. That they are not a reliable guide on foreign policy has now been demonstrated.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Ten Per Cent Hike Sought In Social Security Benefits

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — There will definitely be a Senate vote on an immediate 10 per cent increase in Social Security benefits.

President Nixon favors a 7 per cent raise to become effective next year. The House Ways and Means Committee refused to consider the matter at all as part of the legislation continuing the 10 per cent surtax. Under the "closed rule" that operated when the House deliberated that measure, all amendments were barred.

But there are no such restrictions in the Senate. If the finance committee, now considering the House-passed surtax, balks at including a Social Security increase, it is certain to be offered as an amendment on the Senate floor.

Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., influential member of the finance committee, has served emphatic notice of that on both Democratic and Republican leaders. He has notified them he is determined to force a record vote, both in the finance committee and on the Senate floor, on an immediate hike in Social Security benefits.

If he is licked in the committee, Hartke will renew his fight on the floor.

IN LINE WITH this strategy, he is pressing a bill calling for a five-point "modernization" of the Social Security system, as follows:

Immediately increase benefits 10 per cent across-the-board.

Establish a permanent system of automatic raises based on increases in the cost of living of 2 per cent or more at the end of any 12-month period.

"Greatly liberalize" the earnings limitation which now penalizes Social Security beneficiaries if they earn more than $1,680 a year.

Permit widows to receive the full benefits earned by husbands.

Revise the Social Security funding formula so that the employer, employe and federal government each pay a one-third share. At present, the employer and employe each pay 50 per cent.

It is Hartke's contention that even under the existing fifty-fifty funding formula, Social Security reserves are ample to finance his proposed increases without additional taxes.

THE REASONS why — Sen. Hartke bases his demand for an immediate 10 per cent Social Security raise on two principal grounds:

(1) The persisting escalation in living costs; (2) every segment of the government — from the executive, judiciary, Congress, military, civil service to "blue collar" workers — has had one or more pay boosts since the last increase in Social Security benefits.

It is Hartke's belief that there is a better-than-even chance the Senate Finance Committee will approve an immediate 10 per cent increase in Social Security benefits.

He bases that view on the calculation that 8 of the 10 Democratic members will vote for it and at least 3 of the 7 Republicans — for an overall line-up of 11 to 6.

SPREADING CONFLICT — Likely next combat arena in the steadily intensifying Middle East fighting is the sea between Alexandria and Tel Aviv.

That's the opinion of U.S. Intelligence based on latest information about Egypt's constantly expanding Russian-supplied armaments. These now include a "sizable force" of Komar class PT-boats — some of which already have been reported maneuvering off the Israeli coast at night.

Israel has no PT-boats comparable to the Komar.

It is countering this menace chiefly with planes. It is authoritatively understood that an Egyptian attack with Komars would be met with air strikes — including Alexandria, their principal base, and Cairo.

This could mean a direct clash with Russia.

All that is human must retrograde if it does not advance. —Edward Gibbon.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By JOANNE GRANT

Fascinating Collection Of Elaborate Hookahs, Pipes

One of the most unusual collections in Marin adorns the wall of Fairfax Police Chief Jim Orr's otherwise nondescript office — fascinating hip and straight alike.

Orr has shelves filled with hookahs and pipes collected in drug busts over the past two years after he discovered the analyzing lab in San Francisco was throwing them away. (Now, he scrapes out the residue and keeps the pipe.)

Many of the pipes obviously are the result of hours of careful, creative work — like the plain old wine bottle, lovingly wrapped in soft suede.

There are plain pipes too, (for use without water or wine) like the hollowed out carved elephant head, complete with delicate ivory tusks which Orr said came from India.

ALL OF THEM have stories.

The fragile-looking one — of white glass and apparently handpainted decorations — was a Christmas present. Orr recalls the owner didn't object to being busted for the second time in a month, but he almost cried when he had to give up that Christmas present.

One of the smallest ones is the size of a tiny matchbox with POT expertly carved on the bottom. "It came from our youngest narcotics pusher — a 12 year-old boy," Orr said.

There are also hashish pipes and a long, bamboo opium pipe and dozens of others.

Orr doesn't know what they're worth, if anything. He got them free and hasn't checked hookah prices in stores lately.

He was invited to donate the collection to the county for display at the new Hall of Justice, but he declined. "Every one of those is a case," he explained.

THE HALL of Justice, by the way, is causing problems for more than just the county. Some cities are having headaches over it.

San Rafael, for example, is getting tired of its citation problems. When the opening was first announced, the city laid in a supply with the Hall of Justice address and started using up the last of its supply with the courthouse address.

Each delay has necessitated another order with old address, gauged to last just until the newest scheduled opening.

Wearying of trying to coordinate the supplies, the chief orderer has figured out a new way to cope—a way that would be heartily welcomed by chronic overtime parkers.

"Maybe we'll just stop giving citations after Sept. 1," he mused.

MARIN'S POLICE community relations program is gaining fame — and keeping its chief promoter Bella Aaron on the go all over the Bay Area.

Mrs. Aaron founded the Marin program almost single-handedly and has nurtured it faithfully the past few years — even though it is sometimes difficult to gauge the success of such a program.

Early this month she and Austin J. Thompson, executive director of the county's Human Rights Commission, went to San Mateo to explain the program, and after their description, one attorney suggested, "Let's plagiarize the whole thing!"

Last week she and Thompson and Novato Police Chief Robert J. DiGrazia described the program to an equally enthusiastic group in San Jose.

Visits are also planned to Vallejo and Richmond.

In addition, Mrs. Aaron, who heads the police-community relations subcommittee of the Association of Bay Area Governments and was recently cited by the governor for her work in its planning, will be the featured speaker at a two-night seminar on "Apathy and Human Rights" at Yuba College in Marysville July 25 and 26.

County Disease List Topped By Gohorrhea

Forty-eight cases of gonorrhea were reported in Marin County last week, Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, said yesterday.

The weekly report also showed 23 cases of streptococcal infections, four cases of syphilis, two of infectious hepatitis and one each of mumps and shigella.

BCDC Planner To Capital Job

Clifford W. Graves, associate planner for the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission, has been named director of innovative projects for the Department of Housing and Urban Development in Washington.

Graves, a resident of San Francisco, will be responsible for a $6 million program exploring new techniques to planning and public administration.

He is one of the six BCDC professional staff members and has worked on the final BCDC bay plan which is being considered by the Legislature.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

Higher Degrees Assure Status If Not High Pay

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Since time immemorial, a favorite argument for continuing education beyond high school has been that it adds to a person's earning power. Statistics have been worked up to prove that every year of college adds so many thousands dollars to the student's potential lifetime income.

Educators themselves, however, have cast some doubt on these statistics by their frequent complaints that teachers — who must have college degrees plus additional credits — are underpaid. Teachers asking salary increases often allege that carpenters, plumbers, or bricklayers make more money than they do. (Whether these tradesmen do so depends on whether they're employed the year around, since they get paid by the day and not by the year.)

Perhaps because of the teachers' own contradiction of the statistics, today's students don't seem greatly impressed by the economic argument.

THERE IS another advantage from higher education, however, that might be pushed harder: That of prestige.

Certainly, being able to put the initials of degrees after one's name adds to one's status. This is fully recognized by the educators, as witness the insistence of Ed. D. holders that they be addressed as "doctor."

Evidence of the prestige value of higher education degrees — as well as at least a hint of their economic value — is to be found in "Who's Who." A listing in "Who's Who in America" is certainly a notable status symbol, compensating in some measure for lack of our own "Burke's Peerage."

COUNTING ALL the names in "Who's Who" and checking the degrees listed for them would be a monumental task, but a fair sample (larger, certainly, than the samples in much educational research) may be provided by counting those whose names start with a single letter.

This writer checked all the "A" listings in the current "Who's Who in America" and came up with this result:

Of the 1,792 persons in the volume whose last names begin with "A," 672 listed one or more doctor's degrees. The master's degree apparently was not so statusful, as only 172 listees had stopped their degree-getting at that point. The bachelor's, the most common degree, had 613 listings. (Honorary degrees were not counted.)

SINCE A minute percentage of Americans ever attain a doctorate, the fact that well over one out of three in "Who's Who" (at least among the "A's) boasts such a degree speaks highly of its prestige value.

There was, however, a rather surprising discovery.

Of the 1,792 "A" persons in "Who's Who," 338 listed no degree at all (or, in a few cases, the Associate in Arts, an undergraduate degree).

Those holding doctorates were predominantly educators and physicians and surgeons, with a few scientists employed in industry, a few dentists, and a sprinkling of other occupations (including one newspaper publisher).

Those with the master's degree as tops were mostly scientists and engineers. Those with the bachelor's degree covered a wide range of occupations. And so did those with no degree at all.

AMONG THE un-degreed in "Who's Who" were such well-known figures as Louis Armstrong, Fred Astaire, and Boris Artzybasheff. The entertainment world — not unexpectedly — contributed heavily. There were quite a few degreeless artists. But the occupation that showed up most often among the unlettered was that of banker.

Bankers, of course, traditionally make a lot of money — though not when they start out as clerks or tellers. It is a long, rough road to the top in the banking business, and promotion does not come automatically through acquiring more graduate credits.

The occupations which teachers often complain return greater financial rewards — plumbers, bricklayers et al — do not show up at all in "Who's Who." Eric Hoffer made it, but he lists himself as author, not as longshoreman. (He is, of course, among the un-degreed.)

Anyhow, those 672 "A" listings with Ph.D., Ed.D., M.D., LL.D., etc. should not be overlooked. Postgraduate study is at least one route to "Who's Who" prestige.
